THE MINERS' WAR

Gen. Carnes Says the Trouble is Over, But Troops Still Going to the Front.

Court Being Held at Coal Creek and Several Miners Have Been Been Committed.

Mines to Be Smoked So As to Drive Out Miners Who Are Hiding There.

Several Much-Wanted Leaders of the Rioters Supposed to Be in the Mines.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 23.—Squire Kincaid is holding court at Coal Creek this morning and several miners have been held to the higher court, while others have been discharged. All obstacles to civil prosecution have been removed by appointing Brig.-Gen. Carnes deputy sheriff of Anderson county. State Attorney Pickle is conducting the prosecutions, with plenty of assistance. The miners are unable to give bail and will be brought to Knoxville for safe keeping. Gen. Carnes says he expects no further trouble, yet troops are still going to the front. A company from Jackson, Tenn., passed through here this morning.

TO SMOKE THEM OUT.

Miners Concealed in the Shafts at Coal Creek.

COAL CREEK, Tenn., Aug. 23.—A sensation was created here last night by the statement that the authorities have determined to smoke the mines and thus drive out miners who are believed to be hiding in them. It has been suspected for some time that several much-wanted leaders of the rioters had found shelter in the mines, where they have been comparatively safe from pursuit, as it would be folly for the soldiers to attempt to find them.

The scheme of trying to smoke them out has been discussed for some days, and the statement is authoritatively made that it has been decided to take such action.

CHARGES OF FRAUD.

Litigation at Louisville Assumes a Sensational Phase.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 23.—The litigation between J. C. Todd and W. J. Tapp, president of the defunct Louisville Bagging Manufacturing company, has assumed a sensational phase. On Saturday Todd filed two attachment suits in the chancery court against Tapp, one for obtaining $5020 on fraudulent representation and having removed property with intent to defraud his creditors; the other on a $5000 draft, likewise fraudulently obtained.

Following up these attachments the Graham Paper company yesterday filed a suit against Tapp in the law and equity court to recover $4778.48 and also asks the court to set aside the assignment. This suit is on a promissory note dated March 24, 1892, payable four months after date, and fraudulent disposition of defendant's property is alleged.

Big Silver Strike.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 23.—The biggest strike in the territory of Creede was made yesterday in the shallow creek district on the property owned by C. J. Roy and named "The Old Judge." Roy has a lead of quartz rich in sulphurets which assays from 865 to 1530 ounces in silver. It is a well-defined vein between walls. Roy had been here since last March and has confined his operations exclusively to it.

Judge Bermudez Dead.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 23.—Ex-Chief Justice B. E. Bermudez, of the supreme court of Louisiana, died at noon yesterday.

IT IS QUESTIONED.

Something More About Last Evening's Point of Order.

There has been some criticism of President Hugo's decision on the point of order raised by Alderman Long at last evening's council meeting and several lawyers say that it could be nothing else but wrong. The point raised was that to grant permission to disregard an ordinance amends the ordinance. Authorities claim that even had the council granted permission to the petitioner who wanted to disregard the building ordinance, any citizen could have prosecuted and convicted him of violating the ordinance, whereas if the ordinance was amended he could not be molested. For the council to grant permission to disregard it would simply have been to assure the petitioner that the city authorities would not molest him.

"Over," Not "Along."

The case of the city against Peter Swanson for resisting arrest upon a complaint for violating the park ordinance was dismissed in the municipal court today on the ground that the warrant on which he was arrested was void in that it did not charge him with an offense. It accused him with driving "over" the boulevard, not "along" it.

THIS IS LOVE.

A Tragedy in Cleveland Caused by Intense Jealousy.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23.—Charles Hutchinson this morning called at the residence of ex-Mayor Stephen Buhrer, rang the front door bell, and when Mrs. Buhrer answered the summons, demanded to see her servant, a girl named Lizzie Jackson. Mrs. Buhrer, seeing that Hutchinson was intoxicated, refused to admit him, whereupon he pushed her aside and rushed in.

In the meantime the servant, who had overheard the dispute, ran to the bathroom and locked herself in. Mrs. Buhrer cried for help and her coachman, Geo. Talcott, started to run in from the barn. When he was about half way across the lawn Hutchinson took aim from the doorway with a revolver and shot him dead. The murderer then turned and chased Mrs. Buhrer all through the house, firing at her as she ran.

Finally she succeeded in slamming a door shut behind her and locking it. Several more reports were then heard, and when neighbors arrived upon the scene they found Hutchinson lying probable fatally wounded by shots that he had himself fired into his body. Hutchinson was in love with the servant girl, and had become jealous of the attentions received by her from the murdered coachman.

CHOLERA IN HAMBURG.

Fatal Cases of Genuine Asiatic Cholera Reported.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The state department has received a cable message from our consul at Hamburg stating that fatal cases of cholera are reported in this morning's press dispatches as prevailing in that port, having been pronounced genuine Asiatic cholera, and that Hamburg has been officially proclaimed as a cholera-infected port.

The great importance of this information in view of the great amount of travel between the United States and Europe by the Hamburg-American lines of transatlantic steamers was appreciated by the state department, and the dispatch was sent over to the treasury department officials for communication to the supervising surgeon general of marine hospitals for prompt precauutionary action.

THE MODERN WOODMEN.

Large Gathering at the Great Annual Log Rolling.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 23.—The Modern Woodmen own the city of Peoria today. This is the occasion of their great annual log rolling and demonstration. The freedom of the burg is theirs, and the hospitality of the entire municipality is at their disposal. There are several thousand visitors on the streets and the capacity of the parks will be severely tested.

They are a good looking body of men and in a majority of cases accompanied by their families. It is a creditable display for the order. The parade is organizing early this afternoon and everything points to a splendid display.

TWO STEAMERS AGROUND.

The Missoula and the City of Duluth Aground at the Soo.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Aug. 23.—[Special to The Herald.]—Steamers running the Soo river at night are not meeting with much success. Last night the steam barge Missoula, up bound, ran aground at the turn of the black stake, at the foot of Sugar Island.

The City of Duluth is also hard aground 400 feet in Hay Lake channel at the foot of Sugar Island. Tugs have gone to them.

KNIGHTS IN FORCE

Kansas City is Filled to Overflowing With Members of the Knights of Pythias.

Fully Sixteen Thousand Men Are Now Quartered Under Canvas at Camp Shaw.

A Grand Parade is Taking Place This Afternoon—Fine Display of Fireworks.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 23.—The first day of the grand encampment proper passed off in a very creditable manner and the people of Kansas City have no regrets for any blunder or annoying "contretemps" of any sort. The day was free from casualties without exception, and only a few prostrations from heat were reported. The day began with a desperate attempt on the part of the thermometer to mount as high as it could, but the rain in the afternoon effectually balked the attempt and the thermometer behaved itself very well thereafter.

The great majority of supreme representatives of the Knights of Pythias and the supreme representatives to the supreme temple of Pythian Sisters have arrived and there are something like 16,000 men at Camp Shaw. This morning at 9 o'clock the reception to the supreme lodge was given at the Grand opera house. Major Wm. Warner eloquently welcomed the knights to the city in behalf of the knights of Kansas City. Governor D. R. Francis welcomed them on behalf of the state and Grand Chancellor E. M. Harbor welcomed them on behalf of the grand lodge. Responses were made by the supreme chancellor, and impromptu addresses by other members of the supreme lodge.

The supreme representatives immediately upon the conclusion of the reception proceeded to the Scottish Rite hall, where the opening session was held. In the afternoon the supreme lodge will witness the grand parade, and the supreme lodge officers will occupy seats in the grand stand as the parade goes past. At night the first of the grand displays of fireworks will take place at the Exposition park. The display will be the finest ever seen in Kansas City.

The arrangements are completed for this afternoon's parade, and nothing remains to be done except carry out the plans made. Each brigade commander will have entire charge of his brigade formation, including the regimental organizations and the separate divisions attached thereto. The parade will occupy about two hours and will cover about four miles of ground. In the evening after the parade, there will be a monster parade of the citizens. Between 400 and 500 citizens will meet at the Commercial club rooms. Armed with umbrellas in Pythian colors, under the command of President Putnam, they will march through the principal streets of the city headed by a band and followed by a long line of bicyclists. They will march to Camp Shaw and pay their respects as citizens to their guests.

There was the worst jam of the whole encampment at the depots this morning. The trains came from every direction and fully 30,000 people reached the city before 9 o'clock this morning. The trains that arrived at the various depots this morning brought in large delegations from California, New York, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Iowa, Ohio and Illinois, with scattering divisions from regimental organizations. Chicago knights came in full force, but from the laxity of officers in reporting promptly it is impossible to get full lists of the commands that have arrived.

CAVING OF A RIVER BANK.

Part of a Wharf and Warehouse Sunk on the Mississippi.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 23.—A serious caving of the river bank occurred at Southport this morning. Southport is above the city and is the site of the Mississippi Valley railroad wharves and elevator. The cave is 185 feet by 80 feet, and that much of the wharf and warehouse sunk into the river.

The company does not think that there will be any further damage. It has ample wharfage facilities above and below, and commerce will not be interfered with. The immense Southport elevator has not been injured.

A Fourth Fight Probable.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 23.—A match between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Hall now seems probable. George F. Cline, of the Crescent Turf exchange, is willing to bet $10,000 on Fitzsimmons, to weigh at the ring side. The fight will come off Sept. 8, so that if the Olympic club can make any arrangements with Hall a fourth fight will take place during the pugilistic carnival.

In a Receiver's Hands.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 23.—Before 6 o'clock tonight it is asserted that the order of the Iron Hall will be in the hands of a receiver. This morning the plaintiffs concluded their case and the defense announced that it would require but a couple of hours for their evidence.

An Aged Suicide.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—It is now definitely known that the American gentleman who committed suicide on Friday at Morley's hotel was Brig. Gen. Henry Prince, aged 82, a retired officer of the American army. At the inquest today, a verdict of "temporary insanity" was delivered.

Another Record Broken.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Inman steamer City of New York for Liverpool Aug. 17, arrived off Browhead at 1:15 this afternoon, beating the best record eastward by about one hour.

THE COOLEY GANG

A Few Stories About the Desperadoes Who Have Been Scaring Pennsylvania People.

They Are Called Bad Men and the Citizens Are Afraid to Pursue Them.

The Brains of the Gang Are Furnished By a Young and Pretty Woman.

The members of the Cooley gang, of Fayette county, Pa., have won a reputation as desperadoes to which they were not in the least entitled, for it is now proved that they are only common thieves. Nevertheless they are locally popular. The best proof of their social standing can be gleaned from the more or less varied experience of the sheriff in his effort to disrupt and capture the gang. Time and time again has Sheriff McCormick rode to Fairchance village and wasted his eloquence and energy in a vain attempt to organize a posse of reputable citizens. He has always had his trouble for his pains. Directly they learned that they were expected to aid in bringing the Cooleys to justice these peace loving people of Fairchance declined point blank to do the sheriff's bidding, and, figuratively speaking, washed their hands of the whole business.

FRANK COOLEY.

The gang at present consists of nine men, but they are able to defy or outwit the sheriff.

Frank Cooley is the acknowledged leader, and his right hand man is Jack Ramsey; but most of the head work is done by a young and pretty woman named Lyda Pastorius. She is the mistress of Frank Cooley and is exceedingly popular with the outlaws. She is known throughout the entire section as "Cooley's Queen," and her influence with Frank and his associates is simply marvelous. Every outrage perpetrated by the gang is planned by this woman. But "Cooley's Queen" is such a very clever little woman that she has succeeded thus far in keeping out of the entanglements of the law.

The origin of the Cooley gang is a curious study. Thirty-six years ago Lute Cooley, aged twenty-four, married a maiden of seventeen, and the two settled down to hard work and honest living. Their five daughters are all respectable, but of their eleven boys every one save Jack was a bully and a ruffian in childhood, and every living one is now an outlaw. The neighbors cannot explain it. The parents were fairly good folks. The boys do not drink liquor to any great extent, yet columns like this might be filled with the barest outline of their crimes and rogueries.

"Old Lute," as the people say, "just about whipped the life out of Frank, the oldest, but couldn't whip the devilment out of him, and drove him away when he was but eighteen." The father died soon after, and then the boys turned rascals as fast as they got old enough. They are the terror of the vicinity and the scandal of west Pennsylvania. It's a very queer case.

Since the tragic death of their leader, Jack Cooley, a short time ago, the Cooley gang of outlaws has been more lawless than ever in the vicinity of Uniontown, Pa. Hardly a day has passed since the burial of their leader that some new deed of lawlessness has not been reported, chargeable to them. It was reported a short time since that they had shot and killed a farmer named Goodwin because he refused to harbor them. The rumor turned out to be false.

Some time after that four masked men knocked at the door of William Smith, an aged farmer, living near Fairchance, and demanded admittance. Smith went to the door with a revolver in his hand. Two of the men, who were concealed in the doorway, sprang upon Smith and disarmed him. They threw him on the floor and bound and gagged him. Mr. Smith's two aged sisters and the servant girl were imprisoned in a room, and one of the outlaws stood guard over them with a revolver. The others started to ransack the house for money. While they were engaged in the search Smith broke the cords that bound him. The outlaws then bound him more securely with a bedcord taken from one of the beds. They had a coal miner's lamp with them, and threatened to burn Smith's feet if he did not divulge where his money was.

They continued their search, however, without doing this. They ripped up the beds, tore open cupboards and bureau drawers, and searched high and low for money. Smith refused to say how much money they got, but says they got all he had. His sisters also had some money in the house, and they got all this. In all they are supposed to have secured $1,000 to $1,500. They found two dollars belonging to the servant girl, which they returned to her when they left. They told Smith they were members of the Cooley gang, and warned him not to venture out of the house until after 4 o'clock the next morning or he would be killed. When the alarm was given on Sunday morning the neighbors gathered at Smith's house and found things turned completely upside down. Feathers from the bed were scattered everywhere and the clothing and furniture were piled in heaps. Smith, who is seventy-five years old, and the women were prostrated by the fright and treatment to which they were subjected.

Forty of the neighbors armed themselves and started on the trail of the outlaws. It had rained heavily during the night, and it was found impossible to follow the trail far. They found a mask in an empty house and other evidences that the outlaws had been there. The southern end of the county is aroused over the recent outrages, and the people are almost afraid to stay in their houses at night. The neighbors in the terrorized community band themselves together at night for mutual protection. Thomas Collier, whose spring gun in his milkhouse shot and killed Jack Cooley, has an armed guard at his house every night. He fears the vengeance of the gang, which has threatened to burn every house in "Collier hollow," where he lives.

LIGHT AND AIRY.

A Love Tail.

[Showing the beauties of English orthography.]

A pretty maide went out won day,
'Twas in the summer thyme,
But at a style maid paws to say,
"Ah, know! I cannot clime!"

"Then in the would suppose we wrest?"
Sow I made haste to say—
"And wen the son is inn the west Wheel take our homeward weigh."

Her cheek was read, her smile was suit,
Soft shown her eyes of blew,
And threw the grass her dainty feat
Seemed just as if they flue.

Then boulder groan, my love I tolled,
I offered hart and haud,
And with a wring of purest gold
I ceiled love's mystic banned.
—E. T. Corbett in Life.

Why He Fired in the Air.

A report of a French duel has the following interesting conclusion:

M. Lelache having fired his shot, it was now the turn of M. Loboche to discharge his weapon. He waited calmly for a moment, brought up his pistol, awaited the word—and fired in the air. This was not, however, so great an act of magnanimity as might be supposed, for his antagonist had climbed a tree!—Youth's Companion.

About a Watermelon.

When you thump it with your fingers and it gives a heavy sound,
Like summer rain a-fallin on the dry an dusty ground,
Jes' get your barlow ready an prepare to make a swipe,
And carve it straight an steady till it opens red and ripe!
Then fold your barlow careful, an take your melon flat;
Put one-half on this side of you, the other half on that;
Then take the biggest in your lap an tear the heart out, so!
An smack your lips, an praise the Lord from whom all blessings flow!
—Atlanta Constitution.

An Eye for Business.

A dentist was operating upon a patient who uttered terrible screams.

"For heaven's sake, don't scream like that!"

"Yes, I understand; it pains you to see me suffer."

"Without doubt. But there are other patients in the anteroom awaiting their turn, and you will take away their confidence."—Tit-Bits.

An Exception.

I like to watch my wife when she's Crocheting.
Or when she's tatting mysteries
Essaying.

I often note complacently
Her shirring,
Nor does her darning prompt in me
Demurring.

But I am spurred, I must allow,
To quitting
When she her alabaster brow
Is knitting.
—Boston Courier.

His Homage Was Excusable.

Bank Teller—Will you take it as a presumption, madam, if I offer you these few roses?

Miss Carmelia Goldust—I don't know you, sir.

Bank Teller—I am aware of that. But you are the only woman in the history of the bank who ever indorsed a check on the right end.—Boston Globe.

Changes of the Moon.

They were standing by the window
Watching Luna, large and bright,
When she innocently murmured,
"A full moon is my delight!"

Whispered he, "I love you, darling;
Can't I urge yon very soon
To change your full moon liking,
And adore a honey-moon?"
—E. L. Rawson in Club.

A Safe Cure.

Lady (to chemist)—I have a corn from which I suffer dreadfully; can you recommend anything that will cure it?

Chemist—Certainly, madam. See, here you have an excellent preparation which will make your corn disappear in a very short time. I have a customer who has used this lotion for the last fourteen years, and he never tries anything else.—Secolo.

A Sad Plight.

A tear stood in her bright, blue eye;
Her quivering lip told sorrow's tale;
Hers mingled with the zephyr's sigh;
Her bosom heaved, her cheek grew pale.

Harsh fate had done for her its worst,
And at her anguish seemed to scoff;
I found the gentle maid had burst
Her left suspender button off.
—New York Press.

Lasting.

Chumley—I want to get a present for a young lady.

Clerk—Would a nice box of candy suit you?

Chumley—No; I want something more lasting.

Clerk—How would chewing gum do, then?—Harper's Bazar.

The Author's Wife.

Their married life knew no alloy,
And it was plain he much adored her.
'Twas said the cause of all this joy
She never kept his desk in order.
—New York Evening Sun.

Is There Such a Girl?

"No, mamma," said the young man sadly, yet firmly. "She may be bright, highly educated and even a good cook. But I cannot bring myself to love a woman who appears on the street—though she is merely going to the grocery—with only one suspender."—Indianapolis Journal.

Safe.

Found After Many Years.

A Well Known Duluth Citizen Finds the Object of His Search.

Mr. John A. Olson, 1004 Garfield avenue, Duluth, says: "For a number of years I have been troubled with a complication of difficulties which is not easy for me to describe. I would have severe pains in my stomach, side and back, could not rest at night and would get up in the morning feeling worn out and unfit for the duties of the day. My appitite was poor and what I did eat seemed to make me feel worse. I lost in flesh and became weak, nervous and despondent.

"The doctors failed to give me any relief and patent medicines done me no good. After reading the statements of some persons who had been treated by Dr. Speer & Co., I called at their office in the New York block, West Superior. They located my trouble and described my feelings better than I could do it myself. I commenced their treatment and in less than three weeks my disagreable symptoms have left me. The pains are gone, I eat and sleep well, am gaining in flesh and strength. The nervous and despondent feelings have disappeared and I feel like a new man in every respect. I feel very grateful for the benefit I have received and can not too highly recommend Dr. Speer & Co. for what they have done for me."

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it? To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for family uses. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furbish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

SLEEPS IN A CAGE

Peculiar Manner In Which a Child of Wealthy Parents is Protected From Rats.

Water Rodents That Would Invade Dwellings and Would Also Attack Human Beings.

An Interesting Relic of the Great Indian Chief Tecumseh Owned in Kentucky.

John Ludeling Hubbard is the healthy yearling baby of wealthy parents who live at Seaside Park, near Bridgeport, Conn. His mother, a Louisiana woman and a society leader at Seaside, liked all the surroundings of her new home amazingly except "those horrid great gray water rats which crawl out when the tide is low."

It was in vain for people to assure her that they are harmless when not attacked. She declared that it made her shiver to see them, and she "just felt certain they would bite baby." The other night he suddenly waked his mother with an awful scream. She lifted him from the crib to the bed and felt something on his dress that was "warm, wriggling and covered with bristles."

It sent a thrill of horror through her, but she firmly grasped it and tried to push it away. She cried for her husband, who was asleep in an adjoining room. Little John was crying, too, as vigorously as his young lungs would permit.

Papa Hubbard ran in with his pistol ready to shoot the intruder. He turned on the light and gave a quick look around the room. Mother and baby were streaked with blood. Mr. Hubbard cried for assistance and sprang toward the bed. He saw a big gray water rat crouched at the foot of the bed, its muzzle covered with blood. Mr. Hubbard raised his revolver, but even at this moment Mrs. Hubbard's presence of mind did not desert her. "Don't shoot!" she cried. She was almost in the line of fire.

Then the rat jumped to the floor. Mr. Hubbard had in a measure regained composure and fired three shots at the intruder. They followed so quickly after one another that they seemed to blend. It required rapid firing to hit the rat, for it went like a streak, for the open door. Mr. Hubbard is a good marksman, and the third shot hit the rodent just as it crossed into the hall. It was only wounded, however, and continued down the stairway.

The neighbors gave it up. It was proved that the rats would invade dwellings and would attack human beings. Mr. Thomas P. Taylor, a neighbor who manufactures bustles, saw his opportunity and soon appeared on the scene with the strongest "skeleton" his firm could manufacture, and now little Johnnie sleeps under this huge bustle.

"I'd like to see the rat that could get in there," said Mr. Taylor, contemplating it.

"Why, if it did it couldn't get out," said Mrs. Ludeling.

"Well, if you consider that a rattrap," said the inventor, with a smile, "it would be advisable to use less costly bait."

'TWAS A WARRIOR'S WEAPON.

Interesting Relic of the Great Indian Chief Tecumseh.

Tecumseh's tomahawk is now the property of Mrs. Lizzie Skinner, of West Point, Ky. There was a question as to its identity, and so she sent it to a committee of Louisville gentlemen, who traced its history and identified it beyond question. And a curious history it is, the main points being as follows:

THE TOMAHAWK.

At Seneca Lake, N. Y., lived one John Hanes, who had been a soldier in the army of General Harrison in 1812-14. At the battle of the Thames he was with the American troops that faced the Indians on the British right wing. Tecumseh was pointed out to him, and in the hottest of the fight he saw the great warrior rush forward at the head of his "young men" leading a furious charge. As they neared the Americans Hanes saw a tall Kentuckian deliberately draw a bead on the Indian leader, and as the rifle cracked he saw Tecumseh fall. Afterward he heard that the tall Kentuckian was Colonel Dick Johnson. When the battle ended Hanes said he crept to the spot where he had seen the great Indian fall and there stripped the body of the knife and tomahawk.

The veteran gave the tomahawk and a minute account of it to John R. Bramblu as a precious heirloom, and he gave it to his son, Morgan Bramblu, who got "cranky" in his old age and concealed the weapon behind the plastering in his house, refusing to talk about it or admit that he had it. He died Dec. 30, 1891, and the tomahawk by his bequest became the property of Mrs. Skinner. It is a very queer old weapon—half British hatchet and half Indian tomahawk. The handle is of well seasoned and hard walnut and is fastened into the iron head with a brass eye, which is a silver quarter moon, the emblem of the chief.

Time for Rest.

Tailor—Your account, sir, has been running a long time, Mr. Jinks.

Jinks—Exactly; it must be fatigued. Let it stand still for a few months.—Judy.

FEMININE FANCIES.

Mabel Besant, sister of the novelist, is an enthusiastic tricycle rider, enjoying a thirty or forty mile spin with a companion.

The first woman to appear on the streets of Boston in the "mudless gown" was Mrs. M. E. S. Ingersoll, in October, 1891. It was a variety of the bloomer costume.

The Montefiore memorial prize at Girton college, Cambridge, was won this year by Miss Edith Emily Read. It is the year's income from a permanent fund and is worth about $320.

Miss Nina Cromwell, of Detroit, is the fortunate owner of a Bible that was once owned by her ancestor Oliver Cromwell. It is known to be more than 300 years old and it is valued by bibliomaniacs at $1,000.

Mrs. Mackay has again been surprising London with her display of diamonds, and one critic said that she showed more really fine stones at one time than could be seen in all the shop windows on Regent street.

While stopping at Greenwich Mrs. Cleveland purchased what is perhaps the most antique and costly secretary in the state. It is many centuries old, of the French pattern and made of walnut. It was taken to Gray Gables.

Mrs. Rosa Holub, who shared the thrilling experience of her husband's expedition to central Africa during four years, beginning in 1883, has been honored by the emperor of Austria with a special medal in recognition of her bravery.

Mrs. Gladstone prefers old fashions to new ones, always dresses in black, wears a cap over her handsome and abundant gray hair, loves flowers and bare floors and understands the art of retaining her temper under the most vexatious circumstances.

Mrs. A. E. W. Robertson, of Muscogee, I. T., has completed the translation of the New Testament from the original Greek into the Creek language. The university of Ohio has conferred upon her the degree of doctor of philosophy in recognition of her scholarly attainments.

Oregon has a girl mail carrier, Miss Minnie Weston, a brave spirited and beautiful girl just out of her teens. Her route is through a rough and lonely country where wild beasts frequently dispute passage with her, and tramps sometimes appear, only to be warned away by the flash of her revolver.

WHIP AND SPUR.

The mile track project at Dubuque, Ia., has been revived.

A man in Cleveland has named a filly Dolly-the-Saud-Digger.

There is talk of having a lake inside the kite track at Nashville.

Pabst, the brewer, is said to have paid $25,000 for Faustino, 2:14¾.

Palo Alto's heart weighed ten pounds. His skeleton will be articulated.

C. J. Hamlin says that Belle Hamlin and Globe can trot on a regulation track in 2:12.

It is said that J. B. Haggin, now in San Francisco, may return to the turf next season.

W. C. France has arranged with G. Valensin to have Sidney make the season of 1893 at Highland farm.

A full brother to the champion yearling Frou-Frou, 2:25¼, has been foaled at Valensin farm, Pleasanton, Cal.

C. W. Williams is talking about a rubber track, which rain will not affect. An improvement of this kind would cost about $100,000.

A running track near the Indiana line, and fifteen miles from Chicago, is talked of. A track of land has been purchased by a syndicate, which will build the track.

"Don't forget that a box stall is much better than a long, narrow one for the horses, especially when they have worked hard all day. You like a wide bed—so does a horse," says The Horseman.

George H. Ketcham, proprietor of Ketcham stock farm at Toledo, thinks so much of his fast pacer, Charlie Friel, 2:15¾, that he intends to set aside $600 per year for his support in his will, and also have it stipulated "that his wife's second husband shall never touch a rein or ride behind the horse."

CROWN AND SCEPTER.

Queen Victoria has mastered the Hindoostanee language, in learning which she has shown a great deal of interest and spent considerable time.

Millinery is the special talent of the queen of Denmark and of her three daughters—the Empress of Russia, the Princess of Wales and the Duchess of Cumberland.

Ex-King Milan has become a Russian subject, this privilege having been granted by the czar. Milan receives $2,000 a month in return for this "condescension" from the czar's privy purse.

Queen Liliuokalani has an income as queen of Hawaii of $20,000 and a revenue from the crown lands of $200,000 more. Her standing army consists of sixty-four men, three of whom are generals.

Princess Marie Theresa of Bavaria who has a mania for pets, travels throughout the Continent with fourteen animals of one sort and another, including several dogs two magpies, an enormous rat and a diminutive bear.

Little Queen Wilhelmina of Holland finds more difficulty in learning German than any other language, and, though she already speaks English, French and her native Dutch fluently, her German is by no means faultless, in spite of her mother being a German princess.

On account of his accident of birth there is no strength in the kaiser's left hand, in which he holds the reins when riding, and his carefully trained horses are guided chiefly by pressure of the knees. The emperor usually mounts his horse from a block, and when that is not at hand a chair is brought out for him to stand on.

POWDER AND BALL.

Uncle Sam's latest cruiser launched is called the Marblehead. She will be a formidable war engine when completed.

Germany, in anticipation of a war with France, has a golden treasure of 960,000,000 marks stowed away in a safe place.

The Gatling gun is now worked by an electric motor in the American navy. The motor is attached to the breech of the gun.

The Prussian army contains five women who are regimental chiefs. Of these women colonels the Empress Frederick has held her appointment longest. Queen Victoria ranks third in point of time, while the latest appointee is the present Empress Augusta Victoria.

In the German artillery they have tried a trap or three legged ladder of steel tubing for enabling the captain of a battery to survey the enemy and direct the firing. The trap is erected in the body of a wagon and the officer climbs to the top with his field glasses to reconnoiter.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Aug. 23.—Generally fair weather still prevails in all sections this morning, although light showers have fallen in scattered sections during the past twenty-four hours, and from appearances will continue today.

The temperature remains much the same, being about normal in all parts of the country. The coldest places are at Havre, Mont., and Prince Albert, N. W. T., 44°; the warmest, St. Louis, 74°.

No decided high or low area of barometer is in sight, the area of above normal is over the upper lakes and an area of slightly below is over the Southwest, and what will probably develop into a storm is now forming there.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 90°, the lowest last night was 58°.

DULUTH, Aug. 23.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Fair; possibly followed by showers; slight change in temperature; light easterly wind.

B. H. BRONSON,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Minnesota: Fair, except showers in southern portion; cooler in northern portion Wednesday morning; easterly winds.

CANADA AND THE TOLLS.

There are indications that the Canadian government does not intend to recede from its position on the canal tolls question, but in preference to yielding to this country's demands will make some arrangement with Canadian vessel owners whereby they will be recouped for the tolls which they will be called upon to pay for passage through the Sault canal. This is the heroic manner in which, it is reported from Canadian sources, Premier Abbott proposes to meet the retaliatory measures adopted on account of the discriminating rebates allowed in the Welland canal.

The claim that it was necessary to maintain these rebates during the current season, owing to shippers having made contracts on the strength of them, is weak and insincere. It was used merely as a pretext to avoid a settlement of the question this season and to give the Canadian authorities an opportunity to abandon their untenable position in regard to rebates without appearing to concede the demands made by this country. Either that was the design, or the intention was to maintain the discrimination during the remainder of the present season by a half promise to abolish it next season, and then with the Canadian canal at the Sault completed they could snap their fingers at this government and defy retaliation at the Sault. Only a week or two ago, while this question was under consideration, it was stated that the contractors for the Canadian Sault canal said the work could be completed by July 1 next. A dispatch today says the contractors have been directed to push the work without a moment's delay, the evident desire being to have the canal completed when navigation opens next year. In this way the Canadians hope to maintain the discriminating rebates on the Welland canal in spite of treaty obligations and to avoid payment of retaliatory tolls at the Sault.

All modes of retaliation by this country, however, have not been exhausted. If the Canadian government absolutely declines to live up to the solemn obligations of the treaties now in existence, it will not lie in its mouth to protest against any steps that this country may take to indicate its resentment of such perfidy and bad faith on the part of Canada. It hardly comes with good grace from a leading Canadian journal to assert that the United States has "as little regard for international comity as for solemn treaty engagements," when all the facts in this case are recalled. This country has violated no treaty engagement with Canada, simply because no treaty exists. The treaties which cover these questions, and which this country has not violated, were made between the United States and Great Britain, and Canada being merely a colonial dependency was not competent to enter into any treaty. The British government has permitted Canada to be represented at international conferences in recent years, not, however, as a right but merely as a favor, but in view of the discourteous manner in which the British legation at Washington was treated by Premier Abbott in this matter, and the humiliating position in which Mr. Herbert, the charge d' affaires was placed, it is probable that in all future negotiations the British authorities will permit the Canadian officials to remain at home.

Even now Premier Abbott is likely to receive a not very gentle reminder from Downing street that the treatment accorded to the British representative at Washington does not meet with the approval of Mr. Gladstone and his cabinet. It is not the custom of the British authorities, either, to wantonly violate the provisions of treaties. Mr. Gladstone has been credited with living up to treaty engagements with great exactitude, and when the question comes before him for review it will not be astonishing if the Canadian authorities are notified that the Welland canal rebates are in violation of the treaty of 1871 and should cease.

PUT A STOP TO IT.

Mayor d'Autremont is right when he says that it seems a shame and an outrage that the riot call should be sounded in such a reckless and wanton manner by outsiders caring nothing whatever for the peace of the city, as was done on Saturday last at the instance of Lieut.-Col. Shandrew and Adjt. Van Duzen, of the Third regiment. These two officers of the state militia arrived here without any notice to inspect the companies in Duluth and West Duluth, instead of sending previous word of their coming, so that the members of the companies might be assembled. Upon their arrival they caused a false riot alarm to be sounded from elevator D, and as a result produced considerable excitement in various parts of the city among people who were not aware that it was simply a call for the militia for inspection purposes.

In these days when, as the mayor said in a communication to the aldermen last night, the relations between capital and labor throughout the country are very much strained, it is not strange that the sounding of the riot alarm should produce great excitement in the city. It is a practice which should be prohibited, and the mayor's suggestion that an ordinance be passed entailing severe penalties for the commission of such an act in the future should be carried out immediately.

Then if Col. Shandrew and Adjt. Van Duzen come to Duluth and indulge in any more antics of this kind they can be arrested and shown that because they happen to bear a military title and walk around town with a martial swagger it does not follow that they own the city.

A RECORD OF PROSPERITY.

Reference was made in yesterday's issue to the confidence of the big holders of stock in the future resources of the country and its railroads, and that big capitalists are now basing their plans on the rapid development and widespread prosperity of the whole country. The commercial agencies also report a steady increase in volume of trade and an encouraging decrease in business failures compared with last year. The last number of Bradstreet's financial journal says:

"Special telegrams to Bradstreet's indicate on the whole a moderate increase in the volume of general trade, as larger orders for nearby delivery have been received by wholesale dealers in staple dry goods, clothing, shoes, hats, millinery and light hardware at Chicago, Duluth, St. Paul, St. Louis, St. Joseph, Kansas City and Omaha. This at a time when harvesting is not finished in the Northwest is significant."

The same journal also has a special report from Duluth, which states that local trade is good and collections are improving, while there is a good fall demand for merchandise and jobbers are well stocked. All of which goes to confirm the frequent statements in The Herald that mercantile business generally in Duluth was never in as good a condition as it is at present. At the same time this city has been steadily progressing in the manufacturing line, and its advance in all directions has been large.

The New York Times has a correspondent who has been looking up political affairs in Illinois, and he finds the prospect there exceedingly dubious for the Republicans. In 1888 the Times predicted that Iowa would go Democratic, but it gave Harrison a plurality of 31,721. The Times is a great rainbow-chaser.

The granite cutters of New England have already lost $2,800,000 in wages by their strike. The Homestead and Pittsburg ironworkers' strike has cost them over $1,000,000 in wages so far. The Pittsburg switchmen's strike has already meant a loss of many thousands of dollars. Do strikes pay?

The New York World has become a greater rainbow-chaser than Calvin S. Brice ever dared to be. It affects to believe that Cleveland can carry Minnesota. This pleasant little dream will be rudely shattered when the returns come in on the night of November 8.

The situation at Buffalo has apparently become more simplified. The strikers have undoubtedly lost the day, and the railroads having secured new switchmen are rapidly resuming the old time quick handling of freight trains.

Whitelaw Reid's speech at Springfield was a terse, clean-cut and pointed address that would make a fine campaign document. The Republican national committee will probably see that it is given a wide circulation.

There is a movement in India, which is spreading quite rapidly, in favor of a gold standard. The people have suffered so much from the depreciation of silver that they intend to profit by their experience.

There are two Democratic state tickets in Texas, but no Republican need indulge in the fond hope that the electoral vote of that state will not be cast for Cleveland.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Hustler."

"The Hustler," one of the broadest and most laughable farce-comédies, will hustle for public approval at Temple Opera Saturday evening. Like all of the plays of its class it is made simply the unobjectionable vehicle on which various specialties may be presented without weariness and dreariness. The specialty artists are pretty well known. John Kernell, the leading comedian, is known throughout the dramatic world. He is unquestionably one of the cleverest actors of his class. Gus Mills, the female impersonator, has a big reputation also. Harry Watson, Dutch character artist; George Marion, Italian imitator; John Gilroy, wing dancer, are among the gentlemen. Miss Sadie Kirby is head of the female contingent. She is a pretty girl and a singing and dancing soubrette of great cleverness and rare accomplishments. There are also five additional soubrette dancers—Mamie Mayo, Julia Taylor, Annie Black, Clara Belle and Agnes Daly. The dancing features are said to be greatly improved since last season.

GIVEN A HEARING.

Several of the Amalgamated Men Are Held to the Higher Court.

The trial of the Amalgamated men who were arrested for assaulting J. W. Jones and Andy Gardner Saturday evening, was taken up before Judge Roberts in Superior yesterday afternoon. The Amalgamated men retained as attorneys A. T. Rock, E. A. Arnold and ex-Municipal Judge W. M. Steel. The first complaint was made by J. W. Jones and charged John Mulligan, William Dunn, John Stuart, Harry Wynn, Patrick Ruane and Edward Dawson with assaulting him with a club and pistol—the pistol being loaded with powder and ball—with the intention of doing him great bodily harm. The same charge was made by Andrew Gardner against Frank Pellon, John Wright, W. H. Randall and Joe Gardner. The other strikers were discharged, the district attorney stating that he had not sufficient evidence to convict them.

Jones was the first witness. He told the same story that he did after the assault and identified Ruane, Dawson and Wynn as some of his assailants. Gardner told practically the same story. Each of the defendants attempted to prove an alibi.

Mulligan and Stewart were dismissed and Dunn, Wynn, Ruane and Dawson were held to the circuit court for trial with bail at $350. Frank Pellou, John Wright, W. H. Randall and Joseph Gardner, who were held on complaint of Andy Gardner, will have their examination Wednesday. James Bardon went on the bonds of those of the men who were married as follows: Wynn, Dunn, Pellou and Gardner. Frank Pellou, W. J. Leader, Joseph Gardner and Thomas Collins gave bonds for the appearance of the other men.

The Port Arthur Road.

Ely Times: E. C. Hillbery and Willis Cleveland returned last Wednesday from their trip to Port Arthur and Isle Royale. They left here about four weeks ago via the canoe route. We gain from them some information in regard to the Port Arthur, Duluth & Western railroad to the effect that the work of grading the line to the Polson mine, which is located in 65-5 and about six miles this side of Gunflint lake, was commenced last Saturday with a large force of men.

Our Next Congressman.

Carlton Vidette: Speaking of army records, Maj. Baldwin, Democratic candidate for congress in the Sixth Minnesota district, enlisted April 19, 1861, and served four years in the Second Wisconsin, the first infantry regiment sent out by that state for the preservation of the Union. The Second, Sixth, Seventh Wisconsin and the Nineteenth Indiana regiments formed the famous "Iron Brigade," the old guard of the army of the Potomac. First regiment, first brigade, first division, first army corps. First in battle, last to retreat; let us all clasp hands and make the gallant soldier the first congressman from the great Sixth district.

A SPARKLING DISPLAY.

Perhaps, of all other seasons of the year, this is the best for making advantageous purchases of Jewelry. There isn't much fluctuation in the value of what a jeweler sells, because jewellers have nothing perishable to dispose of, but there are times when for a variety of reasons, prices fall off a little, and this is more particularly the case when business generally is feeling the effects of oppressively hot weather. You will readily understand, therefore, why just now, we are offering some especially attractive inducements in Jewelry.

WEST DULUTH.

West Duluth office of The Herald, room 4, Silvey building, where announcements etc. may be left.

The council meeting last evening was well attended and was quite lengthy. William Swanstrom, of Oneota, was appointed special policeman to act at that place without pay. A temporary grade and improvement on Earl street was ordered. The engineer's report on retaining walls, and the improvement of Second avenue west, was referred to the streets committee. The final estimate on the Fifth avenue sidewalk was referred. The ordinance providing for the numbering of houses was passed. The bondsmen of the West Duluth Industrial Construction & Improvement company on First avenue contract asked that as changes had been made in the personell of the company since the time of letting contract, that no moneys be paid to the company until all claims for labor and material are paid. Attorney De Vore was instructed to take charge of the money and, after paying claims, turn the remainder over to the company.

All retaining walls to be built were ordered paid for out of the general fund. The plans and specifications for the improvement of Eighth avenue were presented. The sewerage system again came up and was laid over till next meeting. Capt. Williamson, of Company G, reported that Mr. Adams had declared the armory contract off, and that H. P. Smith would lease the necessary ground on Central avenue and would loan the money to the village for the erection of a suitable armory. The matter was referred to a committee.

The water supply question was brought up by Alderman Hall, who stated that the water company had refused to sell water to peddlers who furnish residents on streets where mains are not laid. The matter was discussed and the council is of the opinion that such a state of affairs should not exist and Attorney DeVore was requested to bring the matter to the water company's attention.

The bridge across the incline road at Grand avenue is being torn away preparatory to the building of a new structure.

J. C. Gilchrist is down from Two Harbors.

Miss Emma Oakes is visiting friends at Minneapolis.

There will be a meeting of of the Republicans at the city hall this evening for further organization.

The Stowell station will be moved to Second avenue west from its present location and remodled. A freight depot will also be built.

Mr. and Mrs. James Widger left yesterday for a visit to their old home at Philadelphia.

C. E. Southard and wife, of Chicago, are visiting their daughter Mrs. Soren Prescott.

Miss Nellie Strom has gone to Toronto to visit relatives.

Caution.

Whereas my wife, Christie Powers, has left my bed and board without just cause or provocation. I hereby forbid anyone harboring or trusting her on my account as I shall pay no debts of her contracting.

Alderman Thomas Favored Prompt Action in the Canal Bridge Matter.

It Goes Back to the Committee to Receive Thorough Legal Investigation.

Several Amendments to the Duluth & Northeastern Terminal Company Are Offered.

The canal bridge question brought up quite a lively fight in the council last evening between the radical aldermen who wanted the city to go ahead and receive bids at once and the more conservative ones who wanted to have the building of the bridge delayed until the right of the city to ignore the national government had been thoroughly established by legal opinions. The board of public works reported favorably to the construction of a bridge according to the plans of J. A. L. Waddell and estimated the cost at $170,000. It also recommended that two-thirds of the cost be assessed against the property specifically benefitted and the balance paid out of the general fund.

Later on the committee on streets, alleys and bridges reported recommending that the improvement be made. This was signed by Aldermen Kennedy and Wilson. Alderman Long then asked that the minority report be read. Aldermen Wilson and Kennedy looked up in surprise and listened to the report which recommended that the matter be referred to the city attorney with instruction to fully investigate it and, if necessary, to get expert legal opinions as to the city's right to construct the bridge. When the reading was finished Alderman Long explained that he did not believe that the city should go ahead without knowing thoroughly its position, "taking a leap in the dark," as it were. He then moved to substitute the minority for the majority report.

Alderman Wilson got to his feet about this time and declared that as a member of the committee he had not been aware that any minority report was to be presented. He believed Alderman Long's idea was a good one and did not want to be on record as opposed to having a legal investigation. At the afternoon conference Alderman Long had not intimated that the majority report was not satisfactory to him. Alderman Kennedy, the other member, also explained that the minority report was a surprise to him, Alderman Long having never mentioned that he would take any exception to the majority report.

Alderman Long said he had not been guilty of intentional discourtesy to his brother aldermen on the committee, but the idea had occurred to him during the meeting that the city had not been sufficiently advised.

In Alderman Thomas, however, was found a belligerent opponent of further delay. He said that the city attorney had given his opinion; it was on file in the clerk's office and he had expressed it clearly at Detroit; Senator Davis also had given his opinion and he wanted to know what more the city would have. Alderman Long quoted from the report of the board of public works to prove that City Attorney Smith's Detroit argument was only on the necessity for the building of a bridge, and that he himself was the only city representative who maintained at the hearing that the city had a legal right to construct the bridge. Ald. Thomas asked the city clerk if City Attorney Smith's opinion is not on file and received an affirmative reply, but it was found that no written opinion has ever been received from Senator Davis.

Ald. Weiss offered an amendment to the motion, which referred the matter back to the committee with authority to get all legal advice deemed necessary. President Hugo said that he did not want to be considered as attempting to lecture the council but the matter really ought to be deferred. It had only been before the aldermen a few hours and ought to have more consideration. Alderman Thomas begged leave to differ and said it had been before the council for months. Alderman Long, he said, probably wanted Gladstone's opinion before he would be satisfied, but Alderman Long laughingly declared that he would bar Gladstone. When the vote was about to be put Alderman Thomas broke in with:

"Well now, gentlemen, I hope you will see fit to vote this down, for it ought to be."

"This council undoubtedly has an opinion of its own, Alderman Thomas," responded President Hugo in a decidedly sharp tone.

The amendment was carried and the matter will go over for a week or two. Aldermen Dingwall, Kennedy, Sorensen, Thomas and Wilson voted no.

Mayor d'Autremont presented a communication reflecting severely on the officers of the state militia who had caused the sounding of the riot alarm last Saturday simply to call the members together for an inspection drill. He said:

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 22nd, 1892.

The Honorable the President and members of the Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:

On Saturday last some officers of the state militia from St. Paul, Minn., were in this city and for the mere purpose as I have been informed of assembling or inspecting the militia here, caused for a period of about half an hour a false riot alarm to be sounded from elevator D. The same created great excitement among our citizens as no one knew the reason therefor, and the police department was unable to give any information to constant inquiries made at headquarters.

When we remember the strained relations between capital and labor throughout the country, and how frequent strikes and riots are, and that only a short time ago the militia company here was actually called to the northern part of the county, and that only a few years ago blood was shed on our own streets, not only of laboring men but of an innocent boy, during a riot, it seems a shame and an outrage upon our citizens that such a false riot alarm should be sounded in so reckless and wanton a manner by outsiders caring nothing whatever for the peace of the city.

The police department have been instructed that in the future before paying any attention to a riot alarm sounded from elevator D that they shall inquire carefully as to the cause therefor. If the same is again falsely and wantonly sounded by that or any other elevator the police department and the fire department will be instructed to pay no attention whatever to any alarm of any kind sounded by such elevator; and I respectfully suggest to your honorable body that you pass an ordinance with severe penalties for the commission of such an act in the future.

Very respectfully,
C. D'AUTREMONT, JR.,
Mayor.

The matter was referred to the ordinance committee.

N. H. Priley presented a petition asking for permission to erect a small building at the corner of Superior street and Sixth avenue west without excavating seven feet below the street level as required by the building ordinance. This precipitated another fight between Alderman Thomas and Alderman Long. The latter insisted that whenever there is a case brought up asking for the suspension of the building ordinance, there is always some special reason advanced for doing it. He thought it was bad policy to break into the ordinance at all. The matter had been referred to the committee on fire department and Alderman Thomas moved to take it from the committee. This was done by a close vote. Alderman Thomas then moved that the prayer of the petitioner be granted. This was adopted. Aldermen Long, Nelson, Wilson and Hugo voted in the negative.

Here Alderman Long raised a point of order that the adoption of the motion amended an ordinance and could not therefore be introduced and passed at the same meeting. President Hugo declared the point well taken, but Alderman Thomas appealed from his decision. The chair was sustained, Aldermen Thomas and Weiss voting in favor of the appeal.

The committee on railroads presented an ordinance amending the Duluth & Northeastern Railway and Terminal company franchise substantially as given in The Herald of yesterday. This was referred to the ordinance committee. Later on Alderman Hugo introduced an ordinance containing the same provision given in The Herald, and Alderman Long introduced another amending the rights granted on Water, Park and Jefferson streets so as to include only the northerly half of the streets instead of the whole. All were referred to the ordinance committee.

A communication was received from Auditor LaVaque presenting to the council the necessity for establishing a workhouse. Referred to police committee.

M. P. Mason asked permission to use corrugated iron and asbestos in constructing the walls of a light shaft in a three story building which he will erect on lot 59, West First street. Referred. The petition to vacate the alley in the rear of the procathedral was reported unfavorably for the reason that the city cannot legally do it. Health Officer Goffe asked that Second alley from Second to Fourth avenues West be graded and a sewer laid, also Fourth alley from Piedmont avenue West to Twenty-third avenue West. The park commissioners were authorized to improve Portland, Cascade, and Lafayette squares.

A petition was received asking that the west fourteen feet of Seventh avenue west between Second and Third streets be graded and sidewalked. Mayor d'Autremont informed the council of the appointment of William Lynott, James Curran and Paul Blashy as policemen.

Alderman Weiss introduced a resolution providing that $500 per year shall be allowed St. Mary's and St. Luke's hospitals, the Woman's home and the Bethel, for payment of their light and water bills. The city has been paying them all heretofore, but the aldermen consider it too expensive. The itemized expenses of the engineering and some other departments were ordered to be published hereafter. An ordinance ordering the extension of gas and water mains was passed.

All of the aldermen were present at the meeting.

GONE TO HIS REST.

Death of Mrs. G. G. Hartley's Father in Chicago.

W. W. Woodward, one of the old residents of Minneapolis and vicinity, died in Chicago at 1 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Woodward departed for Chicago about a week ago for the purpose of undergoing a surgical operation, and it appears that he did not recover from it, though the dispatch does not state the direct cause of his death.

The deceased was born in Fitchburg, Mass., July 16, 1823, and came to Minnesota in the spring of 1857, when he settled on a farm adjoining the present St. Louis Park. He resided there until 1868, when he moved to Minneapolis and took up his residence at 1122 Hawthorn avenue, where his family now lives.

He was for many years engaged in the manufacture of brick in that city, his yards being where the present Central market now stands. He was quite successful in politics, in which he figured at one time, being for three years an alderman from the Fourth ward, and for twelve years an assistant city assessor.

The deceased leaves a widow and three children, two daughters and a son, E. I. B. Woodward, now with S. G. Palmer & Co., Mrs. Hopkins, of Hopkins station, and Mrs. G. G. Hartley, of Duluth. Mrs. Woodward, the bereft, was the widow of Gen. George N. Morgan, for whom George N. Morgan Post, G. A. R., of Minneapolis, was named. Mrs. Woodward returned from Chicago the middle of the week, expecting Mr. Woodward was improving. On Saturday a telegram recalled her to Chicago and she returned there, barely reaching him before his death.

THE ITASCA PARK.

Something About the 1200 Square Mile Preserve and its Possibilities.

J. V. Brower, superintendent of the 1200 square-mile state park that has just been laid out around the Lake Itasca country, has been in Minneapolis for several days. Now practically all the land within the territory has been secured, by act of congress and of the legislature, and purchase from the railroad companies, the work of laying out and putting the park in proper shape will not long be delayed. It is the intention to keep the land in its wild state forever, preserving the timber and improving the water courses.

The park will embrace the three water sheds of the state, those of the Mississippi, the Red river and the Rainy river. As a whole, it is a wild, cheerless waste, filled with lakes and swamps, rugged hills and forests of pine. A number of pretty little valleys are to be found, with small streams running through them. At a comparatively small cost the country can be made very attractive. Complete surveys of the tract are to be made at once.

TO ADVISE PEACE

Conferences of Prominent Labor Leaders Regarding the Switchmen's Strike at Buffalo.

The Result Will Decide the Action That is to Be Taken in Future.

Growing Belief That This Action Will Be An Abandonment of the Strike.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The strike situation this morning can be summed up in one word—waiting. Grand Master Wilkinson, of the train men, will be here today, and Chief Conductor Clark, of the conductors, will be here tomorrow. Sargent, Sweeney and Wilkinson will hold a conference tonight, and tomorrow, when Clark arrives, another conference between the four executives will take place. Chief Arthur, of the engineers, is not expected to be present. The results of these conferences will decide the action to be taken.

The belief is growing today that this action will be an abandonment of the strike. The plan, it is now said, is to let the strike down easy. The conference will advise peace. Grand Master Sweeney will yield gracefully and the striking switchmen will go back to their places or will seek work elsewhere. This is admitted to be the critical point of the trouble, however. The firemen are reported to be clamoring for a strike, but Sargent says that no matter if they voted unanimously to strike he will not approve if, in his judgment, he did not consider it prudent. And furthermore, however much he may be in favor of going out with the switchmen, the firemen will not do so unless all the other railroad organizations go out.

The next twenty-four hours will tell the tale. The Rochester & Pittsburg men were expected to go out this morning, but are still at work. So are the Lackawanna, though that road had a narrow escape from being tied up yesterday. It appears that a quantity of freight arrived here by steamer marked to go by Lehigh Valley. The agents here tried to play a trick and by changing the marks and bills of lading to send it over the Lackawanna. The latter's men discovered the ruse and promptly refused to handle the freight. The road did not insist on it, so the men are at work today.

There were the customary number of small rows in various parts of the disturbed district last night but nothing of a serious nature occurred. There was shooting all along the front from the Ohio street trestle to the Tifft farm. Out on Seneca street a great many shots were fired and many more on the Tifft farm. So far as learned they were for the usual cause, the throwing of bricks or mysterious forms scudding through the darkness. Between 12:30 and 1 o'clock this morning a striker was shot and slightly wounded by a soldier stationed at the Hamburg street crossing of the Lehigh Valley. The emergeney hospital, was notified and he was conveyed thither in an ambulance. At the hospital he gave his name as William Moran and said his home is at No. 445 Seneca street.

A proposition was made to the sheriff last night in behalf of the strikers. It is that the sheriff swear in 400 of the striking switchmen as special deputies, each man to bring a certificate from Master Moriarty of the local lodge of switchmen that he is a responsible person and can be depended on. The sheriff made an appointment to meet the committee again today. The strikers want the troops withdrawn and they promise in return that they will guarantee the safety of railroad property and will not go in the yards, but patrol the streets adjoining and keep outsiders from making trouble.

The reports sent out from here early this morning to the effect that a conflict took place between the strikers and troops, in which several were killed and others wounded, is without foundation. There was no disturbance of a serious nature last night except firing by skulkers, which was replied to by the soldiers, but no one is known to have been shot.

WEBB IS SENSIBLE.

The Vice-President of the New York Central Opposes Pinkertonism.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The special to the World from Buffalo says Third Vice-President H. W. Webb of the New York Central railroad has become a convert to anti-Pinkertonism. He believes that recourse to the regular authorities is the right thing, and in time of strike private detectives should be removed from the places of disturbances and the case placed in the hands of the sheriff. As a consequence the Central's property was placed under the protection of the authorities, and that protection has been ample and satisfactory.

IN THE BROILING SUN.

Sufferings of Austrian Soldiers Forced to Manœuver.

VIENNA, Aug. 23.—Emperor Francis Joseph has countermanded the orders for the holding of the military manœuvers, which were fixed for Aug. 29, on account of the intense heat. The action of the emperor was due to the reports received from Carnionla, where the manœuvers have been held notwithstanding the extremely hot weather.

The soldiers were in heavy marching order and were compelled to take the field in the broiling sun and march and countermarch, charge and recharge with all their accoutrements. The result was that 200 of them were sunstruck. Eleven men out of 200 died. There is a feeling of indignation that the military authorities should have forced the men to manœuver in such weather.

Brewers On a Strike.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The Knights of Labor in Granger's brewery went on a strike yesterday because of Mr. Granger's refusal to reinstate a discharged knight. His place had been filled by a Knight of Labor as agreed between the proprietor and the knights, but the men went out, nevertheless, on Mr. Granger's refusal to re-employ him.

SAWS CEASE THEIR HUM.

One Thousand Mill Hands at Eau Claire on a Strike.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Aug. 23.—About 1000 saw mill employes struck for ten hours and eleven hours pay yesterday, and plants of five lumber companies, including all the eleven-hour mills, are idle, except one mill, which is partly running.

The plan attempted by the employes of two mills was to present petitions by committees for ten hours the first thing in the morning and then offer to go to work at 7 o'clock instead of 6, but the mill owners would not allow them to do this, as it would be practically conceding the demand. The men staid away from the other mills altogether. No definite reply was made by the mill owners to the committees, but there are no indications that the demand will be granted.

The mills shut down are those of the Empire, the Valley, the Dells and the Mississippi Logging companies. The Daniel Shaw company is running half of one mill. The strikers are orderly.

CHOLERA STILL INCREASES.

The Rapid Spread of the Disease in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 23.—The official report shows an increase Monday of 381 new cases and of 236 deaths from cholera as compared with Saturday's figures. The total number of new cases of cholera reported Monday was 6891 and deaths 3313. The prisoners arrested during the riots at Saratoff on the 10th inst. are on trial. They number about 200 persons.

M. Morozoff, president of the Nijni Novgorod Fair company, has arranged for the distribution among the poorer classes of 1000 free dinner tickets per day. The total number of free dinners given in this way during the fair will consequently amount to 50,000.

IS FAYETTE MARSH INSANE?

The Condition of the Stillwater Lawyer to be Examined.

STILLWATER, Minn., Aug. 23.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Fayette Marsh on the grounds of insanity, and he will be examined before Court Commissioner Doe. He has been acting strangely of late, and his malady is said to be due to excessive drinking.

He has taken the gold cure treatment at various times, but was not benefited in the least. Mr. Marsh has been one of the brightest legal lights in the state, and his condition is deplored by family and friends.

A NEW CUSTOMS PORT.

It has Been Established on the North Dakota Boundary.

PEMBINA, N. D. Aug. 23.—A new customs port has been established about 200 miles west of Bottineau. It is called the port of Mouse river, and Joseph La Port, of this city, has been appointed deputy collector and mounted inspector of this port.

It is expected in the near future to be the most important in the district of North and South Dakota, as the Soo road will connect at this point with the Canadian Pacific and will be a more direct route of shipping goods from the coast to points in the United States.

A SERIOUS HURRICANE.

Vessels Wrecked But no Fatalities Reported.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 23.—A serious hurricane is reported from the French island of St. Pierre. The storm was from a northeasterly direction and played havoc with the vessels at anchor in the roadstead. The French brigantine Hasparren was driven on shore, but without loss of life. Two schooners, the Ferdinand and Van Nest, were driven to sea and much other damage was done. No lives are reported lost.

A Ministerial Acrobat.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 23.—The Rev. John Jayne is back in the Baptist pulpit. He was originally a tanner, became an actor and then entered the ministry. He was fast becoming distinguished when he announced a change of heart, became an agnostic, married a lady a number of years his senior but possessed of $100,000, and entered the publishing business. Recently he declared his faith restored and is now again in good standing in the ministry.

Shot Himself Fatally.

SEARCY, Ark., Aug. 23.—Judge J. F. Rives, a well known lawyer and politician of this city, shot himself to death early yesterday morning. He had been drinking and neglecting his business. Deceased had filled the position of county judge for White county and was in the legislature of 1883. He was very popular in Central Arkansas. He leaves a wife and five little girls.

Burglary at Crookston.

CROOKSTON, Minn., Aug. 23.—Thieves made a raid on A. D. Morris' jewelry store Sunday night and secured $800 worth of goods, consisting of gold watches, chain, etc. A clerk was sleeping in the store, heard the men escape and gave an alarm, but there is no clue.

A Costly Blaze.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 23.—Wagener & Co.'s row of stores, No. 616 to 638 East Seventh, was burned yesterday afternoon causing a loss of $100,000 on building and furniture. The building is directly across the street from the building burned on Saturday last which was owned by the same firm.

Tailors Locked Out.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The dispute between the journeymen tailors in England and the masters regarding the matter of piece work resulted today in the employers locking out their men as a matter of protection. Fifty-five thousand tailors are made idle by this action.

France is Favored.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The Argentine Republic, Uruguay, Paraguay and the United States of Columbia have conceded to France the "most favored nation" treatment.

Corbett has Accepted.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 23.—James J. Corbett has telegraphed the editor of the Evening Sun, of New York, that he will accept the challenge of McCaffery.

THE STATE BEATEN

Decision Against the State of Texas in the Famous Railroad Tariff Case.

The Commission Law is Held By a Federal Judge to Be Unconstitutional.

It Deprives the Railroads of Their Property Without Due Process of Law.

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 23.—In the famous case by which the Texas & Pacific Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe and St. Louis & Southwestern railways sued out an injunction in the United States court restraining the Texas Railway commission from enforcing certain tariffs, Judge A. P. McCormick yesterday handed down a decision giving to the complainants all the relief for which they prayed. The judge's decision contains 12,000 words, and in it he reviews the history of Texas railroads and legislation affecting the same. He also quotes copiously from the decisions in the Minnesota and granger cases, and in a judicial way roasts Governor Hogg for his fling at the federal judiciary. Judge McCormick says in substance:

The contentions of the defendants, Reagan, McLean, Goster and Culberson, as far as it is deemed material to notice, are: First, that the bills do not show the right of complainants to sue; second, that the suits are believed to be collusive and preagreed as to the defendant railway companies; third, that as to these defendants, the suits are really against the state.

It is apparent from the whole record and the conduct of this hearing that the controversy is not between the complainant and the railways, but between the railways and the other defendant. The bills of complaint and the answer and cross bill of railways and the arguments of their counsel show that there is no such element of collusion in these cases as can prejudice the rights of complainant to sue. The cases cited and pressed by counsel for defendants on this point are plainly different from the cases here.

We come now to consider: Have the complainants made out their case? Are the rates being enforced against the railways unreasonably low and confiscatory? Is their property being taken or threatened with being taken without due process of law, or are they denied the equal protection of laws? And if so, what measure of relief, if any, can this court now extend to the original and cross complainants? From the sworn pleadings, the exhibits, affidavits, and unquestioned statements of honorable counsel conversant with the facts made during the argument in open court on the hearing of these motions, I draw my conclusions of fact touching these matters, now deemed material.

On these essential issues the complainant and cross complainants have offered the affidavits of present or former chief officers and employes of the complainants, witnesses most conversant with the facts, and with regard to many of whom the defendants, the attorney general in his able oral arguments, was candid enough and generous enough to say: "I know them. They are respectable gentlemen of high character who would not and could not make a false statement." I adopt from the brief of complainants' counsel this statement, which I have found to be accurate within considerable exceptions not resulting in increased revenues: "The commission has reduced every tariff which it touched."

That each of said railways put the commission tariff complained in effect on its line, under protest and under coercion of the provisions relating to suits against it for damage and penalties should it refuse or fail to so put them in effect. The number of suits to which they would otherwise daily become liable amount to many hundreds. The legislature has power to fix rates and the extent of judicial interference is protection against unreasonable rates. The court then holds that section 5 of the commission law is unconstitutional and with this section all other sections are void, and adds:

"In at least one public address of his excellency, our present governor, in discussing the subject of the Texas commission and especially section 5 of the railroad commission law, he said in substance, with zeal and warmth and telling irritation, that section 5 was the heart of this law, and it and its related sections the life of the Texas railroad commission, and according to my most careful study of this law in that respect and to that extent his excellency's construction of law was sound. The act is largely modeled after the interstate commerce law into which, however, it seeks to infuse life by section 5 and its related sections.

"It is evident on the face of the law, as we know the fact to have been, its framers were thoroughly conversant with and kept steadily in their view the decision of the supreme court in the Minnesota case, then but lately announced, and further that the commission is in direct conflict with this United States court's decision therein. It clearly appears to me that every provision of this law tends to thus enforce a compliance with rates of the commission, whether they be reasonable or not, and every position tending to embarrass or enabling the commissioners to embarrass such roads as may choose to invoke the protection of the constitution against the taking of their property without due process of law, or denying them the equal protection of the law, is affected with the same vice that renders section 5 invalid.

"It follows from the views thus expressed that these motions should be granted and that the very many other most interesting questions presented in the record and in argument on this hearing are not material to be considered. That the measure of complainants and cross-complainants shall be adequate, it is necessary that it should be as full as they have asked, and it is so ordered."

The state will appeal the case to the United States supreme court.

A BRAVE SHERIFF

Tom Cunningham, the Sheriff of San Joaquin County, Cal., for Twenty-one Years.

His Museum of Pistols, Knives, Swords and Clubs That Have Done Murder.

Old-Fashioned Burglar Tools, Counterfeit Coin and Pocketknife of a Swindler.

Tom Cunningham has been sheriff of San Joaquin county, Cal., for twenty-one years, longer in continuous service in that office than any other man in the state or probably any other in the country. He won't talk much except about his "collection." That is the only subject that excites him, and it is a bouquet of beauties. In it is an ax which a Chinaman used to lay open another's head; a Chinese cue which the wearer tried to hang himself with in jail, and which was then cut off; a Mexican sword with which five men were killed in 1869; pistols of all makes and sizes, from a little pepperbox to a Colt's navy revolver; a little penknife with which a Spanish woman stabbed and killed a man, and the immense, wide, heavily stained sword which was found in his house and which figured in her trial; blackened knives and bright dirks which were the instruments of murders; sharp steel of many sorts, some of the blades being three feet long; counterfeit coin that was found in a camp of makers of the queer in the county and the nickel which saved a man's life by diverting the course of a bullet.

The collection was begun, however, in 1851 by the then sheriff, Richard Porter Ashe, father of the present noted turfman, Porter Ashe. Dr. Ashe, as he was called, hanged the notorious "Dutch Fred" and SHERIFF CUNNINGHAM.

"Mountain Jim" in 1851, and began the museum with their pistols. They are great, clumsy weapons, and it is not at all surprising on viewing them why men used to carry their shooting irons in full view. They could not be hidden.

One naturally supposes that the men hanged in those times were desperadoes. That supposition is wrong. They were strung up for horse stealing. In that period horses were more precious than human lives, and at that time and for many years after the sheriff of San Joaquin county had much to do tracing stolen horses and chasing the thieves.

The law was repealed at an early day, and the last eight or ten hanged in the county were murderers. A noticeable object in the museum is a coat of mail, made of small links of steel, which was taken from a murderer when he was arrested for killing his son-in-law. He, too, was hanged. In a case with other guns is one with a long barrel, which is labeled as the weapon that killed the once noted bandit, Joaquin Murietta, at Cantua creek, Fresno county.

Sheriff Cunningham thinks the toughest man he ever had to handle was Jim Winters, who shot the daughter of General James A. Shepherd while he was attempting to commit a burglary. As she lingered a year he escaped conviction for murder, served his term for burglary, killed another young lady at Santa Rosa under exactly similar circumstances and was sent up for life.

Long after he reached the penitentiary it was found that he had many instruments to aid him in escaping. These were found in the soles of his shoes and the lining of his clothes when Sheriff Cunningham took him to Stockton from the penitentiary. He had a slim file inserted in the back of a comb, covering the opening with black wax; a wooden key, which he had cut out himself and which was to be employed for opening cell doors; a pair of nippers and a sharp pointed knife blade. A flannel pincushion that he had at the time was ripped open and checks for $1,200 on San Francisco banks were found in it. Despite the vigilance of the guards he had kept all these things.

When they stepped out of the cars at San Quentin, Winters was ahead and dexterously slipped under the car. He thought the sheriff would go over the platform to the other side to catch him, but quick as a flash Cunningham slid under the car also and grabbed him by the neck.

They wrestled and twisted beneath the car. The sheriff did not have time to cry out to the engineer, and nobody else had stepped off the front platform with the officer and his prisoner. Had the train moved both of them would have been killed or maimed. The sheriff exerted his strength to drag Winters out and did not draw his pistol. Fortunately he got the convict out just in time. A moment after he rolled him from under the car and jerked him to his feet the engine puffed and the train moved on.

The Moquelemos grant in San Joaquin county was long the scene of an agrarian war, and in 1884 the settlers rose in arms to resist a levy. They mustered thirty-six, with repeating rifles and pistols. Sheriff Cunningham knew that if he went to the place with his deputies or a posse and tried to dispossess the settlers by using armed force a conflict would be inevitable and lives would be lost. He called on the governor for troops and a brigade was sent to the grant. The presence of the military was enough to restore the authority of the law, and after staying there ten days the troops returned home. That a bloody meeting was avoided by this course was apparent.

Such are a few of the incidents which have given Tom Cunningham his sobriquet of "bravest of sheriffs." He was first elected in 1871 and has held continuously ever since. His longest chase was after the famous bandit, Vasquez, an account of which one of the party has written under the title of "Sixty Days in the Saddle."

FLIES AND HUMAN BEINGS.

War to the Death Has Been Waged for Centuries.

It is not generally known, except by those familiar with the literature of the Fourteenth century, that the month of August is dedicated to Beelzebub, the interpretation of his name being Father of Flies. Flies appear earlier in the season, but it is in August that they take possession, says a writer in the New York Evening Sun. Bacon quotes King James as saying, "Have I not three kingdoms for you to expatiate in, and you must needs fly in my eye?" So it seems flies occupy the earth. There is but one known spot where flies are not found. That is Mount Carina, in Candia, where a honey is produced so abhorrent to flies that they avoid the place. The estimate of Spencer's imagination has been measured by his apostrophe to the silver winged possessors of the empire of the air. Flies, in fact, have no sense. There is scarcely an insect that has not at times been trained or shown intelligence. There is no such record of the fly.

The peculiarities of his structure, his machinery of locomotion, his unconsciousness of the laws of gravity have been of interest both to scientists and poets. Theodore Tilton's well known ode to the fly has been set to music, and is on countless lips in kindergartens and nurseries. Of this nothing is owing to the fly himself.

The enmity between man and flies is historic, but the warfare continued through long ages is feeble, though unremitting. The Cape Colonists, it is related by James Payn, dip long wisps of straw in milk and hang them up. When the flies have settled down on them they draw a sack over the wisps. They often bag in this manner as much as a bushel of flies in a day. The fashion of poisoning flies with flypaper has gone out, the paper being too easily dissolved into a summer drink for one's enemies.

The flies, moreover, had an uncomfortable habit of leaving their corpses on the dishes and tablecloth. Farmers' wives pleasantly lure the fly into glass cisterns of sweetened waters, where it can die like a rose in aromatic pain. The latest method of fly catching is by means of pitch coated papers. Lured by the resinous odor the fly lights. Sheets of this paper, looking like huckleberry tarts, are shown in druggists' windows. But while the fly sticks to the paper the paper sticks to everything else, and unsuspecting members of the family are likely to serve as a walking morgue for flies.

English as the Universal Language.

When some ingenious people devoted their energies a few years back to the task of manufacturing a brand new universal language, impartial observers were prompted to offer the obvious criticism that it would be more sensible to let the question settle itself. The votaries of Volapuk were not, however, to be dissauded from their enterprise. But after awhile internal dissensions have arisen amid the disciples of the new linguistic cult.

At the same time a striking and wholly unexpected testimony to the claims of English to the premiership of languages has been paid by an old French Canadian priest, Father Chiniquy. His grounds for supposing that English must prevail in the long run are based on his practical experience in Canada—where, according to his account, French is everywhere disappearing—and above all on the genius of the language itself. "Your expression," he said to an interviewer, "is more direct, your syntax is more simple and the sounds of your language more forcible." Father Chiniquy exemplified his meaning by contrasting the expression "Fire!" "Ready" and "All aboard" with "Feu!" "Pret" and "Embarquez." Such phonetic considerations are undoubtedly of importance, especially in a utilitarian age.

Its Glory Has Departed.

Ever since New York was settled the banks of the Hudson have been occupied by the landed gentry, and two centuries have given them an air of the antique. From the city northward on both sides of the river every step is on classic ground. Tarrytown, Washington Irving's home, the Philipse manor and scores of others combine rural beauty and historic interest.

Among the many places of interest the old John C. Fremont mansion just now attracts attention because it is being torn down, though built as late as 1845. It was built by that prince of journalists, James Watson Webb, but the estate long since passed into other hands, and now Mr. Elbert B. Monroe is to occupy it. General Fremont bought it soon after the close of the civil war, but his singular inability to keep property was growing on him, and in a little while it was vacant and the building going rapidly to decay.

In 1680 the original Webb estate was sold by the Sachem Ghokarins to Frederick Philipse, and after many changes a part of it became the property of General Webb. His hospitality was of a lavish kind, and among his early guests was the last Commodore Perry. While the latter was at Vera Cruz two shells were aimed at him from the castle of San Juan d'Ulloa, but fell in the sand without exploding. He sent them to General Webb, and with other war trophies they now adorn the main gate-way. General Webb adopted the local Indian name of Pokohoe for the estate, and its brief history as here given well illustrates the varying fortunes of American families.

MASCULINE MENTION.

Halsey C. Clarke, of Richmond, R. I., has been town clerk for forty-one years.

Senator Pasco, of Florida, is known in Washington as the senator who never votes.

James Willis, of Mount Sterling, Ky., has been struck by lightning four times and is still alive.

Chauncey G. Smith, of Hartford, has been fifty years a deacon of the First Baptist church in that city.

Congressman Warner, of New York, always wears a tall white hat in Washington, which attracts great attention.

Successive generations of the Allin family, of Harrodsburg, Ky., have been in office continuously as circuit or county clerk since 1786.

Senator Hawley, of Connecticut, is the terror of the official reporters because of the rapidity of his utterances and their irregularity of speed.

Mr. Cleveland writes all his letters between 10 o'clock at night and 2 o'clock in the morning. This habit the ex-president contracted at the White House.

Captain Fred I. Dean, of Washington, though not an old man in years, is said to be the oldest G. A. R. veteran living. He is one of the original four organizers.

Marshal MacMahon, the duke of Magenta, says that his memoirs will appear immediately after his death. "I am eighty-four years old," says the marshal, "and cannot live much longer."

Captain Frederick Watkins, of the steamship City of Paris, is a native of Sussex, England, and fifty-five years of age. He began his nautical career at thirteen as a sailor before the mast.

Vice President Morton has been honored with a set of resolutions from the Women's Industrial league of the country, recognizing his kindly interest in the cause of the female breadwinners, no matter how humble.

J. Keir Hardie, who has recently been elected to parliament and who is favorably known as a labor leader, is a hardheaded Scotchman, who has worked for his living as a collier, and is an advanced student of socialistic politics.

Senator Quay has purchased what is known as the Matthew Stanley farm, four miles north of Coatesville, Pa. The senator passed his boyhood days upon this farm, being a nephew of Matthew Stanley, after whom he was named.

The Earl of Orkney, who recently married Connie Gilchrist, bears a Scotch title, but his affiliations with the northern part of Great Britain are not very great. His property, which is all in Ireland, yields him a rental of about $50,000 per year.

F. A. Channing, a member of the newly elected British parliament, is recognized as a nephew of William Ellery Channing, the famous Unitarian clergyman of New England. Mr. Channing has spent most of his life in England and was educated at Cambridge university.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph Stockbridge, who is at the head of the list of chaplains in the United States navy, is the only one who has the rank of commodore. He resides in Philadelphia. He has been in the service over fifty years. Annie Louise Cary Raymond is his niece.

The only social club of which Mr. Blaine is a member is the Kebo Valley club, of Mount Desert, which recently elected the ex-secretary of state to honorary membership. In discussing his election with some friends at Bar Harbor, Mr. Blaine said, "In all my twelve years of Washington life I never joined a club or had any desire to do so."

EXPOSITION ECHOES.

The queen of Italy is organizing a superb show of native Italian lace for the World's fair.

The fine arts building at the World's fair will have a mosaic floor, the contract for which has been let at $16,989.

A Boston man wants to exhibit a skycycle at the World's fair. A skycycle comes under the head of flying machines.

A "model of the figure of Lot's wife in salt" will appear in the Kansas World's fair exhibit to represent or illustrate the salt industry of the state.

The German exhibit at the World's fair will contain an architectural display including drawings illustrating 200 or more of the most notable buildings in the empire.

An Indiana stone quarry company is having a life size figure of an elephant chiseled out of a solid block of stone. It will be eleven feet high and weigh thirty tons. It will be exhibited at the World's fair.

The California capitol will be represented in miniature at the World's fair by an exhibition of pickles. The women of Fresno county will distribute 2,500 pounds of raisins in souvenir boxes. A playing fountain of wine will form a feature of the viticultural display.

Wisconsin, through its World's fair board, has asked that May 29, 1893, be designated Wisconsin Day at the exposition. That date is the forty-fifth anniversary of the admission of the state into the Union, and it desires to celebrate it in an appropriate manner at the fair.

A Wild Protest.

Young Wife—What do you think of my pie crust, Jack?

Jack (who doesn't wish to be as severe as the case warrants)—Very nice, my darling; but didn't you get the shortening in lengthwise?—Boston Post.

A Genuine Kleptomaniac.

At Carlisle, Scotland, recently, the London and Northwestern Railway company prosecuted John Ferguson, a dentist of independent means in Carlisle, for the larceny of a number of forks and spoons from luncheon baskets which were standing at night time on Carlisle station platform. The prisoner was seen to take the articles, which were worth less than five shillings, by a signalman on duty in a signal box overlooking the platform, and to conceal them under his coat. When arrested the accused said to the police, "For God's sake, let me go; I'm ruined," and he offered two men ten shillings each to let him go. Afterward the articles were found in a cupboard in his house, which is close to the railway station. For the defense medical evidence was tendered showing that the accused is of eccentric habits and suffers from sleeplessness, while two years ago he had a paralytic stroke, and his mother died from apoplexy. The magistrate dealt with the case under clause 16 of the summary jurisdiction act, and dismissed the summons, requiring Mr. Ferguson, however, to pay the costs.

Queer Conduct of a Horse.

A queer story comes from Circleville, O. The horses seem to have declared war on bicycles. Miss Mabel Valentine was wheeling on the Columbus pike when she met a stray horse whose indignation was aroused by the bicycle, and he gave chase. Miss Valentine was thoroughly frightened by the animal's actions and did her best to get away from the brute, but to no purpose. He stuck to the task with bulldog determination, and when she increased her speed he also let out a link.

SMASHING THE BICYCLE.

Realizing the chase was becoming more desperate and that she was succumbing to the severe efforts to keep away from her tormentor, she abandoned the machine and attempted to climb a fence. She succeeded, but fell and was badly bruised.

Then the horse jumped on the bicycle and was rapidly pawing it to pieces when some farmers arrived and drove him away. And this, says the local report, is the third horse in that county to attack the bicycle. Is it possible there is equine jealousy of the new method or riding?

Russian Royalty in Summer.

"All the world loves a lover," and equally all the ladies like to read of the doings of royalty, and it may therefore interest them to know that the czar and the Russian imperial family spend the summer at their seaside palace, Peterhof—the marine Versailles, as it is often called. Every evening they appear in public after dinner to take tea on the grand terrace of the Peterhof palace, while the Horse Guards band plays on the esplanade, where the members of the court and nobility are promenading. The czarina often spends the morning at Monplaisir, the favorite residence of Peter the Great and Catherine II, with its charming view of Cronstadt and the Gulf of Finland.

Hosiery and Corsets
AT RARE BARGAINS.

LADIES do you realize that when you buy of the retailer, you are paying three unnecessary profits? The manufacturer sells to the commission house, the latter to the jobber, and the jobber in turn sells to the retail merchant. You must pay the manufacturer a profit first, and then pay each of the subsequent handlers a profit, not infrequently paying two profits to the retailer. The is a responsible syndicate which sells direct to the consumer. By investing in manufacturers' samples and the stocks of insolvent manufacturers, in connection with our regular commission holdings, we are able to sell to the consumer direct at the commission price, which is but one remove from the manufacturer's.

We offer the following bargains in hosiery: Ladies' extra length, full regular made, fast black and seamless hose, very fine guage, (retailing everywhere at 50 cents) we will sell at 23 cents per pair in quantities of one-half dozen, or for $1.38.

This exceptional offer is made merely to introduce our name in your section. Send 15 cents additional and we will prepay express charges at special rates secured by us for the benefit of our patrons.

We are positively offering as a leader the cheapest corset for the money in the world,

The Jenness Tailor-Made Corset is made of heaviest drab jeans, with patent strips of gold. Made like a glove-fitting corset; boned with unbreakable stays. Has double busk and side steels. Is retailed everywhere at $1.50 and in remote sections at very much more. Our price is only 83 cents.

Send 15 cents additional to prepay express charges. Mention sizes desired in ordering hosiery or corsets. We will positively refund money if goods are not satisfactory and just as represented.

Orders must be accompanied by cash in either money-order, postal note, stamps or registered letters, addressed to the

DOWN IN THE SEA

Wonderful Experience of the Most Experienced Submarine Diver in the World.

Amusements and Terrors Which Are Encountered at the Bottom of the Ocean.

A Wild, Sensational and Exciting Sort of Business. But Not Necessarily Dangerous.

Edward H. Littlefield, native of Block island and resident of Providence, now sixty-six years old, modestly claims to be the most experienced submarine diver in the world. And truly he has had some wonderful experiences in his forty-four years in the business. Use is everything to a man, and skillful divers really enjoy their work.

Mr. Littlefield has taken 100 bodies out of sunken ships and has walked all through and around some fifty vessels lying from 15 to 168 feet deep. His first great scare was in 1850, when diving in the Seaconnet river for the corpse of a lad who had been down eleven days. Of this he says:

"I went down at 7:30 o'clock in the morning. I wasn't used to it, so I took sick about 9:30 o'clock, but I got some old Cognac brandy to drink and went back about 11. The first thing I saw when I got down was a swarm of bluefish. I went through them and then came a lot of dogfish. These dogfish are tough things, for they have two spurs on the back near the tail, and they wind around a man's legs and spur him. They smashed against me and any number of them spurred my legs a good deal as roosters use their spurs, so that I at last got out my knife and went to cutting my way through. You know dogfish will feed on a dogfish that is dead, so I ripped them open all around me as they went along with the tide, and the others ate the injured ones. I must have killed fifty or sixty of them, all two or three feet long.

"After I got through them I felt something whirl me around. I could tell it wasn't the current, so I looked around to see what it was. There was a big shark off to my left looking at me. I'd have given a city to be out of his way, but, says I, if I go up he'll bite me in two, and so I decided to stay there. I felt just as if my helmet was raising up. I suppose it was my hair. Well, Mr. Shark looked at me awhile. Then he goes around we twice and a half, and then I got my knife out again. He turns on one side, and I could have put a barrel in his mouth easy. I knew what was coming, so I waited. He dashed for me, and as he came I stepped one side, shut my eyes and slashed with the knife. I caught him in his life, for I cut his heart right in two.

"I opened my eyes and found him lying on the bottom fifty or sixty feet off, the blood rising from him in bubbles. I went up to him and then something happened to me. I don't know what. I suppose I fainted, for I came to with my body leaning against the shark's down there on the bottom. Well, I hadn't given any signal to my tender, so he had kept up the air supply, but pretty quick I felt them pulling three times to ask me if I was all right. They said the blood all around the lines rose in red bubbles to the top before it mixed with the water."

It is of course known to all readers that the deeper one goes in the water the greater is the pressure, and under the ordinary system the air cannot be forced down to the diver if he is 200 feet deep, and will not hold his suit out from his body much below 100 feet. In that case the diver must go down by slow degrees to avoid the numbness caused by the tightening of the suit. In 1860 Mr. Littlefield went down 168 feet to recover the bodies of a lady and her daughter who were drowned on the ship of the husband and father. Of this he says:

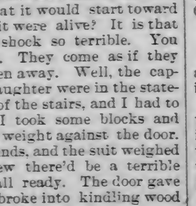
"Now, it's queer, but there's something about bodies under water. Did you know that if you went into the cabin of a vessel where one was that it would start toward you, almost as if it were alive? It is that that makes the shock so terrible. You can't avoid them. They come as if they wanted to be taken away. Well, the captain's wife and daughter were in the stateroom at the foot of the stairs, and I had to open the door. I took some blocks and braced my whole weight against the door. I weighed 200 pounds, and the suit weighed 265 more. I knew there'd be a terrible shock, so I got all ready. The door gave way at last, and broke into kindling wood like a flash. The concussion of the water flung the bodies toward me like lightning. I shut my eyes, and reaching out to grab the bodies caught the woman's as she flew toward me.

"I signaled and was taken up. Then I went down to hunt for the little girl. I found she had come out when her mother did, and floated under the cabin table. Why, that table was set just as when the vessel sunk, and there was food on the plates at that very time. I was pulled up with the little girl."

Divers have their fun like other people, and Mr. Littlefield tells with glee of punishing an overbearing fellow by sending a little tobacco smoke down with his air. Take it all in all, it is a wild, sensational and exciting sort of business, but not necessarily dangerous.

A Yankee in Parliament.

America is pretty well represented in the new British parliament, and one of the members for Nottingham is Mr. F. A. Channing, whose father was a native of Boston, a chaplain of the United States senate, and nephew of William Ellery Channing, the great apostle of Unitarianism. Rev. W. H. Channing, the father of the M. P., was himself one of the most eloquent orators America has produced. He was a son of Francis Dana Channing, and after graduating from Harvard preached in Cincinnati, Rochester, Boston, New York city, and finally in Liverpool. His English residence was interrupted by his zeal for the north in the civil war. He returned to America then and preached in Washington; his church was seized for hospital purposes, and then it was that he became chaplain of the senate. After delivering a series of Lowell institute lectures in Boston he returned to England, where he died a few years ago.



F. A. CHANNING.

Mr. F. A. Channing is the only son of the Rev. W. H., whose daughter became the wife of Sir Edwin Arnold, poet and journalist.

The Worst to Be Told.

The snowy heads were bowed and the wrinkled faces were wet with bitter tears. A great crushing sorrow had come to them in their old age and they clung to each other helplessly.

"Mother"——

There was a world of pathos in the aged husband's tender, solemn manner of address.

"I have seen our boy in—in"——

The load upon his mind was too great to permit him to proceed at once. His voice sank to an inarticulate whisper.

"Jail"——

The word seemed to wring his soul.

"And he confessed to all."

"Oh, James!"

The venerable mother trembled and would have fallen but for the support of her helpmate's strong right arm.

"James, James, to think that it is all true."

"Yes, mother, he admitted it all. Oh, that I should live to see this day!"

In utter misery they rocked to and fro in each other's arms.

"And, mother, the worst of it is yet to be told."

She looked into his face in unspeakable horror.

"James."

"Our boy confesses that he stole the money to—oh—to buy cigarettes."

It seemed as if their grief must kill them.—Detroit Tribune.

He Had Learned Something.

Old Hownow—So you're through college?

Young Smilax—Yes.

Hownow—Well, what are you going to do?

Smilax—Well, I hardly know. I've had two offers—one to go into a lawyer's office for two years at three dollars a week, and the other to play halfback for a football team at $1,500 for the season.—Boston Globe.

Waiting for a Skeycle.

"Why don't you ride a bicycle?" I asked a young lady who was talking about needing exercise.

Plenty of Odds.

She—I feel so sure of the finale that I believe I would be willing to bet you a kiss.

He—I don't think I would like to accept that bet except upon one condition.

She—Pray, what is that?

He—That you give me odds.—New York Herald.

The Almighty Dollar.

Featherstone—Have you seen the latest thing in a silver dollar? See here. You touch a spring, it opens and here is a photograph of your best girl.

MORTGAGE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of two hundred thirty-eight and 28-100 dollars ($238.28) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Jenny W. Young and Oscar L. Young, her husband, to Albert R. Ridgely, bearing date the 31st day of March, A. D. 1891, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 14th day of April, A. D. 1891, at 4:20 o'clock p. m., in book 71 of mortgages, on page 378, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: Lots one hundred fifteen (115), one hundred seventeen (117) and one hundred nineteen (119), all on St. Louis avenue, Lower Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, in St. Louis county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and fifteen ($15.00) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis county county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth in said county and state, on the 21st day of September, A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated August 9th, A. D. 1892.

Water Melon Statistics.

It may be interesting to note that the various wholesale fruit and vegetable dealers on Michigan street, up to noon today and since the close of business last night, had received nine carloads of water melons, or about 10,800 of the luscious fruit. This is somewhat different from nineteen years ago this fall when the Duluth Minnesotian contained an advertisement, for two weeks ahead, that there would be thirty large melons at Spalding's grocery on a certain date. Those ancient melons sold for $1 each, while those received by the wholesale dealers this morning will go off at 10 to 20 cents each.

STOCK IS LIVELY

Sales Outside the Exchange Are Experiencing An Unusual Activity.

Reorganization of the Great Northern Company Said to Be Completed.

Parties Who Now Hold Only Small Interests Will Obtain Control.

For two or three days past there has been quite a strong movement in stocks, not particularly on the exchange but on the outside among individual holders, stocks which have been practically lifeless since February and March when the "flurry" was on, have been quite active and there is considerable call for Great Northern, Mesaba Chief and some for Shaw.

The tendency toward renewed activity is more noticeable in Great Northern than other and a few knowing ones claim to know the reason for this. The Great Northern company as is well known has an excellent mine. It is now said that a majority of the stock has been pooled for a period of 90 days and when that time expires some substantial iron men, who have heretofore been only slightly interested, will have obtained control and effected an internal reorganization, which will place the company in the front rank. The price which has been paid for Great Northern the past few days averages $6.

The Mesaba Central Land & Exploration company will pay another dividend on Aug. 26, this time of 36 per cent. This company declared a dividend of 50 per cent only a few weeks ago.

The Bessemer Iron Development & Mining company filed articles with the register today. Its capital is $100,000 and the incorporators are A. E. Humphreye, G. E. Milligan and W. H. Trump, the latter of Pittsburg.

WHEAT ON THE UPGRADE.

Bullish Features Made a Strong and Advancing Market.

A strong advancing market prevailed in the early hours today, although the opening was 1/8 to 1/4c lower than yesterday's close. Letters received from farmers in the Red River valley report that the late rain has made the ground so soft that harvesting is difficult. Scattering reports on the wheat crop of the Northwest as a general thing were bullish, but the large movement of the winter wheat crop to shipping points and the immense increase in the visible last week prevented any sharp upturns. The main encouraging feature was the better foreign demand and reports of very late harvests. The demand was mainly in September in large lots on steadily advancing prices. Milling wheat was in good demand as usual. Early in the day No. 1 northern wheat was active at the same prices as yesterday. Little was done after noon either in futures or cash, and the close was dull and slightly irregular at an advance of 1/4 to 1/2c over yesterday and 1/2 to 3/4c over the opening. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 81c; August, 81c; September, 81c; December, 81 1/4c. No. 1 northern, cash 76 3/4c; August, 76 3/4c; September, 77c; December, 78c. No. 2 northern, cash 71 3/4c. No. 3, 61c. Rejected, 51c. On track, No. 1 hard, 81c; No. 1 northern, 78 1/2c.

Receipts—Wheat, 44,130 bus; rye, 3219 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 17,327 bus. Cars on track, 54; last year, 131. Car inspection today, 81.

The flour statement for the week ended Saturday last shows: Production by local mills, 21,811 bbls; receipts by rail, 133,335 bbls; shipments, 192,685 bbls; flour in store, 208,777 bbls.

Outside Markets.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—The close: Wheat: September, 76 1/8c; May, 80 1/8c. Corn, September, 52 1/4c; May 53 1/4@3/8c. Oats, September, 34 5/8c; May, 37 5/8c. Pork, September, $11.30; January, $12.75. Lard, September, $7.70; January, $7.15. Ribs, September, $7.87 1/2; January, $6.50.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 23.—Wheat: August closed at 72 5/8c; September opened at 72c and closed at 72 5/8c; December opened at 75c, and closed at 75 1/2c. On track—No. 1 hard, 79 3/4c; No. 1 northern, 78 1/4c; No. 2 northern, 67@70c.

FORECAST FOR AUGUST 23

Local forecast till 8 a. m. tomorrow: Fair followed possibly by showers, slight change in temperature; easterly winds.

THE CHAMBER MEETING.

More Delegates Wanted to Go to Grand Forks.

The chamber of commerce directors met this morning and the Grand Forks reciprocity convention occupied considerable of the discussion. The chamber wishes to send twenty-five delegates, but so far are only sure of about half a dozen. Aside from the general interest in the convention and its objects Duluth has further reasons for being interested in the success of the convention. When the jobbers and business men visited Grand Forks they were royally treated and are really under obligations now to contribute toward the success of the convention as a matter of courtesy. All members who are willing to go are requested to send their names to Secretary Thompson.

A communication was received from the management of the state fair asking for the use of the Duluth building as a headquarters for the officers during the fair. The Farm Stock and Home, of Minneapolis, also asks for it, to be used as a headquarters for agricultural publications. Both were referred to the committee on mines and mining.

The investment of $25 in copies of the special edition of the Duluth Volksfreund was authorized. A communication from a Minneapolis firm soliciting the furnishing of the badges for the delegates to the reciprocity convention was referred to the secretary.

New Stock Exchange.

There will open in a day or two a new stock exchange at 107 and 108 Chamber of Commerce, conducted by Mr. W. P. Brown. Grains and provisions bought and sold; direct private wire will connect this exchange with the New York exchange, and the very latest quotations on all railroad stocks can at all times be depended upon.

The Viaduct Work.

The iron columns, leads and stringers for the Lake avenue viaduct have been distributed along the line of the proposed work, and it is anticipated that the track crossings will be ironed over by the close of next week. The stone men are slightly behind the rest of the work.

$50 for Some Duluth Baby.

Liberal prizes, first prize $50, are offered to the prettiest babies who have used lactated food. The contest is creating great interest among mothers, and several in Duluth have already sent photographs of their little ones, to compete. Full particulars free by writing to Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., who manufacture this best of foods for infants, invalids, the aged, and all whose digestion is weak.

TO BUILD MILLS

The Itaska Iron Mining Company Has Decided to Erect Extensive Works at Duluth.

A Railroad to be Built at Once From the Property to Grand Rapids.

The Ore Will be Handled Here and Finished Product Shipped East.

Three More Forties Leased by the Wyoming Iron Company on Excellent Terms.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—[Special to The Herald.]—The incorporators of the Itaska Iron Mining company held a meeting for the purpose of organizing at the office of the company's attorney, L. D. Thoman, yesterday afternoon. There were present: Ex-Governor James E. Campbell, of Ohio; Allen W. Thurman, of Ohio; Capt. Frank Barrett, Robert J. Dean, William Allan and Mr. Sawyer. The officers chosen were: Robert J. Dean, president; J. E. Campbell, vice-president; Frank Barrett, secretary; William Allan, treasurer. The capital stock of the company is $5,000,000. The head offices will be in Chicago, with branches at Duluth, St. Paul, Cincinnati and New York.

Forty thousand acres of mining property have been examined by experts in Minnesota, and out of this 4500 acres have been purchased from small corporations and syndicates. This property is mostly located from 75 to 100 miles from Duluth. There will be a large force of men set to work at once and it is expected that $100,000 a month will be used. A much-needed railroad will be started immediately from Grand Rapids, Minn., to connect the property with the Duluth & Winnipeg railroad. New York capital is behind the schem.

Extensive mills and works are to be erected at Duluth and an attempt will be made to prove that the iron ore can be handled where mined, and shipped as the finished product cheaper than the raw material can be shipped East and there handled. Should this prove to be the case, as the promoters are confident it will, the Itaska Iron company is expected to prove a strong competitor with the Carnegie Iron company, the Illinois Steel company, and all others of that class.

At the same time and place the Barrett Mining company with a capital stock of $1,000,000 was organized. This company will operate near the Bethesda range alongside of the Itaska Iron company's works. The officers of the Barrett company elected yesterday are: J. E. Campbell, president; H. E. Becker, vice president; Frank Barrett, secretary and treasurer. The entire Eastern party left for the West last evening. On their return from Montana and Washington they will inspect the Itaska and Barrett companies' properties in Minnesota and Dakota.

ANOTHER LEASE MADE.

The Wyoming Company Makes Another Good Deal.

The Wyoming Iron company closed another lease yesterday afternoon at a very good figure. The Parkersburg Iron company is the lessee and takes three forties, the s½ of the sw¼ of section 30, and the nw¼ of the nw¼ of section 31, 58-17. The company agrees to mine a minimum of 50,000 tons annually and will give a royalty on this of 50 cents per ton. A bonus of $30,000 is also paid. The company will commence active work at once and expect to be shipping before many more weeks.

Only a few days ago this company leased another forty, the ne¼ of the nw¼ of section 9, 58-17, to John T. Jones. The minimum in that case was 25,000 tons and the royalty the same, 50 cents per ton.

WILL IMPROVE IT.

The Kanawha Company Will Develop Its Mine.

A meeting of the directors of the Kanawha Iron company was held this morning at the office of A. E. Humphreys with a view to pushing the development of the Kanawha mine as rapidly as possible. A resolution was passed providing for putting on two crews at once under the superintendence of T. D. Adams, the general manager of the company. The Kanawha has always been considered one of the best iron properties on the Mesaba range, and the company is determined to prove this fact by putting the property in condition to be a large shipper this fall. Mr. Adams leaves in the morning to take charge of the work.

Struck by a Freight.

BUFFALO, Aug. 24.—Private Charles Delehanty, of Company D, Twelfth regiment, New York, was injured this morning by being struck by a freight train and was taken to the Emergency hospital. Delehanty was dozing on the track and did not notice the freight which was backing down. He was thrown from the track and injured about the head and shoulders.

A Miners' Hospital.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 24.—A special to the Commercial from Coal Creek says a mountaineer arrived there last evening bringing information of the discovery of a hospital in the mountains a few miles from Coal Creek, which the miners have improvised in a cave. He says he saw twenty-one dead bodies there and a large number of wounded.

THE CHOLERA'S SPREAD.

Many Cases in Hamburg, Large Number Being Fatal.

HAMBURG, Aug. 24.—Cholera has broken out in all party of the city and its suburbs, though the outbreak is worst in the harbor. Today 340 persons were attacked and 130 cases proved fatal. Several of the worst infected streets have been closed by the police. Prof. Koch declares that he has found several cases of true Asiatic cholera. Twenty-nine cases were reported in Altona. The thermometer registered 97° in the shade today.

In Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 24.—The official returns show that yesterday there were reported throughout Russsia 5505 new cases of cholera and 2659 deaths from the disease. This is a decrease of 1301 new cases and 770 deaths, compared with the official figures of Monday.

In Persia.

TEHERAN, Aug. 24.—The cholera scourge rages with unchecked virulence throughout Persia and countless corpses lie everywhere unburied.

A LAWYERS' GATHERING.

Annual Session of the American Bar Association.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The annual session of the American Bar association began here today with a large attendance. Ex-Judge Dillon, of New York, delivered the annual address. President Dillon spoke largely on the legislation of the last congress and with regard to the legislation of sixteen states and territories.

He said that there were introduced into the house and senate during the last session over 13,000 bills and joint resolutions and more than 2100 reports were made by house committees and nearly 1100 by senate committees. All this legislative activity, he said, resulted only in the passage of about seventy-five bills, local, private and general.

The address also dealt with the general view of current legislation in sixteen states and territories. Proposals for constitutional amendments in Georgia, Rhode Island, New York, Massachusetts, Wisconsin and Maryland were referred to.

THE IRON HALL SUED.

Two Men in New Jersey Want $1,000 Each.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 24.—Two suits were commenced in the court of chancery today against the order of the Iron Hall and in both a receiver was asked for. The complainants are B. C. Black, of Jersey City, and Charles F. Ware, of Camden. Counsel for the complainants say that the sum of $1000 is due to each of their clients.

A preliminary order was issued by the court restricting the New Jersey officers of the order from sending the funds collected here to the Indianapolis headquarters of the order. Arguments in a final decree will be heard next Tuesday.

English Shippers Suspend.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—D. G. Pinkney & Co., shippers, brokers, etc., of Sunderland, have suspended. They were managers for the important concern of Pinkney & Sons, whose shareholders will not be affected by the suspension. The vessels of D. G. Pinkney & Co. have been transferred to the management of the Neptune company. The liabilities of the suspended firm are not stated.

His Mind Gave Way.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Aug. 24.—George Halfner, a sergeant in the Fifth separate company, is at his home in this city having been brought here yesterday by Corporal Whitteman. Halfner's mind gave way under the hardship and privations experienced at Buffalo during the first few days. His breakdown occurred Monday morning.

Expelled by Carnes.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—A special to the Inter Ocean from Coal Creek, says Associated Press Correspondent Hargrave, of Nashville, was ejected from the telegraph office at Coal Creek yesterday by order of Gen. Carnes. The charge is said to be the use of private information given him.

Wisconsin Republicans.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 24.—The Wisconsin state league of Republican clubs is in session here today. John L. Kelly, of Milwaukee, will be re-elected president of the league and forty-six delegates to the national league convention chosen.

Struck by Lightning.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—A despatch to the Times from Vienna says that the musical exhibition building was struck five times by lightning during a thunder storm last night, but not seriously damaged. Five deaths were caused by sunstroke in Vienna yesterday.

Gladstone Re-Elected.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Mr. Gladstone has been re-elected in Midlothian.

BOTH CLAIM MATHER.

The Lyceum and Temple Both Hold Contracts to Play Her.

The theatrical engagement of Margaret Mather in Duluth on Sept. 5 and 6 promises to be productive of a "scrap" as to which house she will play in. Both the Temple and Lyceum hold contracts and claim the show. The former had been given to understand that the contract with the Lyceum had been cancelled under a clause which allowed such action on two weeks' notice, but the latter claims to have received no notice of cancellation. Just how the matter will turn out can only be conjectured now.

STRIKERS TO QUIT

That is Likely to be the Advice of the Conference Committee at Buffalo.

Grand Master Sweeney May Continue to Nag the Roads by Repeated Strikes.

Night Attacks by the Strikers Upon the Troops and the Non-Union Men.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The chief items of interest in connection with the strike today will be the board of arbitration investigation this morning and the conference of the executives of the switchmen, foremen and conductors and trainmen's organizations this afternoon. Messrs. Clark and Wilkinson arrived here this morning. It is more than ever the general opinion that the conference will advise declaring the strike off. It is also stated that a renewal of the federation agreement between the four organizations which was disrupted last June as the result of international strife will be effected and their lines strengthened for next year.

Whether Mr. Sweeney will accept the advice of conference if given and give up the present strike without first exhausting all the resources at his command, is problematical. The news from Rochester this morning would seem to indicate that he will not, but intends, as was indicated in these despatches on Saturday, to nag the roads by strike after strike all along the system and to endeavor to harrass them into agreeing to some sort of compromise.

The strikers and their sympathizers continue their night attacks upon the troops and non-union men. The Buffalo and Southwestern division of the Erie tried to send out an unguarded freight train on its road last night. There were three non-union men on top of the cars. As the train slacked up near Seneca, several strikers boarded it and threw the three non-union men off the cars and assaulted them with coupling pins. Charles B. Henstenz was severely cut and was taken into the Erie roundhouse where a surgeon dressed his wounds.

Allen Richardson, who hails from Boston, was so badly injured that he was taken to the hospital. Henstenz said that his assailant tried to throw one of the men under the train. After the assault the men fled before an alarm could be given and escaped. There was the usual annoyance to the troops last night and early this morning, but beyond the affair at the Tifft farm, nothing of a serious nature is reported.

Another attempt was made to wreck a freight train in the yards at the Suspension bridge at 10:30 last night. An East bound New York Central freight was making up and getting ready to leave. While backing in on a spur at the eastern end, near the Lockport road, a switch was turned between the trucks of a car, and the result was that a car in the middle of the train was thrown on its side. The train was stopped and the derailed car cut out. The switch house, where the switch tender stood with his lantern, was only four rods distant, but the marauder made good his escape.

A CAR BLOWN UP.

Dynamite Used Against Material For Carnegie Works.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 24.—A car loaded with steel ingots consigned to the Carnegie firm at the Thirty-third street works was blown up by dynamite or some other high explosive on a side track of the Allegheny Valley railway at Thirty-fourth street last night.

This is the first attempt at destruction of property around the Carnegie city mills and caused great excitement both inside and outside the company's works. The body of the car was badly shattered and the contents scattered in all directions.

So far as can be ascertained no one was injured. A reserve force of police was summoned and quickly surrounded the place, but no one was captured and no clue to the perpetrator was found.

When the explosion occurred outside of the fence surrounding the works, the non-union men, part of whom had retired and were sleeping in their bunks, became panic stricken and made a rush for the gates. Superintendent Wrigley, who was standing at the main gate engaged in conversation with a watchman, quickly closed the gate and locked it. At the same time some one turned off the electric light and the entire mill and yards were in darkness, which added to the excitement.

The non-union men engaged in a free for all fight which lasted nearly half an hour, during which a great many of the men were badly and in a few cases seriously injured. One of them had his hand smashed so badly as to require amputation. Others received injuries so serious as to require their removal to the hospital. This morning the workmen discovered the man who turned off the lights and threw him out of the mill yard bodily and his clothing after him.

No attempt was made today to resume operations at the Twenty-ninth street mills and everything is quiet. The police guard has, however, been strengthened at several points as an extra safeguard.

BROKE HIS NECK.

Charles Sexton Meets Death by Falling From a Horse.

Charles Sexton, a well known explorer, was killed at or near Merritt last night. He left Mesaba for Merritt during the afternoon and was on the return trip on horseback, and it is presumed he fell from his horse and broke his neck. J. L. Crawford went up after the body today. He had a wife and children living near Merritt.

Additional dispatches on pages four and five.

A PROMISING MAN

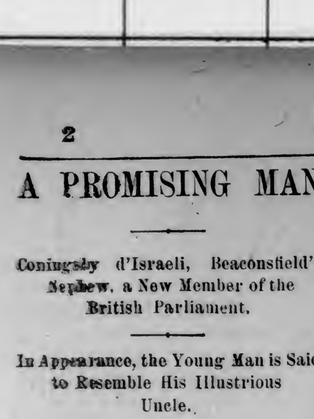
Coningsby d'Israeli, Beaconsfield's Nephew, a New Member of the British Parliament.

In Appearance, the Young Man is Said to Resemble His Illustrious Uncle.

He is Also the Possessor of Much Ability and Has Many Original Ideas.

Coningsby d'Israeli, who has taken his seat as a member of the new house of commons from the Altrincham division of Cheshire, is already a somewhat conspicuous figure in British politics despite the fact that he is but twenty-five years old. His career will be watched with a great deal of interest, for the reason that he is believed to have inherited, besides the Buckinghamshire property of his distinguished uncle, Lord Beaconsfield, much of the remarkable intellectual force of his grandfather, Isaac d'Israeli, the father of that great premier, who insisted, in the face of the fiercest opposition, on having Queen Victoria proclaimed empress of India.

It is a strange circumstance that, while the founders of the d'Israeli family in England laid the basis of greatness for their descendants by their remarkable faculty for accumulating money, this propensity seems to have died out suddenly, and in its stead there was developed a peculiarly strong mentality which has never failed to manifest itself in at least one member of each generation since it first appeared a century and a half ago.



CONINGSBY D'ISRAELI.

If this record is to be maintained in the present generation young Coningsby d'Israeli is destined to become one of England's great men if he should live to a reasonable age. In appearance, especially in the shape of his head, the young man strongly resembles his illustrious uncle, and it is said that he is proud to be regarded as his successor in every possible way.

Coningsby d'Israeli was born in 1867. His education was obtained at the Charterhouse and New college, Oxford. During this time he was the secretary of the well known Chatham club. His father, the late Ralph d'Israeli, was for a long time deputy clerk of parliament. Coningsby d'Israeli inherits the combative and aggressive tendencies of the family, which played so important a part in the advancement of Lord Beaconsfield. As a newspaper controversialist he shows remarkable ability and has successfully disputed intricate points with some of twice his age and experience. At the recent elections, which resulted in the accession to power of Mr. Gladstone for the fourth time, Mr. d'Israeli was returned as a Tory.

Coningsby d'Israeli is essentially a man of original ideas, and while at Oxford was the co-occupant, with the younger Robert Peel, of a house in the Cornmarket. Not satisfied with that, however, he afterward took up his residence with a member of the family of Mr. Gladstone, apparently being broad enough in his views to be able to unqualifiedly divorce his political from his social life. Taken all in all, if Coningsby d'Israeli shall fail to sustain the prestige of his name, it will be because the promise of a brilliant future, which now seems arrived, will not have been fulfilled.

A Remarkably Full Vote.

Whatever else may be thought about the recent British parliamentary elections, there can be no doubt that the constituencies as a whole were pretty nearly polled out. The actual number of voters who went to the polls was in round numbers 4,100,000. This is not so high a total as that for 1885, which was not far short of 4,400,000. But at that election, being the first after an extension of the franchise and a redistribution of seats, very few constituencies were uncontested. Making an allowance for the uncontested seats on this occasion, we arrive (roughly speaking), says an English exchange, at 4,500,000 as the total number of voters. The total number of electors on the present register is 6,161,456, so that as near as possible three electors out of every four may be taken as represented. That was about the proportion in 1885 also.

A Bright Young Westerner.

George Remsburg, a young man living near Atchison, Kan., has been attracting considerable attention lately by his researches in the state for prehistoric remains. He has found eleven mounds on the high bluffs along the Missouri river, from which he has taken one complete skeleton and a great many relics of the aboriginal races. In excavating a mound near Leavenworth recently he discovered a large number of charred human bones. He also found a stone oven in which the dead were undoubtedly cremated. The ancient Maya tribes offered human sacrifices, and archæologists say the remains are those of that extinct race.

Remsburg, although but twenty-three years of age, is writing a book, which is entitled "Prehistoric Man in Kansas."

THE PRESENT DAY.

How Much Better Things Are Than They Used to Be.

Her eyes were open, but her cheeks yet glowed with the warm flush of sleep. Languidly she gazed at the sunlight playing upon the tinted wall.

"Jane, Jane!"

The sound of a voice was wafted to her ears and her delicate lip curled scornfully as she recognized the accents of her mistress.

"Jane, are you going to get up?"

She raised herself upon her elbow and brushed aside the lace curtains of her couch, suffering the light of day to stream over the sumptuous covers and rich hangings.

"What do you want?"

She spoke sternly, not to say resentfully. The voice grew suddenly softer.

"Won't you please get up?" it pleaded.

She ruminated.

"Is the fire started?" she presently inquired.

"Yes, Jane."

"And the steak pounded?"

"Yes."

"And the coffee ground?"

"It's all done, Jane."

"And the biscuits mixed?"

"Yes."

With a smile at herself in the mirror opposite she rose.

"All right," she cried; "go right ahead and if I ain't there by the time"——

She released the wealth of brown tresses and let them fall in billows about her shoulders.

"Breakfast is ready. Don't"——

She proceeded leisurely with her toilet.

"Wait for me. I'd"——

She was braiding her hair with deft fingers.

"Rather eat alone than miss my beauty sleep."

"Thank you, Jane."

As she slowly dressed she reflected how vastly the condition of the hired girl had been ameliorated within a comparatively few years.—Detroit Free Press.

Lorraine's Reason.

Lorraine has wonderful, lustrous eyes,
Clear as the depth of a mountain lake,
Blue as the blue of morning skies
That frost and sunshine together make.

"Give me those beautiful eyes," I said,
"Those merry blue eyes of yours, Lorraine."
The sunbeams danced on the golden head,
While into the eyes crept a look of pain.

"I tan't!" the little maid said at last,
Her mind all free from the sudden doubt,
As over the lids her finger passed,
"Dod put 'em in tight, and I tan't det 'em out."

With never failing zeal,
And in the noble game of draw
Much skill did he reveal.

In voice both high and low,
To view the new church festival,
He said he would not go.

OPERATORS MAY STRIKE.

Railroad Telegraphers Want Hours of Work Reduced.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Local members of the Order of Railway Telegraphers expect their organization will be involved in the Buffalo strike. Said a member of prominence last evening:

"The operators on the Lackawanna road have a grievance of their own. They want more money and fewer hours to constitute a day's work. Almost precisely the same conditions exist on the Erie road. The Vanderbilt road pays about the average wages, but the hours of labor are the same as on the other two roads. The adjustment of these differences is likely to result in a strike, because in all the preliminary negotiations the railroad officials have evinced a disposition to ignore the order and its claims.

"A strike would involve all the telegraph operators in the employ of the Vanderbilt systems, the Lackawanna and the Lehigh. It is a conviction of long standing that twelve hours a day at an average salary of less than $60 a month is a just grievance. The present switchmen's strike simply affords a better opportunity to secure a readjustment of scale of wages and hours."

Prominent Burglars.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 24.—Harry Brooks, a man of good family and social standing, was arrested last night for burglary. He confessed to four burglaries, among them three committed Saturday night. The thefts aggregate several thousand dollars. Later in the night another young man, well known about town, was arrested for the crime. He was stylishly dressed and carried a blood-stained revolver. The evidence against him is said to be positive.

Of Course They Will.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The Most Rev. James V. Cleary, archbishop of Kingston, Ont., has sent £400 to the McCarthyites. In a letter accompanying the subscription the archbishop writes that his people, who are chiefly Irish, are eagerly looking forward to the time when they can send delegates to Dublin to take part in inaugurating an Irish parliament. He adds: "And others will be most happy to assist in this inauguration."

Found After Many Years.

A Well Known Duluth Citizen Finds the Object of His Search.

Mr. John A. Olson, 1004 Garfield avenue, Duluth, says: "For a number of years I have been troubled with a complication of difficulties which is not easy for me to describe. I would have severe pains in my stomach, side and back, could not rest at night and would get up in the morning feeling worn out and unfit for the duties of the day. My appetite was poor and what I did eat seemed to make me feel worse. I lost in flesh and became weak, nervous and despondent.

"The doctors failed to give me any relief and patent medicines done me no good. After reading the statements of some persons who had been treated by Dr. Speer & Co., I called at their office in the New York block, West Superior. They located my trouble and described my feelings better than I could do it myself. I commenced their treatment and in less than three weeks my disagreeable symptoms have left me. The pains are gone, I eat and sleep well, am gaining in flesh and strength. The nervous and despondent feelings have disappeared and I feel like a new man in every respect. I feel very grateful for the benefit I have received and can not too highly recommend Dr. Speer & Co. for what they have done for me."

SECLUDED HOMES

There Are Several Noted Authors Who Dislike to Live in the Crowded Cities.

Robert Louis Stevenson Has Made His Home Among the Semi-Savages of Samoa.

Joaquin Miller is Practically a Hermit in California—Others in the Woods.

Late in 1881 or early in 1882 a little book appeared on the newsstands in a few cities of the United States with the very unpromising title of "New Arabian Nights." If it had been "New Uncle Tom's Cabin" or "New Robinson Crusoe" it would have attracted quite as much attention—possibly more. Here and there an idler who could not get the book he wanted glanced at it, read a little, wondered, read on and then devoured the volume at a sitting, and in a few weeks the work had completely triumphed over its title. Everybody liked it—that is, everybody who likes that sort of thing, as Abraham Lincoln used to say.

It was Robert Louis Stevenson's first capture of the American fancy, though he had a local or merely British reputation. He came to the United States, wrote about Boston and California, went on to the south seas and has stuck fast in Samoa. He has illustrated anew the fact that, whether the author be reared in city or country, when he has achieved success and acquired the means, he nearly always goes to the most retired place he can find that is at all habitable or in touch with civilization.

Whittier sticks to his secluded home. Donald G. Mitchell, though in sight of New Haven, is almost as much retired as if in Samoa. Joaquin Miller is practically a hermit in California. It was Hawthorne's habit literally to hide himself in a sort of tower and garret in one. Thoreau took to the woods in terrible earnest. And so of nearly all the rest. They are shy birds, these poets and semipoetical prose writers, and no wonder. The noisy city is awfully destructive of sentiment. In a whole day on Broadway one will scarcely hear a rhythmical sound. From the steam whistle to the rattling cart, every noise is a discord.

Robert Louis Stevenson was born in the vicinity of Edinburgh, and for fourteen years or so of boyhood and youth roamed over the Pentlands at his own sweet will. He was of delicate frame; for some years his health was bad and he was in consequence thoroughly "spoiled"—in the popular sense. In the true sense he was thoroughly restored and well made. His health and temper improved under indulgence, and though in the university he was very irregular in attendance on the classes, yet he learned enough. Of his favorite view from the high hill near his home he wrote thus from the Isle of Apemama:

ROBERT L. STEVENSON.

The tropics vanish, and meseems that I,
From Halkerside, from topmost Allermuir
Or steep Caerketton, dreaming, gaze again.
Far set in fields and woods the town I see
Spring gallant from the shadow of her smoke, Cragged, spired and turreted, her virgin fort beflagged.

Writing from California in 1888 Mr. Stevenson said: "I task myself in vain to think what it is that makes up Scotland. Insurmountable differences of race divide us. Two languages, many dialects, many religions, many local patriotisms and prejudices split us among ourselves more widely than the extreme east and west of that great continent of America. When I am at home I feel a man from Glasgow to be a rival, a man from Barra to be more than half a foreigner. Yet let us meet in some far country, and some ready made affection joins us on the instant. It is not race. One is Norse, one is Celtic and another Saxon. It is not community of tongue. We have it not among ourselves, and we have it with English or Irish or American. It is no tie of faith, for we hate each other's errors. Yet deep in the heart of each of us something yearns for the old land and the old, kindly people."

Despite the poetic vein and the rambling instinct the rugged Scotch nature shows plainly in Mr. Stevenson's writing, but with it there is a sort of delicate trifling that seems more French than Scotch. From Boston to Samoa his experiences were all transformed into prose poems. He went to the south seas, as he humorously says, in search of pirates and cannibals, but found a race of peaceable pleasure seekers. The Polynesians, he says, "spend their time in cricket matches, fishing, the daily bath, flirtation, courtship and public oratory." As this is what civilized man generally does when he can afford it, there seems no great call for missionaries.

In his school days Mr. Stevenson was called 'a pattern of an idler," but insists that he was busily learning to write; so in Samoa he is not really an idler. In California he married Mrs. Osbourne, a widow with a grown son and daughter, and these with his own mother constitute the Stevenson family at Vailima, in Upolu, Samoa. His mother was a daughter of Dr. Balfour, a noted man in his time, and a hard hitter among Scotch controversialists. His grandson says that both he and Dr. Balfour were fond of making sermons, but quite averse to hearing them. It was taken for granted that little Robert Louis would become a minister, for he preached to his toys when a child, but he turned to literature instead, and right glad is the world that he did.

Mosquito Bites Are Dangerous.

While mosquitoes are pretty generally regarded as being about as energetic little nuisances as can be found anywhere, they have not been considered dangerous. A strange case however has been reported from New York city, where the authorities of Bellevue hospital have had a case of death from a mosquito bite. It is by no means unprecedented, but it is something rather unusual. In this case the mosquito had absorbed the microbes of a dangerous disease, which he transmitted to the patient in the biting process. A fatal case of meningitis was developed as the result. The bacillus of anthrax is the scientific name of the poisonous germ in this instance.

The patient was Peter Kennedy, sixty-nine years old, and a day laborer. He was bitten on the left cheek by a mosquito. He experienced the usual stinging sensation, and the swelling soon became so painful that he was removed to the hospital, where he died in great agony. When we know that mosquitoes feed on dead animals, there is nothing remarkable in their absorbing the disease germs or bacilli of anthrax which are germinated in the putrefying flesh. It adds a new terror to the pesky insects.

FICKLE BILL VAN LOON.

A Story of Unrequited Love and Disappointment.

While driving from Geeville to Coverly's Corners, in the big hemlock belt of Pennsylvania, I was approaching a backwoods farmhouse that stood near the road when a shockheaded boy, about sixteen years old, came running toward me from the house. He threw up one hand and yelled:

"Hey, there! Hold on a spell!"

I stopped my horse.

"Be you a squire?" he asked eagerly.

I was compelled to confess that I was not.

"Lawyer?"

"Not a lawyer, either."

"Not even a dominie?" persisted the boy, looking disappointed.

"No," said I. "Not even a dominie."

"This is all fired hard luck!" exclaimed the boy. "We've got Bill in the humor now, an if you was only a squire or a lawyer or a dominie we would clinch the thing right here an have him high an dry."

Just then a lean, lank and sallow middle aged woman came to the door of the house, and peering over her shoulder was a handsome red cheeked girl not more than eighteen.

"Is he a squire, Sim?" screamed the woman.

"Naw!" replied the boy, in a tone of disgust. "He hain't even a dominie!"

"Shucks!" exclaimed the woman; "if we hadn't 'a' wanted one all powerful bad jist now, ev'ry squire in the township 'd ben nosin 'round here 'lectioneerin, and not less than half a dozen dominies 'd ben droppin in fer dinner, an wantin yaller leg chickens at that. Now here's Bill, changerbler than milk in a thunderstorm, an if we don't clinch him now it'll be jist like him to back out an jine his clearin som'eres else! Shucks, I say! This is down hard luck, even fer these sun het barrens!"

"Is some one dying?" I asked, not knowing just what to say, with the light I had.

"Not p'ticklar dyin fer sure," put in the red cheeked girl, "but jist dyin to hev Bill Van Loon an his clearin clinched while he's in the humor."

"Weddin!" remarked the shockheaded boy sententiously. "Leastways, there would be one if you was only a squire or even a dominie."

They seemed to hold it up against me because I was inconsiderate enough not to have been either one or the other.

"Where's the bride?" I asked the boy. The red cheeked girl in the doorway overheard the question and answered it herself.

"I'm her!" she said. "Pervidin I could git Bill clinched right now."

"Where's the happy bridegroom," I asked.

"I dunno as he's so overpowerin happy," said the shockheaded boy; "but he's out with pop, lookin the clearin over."

It was only three miles to Coverly's Corners, and I restored a degree of cheerfulness to the eager family by saying that if it would be of any service to them I would fetch a squire or a dominie to their house as soon as I could drive to the Corners and back.

"Gosh!" exclaimed the red cheeked girl. "If ye do that ye kin kiss the bride! Not now!" she said, as I began to climb down out of the wagon. "When ye come back!"

"I'll fetch a squire," I said, "or kill a horse!"

I didn't lose any time in getting to the Corners, for I was interested in having that pretty, red cheeked girl clinch the trifling Bill Van Loon, although he didn't deserve such luck. I wasn't entirely disinterested, either, for Sally had said that I could kiss the bride, and she was a decidedly kissable person. The boy who had come with me seemed to have a better opinion of a squire's efficiency in the emergency than he had of a dominie's, soon found the former and back we started with the important official. I didn't spare the horse, and we got back to the clearing in good time. Sally's mother met us at the door. She was severe and gloomy.

"Turn round an go back!" she said. "Yer too late!"

Sally sat on a chair kicking her heels against the floor in a loud and spiteful tattoo. She was squealing and sobbing, and her cheeks were fiery.

"I wouldn't 'a' keered a snap," she sobbed, "but I know he'll go an marry that sniffilin, redheaded Kit Cooley, consarn his inconstant pictur! An it's all your fault, ye keerless Sim, you!" she exclaimed, turning on her shockheaded and surprised brother. "Ye went an left a hull turnip in the cow's chop, an she went an choked on it! Boo-woo! B-o-o-o-o!"

The iron hand of fate had indeed closed on the family with remorseless clutch. While I was driving my horse well nigh to death, so that Bill Van Loon might be clinched while he was in the humor, what should the Jersey cow up and do but choke to death on a turnip.

"Well," the businesslike Mr. Van Loon had said, "of course that's all tha be to it!" and walked away to open negotiations elsewhere.

It had never occurred to me before, but I feel it now, that a man can't travel in that part of the country and do to others as he would be done by unless he is either a squire or a dominie. If I had been either one or t'other on that trip, Sally would have been the mistress of Bill Van Loon's farm. And better than all, she'd have kissed me!—Ed Mott in New York Sun.

D., 1887, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on the 13th day of October, A. D. 1887, at 11 o'clock a. m., in book N of mortgages, on page 583, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: The southwest quarter (sw¼) of the southwest quarter (sw¼) of the southeast quarter (se¼) of section number twenty-one (21) in township number fifty (50), north of range fourteen (14) west, containing ten (10) acres, more or less, according to the United States survey thereof, all being in St. Louis county and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and seventy-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth in said county and state, on the twenty-ninth day of September, A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated August 17, A. D. 1892.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH

Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Aug. 23.—The weather still remains fair in all sections and but light showers have fallen in scattered places during the past twenty-four hours.

Slight changes in temperature have taken place, having risen as a general thing slightly, the lowest is 48° at Havre, Mont. and the highest 74° at St. Louis.

An area of medium high pressure is over the Northwestern states, and two areas of low pressure are shown, one over the extreme Northwest and the other over Illinois. It is not probable that either of these lows will affect this section at least for a day or so yet, if at all.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 70°, the lowest last night was 58°.

DULUTH, Aug. 24.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Continued fair weather; slight changes in temperature; light easterly wind.

B. H. BRONSON,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON Aug. 24.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Minnesota, North and South Dakota: Fair, warmer; southerly winds.

LAKE PASSENGER SERVICE.

Referring to the proposed building for the Northern Steamship company of two screw steamships of the finest possible description, built wholly for the carrying of passengers, the Cleveland Leader draws attention to the fact that heretofore there have been first-class side wheel passenger steamers, but none have ever run through without change from the lower lakes to the head of Lake Superior, and the finest of the splendid inland seas which stretch from the St. Lawrence nearly to the Mississippi has never seen a really first-rate passenger steamer under the American flag. Next season, however, there will be magnificent steel steamships of the most elegant appointments and of great power and size plying between Buffalo and Duluth at the rate of twenty miles an hour, or thereabouts. This will give the great lakes, for the first time, passenger vessels worthy of comparison in all essential respects with the famous trans-Atlantic steamships, and in regard to light, air and comfort the lake "flyers" will be superior to any of the ocean "greyhounds."

The Leader well says that such passenger service between the foot of Lake Erie and the head of Lake Superior will be a great advertisement of the lake region, and will add much to its attractiveness as a place of resort for persons from other parts of the country. The Herald has on numerous occasions commented on the miserable passenger service now provided on the lakes between Duluth and the East and the utter indifference of the companies controlling it to working up a tourist business. They have been content to run their old tubs that have seen duty for many years and are not provided with any of the conveniences found in modern built vessels, as long as they have been able to draw large dividends each year, owing to the lack of competition.

If good passenger service had been provided, Duluth would have been now one of the most popular summer resorts in the country. There are many people now who have learned of its beauties in the summer and they are regular visitors here, but their numbers would have been greatly increased had there been first-class steamers plying between Duluth and Buffalo. With the advent of the fine new passenger boats now contracted for the conditions will be changed and Duluth will be the gainer in the increased number of visitors during the summer months. The trip from Buffalo to Duluth is one of the finest to be found anywhere in the world and with vessels of elegant appointments it cannot fail to become very popular.

ON TO GRAND FORKS.

It is surprising that the secretary of the chamber of commerce is compelled to make an appeal for more business men to go as delegates from Duluth to the reciprocity convention at Grand Forks. This is a gathering in which the business men of this city should take a deep interest. Many questions of great importance to the Northwest are to be discussed at the convention, and there is not one of them in which Duluth has not a special interest. It is therefore desirable that a strong delegation of business men from this city shall be present.

Large delegations have arranged to attend from St. Paul and Minneapolis. Superior will be well represented. Winnipeg merchants have decided to send a delegation. Duluth should not be weakly represented on such an occasion, either as regards the number or the character of its delegation.

It has been well said that Duluth likewise has a duty to perform in sending a large number of representatives and making the convention a success, in view of the hospitable manner in which the Duluth excursionists were received in Grand Forks a year ago. The people of Grand Forks have always looked with a kindly eye upon Duluth and they regard this city as the natural entrepot for the whole Northwest. They are anxious to transact business with our merchants and hopefully look forward to the time when more direct communication will enable them to trade on a greater scale than at present with our wholesalers and jobbers.

Both common courtesy and self-interest therefore demand that a large delegation from Dulnth shall attend the convention. The Herald trusts that every business man in the city will make arrangements to be present at that important and interesting gathering. The time consumed in making the trip will pay a hundredfold.

The New York Sun has very clearly exposed the manner in which foreign telegrams published in the New York World are written in the latter's office and consequently are bogus and fraudulent. The Sun has shown that the World deliberately "faked" interviews with Schiaperelli and Bismarck. Such practices are a disgrace to a paper of the World's pretentions, and Editor Dana has done a good service to honest journalism by the thorough exposure he has made of the fraud.

Evidence continues to multiply that Knute Nelson is going to poll an extraordinarily heavy vote for governor this fall. It is possible that he may have a majority over both Lawler and Donnelly. He is a man of the people, and the people know it. The assertion of the opposition that the railroad presidents are anxious to see him elected is a vain attempt to make capital against him, and it has failed already.

Col. Cockerill, editor of the New York Advertiser, says that the advertisement there for funds to assist in carrying close states in the West and Northwest for C eveland is regarded as a lack of confidence in Mr. Whitney's ability to deliver the state of New York. Col. Cockerill is a Democrat, but he is likewise a newspaper man and therefore does not hesitate to express his unbiased opinions.

Governor Russell, of Massachusetts, has consented to run for another term, but he wants it understood that he is doing it only for Grover Cleveland's sake. Consequently when the old Bay state goes Republican this fall, he can pose as a martyr to duty.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean has challenged the New York World to a discussion of the tariff plank in the Democratic platform. And the New York Sun will want to know what this has to do with the force bill?

Editor Dana has declined an offer from the Democratic national committee to write a pamphlet on "the force bill." He declares that they can never force him to do that.

President Harrison has given the country a strong, patriotic administration, and the people will vote for its continuance. One good term deserves another.

When Bourke Cochran takes the stump for Cleveland, what a time he will have explaining that speech in the Chicago wigwam.

Neither Mr. Harrison nor Mr. Cleveland has written a letter of acceptance yet. Is it possible that they are thinking of declining?

The wife of Congressman Springer writes poetry. If he would introduce a little of it into his speeches, they might sound better.

The calamity howler's occupation is gone this year. The country is too prosperous to afford him an opportunity.

Duluth Enterprise.

Minneapolis Tribune: Altred E. Wood, editor of the Forum, of Fargo, N. D., is at the West. "A great many North Dakota farmers," said Mr. Wood, "will not use the elevators this fall, but will ship their own wheat, and Minneapolis could secure a good deal of it if the commission men here had a little ambition and would make some effort to secure the trade. A number of Duluth commission houses are advertising their business in North Dakota, and of course they secure the bulk of the wheat, as our North Dakota farmers are quite shrewd enough to know that if Minneapolis men could offer a better market than Duluth, they would spend a few dollars a month to let the people know about it."

AMUSEMENTS.

'Feetures" of "The Hustler."

Some very pretty new features are introduced in "The Hustler," which will appear at the Temple Saturday evening. Perhaps they should be called "feetures," as they relate to dancing. In this respect "The Hustler" may be truly said to be up to date. Miss Kirby, the pretty soubrette, gives the latest New York rage, the "Serpentine" dance. Another late dance that charms the hair off a man's head is "The Widows' Dance," where six young ladies in sober widows' weeds come out and sing dolorously, then suddenly break into a wild tumult of black and white skirts, to "boom-ta-ra-ra, boom-de-aye." Another great hit is the song and dance by six ladies and six gentlemen, in refined imitation of the old San Francisco minstrel break-down.

The new planing mill and dry kiln at Merrill & Ring's mill is well under way and will be ready for work in the course of a few days.

Company G will drill hereafter on Tuesday evening instead of Monday.

The agitation over the formation of a butcher's union here and the raise in price of animal food has not subsided and is fully as exciting as ever. The people are in fact becoming more and more aroused and a scheme is now on foot for establishing a citizens meat market. Whether this could be successfully carried out is doubtful as the opposition of the wholesale meat companies would be encountered.

Now is the time for housekeepers to lay in a stock of good standard groceries at less than cost. Call at the old Harold stand on Central avenue.

Caution.

A Number May Go.

A number of Democrats are talking of attending the opening of the state and congressional campaign at St. Cloud on Saturday evening and it is possible that quite a party will go over that day. Maj. Baldwin will, of course, go and will be one of the speakers and J. Adam Bede has been asked to go. The attendance of a number of other Duluth Democrats has been solicited and some of them will go.

Transcripts are Delayed.

The transcripts from the district court office in Mille Lacs county in the big cases of Fred Weyerhauser and the Mississippi River Logging company vs. Barker et al, have not yet been received in the United States court office here. A letter was received from the district court clerk of Mille Lacs county yesterday saying that the work of copying the transcript is very laborious and will not be completed for ten days or two weeks. Answers are being filed every day in the office here.

A FINE SUGAR BOWL.

Many people have serious misgivings about venturing upon a purchase of silver or plated ware, because they entertain the idea that such an undertaking will involve them in lavish outlays of money. That is a notion which we are fully prepared to correct. The enormous production of silver within recent years, the improved appliances for the manufacture of the finest table ware and the great advances made by those who design and those who execute have brought within the reach of moderate means some of the handsomest products of modern enterprise, dexterity and skill. You can ask for no better proof of this than is afforded by the fact that we are selling sterling silver novelties of all kinds at prices which will simply paralyze you.

JARED COTTON AT 76.

His Troubles Have Disappeared Like Broken Ice Driven by a Strong Wind.

There is no man better known in New London, Conn., than Jared Cotton. He is 76 years old and has lived in that city about thirty years, working in Brown's cotton gin factory for twenty-nine years of that time.

His unusual experience in the last year has brought Mr. Cotton into considerable prominence.

In an interview with a writer for the World Mr. Cotton said:

"Ever since I came to New London I have been troubled in a greater or less degree by an annoying though not uncommon trouble.

JARED COTTON.

"For the last eight years I have suffered beyond description rom the agonies of kidney disease. Many physicians treated me but I grew worse instead of better and had to give up work. In crossing the road I staggered like a drunken man. I was in such bad shape that I gave up hopes of ever getting better. The insane retreat and speedy death was the only open door I could see to get out of misery.

"Through the providence of God, Rev. William A. Smith heard of my suffering and told me of a remedy that had done him much good. With but little faith I tried the means he told me of. For the first few days I could see but little improvement, but at last, through faithful perseverance, my complaints have disappeared like the ice broken by a thaw and driven away by a strong wind, all through the use of Paine's celery compound.

"Now I am strong and can walk several miles a day and do my day's work, Now I can eat three meals a day with a good appetite and good digestion. Now I can sleep like a baby, something I have not been able to do for many years past. I am thankful to Paine's celery compound for the great good it has wrought in my case.

"My experience is spoken of throughout New London as a remarkable case of suffering and a marvelous cure, and I could mention many in this city who have been brought to health and strength through using this same remedy that restored me."

In August when the hot weather makes people feel weak, run down and sleepless and tends to depress the nervous system, this compound will be found of great value. It gives strength to the weak, sleep to the sleepless and makes people well.

A PREMIUM ON HEADS.

An Offer of the Sultan to His Soldiers at Tangier.

TANGIER, Aug. 24.—Negotiations between the sultan's officials and the leader of the Anghera tribesmen, looking to the submission of the latter, have been broken off by order of the sultan.

The sultan has directed that a grand attack be made upon the Angheras and to stimulate his troops he has offered $4 for every prisoner they capture, wounded or unwounded, and $8 for every head they bring into their camp.

THE BIG DULUTH.

FREE TO ALL.

The Remarkable Proposition Made by the Physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute.

Medicines and Treatment Free for Two Weeks to All Who Apply at Their Office Before Sept. 1st.

THEIR REASONS FOR MAKING IT.

As stated in last Saturday's News, the location of the Copeland Medical Institute and Drs. W. H. Copeland, H. M. Hunt and F. C. Drenning, under whose professional care it is carried on in Duluth, is a permanent one. Their leases, contracts, etc., are for a term of years, and the elegant offices in which they are installed, 312, 313 and 314 Lyceum building, corner Superior street and Fifth avenue west, bear abundant evidence of the solidity and permanency of their business.

The Copeland Medical institute is under the direct and personal management of Dr. W. H. Copeland. Dr. H. M. Hunt and Dr. F. C. Drenning are the examining physicians.

Dr. Copeland, though still by no means an old man, has gained for himself a reputation in his specialty, the treatment of throat and lung troubles, such as it is the good fortune of but few, even among the most successful physicians to enjoy.

Matriculated at Bellevue Hospital medical college, his abilities were even thus early recognized in that institution of medical learning. He was elected president of his class and held that office until he graduated.

After finishing his course at Bellevue with honor, and after an extended hospital practice and experience, Dr. Copeland devoted himself entirely to the lines of practice mentioned above. His association with Dr. Hunt and Dr. Drenning was an eminently fortunate one, and the practice of these three in the specialties to which they devote themselves reaches in round numbers 10,000 cases annually.

It will be seen, therefore, that their establishing them in Duluth is by no means an unimportant event.

THE CLAIMS MADE

The physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute establish themselves in Duluth, making distinct and clearly defined claims:

First—They claim to give the most thorough, complete and systematic treatment for catarrh and troubles of the head, throat and lungs that is offered to the public.

Second—They claim to be the most successful in these troubles, and that cures effected by their treatment are permanent and lasting.

Now to establish these claims, and at once satisfy the public as to their superior and notable skill in these lines of practice, they make the following offer:

Medicines and Treatment Free for Two Weeks to all Who Apply at Their Offices Before September 1,

And, if it shall be considered necessary, longer. The physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute will positively examine, prescribe for, treat and supply with two week' medicine. all persons who apply to them at their offices before Sept. 1.

Making no charge whatever. No money will be accepted for any kind of service by the physician, and no agreement to take money at any time will be made during August.

This offer is extended to only one of the same family, and only to those who can apply to the office for treatment.

If some sympathetic or curious individual should enquire:

"How can the Copeland Medical Institute afford to treat people for nothing?" the following reply can be made:

"The Copeland Medical Institute is incorporated under the laws with a capital of $500,000, and if they wish to spend some it in introducing themselves to the people of Duluth they can afford it—that's all."

A CHRONIC CASE.

A Gentleman Who Was Completely Discouraged Finds Speedy Relief.

"If Doctors Copeland, Hunt and Drenning can succeed in every case as they did in mine they are wonders. That is all I have to say." The speaker, Mr. William Anderson, has been with Mr. G. C. Aldrich, the wholesale fruit dealer, No. 286 East Sixth street, this city, for a numbers of years. "I have been going to doctors for some time," he continued.

"The doctors were all in private practice and they did not seem to understand my case.

WM. ANDERSON, No. 286 EAST SIXTH ST.

My nose was continually stopping up, and my head felt heavy and bad. I had pain across the bridge of my nose, my eyes were watery and always worse in damp weather; one side of my nose got so stuffed up that I never breathed through it at all, secretions would gather in the back part and I would be compelled to go through the disgusting habit of before I could eat anything; it was sometimes so bad as to make me sick at my stomach; my throat was dry and parched in the morning. I had been treated for a stomach trouble for some time, but could get no relief and it grew steadily worse. The trouble, I learned from Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning, was due to a catarrhal condition of the stomach that had extended there from the nose and throat and prevented the proper digestion of food. My appetite was poor and I had a disagreeable pain in the stomach that gave me great annoyance; my sleep was only partial.

I DID NOT REST WELL

and would raise in the morning weak and went about the duties of the day in a nervous, irritable manner, as though everything was a burden to me. I heard of the great success of Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning, and concluded to visit the institute. After an interview with the doctor, who examined me closely, I was convinced that he understood my case, and I at once put myself under treatment and I am very glad I did so, for my improvement began with the first treatment, and now, after having been treated but a short time, I am myself again and rid of a trouble that had existed for years, and baffled the efforts of more than one general practitioner. Words are inadequate to express my gratification for the treatment I received at the Copeland Medical Institute.—St. Paul Dispatch.

WORDS THAT BURN.

"I cannot recommend Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning too highly," said Mr. John Hammes, the government contractor at Fort Snelling. I will pay you to read what he says. Mr. John Hammes, one of the substantial citizens of St. Paul, a man well known and whose integrity no man dares question, said: "About two years ago I began feeling badly, and my trouble gradually grew worse as the months went by. I became alarmed about my condition, and consulted the leading doctors in this city about my case, and was treated by them. I had

TERRIBLE PAINS IN MY CHEST;

I had a racking cough; I lost greatly in flesh, twenty-three pounds in one month; I had night sweats that completely exhausted me, and my stomach was so disarranged that I could not eat, which made me weak and worn out. I was told that I had quick consumption and that nothing more could be done for me. As I said before, my trouble had been coming on slowly for about two years, and nothing that I could do checked its progress. You can imagine now why I am grateful to Doctors Copeland, Hunt and Drenning, and why I cannot say too much in their praise when I tell you that in one month after I began their treatments I was a well man and as

SOUND AS A NUT.

I have not been so well in years. The doctor told me at once about my case, and told me correctly, too. I had paid out a large amount of money for doctors' bills, and what was the worse part of it, I got no relief. Doctors Copeland, Hunt and Drenning cured me in one month, and I only paid them $10. I cannot speak too highly of the doctors. I cannot do too much for them. I owe them a debt of gratitude I never expect to be able to repay. If any one doubts the truth of this statement they are respectfully referred to Mr. John Hammes. He lives at the corner of West Seventh and Stewart avenue. He is a government contractor at Fort Snelling and well and favorably known.

ANCIENT MARINER

Capt. George P. McKay, of the Lake Carriers' Association, Visited Duluth Yesterday.

He Sailed Before the Mast on the Old Schooner Algonquin Years Ago.

A Little Data About Marine Pioneers and Some Remarks About Towing Charges.

Among the visitors to Duluth yesterday, arriving on the steamer Northern Wave, were Capt. Penney, of the United States navy, and Capt. George P. McKay, treasurer of the Lake Carriers association and virtual "director in chief of the whole shooting match," as a well known vessel owner and agent puts it. He is also manager of the Mutual Transportation company, which comprises such boats as the Corsica, Verona, Grecian, Roman, Saxon, Norman, German and others, also is manager of the steamers and schooners which were in the old Cleveland and Hanna lines. Capt. McKay is perhaps the most prominent figure in lake navigation at present, as he has been for over thirty years. Yesterday was his first visit to Duluth since 1878 when, as master of the Sparta, he made regular trips here. Capt. McKay's first visit to Duluth was as a common sailor in the little schooner Algonquin, of which a battered hull is all that remains over at Old Superior, upon which the Superior Yacht club have nailed a board which gives the following caution to relic hunters:

NOTICE.

Private property. Any person mutilating same will be prosecuted.

SUPERIOR YACHT CLUB.
Wm. Schuster is authorized watchman.

The tug M. D. Carrington, of the Inman line, was placed at the disposal of the party of three people, consisting of Captain McKay, Captain Penney and The Herald representative, and a trip was made to the old hulk of the Algonquin, which was owned by Captain John McKay, his father, in 1848. George McKay was then 12 years old, and the crew of the little schooner consisted, to quote Captain George McKay's words, "of father, a man, four half-breed boys and myself." The McKay family located at Sault Ste. Marie in 1845, and they can easily set at rest the assertion that the Algonquin was the first boat to visit this end of Lake Superior. The schooners Ramsey Crooks, John Jacob Astor, Napoleon and Uncle Tom and several others all preceded the Algonquin and made frequent calls at Duluth and Old Superior as long ago as 1838 or 1840.

The schooners Algonquin and Napoleon formerly belonged to a Baltimore company which failed, owing Capt. John McKay quite a sum for salary, and a faster boat reached the Sault in advance of the one which was carrying the officers who were going to seize and sell the boats. Capt. John McKay and another man ran the little vessels over on the Canadian shore and beached them there and finally, when the officers arrived, he made a dicker with the marshal to run the Algonquin back into American waters, allow it to be seized and he bought it in for the amount of his claim.

Capt. George McKay was also mate of the steamer Independence, the first steam vessel to ascend the Sault. Her boiler afterwards exploded and killed seven or eight people and sunk immediately. He was also captain of the passenger steamer Pewabik, which collided with the passenger steamer Meteor, on Lake Huron, near Thunder bay, in August, 1865. Some fifty or sixty people were drowned and the Pewabik sank immediately. The Meteor was commanded by Capt. Wilson, and the mate of the Pewabik was Capt. Geo. F. Cleveland, of the steamer Jim Sheriffs, now in Duluth harbor, or was at an early hour this morning. Capt. John McKay died in June 1888, aged 82 years and 5 months. Many Duluth people will remember Capt. John McKay Jr., who went down with his steamer, the Manistee, a few years ago off the Apostle Islands. He was a son of old Capt. John McKay and a brother of the Duluth visitor of yesterday. Capt. George P. McKay stopped sailing ten years ago and has since been identified with the heaviest marine interests of the lakes.

In speaking of the growth of Duluth, Capt. McKay yesterday said: "Why, a person has got to come here every year to keep track of the place," to which Capt. Penney offered the following amendment: "Better make it weekly, captain; places like this change every week." Both the gentlemen took the ride over the boulevard, and in common with all visitors were delighted and surprised at the magnificent view. Capt. McKay in speaking of towing charges at this end of Lske Superior said: "Why, they are lower than at any other place on the lakes; too low. It's all right to make your charges low, but not so confoundedly low as they are here. Vesselmen are not apt to be very thankful and they will kick on the slightest provocation, and the charges here, in every instance, could stand a raise." The visitors secured some planks of the Algonquin, which they will make into walking canes, and left the city last night.

Lots Wanted.

Will take one or two good unencumbered Duluth or Superior lots in exchange for goods from my store at regular marked prices.

ANDREW JACKSON,
Jeweler,

Virginia.

The coming town on the range is now being platted and the sale of lots in this promising place will take place in about two weeks. Situated as it is in section 8-58-17 and surrounded by the Ohio, Mesaba Mountain, New England, Lone Jack, Rouchleau and Virginia mines, it cannot help but become a prosperous community. Investors seeking a good investment or parties seeking a location can find no better place than Virginia.

SUPERIOR NEWS.

The Big Connor's Point Squatter Case is Settled.

The celebrated Connor's Point land cases at Superior have been settled—suddenly and in rather an unexpected manner—and about 300 families on the Point will now have to pay rent to Judge Clough, Hiram Hayes and others, or move. The defendants were all squatters on the land, but claimed to have secured title through the widow of Benjamin H. Connor. The plaintiffs claimed their title through Connor himself, but the defendants alleged that his wife did not join in the conveyance. The defendants are to be allowed to remain on the land at least until May 1, 1893, provided they pay a rental of $1 per month. This they agree to. Suit has already been begun in the circuit court of the United States by Elizabeth White, of Montana; Darias Connor and Margaret Connor, children of Benjamin H. Connor and natural heirs-at-law, against Solon H. Clough and the other owners. This case will be watched with interest and will very likely settle the ownership forever, as there is not much possibility of anyone else making claim to the title.

The thirty day option given by the finance committee of the council to Broker Holmes, of West Duluth, on $359,000 of city bonds has expired. The bonds have not been sold nor has Mr. Holmes made any report or explanation. The city has the $4000 earnest money put up by Mr. Holmes, which has not yet been declared forfeited. If he can dispose of the bonds the city will, it is said, grant him more time as his bid is better than any other received.

The approach to the Duluth & Winnipeg ore docks on Allouez bay has been completed and the iron placed upon it. The iron chutes are on the ground and will be placed in position just as soon as the dock proper can be fitted for them. The dredgers are cutting away at the channel and have almost reached the dock, a distance of half a mile from the bay.

In a few days the twenty squatters on the St. Paul & Duluth lands in this city will again be ordered to vacate the property by Constable Bourke. They were notified a few days ago, but the notification seems not to have the desired effect.

A. A. Freeman, of the Freeman mill, had three fingers of his right hand injured in a rapidly revolving fan of the dust collector. One finger was dislocated and the other two badly bruised.

Will Build a Hospital.

The Scandinavian Hospital association filed articles of incorporation yesterday with the register of deeds, the incorporators being August Peterson, Paul C. Leiden, John Sunder, John Moe, Sever T. Morterud, and Anton Rrigsrud. The capital stock is $50,000. The object of the company is to build and maintain a hospital in the city of Duluth. The officers of the company are: President, August Peterson; vice president, Paul C. Leiden; secretary, Sever T. Morterud; treasurer, John Sunder.

Lecture on Persia.

Joseph de Joseph, of Romea, Persia, lectured on his native country at the Presbyterian church last night. There are but twenty-five Persians in this country today. His lecture was illustrated by magic lantern views, coins and articles of Persian wear. His description of the manners and customs of Persia, its people and the government were very interesting and commanded the undivided attention of his audience. He has been in this country nearly two years and is studying medicine at Minneapolis.

Will Consult Davis.

Alderman Kennedy, of the committee on streets, alleys and bridges, to whom the bridge matter was referred in order to procure further legal advice, and Alderman Thomas went to St. Paul last evening to consult with the firm of Davis, Kellogg & Severance. An oral opinion has been received from Senator Davis, but it is deemed advisable to have it in writing.

Assessments Approved.

The first assessment for grading Kentucky avenue from Superior street to London road amounting to $15,390.99, was approved by the board of public works yesterday. An assessment for grading Eighteenth avenue west from Railroad alley to Michigan street and for paving from Michigan street to Piedmont avenue, amounting to $7,788.45 was also approved.

The Industrial Union.

A meeting of the Industrial union was held today shortly after 4 o'clock. The incorporators have all signed the articles and the organization is nearly perfected. There is every indication that the union will be a success and will be able to carry out the purpose for which it was organized.

Meier May Leave.

Ernest Meier, leader of the City band, has received a fine offer to go to Buffalo, N. Y., to take the leadership of a band of forty-five pieces. The salary offered is considerably above what he is receiving here, but an effort will be made to retain him here. He is a fine musician and has brought the band up to an excellent standard.

Jefferson School Contract.

A. V. Kelly & Co. were awarded the contract yesterday afternoon for building the 20-room Jefferson school building, between Second and Third streets and Ninth and Tenth avenues. The contract price was $84,000 and there were ten bids.

Owls Will Dance.

"The Owl's Roost" party, which is camping at O-at-ka beach, will give a dance this evening at the pavilion on the Point. It promises to be fully as enjoyable an event as its predecessor of a couple of weeks ago.

Will Open a New Line.

Messrs. George A. French and Bassett, of George A. French & Co., have just returned from a month's absence in the East, purchasing a complete carpet and drapery stock, which line they will open about Sept. 1 in connection with their furniture store.

THE SAULT LIGHTS

The Aids to Navigation Which Have Just Been Established in St. Mary's River.

Full Text of the Notice Issued to Mariners by the Light House Board.

Description of the Many New Lights—Facts That Will Interest Mariners.

The lighthouse board has issued a notice to mariners on the Northern and Northwestern lakes, that the following-described lights have been established on St. Mary's river as aids to navigation for vessels passing through the Sault canal. The notice was received in Duluth this morning and as it is of great importance to all vesselmen here, The Herald gives it in full. Following is a description of the lights:

Sweet's Point—A fixed white lens-lantern light, showing through 360° of arc, on a crib structure standing in 7 feet of water marks the turning point in the channel, and guides up the river to the northward and westward.

Winter Point Range—Two fixed white lens-lantern lights, showing through 270° of arc. The front light is shown from an upright on a cluster of piles and the rear light from an iron skeleton tower on the southern end of Neebish island. The range guides up to or down from the mid-channel buoy in Mud Lake.

East Range, Dark Hole—Two fixed red tubular-lantern lights, shown from uprights on the upper end of Sailor's Encampment. The range intersects with Point of Woods range to mark the turning point in the channel, and leads to or from an intersection with the channel marked by the West Range, Dark Hole.

Encampment Crib—A fixed red tubular-lantern light, shown from an upright on a crib in eight feet of water, off the southern end of Sailor's Encampment. Marks a shoal and the western side of the entrance to Sailor's Encampment passage.

West Range, Dark Hole—Two fixed white tubular-tantern lights, shown from uprights on the upper end of Sailors' Encampment. The range intersects with East Range, Dark Hole, to make the turning point in the channel, and leads to or from abreast the second black spar buoy below Harwood's Point.

Point of Woods Range—Two fixed red tubular-lantern lights, shown from uprights on the eastern side of Neebish island. This range guides through the Dark Hole passage, and by its intersection with the West Range, Dark Hole, marks the turning point to or from the lower reach of Little Mud Lake.

Hen and Chickens (Neebish Island) Range—Two fixed red tubular-lantern lights, shown from uprights. The front light is on the most easterly of the small group of islands known as the Hen and Chickens, and the rear light is on the northeasterly shore of Neebish island. The range guides through the passage between Sugar island and St. Joseph island (Canadian).

East Neebish Range—Two fixed red tubular-lantern lights, on uprights on Sugar Island at the foot of East Neebish. The range guides through the upper reach of East Neebish and its intersection with Indian Point marks the turning point.

Indian Point Range—Two fixed white tubular-lantern lights, on uprights on Indian Point, East Neebish. The range guides through the lower reach of East Neebish, and its intersection with East Neebish Range marks the turning point.

Duck Island Range—Two fixed red tubular lantern light, on uprights near the water's edge on the channel side of the lower end of Duck island, above East Neebish. The range shows upstream towards the lower Lake George crib-light, and the range between these may be followed from the crib down to abreast of the head of Duck island.

Lower Lake George—A fixed white tubular lantern light, on an upright rising from a crib fifty feet from the east side of the lower end of the main Lake George channel.

Middle Lake George—A fixed red tubular lantern light, on top of a dwelling resting on a crib fifty feet from the east side of the main Lake George channel, at the elbow.

Upper Lake George—A fixed red lens-lantern light, on an upright rising from a crib fifty feet from the east side of the upper end of the main Lake George channel, and marks the northerly entrance into the dredged cut. Note—The three Lake George lights mark the entrance into, the elbow of, and the outlet from the main channel of Lake George.

Church's Point—A fixed white lens-lantern light, on an upright rising from a crib in fourteen feet of water, at the head of Lake George, marks the approach to the passage between Sugar and Squirrel islands, and is to be left to the westward by vessels bound either way.

Manhattan Shoal—A fixed red and white lens-lantern light, on an upright rising from a crib on a ten-foot shoal off the northeast end of Sugar Island. The light shows red up and down stream and white between. The down stream line between the white and red light marks the turn to the eastward to be made midway in the bend, and the like line upstream shows where the deflection is to be made to pass into or from the Garden river reach.

Catholic Mission Range—Two fixed white tubular lantern lights on upright in the south shore of Little Lake George, north end of Sugar island. The range marks the upper reach of Little Lake and its intersection with Payment Range marks the turning point.

Payment Range—Two fixed red tubular lantern lights, on uprights on the south shore of Little Lake George, north end of Sugar island. The range marks the lower reach of Little Lake George, and its intersection with the Catholic Mission Range marks the turning point.

Palmer's Point—A fixed white lens-lantern light with two fixed red sectors, on an upright rising from a crib on the channel bank off Palmers Point, upper end of Little Lake George. The northerly edge of the eastern red sector cuts the first black buoy below the light and the northerly edge of the western red sector cuts the first black buoy above Wilson's wharf, thus marking the two turning points.

Farmers Ridges Range—Two fixed red tubular-lantern lights, on uprights on the northwest side of Sugar island. The range guides through the Farmers Ridges passage.

Partridge Point Range—Two fixed red tubular-lantern lights, on uprights on the northwestern side of Sugar island. The range intersects with Farmers Ridges range to mark the turning point in the channel abreast of Brusant's Point.

Topsail Island Range—Two fixed red tubular-lantern lights on uprights on the northwestern side of Sugar island. The range intersects with Sault range to lead clear of the shoal extending southward from Topsail island, and also intersects with Farmers Ridges range at the turning point in the channel.

Bayfield Rock Range—Two fixed white tubular-lantern lights, on uprights on the northwestern side of Sugar island. The range leads past Bayfield rock to the lower end of the canal, intersecting with Sault range to mark the channel clear of Topsail Island shoal.

Sault range—Two fixed red tubular-lantern lights, on uprights on shore below the city of Sault Ste. Marie, intersects with Bayfield Rock range to mark the channel to the intersection of Topsail island range, and also marks the turning point in the channel on the Bayfield rock range leading up to the lower entrance to the canal.

THE MINES SHUT DOWN.

Union Men Not Allowed in the Idaho Mines.

WARDNER, Idaho, Aug. 24.—All saloons at this place have been closed and no one is allowed on the streets after 11 o'clock. The Poorman and Tiger mines are worked by union men who tendered support to those who were locked out. To break up the union Gen. Curtis ordered a shut down in both mines and will not allow union men to be employed at any point in the country.

In order to hold the troops and guard against a possible outbreak as a consequence of the shut down, an order directing three companies to proceed to Cœur d'Alene City for prisoners has been suspended, and the troops will remain here until after Sept. 1.

A NATIONAL BROTHERD.

Commercial Telegraphers Preparing for Such an Organization.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The Tribune says: The commercial telegraphers of the United States are engaged in forming a national brotherhood. A communication has just been issued for a meeting of representatives in Kansas City for Sept. 25 to form such an organization. For some time correspondence has been going on in relation to this object and interest is being manifested in all parts of the country. T. O'Rielly, who took so active a part in the great telegraphers' strike in 1883 and who is now an assistant editor of the Knights of Labor journal, is in the city conferring with New York leaders on the subject.

THE GERMAN VETERANS.

Close of Their Successful Gathering at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 24.—The German Veteran association finished its business yesterday and nearly all the members went home on the early morning trains. Those who remained have been treated this morning to a carriage ride over the city and will depart this evening.

The meeting has been a most successful one in the matter of business transacted. The awarding of prizes took place at the ball last night and were for marksmanship and different feats of athletics. The prizes consisted of medals, there being no money consideration.

CAUGHT BY A FARMER.

A Criminal Who Escaped at Pittsburg Has Been Found.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 25.—Chas. Havres, the man who escaped from the workhouse after brutally beating the watchman, and who has committed half a dozen robberies and assaults since his escape, was caught yesterday morning on Herr's Island, by a farmer named Joe Richardson.

The latter knew Havres before he commenced his criminal career and recognized the fugitive on sight. Richardson gave an alarm and pursued Havres. About fifty people started in the chase. After a long run Richardson grasped Havres in his arms and held him until a patrol wagon was summoned and the police officers relieved him of his prisoner.

Another workhouse prisoner, named Parsons, a vagrant, escaped yesterday from his keeper who was in charge of a gang of thirteen men doing outside work.

WILL BE JUDGE MASON.

The Ex-Congressman to Go Upon the Federal Bench.

CAICAGO, Aug. 24.—William Ernest Mason, the ex-congressman, politician and lawyer, is to be the successor of Judge Henry W. Blodgett, of the United States district court for the northern district of Illinois. This was the substance of a telegram received from Washington yesterday. Those intimately informed as to the president's inclination confirm the correctness of the report.

The resignation of Judge Blodgett will be in the hand of the president during the latter part of October, at which time or shortly after he will actively assume his duties as counsel to the Bering sea commission. The appointment to fill the vacancy will immediately follow, so that the new judge may qualify for the December term of the district court.

Such, at least, is the present program as told by one familiar with the situation. Mr. Mason, when seen last night, begged to be excused from discussing the matter at this time.

CRESPO IS VICTOR

His Siege of Victoria Has Ended With the Crushing Defeat of Mendoza.

The Merchants of Puerto Cabello Called Upon to Recognize Crespo as Chief.

Another and Grave Danger is Threatening the Villegas Government From the West.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—A special cable dispatch to the Herald from Puerto Cabello says that a courier has arrived from Victoria to General Mora, who is at Polito, with advices of the termination of Crespo's siege of the former city and the crushing defeat of Mendoza. Mora tells the merchants of this city that he is ready to raise the siege of Valencia and re-establish railway traffic the day the castillo here is delivered in his hands, and the municipality officially recognizes Crespo as provisional military chief of the republic.

STILL ANOTHER DANGER.

The Villegas Government is Now Threatened From the West.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—A special cable dispatch to the Herald from Trinidad, W. I., says a new grave danger confronts the government of Dr. Villegas in addition to the assaults of Crespo's army. This time the danger comes from the west. A story comes to this place, through usually reliable channels, that General Urdanota's fleet has sailed into La Guarya and taken possession of the port without serious opposition. He has, it is said, sent a peremptory demand to Caracas for Villegas' resignation.

It is further stated Gen. Urdaneta violated the neutrality laws by boarding the Red D steamer Caracas at Puerto Cabello on Aug. 28 and arresting the congressmen of the opposite party who were trying to escape.

GROWTH OF PYTHIANISM.

Interesting Figures Presented by the Supreme Chancellor.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 24.—The seventeenth biennial meeting of the supreme lodge, Knights of Pythias, began yesterday and will be in session ten days. After the initiation of members, Supreme Chancellor Shaw presented his report. The order enters the twenty-eighth year of its existence, says the report, with a splendid army of more than 300,000 men, marching steadily forward under the tri-colored banner of Pythianism. One year ago 263,000 names were enrolled upon the roster of membership throughout the supreme jurisdiction. Within the past twelve months this number has been increased to 308,000, making an increase during the year of 44,000, or about one-sixth.

The development of the uniform rank is marvelous. The record shows an increase of 153 new divisions during the past year with a total membership exceeding 35,000, being an increase during the year of 6000 members, or one-fifth. The official report July 1, 1892, shows: Number of grand lodges, 54; number of subordinate lodges, 5366; membership of order, 393,216, or an increase in the two years ending July 1, 1892, of 116,117, being at the rate of 39 per cent.

HELD UP AND ROBBED.

Three Railroad Men Are Victims of the Dalton Gang.

VAN BUREN, Ark., Aug. 24.—James S. Wilson, agent of the Kansas & Arkansas Valley railroad at Nowata, I. T., a station 140 miles west of here, was held up and robbed at a late hour Monday night by three men supposed to be members of the Dalton gang of train robbers and desperadoes.

Traveling Auditor Wright and Traveling Passengers Agent Johnson were engaged in checking up Wilson's books when the bandits entered and covered them with revolvers, at the same time commanding them to throw up their hands. Wilson was then compelled to open the safe. While two of the desperadoes held Wright, Johnson and Wilson at bay, the third emptied the contents of the safe into a sack.

About $1500 in cash was secured, one-third of it being the personal property of Wilson, the balance belonging to the railroad and express companies. After relieving Wilson, Johnson and Wright of a gold watch each and what money they had in their pockets, the highwaymen backed out of the door and disappeared in the darkness.

A posse started in pursuit, but nothing has been heard from them. If the posse overtake them a deperate battle will ensue, as both sides are armed to the teeth.

A BAD FIRE IN PERU.

The American Consulate at Callao Had a Narrow Escape.

CALLAO, Peru, Aug. 24.—Another fire broke out early Monday in the Hotel Italia, which is opposite the American consulate. The building of the Chilean and English Steamship company caught fire and was totally destroyed, as were several stores and other buildings.

The valuable records in the American consulate were carried over the roofs of buildings to a place of safety. A favorable wind saved the consulate. The loss is estimated about 250,000 sols and is divided between about twenty firms. One fireman was fatally injured.

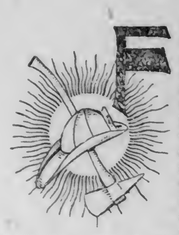
WAR AGAINST FIRE

The Ancient Awkwardness of Handling Fires is Contrasted With the Modern Skill.

The Conflagrations Which Are Noted in History by Reason of Their Magnitude.

Out of Many Heroes, Capt. King, of Pittsburg, is Taken as a Type.



FIRE is a good servant, as the old proverb goes, but it is in serious truth an awful bad master. How bad no one realizes till he has made a study of it, but it is beyond controversy that even in the comparatively short time that records have been kept the losses by fire by far exceed the present movable wealth of the world.

If any reader doubts this let him consider only those fires which are noted in history by reason of their magnitude: The great fire of London, which consumed 13,600 private houses, besides churches and other public buildings; the destruction of Moscow in September, 1812, to say nothing of the many fires there before and since; the many conflagrations of Constantinople; the great fires in New York, Pittsburg and other places some fifty years ago; the fires in Boston, Portland and San Francisco, and lastly, the great fire, the "boss fire of all the fires," as firemen say, the Chicago fire of October, 1871. The lowest estimate puts the loss by that fire at $200,000,000. Add Boston, Portland and other places of note and it appears that in the decade of 1865-75 the United States alone lost by fire over $800,000,000.

And this takes no account of the appalling loss of life, as at Peshtigo, Wis., where at least 500 were burned or smothered. And within a fortnight, including that disaster, it is estimated that in Wisconsin and Michigan alone about 2,000 lives were lost in the great fires which swept the pineries and low prairies. Chicago congratulated herself that but 100 lives were lost in her great fire, but who can believe it? Who knows how many feeble old women and lonely old men, how many of those queer city hermits and broken down, half pauperized people crept to their secluded lodgings and woke only to find themselves surrounded by flames? Who knows how many careless clerks or janitors, how many intoxicated men, sank into a dead sleep and never waked?

Two things strike us with amazement when we study the case: One is that there was no systematic method of fighting fire until quite recently; the other that there is now so much heroism and skill displayed. One can scarcely read of a little fire in a country village but he reads also of the efficiency of the volunteer firemen and the heroism some man displayed in saving women and children. Heroism is so common that it is in danger of becoming cheap. The great fire in Rome in the time of Nero is doubly notable, because in the account of it we first find the Christians mentioned in profane history. The author of "Salathiel" has added to the interest in it by that wonderful description of his hero's escape from it, beginning, "Rome was an ocean of flame; height and depth were covered with red surges which rolled before the blast like an endless tide."

There is no hint, however, that any great risks were taken to save life, and Tacitus says nothing of any organization like a modern fire department. The people simply took to their heels and let the city burn. How great the contrast now! Even far off Japan has a very able fire department in every city, and what it lacks in effectiveness it makes up in supplying fun to the spectators. A recent writer for Temble Bar describes it thus:

"A man in Victoria street, Westminster, who sees the reflection of a fire, say in the city, may go to bed with a certain sense of security, but because two or three miles separate the Japanese spectator from the burning houses he can be by no means sure that in the course of an hour or so he may not have to rush out of his house with as many of his Lares and Penates as he can gather together. * * *

"Meanwhile the hook and ladder corps was hard at work, and if we smiled with contempt at the puny efforts of the 'engines,' we could not withhold our hearty applause at the indomitable pluck, the energy and the activity of the poor little fellows who manipulated the hooks and ladders. Salamanderlike they seemed to revel in work where the flames were fiercest and the danger greatest. Here one was swinging from beam to beam like a monkey; here another was fastening a grapnel to a tottering upright, with the flames licking his very hands; here a group of half a dozen urged, to the cadence of a weird chorus, a huge double pronged pole against the side walls of a house, quite unmindful of falling tiles and timbers, blinding sparks and suffocating smoke, leaping into safety with childish laughter, and cheering as the mass came down with a terrific crash and a scattering abroad of hissing, sputtering fragments."

A FIREMAN'S PERILS.

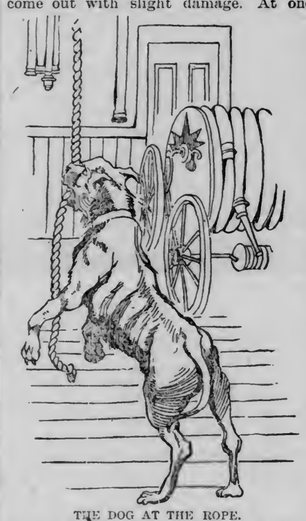
An English or American fire company, he adds, could have put the whole thing out in fifteen minutes, but as it was, a large part of Shinagawa was burned. Equally futile, not to say foolish, was the first attempts to fight prairie fires. Now the rancher simply plows a broad strip around his place, but in emergencies a successful method of putting out a fire, and one frequently employed, is to kill a horse or cow, and splitting the carcass drag it along the fire line and over the flames, which are thus extinguished.

This is done by attaching long wire ropes to two limbs of the carcass, to each of which is hitched a horse on which is an experienced rider. One of these horsemen rides on either side of the line of fire, and by skillful reining they draw the body of the dead animal directly over the flames. Sometimes a fresh hide, weighted down with pieces of iron fastened to it, is used instead of the carcass of an animal. By this method a line of fire twenty miles in length may be extinguished in one night. Men on foot usually follow after the horsemen and put out any fire that may remain after they have passed. This description applies especially to Dakota, where the tall grass gets very dry in autumn.

Every progressive city is proud of its fire department, and every department of any age has its hero, also its pride among horses and often among dogs. In the human class very few have equaled the record of Captain George W. King, of engine company No. 3, Pittsburg. He won his first honors at a conflagration on Smithfield street, in the year 1808, at which seven young women lost their lives. The boy fireman, King, was the first to enter the building and attempt the rescue of the unfortunate inmates. He succeeded in carrying three of them out, but they were suffocated by the smoke before the street was reached.

In the year 1870 he was in the three day fight with the Standard Oil fire at the Sharpsburg bridge. At the riot fires of 1877 he was on duty for three consecutive days without rest. While St. Philomena's church was burning one of the malicious rioters cut the hose with a dagger. King saw the act and promptly knocked him down, taking the man's weapon from him. In 1880 there was a big fire at the corner of Garrison alley and Liberty street. King was working on the steep roof, when some of the firemen accidentally turned a stream of water on him. The force of the blow caused him to lose his balance, and like a log he started to roll down the roof toward destruction. The spectators below closed their eyes and waited in horror for the man to be dashed to death on the pavement. But King's time had not come. Just as he was plunging over the edge he caught the rain spout and, clutching it with both hands, held on for dear life. A rope was passed down to him and, grasping it, he was safely drawn up onto the roof.

Again and again Captain King has been apparently wrapped in flames and yet come out with slight damage. At one time he stood on a burning roof in weather so cold that the spray froze upon him till he was cased in ice, and during the floods of 1888 he was repeatedly submerged in the river while closing a gas main. The firemen think he bears a charmed life. He is but forty-four and as active as ever.



THE DOG AT THE ROPE.

Pittsburg also boasted the famous dog Jack, who won such fame some thirty years ago. The boys of Niagara company stole him from a farm wagon because he was such a clumsy and pathetically homely mixture of bull and hound that they thought him good material for fun and practical jokes. The dog seemed to realize that he had found his right place at last, and by a single act he made himself a beloved hero. While all the firemen were out, an excited citizen came rushing into the engine house yelling "Fire!" Nobody was present but dog Jack. But he knew what was wanted. It did not take him two seconds to rush into the cupola, seize the bell rope in his teeth and pull. When the firemen dashed curiously in a few moments later they beheld a man rushing frantically about the room while dog Jack tugged away at the bell rope.

Too much could not be done for dog Jack after that. He was fed on the choicest foods, and a handsome silver collar worth fifty dollars was bought for him. In but a single day dog Jack had arisen from a despised, lazy cur to the most important member of the company.

The dog is conceded to be the most intelligent of all domestic animals, but the horse is a good second, and it is remarkable how rapidly the horses learn the ways of a fire company. If they are not as anxious to do well as the men, they certainly make a good pretense of it. The fire bell is to them like the trumpet to an old warhorse—they smell the battle afar off. Every city has its favorite stories of famous fire horses.

Among the noted volunteer firemen of recent times may be counted King Humbert of Italy and Richard Croker, boss of Tammany, but the old system has passed away and a description of it would fill ten columns like this, not to mention the fights between rival companies. In the New York of 1840-60 a row was of more interest to some companies than a fire, and while it was a point of honor to avoid an encounter in going to a fire or fighting it, they quite made it up in returning. Nowadays the firemen, especially in smaller cities and large towns, are the gentlemen of the place, and in the new west one has to travel a long ways to find a city, large or small, that is not proud of its fire department.

In conclusion a few dry statistics may serve as dessert. The buildings destroyed in Chicago in 1871 were 17,450, and in London, in 1666, 13,200. The great fire of Boston, 1872, destroyed $50,000,000, burned over sixty-five acres and consumed or ruined 776 buildings. In 1870 Constantinople had a conflagration of $24,000,000 and 800 buildings. In 1851 San Francisco lost 2,500 buildings, valued at $17,000,000. In 1852 Hamburg had a fire which consumed 1,747 of the finest buildings in the city. In Moscow 30,800 buildings were destroyed, valued at $150,000,000, and in Rome (64 A. D.) ten of the fourteen city districts were destroyed and at least 400,000 people made homeless.

Hosiery and Corsets
AT RARE BARGAINS.

LADIES do you realize that when you buy of the retailer, you are paying three unnecessary profits? The manufacturer sells to the commission house, the latter to the jobber, and the jobber in turn sells to the retail merchant. You must pay the manufacturer a profit first, and then pay each of the subsequent handlers a profit, not infrequently paying two profits to the retailer. The

is a responsible syndicate which sells direct to the consumer. By investing in manufacturers' samples and the stocks of insolvent manufacturers, in connection with our regular commission holdings, we are able to sell to the consumer direct at the commission price, which is but one remove from the manufacturer's.

We offer the following bargains in hosiery: Ladies' extra length, full regular made, fast black and seamless hose, very fine gauge, (retailing everywhere at 50 cents) we will sell at 23 cents per pair in quantities of one-half dozen, or for $1.38.

This exceptional offer is made merely to introduce our name in your section. Send 15 cents additional and we will prepay express charges at special rates secured by us for the benefit of our patrons.

We are positively offering as a leader the cheapest corset for the money in the world,

The Jenness Tailor-Made Corset is made of heaviest drab jeans, with patent strips of gold. Made like a glove-fitting corset; boned with unbreakable stays. Has double busk and side steels. Is retailed everywhere at $1.50 and in remote sections at very much more. Our price is only 83 cents.

Send 15 cents additional to prepay express charges. Mention sizes desired in ordering hosiery or corsets. We will positively refund money if goods are not satisfactory and just as represented.

Orders must be accompanied by cash in either money-order, postal note, stamps or registered letters, addressed to the

THE LODGE ROOM

Gen. J. S. Sterrett, the Grand Commander of the Select Knights, A. O. U. W., Missouri.

A Great Increase Taking Place in Membership of Knights of the Maccabees.

Interest in the Uniformed Rank of the Knights of Pythias is Growing.

General J. S. Sterrett, grand commander of Select Knights, A. O. U. W., Missouri, is a citizen of St. Joseph. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1840, and in 1861 entered the army, leaving at the close of the war and settling in Neosho, Mo. In 1876 he went to St. Joseph, and in 1879 he joined Pride of the West lodge, and since the day of his initiation he has been one of the hardest workers in the state for the advancement of the order. He was prominent in making the Select Knights feature a success, and in 1884 was placed in command of the third regiment. He was elected grand lieutenant commander in 1885, and the next year he was made grand commander, a position he has held ever since. He devotes his entire time and attention to this branch of the order in Missouri.

The grand recorder of Nebraska has received an average of 440 applications per month for the first five months of this year and up to June 20 had 323 more. The jurisdiction has now 250 lodges and a membership of over 12,000.

The maximum rate of assessment for new jurisdiction was fixed as follows: Washington, 23; New Jersey, 20, and British Columbia, 20. The per capita tax was reduced from 10 to 8 cents.

The committee on fraternal congress hereafter will consist of the supreme master workmen, supreme overseer and supreme recorder.

The committee on finances was instructed to report at the next session of the supreme lodge the three cities of 50,000 inhabitants in which the future sessions of the supreme lodge can most cheaply be held.

KNIGHTS OF THE MACCABEES.

Items Gathered from Far and Near of Interest to the Order.

The board of trustees of the supreme tent has secured Hon. Theodore G. Beaver, Niles, Mich., to take charge of and push the work of organizing tents in the states of Iowa and Minnesota. Mr. Beaver is past great commander of the great camp for Michigan, has been one of the active members of the order in that state, and will carry with him to his new field of labor a ripe experience and acquaintance with all the details of the work.

As the jurisdiction of Missouri now has more than 20 subordinate tents and is entitled to representation, a convention will be called, as provided, probably some time during the coming winter.

Hercules tent, K. O. T. M., of Olean, N. Y., was organized July 1891, and now has 127 members. No tent in New York can show so large an increase covering this period of its existence. It has a band orchestra of 18 members, and a new hall furnished and has an income from rent of over $300 annually.

Increase during June in three states under supreme jurisdiction: Ohio, 200; Pennsylvania, 182; Ontario, 247; total, 649. Increase in state of New York under great camp jurisdiction, 658, or more than above three states put together.

Genesee (N. Y.) tent, No. 43, can now boast of a Maccabee band.

The net gain in the order for month of June was for Knights, 6,640, and for Ladies of the Maccabees, 1,600, making a total of 8,240; the total membership now is 85,190: Knights, 74,990, and Ladies 10,200.

There will be no assessment for the month of July.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

New Orleans to Have a Pythian Hall. Pythian Sisters Indorsed.

American, Jefferson, Audubon and Onward lodges of New Orleans have organized a stock company and will build a Pythian hall at a cost of $18,000. The hall will be completed by January next.

The retiring grand chancellor of Indiana, E. F. Williams, recommended that the minimum admission fee to the order be raised to $20.

A new lodge will be instituted at St. Louis some time in September. This will be composed of young business and professional men.

Empire lodge of Atlanta has raised her fee to $15.

The grand lodge of the District of Columbia at its recent session indorsed the Pythian Sisters.

Arkansas has 73 lodges, with a membership of 3,865.

Wisconsin has a membership of 5,103, a net gain for last year of 792.

Cleveland has 17 lodges, and all are prosperous, with plenty of work.

It is generally understood that Major John J. Cairns, at present A. D. C. on General Barkley's staff, has been recommended for commission as assistant inspector general of the Illinois brigade, with the rank of colonel.

The interest in the uniformed rank is constantly increasing. New divisions are being organized throughout the supreme jurisdiction and old divisions are recruiting rapidly.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

Items of General Interest to the Order. The August Call.

The August call is for 3 assessments and contains 167 deaths. There were 14 deaths from accident, including 3 murdered and 10 suicides.

Boston lodge paid out $750 for sick benefits for the term ending June 30.

Total amount paid out in 1891 was $4,169,500; total received in assessments, $4,203,071.47.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS.

The Triennial Conclave at Denver a Brilliant Success—Eastern Star Notes.

That the triennial conclave at Denver in August eclipsed anything of the kind ever held is admitted on all sides. Money, time and labor were not spared by the various committees to insure every comfort as well as luxury possible for the visiting Sir Knights. The city of Denver presented a dazzling sight at night; the streets were ablaze with electric lights, some $50,000 being expended for this one item. The triumphal arches, sixty feet high, of which there were two, cost nearly $4,000, from which the various emblems of the Knights were strung formed of small incandescent lights. It has been estimated that upward of 20,000 electric lights were used in the display.

The grand parade took place Aug. 9. The start was made at 10 o'clock, with 35,000 men in line.

All along the line wires and ropes were stretched at the edge of the walk to keep the crowd off the street. The space left for spectators was hardly sufficient. People were piled and jammed together in a great compact mass.

Every seat was taken in the various viewing stands on the line at one dollar a seat. Stores were closed and business suspended in all parts of the city to give all a chance to take in the big event.

The business session of the conclave began at 4 o'clock at the Masonic temple. The most important matters to be considered include a plan for making Washington the permanent meeting place of the encampment. It is also suggested that a magnificent temple be erected in that city, which will be a monument to the order's prosperity.

Sir Leonidas E. Smedley, grand senior warden of the grand commandery of Knights Templars of Indiana, is deceased. His remains received Templar honors.

Lynds chapter, No. 1, Order of the Eastern Star, of Salt Lake City, has ordered an elegant set of robes and jewels, and also requisite articles to decorate and beautify the chapter room.

The Order of the Eastern Star in Texas is aiding the grand lodge of Masons in establishing a Masonic Widows and Orphans' home.

The grand chapter of Vermont, Order of the Eastern Star, held its nineteenth annual meeting at Manchester Centre. There are 23 chapters and over 1,500 members in the state.

Pioneer is a new chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, at Lisbon Falls, Me., with 50 charter members. This chapter is the eleventh in the state.

Oak Leaf chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, of Oakland, Cal., has very happily celebrated its twentieth anniversary. Only 11 of the original members remain.

Grand Treasurer Lamb of New Jersey is eighty-four years old.

A candidate cannot be lawfully initiated in any lodge but the one in which he was elected to membership.

There is no such thing in the order as keeping a charter open or reopening a charter. When a lodge is instituted its charter is closed forever.

Justus lodge, No. 490, of Chicago, has purchased costumes for its degree staff at a cost of $1,750.

A candidate cannot be lawfully proposed, balloted for or initiated at a special meeting.

A member in arrears can visit his own lodge until suspended for nonpayment of dues.

Dues do not accrue by the quarter, but by the week.

The grand lodge of Massachusetts was organized in June, 1832.

Georgia will have a new Odd Fellows' home in the near future.

American Rebekah lodge, No. 188, of Chicago, is furnishing a ten bed dormitory in the Orphans' home.

A committee of investigation cannot lawfully report upon a candidate upon the night of its appointment.

A candidate cannot be lawfully initiated on the night of his election.

Not more than one degree can be lawfully conferred upon a brother on the same evening.

Candidates cannot be initiated as nonbeneficial members.

American Mechanics.

State Organizer T. F. Gilmore of Rhode Island is working diligently and accomplishing good results.

A state council of American Mechanics has been organized in Rhode Island and is now a reality.

American Day will be generally observed. Councils are making extensive preparations for elaborate celebration.

State Councilor Heisler of Pennsylvania and his associates are visiting the councils and creating considerable interest among the membership.

Eureka council of New Jersey has chosen the following officers for the present term: C. H. Whitehead, C.; C. Comes, V. C.; W. E. Blake, R. S.; T. J. Newsom, F. S.; S. G. Smith, T.; C. E. Marcell, I.; W. Robertson, Ex.; J. T. Glover, I. P.; F. Brandle, O. P.; C. B. Cox, trustee; L. C. Miller, Rep.

Foresters.

As Foresters' Day draws near the courts are awakening to renewed activity. It is intended that the events of that day in this city shall eclipse anything of the kind heretofore undertaken.

New Jersey will be well represented in the parade in New York city on Oct. 12.

The courts of New Jersey have in the aggregate about $40,000 in their treasuries.

The order has upward of 830,000 members; 47,000 were initiated during 1891, with $25,000,000 funds. There are 2 subsiding courts in the United States, 1 in San Francisco and 1 in Jersey City.

Knights and Ladies of Honor.

The supreme medical examiner has passed upon 5,052 applications during the past six months and accepted 4,841. Connecticut is credited with 31; Massachusetts, 27; Rhode Island, 28, and Vermont and New Hampshire 1 each.

FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by H. Nordstrom to Christian Beschenbossel, which said mortgage is dated on the 7th day of July, 1890, and was recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, in book 27 of mortgages, on page 384, on the 21st day of July, 1890, at 2:45 o'clock p. m., which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of three hundred and seventy-five dollars ($375), as evidenced by a promissory note for that amount, dated on the 7th day of July, 1890, due on or before two (2) years after date, with interest at the rate of 8 per cent per annum, executed by the said Nordstrom to the said Beschenbossel, and for such purpose it mortgages and conveys the following lots situated, lying and being in said county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, to-wit: Lots No. eleven (11) and twelve (12), in block No. forty-seven (47), in the First division to West Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof in the office of the register of deeds in and for said county.

Said mortgage and said note secured thereby were, by the said Christian Beschenbossel on the 5th day of July, 1892, by instrument in writing duly acknowledged, sold, assigned and delivered to E. K. Baxter, who is now the owner and holder of the same, which said assignment was on the 5th day of July, 1892, at 10:25 o'clock a. m. duly recorded in book 32, of mortgages at page 534 in the office of the said register of deeds of St. Louis county. No part of said note has been paid except the interest for one year, to-wit, from its date until the 5th day of July, 1891 and there is due and unpaid thereon to date of the first publication of this notice, the sum of four hundred six and 90-100 dollars ($406.90), and no action or proceeding at law or in equity has been commenced to recover said sum or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and therewith recorded, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises therein conveyed as above described, will be sold by the sheriff of said county to the highest bidder for cash at the front door of the court house in the city of Duluth in said county, on Wednesday, the 14th day of September, 1892, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, to satisfy the amount that shall then be due on the said note and mortgage, together with the cost of foreclosing the same, and fifty dollars ($50) stipulated in said mortgage to be paid as attorney fees in case of foreclosure.

William A. and Fred Wentworth have commenced an action in the district court against the village of West Duluth to recover $250 damages because of the raising of the street grade.

The final hearing of contested accounts on the Emery estate was heard before Judge Ayer yesterday and today. Those that will be allowed will probably reach between $150,000 to $200,000.

Judge Ensign has issued an order denying a motion for a new trial in Joseph Bergin vs. John Burns.

Judge Ensign has filed his findings in Leon Andrianne vs. Thomas D. Sutherland. The plaintiff is allowed his costs and disbursements and $32.54 salary due. Certain logs belonging to the defendant are to be sold to realize the amount.

Frank H. Mears, of Mulford, O., father of Mrs. S. A. Thompson, died Monday. He was 74 years of age and has been ailing for two years, a severe attack of the grip having brought on bronchial consumption. Mrs. Thompson has been with him since May last.

Col. B. F. Morley, vice president of the Pennsylvania Military academy, Chester, Penn., will be at the Spalding house Friday, Aug. 26, from 10 a. m. to 12 m., to meet and consult parents or guardians contemplating a military college education for their sons or wards. Circulars in the meantime may be obtained from Mr. Rukard Hurd, 32 East Fourth street, St. Paul, Minn.

PERSONAL.

Miss Ethel Harrison and Mr. S. Harrison, of St. Paul, who have been spending a pleasant week with Mrs. Gillette, of East Fourth street, returned home Monday.

Mrs. W. S. Alexander, Miss A. P. Wilkes and Miss H. H. Hart, of St. Paul, are in the city. They came up last evening.

Miss Iona Geggie is enjoying a visit from her friend, Miss Bertha Saunders, of St. Louis, Mo.

Rev. E. O. Sharpe has returned from Oklahoma. Mr. Sharpe's mother is dangerously ill and death is momentarily expected.

George H. Larke, of the News editorial force, left today for a visit with his mother at Markesan, Wis.

G. E. Milligan and wife and W. H. Trump and wife, of Pittsburg, go East this evening.

H. L. Walbridge and wife and Master Stanley Walbridge, of Toledo, O., are in the city. Mr. Walbridge is one of the heavy stockholders in the Consolidated Land company, of Old Superior.

Building is Lively.

The amount of building which is going on in the city is a subject of frequent comment among citizens generally but more especially among visitors some of whom, especially Easterners, express considerable astonishment. An investigation will show that there is reason for this for there undoubtedly is an unusual amount of building. Lumbermen say that the local demand for lumber is something unprecedented and that the trade bids fair to be excellent for several months to come. Besides this the demand for lumber for docks and bridge work in this vicinity is very large.

FARM STATISTICS

Agricultural Statement of St. Louis County for the Past Two Years.

Three Acres in Wheat in 1891 and Four in 1892—Good Showing in Potatoes.

Town of Morse Has Nine Farms, Only One Horse and No Cattle.

The agricultural statement of St. Louis county for 1891 and 1892 has just been been completed by Auditor LaVaque and Deputy Auditor Schultz. The statement can hardly be said to be a flattering one and would seem to indicate that the cultivation of the soil and raising of live stock is sadly neglected in St. Louis county. The advocates of the holding of a county fair should read it. It is as follows:

Wheat, acres	3	4
" bushels	24	----
Oats, acres	231	316
" bushels	1,929	----
Corn, "	25	----

No. hives of bees	93	----
Honey made, pounds	6,550	----

This year there are 238 farms in St. Louis county. The live stock is not evenly distributed. For instance, New Independence has 16 farms, 1 sheep, 7 horses and 45 cattle of all kinds; Morse has 9 farms, 1 horse and no cattle of any description. Industrial has 18 farms, 3 horses, 2 cattle and 8 cows.

The Weather.

August 23, 1892.—The following variations in temperature were recorded at the Pioneer Fuel company's office, 326 West Superior street, today and corresponding date last year:

Age Made no Difference.

Isaak Mikleson and Anna Salmonson obtained a marriage license this morning. The bridegroom announced his age as 22, although he looked much younger, but when Clerk Peachey innocently asked "is this your mother?" he was staggered by the reply "No, that is my lady; she is 39 years old!" The court house officials do not believe the lady made her age too young.

SCALE OF PRICES.

WHEAT TOOK A FALL.

News Was Generally Bearish and Prices Dropped Today.

The wheat market ruled quiet and easier this morning, with trading well divided between cash, September and December. Early cables were weak and the best outside news was bearish. Most news from members of the board and other local men who have visited Minnesota and Dakota wheat fields is of a bullish nature as regards yield. Advices from the French market indicate a better demand for flour at an advance of 20 to 30 centimes. This is good news to local millers and encourages purchases of cash wheats. For the whole session there was a fairly large amount of trading in futures. The latter part of the session was dull and the close easy at ¼c to 1c off on cash and futures and ¼c to ½c lower on track wheat, as compared with yesterday. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 80¼c; August, 80¼c; September, 80¼c; December, 81c. No. 1 northern, cash, 76c; August, 76c; September, 76¼c; December, 77¾c. No. 2 northern, cash, 71c. No. 3, 60c. Rejected, 50c. On track—No. 1 hard, 80¼c; No. 1 northern 78c.

Car inspection today, 44. Receipts—Wheat, 35,008 bus.; flax, 569 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 16,517 bus. Cars on track 50; last year, 132.

Outside Markets.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 24.—Wheat: August closed at 72⅜c; September opened at 72½c and closed at 72⅜c; December opened at 75½c and closed at 74⅞c. On track—No. 1 hard, 80c; No. 1 northern, 78½c; No. 2 northern, 66@70c.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—The close: Wheat, September, 75⅜c; October, 76c; May, 83½c. Corn, September, 51⅝@¾c; October, 51⅝c; May, 52⅞c. Oats, September, 34¼c; October, 34¼c; May, 37⅛c. Pork, September, $11; October, $11.07½; January, $12.50. Lard, September, $7.62½; October, $7.62½; January, $7.05. Short ribs, September, $7.80; October, $7.80; January, $7.47½@50.

SWEENEY STRUCK.

The Grand Master of the Switchmen's Union Assaulted Today by a Striker.

Was Brutally Struck in the Face and Knocked Down and Then Kicked.

A Crowd of the Angry Switchmen Pursued His Assailant But He Escaped.

The Strike Being Declared Off the Men Are Hustling For Their Old Places.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 25.—At 11 o'clock this morning Grand Master Sweeney, of the Switchmen's union, was set upon by Arthur Quinn, a striking Nickel Plate switchman, and brutally assaulted. Mr. Sweeney and seventy-five switchmen had been attending the investigation made by the state board of arbitration and had left the hall and were standing at the corner of Swann and Main street. Quinn approached and told Sweeney he was responsible for the loss of his job. Before Sweeney had time to answer, Quinn dealt him a fearful blow on the head and followed it up with several sledge-hammer punches in the face. Sweeney fell to the sidewalk, then Quinn kicked him several times. Several bystanders interfered and pulled Quinn off Sweeney.

Quinn ran away, followed by an angry mob of strikers. Quinn threatened to kill them if they followed him and they stopped the chase. Sweeney walked to a drug store and bathed his face. He was unable to tell whether his nose had been broken by the force of the blow, but the chances are that it is. He told a United Press reporter he did not know why Quinn had hit him, but supposed it was because he had lost his job by the failure of the strike. Sweeney said it was the first time in the history of the order that he had been assaulted by a striker or any member of the switchmen's organization. He had often heard threats against him, but had never been touched by a man who was disappointed over the outcome of a strike. The assault, he said, was most cowardly and unprovoked. Quinn has not yet been arrested.

STRIKE DECLARED OFF.

The Men Now Anxious to Get Back in Their Positions.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 25.—After a four-hour conference yesterday evening between Grand Master Sweeney, Grand Master Wilkinson, Grand Master Sargent and Grand Chief Clark, the switchmen's strike was declared off at midnight. Now that the strike is off the question is worrying the men who went out, whether the railroads will take them back. It was given out last night that on several roads an understanding to that effect had been arrived at.

Arbitration Commissioner Donovan is quoted as saying: "I had interviews with the superintendents of the principal roads involved and requested them, in the event of the strike being declared off, to give employmet to as many men who were out on strike as possible. The superintendents of the Lehigh and Erie assured me that they would do so. I am not certain about the Central, but on the other roads where the strike was sympathetic the men will all be taken back without question, I am sure, except such as have violated the law and forfeited the confidence of their employers by riotous conduct.

"On these assurances I recommended to Mr. Sweeney that the strike be declared off. Our interview followed the conference which Mr. Sweeney had with Messrs. Sargent, Clark and Wilkinson. Mr. Sweeney was at first loth to give up, but after laboring with him for two hours, he at last consented if he could get the consent of the local switchmen." From other sources it was learned that the Lackawanna people will probably take back all their old men.

Superintendent Fennel, of the Lehigh Valley, when asked if he would take the old men back he replied: "President McLeod's circular issued a few days ago holds good now. In it I am given discretionary power. On our road about seventy-five or eighty men struck. There are now about twenty-five vacancies. We shall look around and see who the men are who have kept away from the yards and have made no disturbances; these men stand a good show of getting back."

General Superintendent Bartlett, of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg, said: "We have men engaged and on the way to take the strikers' places and will have no vacancies. We may take back some of our old men, but it would hardly be consistent. We granted our men everything they asked for, but it seemed that they were determined to strike. When they went out I discharged them, and told them plainly that they had not acted fairly with the road."

General Superintendent Cunniff, of the Lake Shore road, said: "The relations between the men and the company have always been pleasant and I regretted that they saw fit to leave the service of the company. We now have eighty-five men at work. When they were employed it was the understanding their places would not be filled. It will be unfair to these men to discharge them to make room for other employes. They will give us a full force."

General Agent Knibloe, of the Buffalo Creek road, is reported as having decided to take back the men on his road as the work is such that it requires men of wide experience to handle. It is probable that within the next forty-eight hours the troops will be on the homeward march.

THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Election of Officers of the Supreme Lodge.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 25.—The supreme lodge of Knights of Pythias of the world began the election of officers at 11:30 a. m. W. W. Blackwell, of Kentucky, for supreme chancellor, and Walter B. SHORT AND INTERESTING.

The Municipal Court Furnishes Nothing Sensational This Morning.

Judge Winje had a short and uninteresting session in the municipal court this morning. Wm. Fitzsimmons was up for committing assault and battery on C. B. Hurle. The exercise cost him $7.50 and he will probably retaliate with an arrest of Mr. Hurle for using abusive language. John Smith and John Johnson pleaded guilty to plain drunks and Andrew Frederickson to being drunk and disorderly. They were assessed $12 each and went on the hill to inspect Sheriff Sharvy's new pony. Chas. E. Smith, who was only disorderly, lost $9 by not appearing to answer to his name. He had $12 bail up and his fine would only have been $8, but the entire bail was declared forfeited. Anton Skeehan, charged with being drunk and disorderly, pleaded not guilty and Larry Gleason made the same plea with regard to vagrancy. They will be tried this afternoon about 3:30, but are held in $15 bail each.

TWO NOVEL ATTRACTIONS.

Chet Dike and Diamond Joe Coming to the Pavilion.

The pavilion will have as an attraction on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 27, 28 and 29, the railroad machine poet, humorist and impersonator, Chet Dike, and Black Diamond Joe, the musical prodigy and ventriloquist. They have exhibited at nearly all the Western forts and through Nebraska and Iowa and both the press and people have given them high recommendations. Dike composes poetry at race horse speed. He is the author of "On to Deadwood," "Bi-Chloride of Gold" and other well-known selections. Diamond Joe won the first prize at the Centennial in 1876 as a mouth harpist and bird warbler.

Went Through the Mine.

Carl Judson returned this morning from a trip through the western portion of the Mesaba iron range with a party of business men from St. Paul and Milwaukee. They examined over 600 feet of prospect tunnels in the Diamond mine, fourteen miles north of La Prairie, but the large amount of water made the task no easy one. They were surprised, however, at the extent and richness of the ores which all the tunnels presented. They returned via La Prairie, not caring to ride over the rugged road to Grand Rapids.

Public Meeting.

The Women's World Fair board of St. Louis county will hold a public meeting at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the basement of St. Paul's Episcopal church. The workings of the board since its organization will be explained and reports will be made as to what has already been accomplished and what the anticipations are. All ladies are invited to attend.

BRIDGE GAVE WAY.

An Engine and Railway Men Hurled to the Bottom of a Deep Ravine.

Bridge Foreman Fisher, Conductor Deifenlifer and Several Others Are Reported Killed.

The Bridge Was Damaged by a Storm Last Evening and Was Weak.

GREENVILLE, Pa., Aug. 25.—Early this morning Bridge Foreman Fisher, of the Pittsburg, Shenango & Lake Erie railroad, together with several other employes of the road, started on engine 23 to inspect the bridges along the line that had been damaged by last night's storm. While crossing the bridge at Dixonburg the structure gave way and engine and men were hurled to the bottom of a deep ravine and into the torrents of water that are yet sweeping down the creek bed.

Foreman Fisher was instantly killed and Conductor Deifenlifer had both legs crushed off and cannot live. Other are reported dead or dying. A corps of physicians have gone to the scene of the accident on a special train.

The Sault Passages.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Aug. 25.—[Special to The Herald.]—Up: Republic, 6 p. m.; J. C. Ford, 8; Bulgaria, Northwest, 9:30 a. m.; Maruba, Monarch, 10. Down: Thompson, 118, 9 p. m.; Fryer, 10:30; Matoa, Masaba, 4 a. m.; Ira H. Owen, 5; Caledonia, 5:30. Wind, northwest, light; cloudy.

RUSHING THE WORK.

Rails Are Going Down on the Missabe at a Great Rate.

Telegraph Contractor F. McCormack who is building the telegraph line for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, is back in the city again for a short time. He reports that about thirty-three miles of track, or a little over half the distance of the main line, as now projected was laid up to last night. He says the construction work, although carried on in a very rough country, part of the way, has been most thoroughly done. The track laying crew are putting down about two miles of iron per day and would beat this if more men could be had. He says the road's main line, sixty-five miles in length, will certainly be completed by Sept. 15, and he adds that the first one will come down soon afterwards.

The company has put up a fine new depot at Stony Brook Junction. Mr. McCormack's telegraph contract calls for about seventy miles of main line wire and something like five stations along the line, in addition to which there will be a large number of miles of wire on the different branches.

"If you want to see good railroad men building a first-class railroad under rather adverse circumstances, just go and look at the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road. She's a dandy; that's what she is!" says Mr. McCormack. Two stations are already put in, thirteen miles apart, and others will follow as fast as the rails reach the designated places.

HANDLED IT NEATLY.

A Motorman Stops Suddenly and Saved a Man's Life.

Motorman A. J. Nelson, of car No. 55, east bound about 1 o'clock today, unquestionably saved a man from either death or horrible mutilation just in front of the Chamber of Commerce building. The man was drunk, but some distance from the track on which the car was bowling along at good speed, when by some sudden drunken impulse he staggered on to the track only about ten feet ahead of the car. Nelson's eyes were wide open, and quick as a flash the current was shut off, the brake applied, the reverse action of the current turned on and the car simply rebounded instantly just as the front end had touched the man's clothing. He was dragged or pulled out of harm's way and the car proceeded, but it was followed by a hearty hand-clapping by those who had witnessed the deft handling of the electrical appliances by Motorman Nelson.

ANOTHER HOTEL.

C. E. Dickerman, of St. Paul, Will Erect One on Superior Street.

C. E. Dickerman, the St. Paul capitalist, who is heavily interested in real estate at the head of the lakes, is about to commence the erection of a three-story hotel on the south side of Superior street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues west, about fifty feet west of the Wolf building. It will be 50 by 125 feet in size and will be built of solid brick and stone. The plans are being prepared now and work is to be commenced as soon as possible.

Not Settled Yet.

The "scrap" between the theaters over the Margaret Mather engagement grows warmer. Yesterday the Lyceum received the paper for billing. It came addressed to Wakfield, the manager, in care of the Lyceum. Today the Temple received an order by telegraph to go to the express office and get the paper. Further developments are awaited with interest.

Hundreds of Tourists.

The steamers China and Nyack brought in a large crowd of tourists last evening and they have been looking over the city today. The hotels are reaping the harvest and the tourist crowd is of a very good class. The Spalding yesterday registered 144 guests. Hotel men say that this year's tourists seem to be of the wealthy class and do not stop at expense while last year's were entirely different.

A SERENE OLD AGE

How ex-Senator William Maxwell Evarts Passes His Declining Years in New York.

His Face Rugged and Almost Gothic in Outline, But Still Full of Power.

He Often Goes to His Office in the City and Does Considerable Work.

William Maxwell Evarts, in his old fashioned residence near Gramercy park, New York city, is the beau ideal of a retired statesman. On any fine morning of the season he may be seen to issue from his door, walk with slow but steady steps to his favorite seat in the park and there drink in the pure air and bask in the pleasant sunshine, if the weather is not too warm, for hours. The birds and the trees, the gentle life and movement, all interest him, and occasionally the antics of children move him to hearty laughter.

WILLIAM MAXWELL EVARTS.

His face is rugged and almost gothic in outline, but still full of power, still almost handsome. There is a certain pallor about it, and the furrows are deep, but it is still the face of the senator, the orator, the great advocate. One can still gaze on it and realize how he thundered against the "Cleopatra" filibusters in 1851, and defended President Johnston in 1868; how he nominated Seward in 1860, and explained the Alabama claims at Geneva in 1872; how he defended Henry Ward Beecher, advocated the electoral commission, served in the senate, delivered the Centennial oration and welcomed the statue of Liberty as the gift of our sister republic, France.

He was born in Boston Feb. 6, 1818, and is therefore but seventy-four years old, but he was never physically strong, and was from youth an untiring worker: so he has the appearance of great age. He was graduated from Yale in 1837, was admitted to the bar in New York city in 1841, and soon won his spurs as assistant district attorney for the state. In 1860 occurred the great legal battle between him and Charles O'Conor, the latter being counsel for Virginia in the famous Lemmon slave case.

Almost every great question of constitutional power during the war was argued by him as attorney for the government, and his opinions are now the established law. His services as secretary of state to President Hayes and United States senator for New York are still fresh in the public mind. A journalist who recently called upon him gives this description: "Before me stands a man, slender, bowed with age; his face is pale and shrunken; his eyes are small, gray and keen, but they glow with a force nearly spent. His splendid intellectuality still remains. Age has softened the once proud consciousness of power, but the look of power remains."

He often goes to his office down in the city and does considerable work, chiefly in the way of suggestion and declaring the law as he remembers it in old and long adjudicated cases. He has various souvenirs of nearly all his great cases, and these alone would make quite a museum. In will cases involving immense sums his advice is still eagerly sought. After business hours he is again found in the park if the weather admits, and as the tall, bent old man slowly treads the path one can see in his face that his thoughts are far away in the struggles of his busy life, his triumphs on two continents, and all the achievements of that wonderful career of which all Americans are proud.

The Higher Education of Women.

When five out of eight of the gold medals awarded in the national competition of the schools and classes in connection with the science and art department fall to female students, says a prominent London publication, the fact may be held to form a factor in answering the question. "Do women fail in art?" The exhibition of the competing works took place at the South Kensington museum, when Miss Laura Fisher and Miss Annie L. Henniker carried off gold medals. Two sister students from Birmingham—Miss Gertrude M. Bradley and Miss Winifred Smith—won equally high distinctions for their black and white drawings for reproduction as book illustrations. Miss Agnes Manly took a well deserved silver medal for the same class of work, and Miss Gertrude Roots, from Canterbury, was adjudged worthy of the Princess of Wales' second prize of eleven pounds, as well as a gold medal for her design for a mosaic pavement.

Another announcement which, although from an entirely different field, ought to give even greater pleasure to the fair sex is to the effect that the University of Ohio has conferred the degree of doctor of philosophy upon Mrs. A. E. W. Robertson, of Muscogee, I. T., in recognition of her scholarly attainments. She translated the New Testament from the original Greek into the Creek language.

The Bishop's Joke.

The bishop of London sometimes comes out in the facetious line, and comes out well too. He has just performed the proverbially difficult feat of "scoring off" a London cabman. Dr. Temple took a cab from the house of lords to Fulham palace, and on reaching his destination tendered cabby his legal fare of half a crown. Jehu remonstrated after the manner of his kind, and asked the bishop if he thought that "Paul" would have lived at Fulham palace if he had been with us now.

"No," said the bishop; "he would have been archbishop and lived at Lambeth; the fare there is only a shilling."—Tit-Bits.

Doctor—My dear madam, as your finances are not in very flourishing circumstances, I have concluded not to make any charges at all.

Mrs. A.—That's all right as far as it goes, but I want to know who is to pay the apothecary.—Texas Siftings.

One of the Laziest.

The laziest man existing within the borders of the Empire State lives along the shore of Third lake, Fulton chain, and spends his time fishing. He reclines on the bank in the shade, ties the pole to the dog's tail, and when he sees the bobber disappear he kicks the dog and the animal lands the fish.—Herkimer (N. Y.) Democrat.

Tommy's Description.

Papa—Well, Tommy, and how did you like it?

Tommy (who has been taken to church for the first time)—Very much indeed. Every one had to keep very quiet, but one man stood up and talked the whole time, and at last we all had to get up and sing to keep him quiet.—Pick-Me-Up.

Found After Many Years.

A Well Known Duluth Citizen Finds the Object of His Search.

Mr. John A. Olson, 1004 Garfield avenue, Duluth, says: "For a number of years I have been troubled with a complication of difficulties which is not easy for me to describe. I would have severe pains in my stomach, side and back, could not rest at night and would get up in the morning feeling worn out and unfit for the duties of the day. My appitite was poor and what I did eat seemed to make me feel worse. I lost in flesh and became weak, nervous and despondent.

"The doctors failed to give me any relief and patent medicines done me no good. After reading the statements of some persons who had been treated by Dr. Speer & Co., I called at their office in the New York block, West Superior. They located my trouble and described my feelings better than I could do it myself. I commenced their treatment and in less than three weeks my disagreeable symptoms have left me. The pains are gone, I eat and sleep well, am gaining in flesh and strength. The nervous and despondent feelings have disappeared and I feel like a new man in every respect. I feel very grateful for the benefit I have received and can not too highly recommend Dr. Speer & Co. for what they have done for me."

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it? To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for family uses. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furbish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

The Duke of Edinburgh and the Queen of Roumania Writing an Opera.

Another Boy Violinist. Said to be Very Handsome, is Coming From Russia.

Isabella Coe will star next season in "Niobe."

"A Message from Mars" is the name of a new play.

Colonel Milliken has finished a play which he calls "Sumter."

"Cupid's Chariot," a new play by H. Sayers, was produced at Omaha recently.

Frederick Robinson has fallen heir to a large fortune and will retire from the stage.

John Ernest McCann has finished a new one act comedy called "The Country Actor."

Florence Ellis returns to the stage next season in a play called "The Groves of Blarney."

The report that the New York Broadway theater was to be turned into a music hall is not true.

Richard Mansfield will be seen next season in Joseph Hatton's dramatization of "The Scarlet Letter."

Hoyt's new play, "A Temperance Tour," will be given a ten weeks' run at the Boston Park theater, beginning Nov. 10.

It is said that Nat Goodwin would never have been treated so nicely by Henry Irving this summer if Dixey hadn't imitated Irving.

Another boy violinist, Kotza Dumtscheff, is to come to America from St. Petersburg. He is eleven years of age and is said to be very handsome.

Byrne and Harrison's new opera, "Venus," is finished, and the clever authors are already at another, which will be produced by J. M. Hill.

The contract which Mme. Patti has made with Mr. Mayer is for forty concerts in the United States and Canada, for which she is to receive $200,000.

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt has gone back to Paris, intending to enjoy a perfect rest after her hard work in London. When quite refreshed, she will make a tour through Belgium, Holland, Austria and Russia.

The Duke of Edinburgh and the queen of Roumania are writing an opera together, so the Paris Figaro says. Carmen Sylva supplies the libretto and the prince the music, while the theme of the work is laid in prehistoric times.

RAILWAY RUMBLES.

A street car line is now being built in Tashkend, the capital of Russian Turkestan, by a French company.

One of the important improvements the Grand Trunk has in contemplation is the construction of several iron bridges on the Great Western division.

The Wabash people have ordered a complete new outfit in the way of locomotives, coaches and freight equipment for the new Detroit and Chicago short line.

The Wells-Fargo business has always been identified with the Sante Fe system, and its operation now over the Frisco lines simplifies the express business of the entire Santa Fe system.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey has abandoned its old passenger station at Elizabeth, N. J., after an occupancy of thirty-seven years and moved into the new and beautiful stone and brick structure near by.

The Central, of Georgia, has appointed W. A. Moore roadmaster of the Columbus and Western to succeed Edward Ford, who resigned to accept the office of superintendent of the South Bound road. Mr. Moore was formerly roadmaster of the South Bound road.

SNAP SHOTS.

The small photographic portrait was first made by Fevier in 1857, and was at first used on visiting cards.

The new National League of Amateurs has made a beginning, and appeals to amateurs to support it on what it intends to do. State divisions are to be formed first and promote photography in their own localities.

Excessive hot weather has a tendency to dissolve the gelatin film, and amateurs are cautioned to use the alum bath and ice freely, or to wait for a cooler atmosphere, before undertaking the development of exposed plates.

If, when you are toning aristotypes your bath becomes stubborn and will not work satisfactorily, if you are sure it is not from lack of gold, you will find that the addition of a trifle of a saturated solution of nitrate of lead will frequently set you right.

Miss Catherine Barnes has made many photographs about Edinburgh, and has been greatly assisted by many distinguished photographers. She has also been the target of many English hand cameras, and has been photographed by flash light by Mr. Slingsby, an expert English photographer.

SCIENTIFIC WAIFS.

A medical man in Vienna asserts that diphtheria is thrice as prevalent among smokers as those who deny themselves the luxury of the weed.

A celebrated aeronaut asserts, after patient investigation, that the ninth day of the moon is the most rainy of the whole twenty-eight, and 4 o'clock in the afternoon the rainiest hour of the day.

Experiments made at the royal Danish academy have demonstrated approximately the height of the aurora borealis. M. Adam Paulsen, at Godthaab, by means of two theodolites situated four miles apart, found that different aurora displays varied from one to four miles in height.

A watch for the blind is among the newest inventions. A small peg is set in the middle of each figure. When the hour hand reaches a given hour the peg for that hour drops. The sightless owner, when he wants to know the time, finds which peg is down and then counts back to twelve.

— Jerry Thomas.

In the waiting room of the military commission in a Russian town sat two fathers of families in deep anxiety about the fate of their sons, which would be shortly decided by the said commission.

"I am at a loss," said one, "what to say if I am asked the age of my son. If I make him out to be younger than he is he will be sent to school; if I make him too old they'll stick him in the army. What am I to do?"

"How would it be if you told the commission his exact age?" inquired his friend.

The first speaker looked up in amazement.

"What a capital idea; I had never thought of that!"—Dusseldorfer Anzeiger.

An Exception.

"Some one said today that the new minister preached over the heads of the congregation. Do you think so?"

"He didn't preach over my head. I had on my theater hat."—Life.

Paleface's Place to Get Off.

Blue coated, scarlet fringed messenger boys of Chicago maintain a circulating library. Each volume starts somewhere out of the weekly earnings of an individual, and when it has done the rounds it is too studiously dogeared for even the owner to recognize it. But the way those books circulate! Whooping cough in a primary school is cold molasses compared to it!

A messenger boy, with his eyes glued to a closely paragraphed page of one of these volumes, sat in a North Clark street car the other night as it clanked across the tracks at Randolph street and dived into the tunnel. In reality he was returning to the Chicago avenue office, but in spirit he was out on the borderland of civilization, beating the office record in galloping his imagination after "Diamond Dick, the Daring Devil of the Dugout."

He paid his fare, but in his eye, which stuck out about two inches, was such a look as might have boded ill to that conductor had the car only been a few thousand miles farther west. A cool, scornful smile played about his lips as he settled back to his book again.

The conductor was a wag. He used to be a boy and he knew how it felt. Just as the car crossed Superior street he stopped opposite the reader.

"Whoop!" with a flourish at the bell-strap. "Big Thunder say paleface skip!"

Then to the car:

"Chicago avenue."

And the messenger boy and four other passengers got off, but the messenger boy looked awfully tired.—Chicago News-Record.

Not That Long.

In the recent general election in Great Britain there has been a good deal of denunciation and very little wit, and there has been a conspicuous absence of good nature. The hard hitting that distinguished political life of old was tempered by epigrams, and even fun; all this seems to have disappeared; neither the Primrose dames nor their fair antagonists are the cause of any pretty speeches. Nobody offers to light their pipes at their eyes, as in the case of the electioneering duchess, nor do they receive any encouragement to do so. Even the sister of serious Mr. Wilberforce, when canvassing for her brother at Hull, indulged in a pleasant stroke of humor; when his partisans shouted, "Miss Wilberforce forever!" she replied, "I thank you, gentlemen, for your good intentions, but I do not wish to be 'Miss Wilberforce forever!'" One would have voted for that young lady's brother whatever were his politics.—Argonaut.

His Maiden Speech.

Wife (at night to husband returning home late)—Why, Franz, it is 3 o'clock!

Husband—I could not get away any sooner, wifey dear. I have been making a speech and that kept us rather late.

Wife—You—make a speech? That must have been a nice performance!

Husband—Well, it was universally applauded. I said, "Gentlemen, let us remain here a bit longer."—Hinkender Bote.

Very Prompt.

Hojack—Some people have their wishes fulfilled very promptly.

Tomdik—Are you prepared to specify?

Hojack—Well, I knew a man in Kansas who put up a sign, "This House for Sail," and the very next day a cyclone carried it into the next county.—Harper's Bazar.

On the Dark Continent.

A darky, who has obtained an appointment at a station on a new line of railway just completed in the colony of Natal, lately wrote a letter to the manager of the company asking him to send a can of red oil and a can of green oil for the night signals.—Petit Marseillais.

A Cordial Invitation.

Servant—A gentleman at the door says he doesn't like to annoy you, but here is a little bill.

Mr. Murray Hill—Oh, tell him I'm not annoyed at his calling. On the contrary, I would be very much pleased to have him call again.—Tit-Bits.

Stopped Then.

Mr. Nagley—I suppose you think you never made a mistake since you were born.

Mrs. Nagley—I can't say that, but I haven't made many since I was married.—Kate Field's Washington.

An Explanation.

"John, what is the matter with this milk; it looks so dreadfully blue?"

John—I suppose the fellow has made a mistake and is using colored chalk.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Made Them Sad.

She loved to take her mandolin and sit a while to play;
She plinked it with the plectrum in a most ecstatic way.
But the members of the family in sadness had to roam,
For the only tune she ever learned was "Maggie Murphy's Home."
—Washington Star.

One of the Drawbacks.

Though nice, within the hammock's close embrace,
To while away the livelong summer day,
You wished you were in any other place
Each time a bug drops on you as you lay.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH

Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Aug. 25.—Two areas of low barometer are shown by the charts this morning, one over lower Canada and one north of Dakota, separated by an area of medium high pressure.

Light rain has fallen in the extreme Northwest and heavy showers over the lower lakes and the Ohio valley.

The temperature has fallen slightly in all sections except the Northwestern states, where there has been a slight rise.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 76°, the lowest last night was 60°.

DULUTH, Aug. 25.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Continued fair; slight change in temperature; light east wind.

WHY MEN DEFER MARRIAGES.

The habits of modern young men are antagonistic to that prudence and preparation which make it possible for them to marry at 25, writes John Lambert Payne in an exhaustive article upon this important question in a September magazine. There are many exceptions, of course, but it may be safely said that a vast number of the young men who live in our time fill their spare hours with expensive luxuries. It costs them a great deal to dress and still more to keep up their social engagements. In a score of ways they accustom themselves to ways of life that leave no margin between income and outgo. This having gone on until they are 25, it then calls for more resolution than many of them command to begin the sacrifices which accompany the saving of money. Without money they cannot marry.

On the other hand, Mr. Payne points out that the failure of young men to marry has compelled hundreds of thousands of young women to earn an independent living. All honor, he says, to the girls who work; but the divine plan was that men should be the bread earners and that women should be the center of homes. Whenever such a fundamental law of society as this is violated retribution is inevitable. There are today upward of 2,000,000 women in the United States who make a living by professional and personal services, such as the practice of law and medicine, the teaching of music and art work, clerical service of one sort or another in government and other offices, quite apart from the army of young women who serve in stores and toil at mechanical labor. No one who can look back over a generation of time has failed to observe the extent to which women have become independent bread earners within comparatively recent years, and particularly in those avenues which education and refined habits of life have opened up. It is, in fact, a grave social problem where this thing will end.

It would seem, concludes Mr. Payne, that this, among other causes, is accomplishing the purpose which Malthus aimed to teach; for the inexorable conclusions of the statistician show that the American and Canadian family is steadily growing smaller. If the average number per family had been as great in 1890 as in 1860, there would have been 6,000,000 people in the United States and 430,000 in Canada above what the recent censuses revealed. This is a fact of far-reaching importance, and applies its force in other directions than the subject of this article.

Is there a remedy? Certainly there is none which can be easily and readily applied. Two hundred years ago, guided largely by the Jesuits, the zealous King Louis of France, made stern laws for the government of this young colony in respect to marriage. He decreed that every father having a son 18 years of age, or a daughter of 15, should be held accountable to the state if they were not married. Mr. Payne does not advise that such a law be introduced in this country, nor does he offer any other satisfactory remedy.

The only remedy for the present state of affairs is undoubtedly a complete revolution in the ideas held by the young women as well as the young men of today. Both have too extravagant ideas. This is true of those in nearly all classes of life. The item of expense is an obstacle against which the majority stumble when considering the marriage question. Many exaggerate what it would take two sensible young people to begin life on, and conclude it would be impossible to start in comfort on an income of $1000. This exaggeration is the direct result of extravagance by young ladies whose parents have surrounded them with wealth and luxury, or by others who have gained false ideas. They want a husband who can support them in similar style. They let the young men understand this, and when the young men learn what some of their gowns and bonnets cost it is not astonishing that they should pause and reflect how far their incomes would go towards meeting such expense. Can they be blamed if they conclude that matrimony is too expensive a luxury?

Not until there is a marked change in ideas concerning the manner of living will there be any great increase in the number of marriages. Not only are the habits of modern young men antagonistic to that prudence and preparation which make it possible for them to marry at 25, as Mr. Payne assert, but the habits of the modern young women are opposed to cultivation by young men of that prudence and preparation.

THE STRIKE COLLAPSED.

The conference of the leaders of the railway men's organizations at Buffalo last night resulted in the switchmen's strike being declared off, and the strikers are now hustling to get back into the positions that they suddenly deserted. Grand Master Sweeney, of the Switchmen's union, is reported to have said: "Five hundred and fifteen switchmen cannot cope with twelve big railway corporations and 8000 militia and succeed. We have made a strong fight and have lost."

Mr. Sweeney's remarks contain a hidden fling at the other organizations which did not come to the aid of the strikers, and there is no doubt that he does not entertain very kindly feelings towards the brakemen, trainmen and firemen who refused to give any help. His statement that 515 switchmen could not cope with twelve big railway corporations and 8000 militia and succeed, is absurd. They were not coping with the militia, if they were acting in a lawful manner. If they were coping with the militia, then they must have been acting lawlessly and they deserved to fail. The militia was there to preserve peace, maintain order and protect property.

These switchmen started the strike in a wrong manner. The wanton firing of freight cars and destruction of the railway companies' property settled the strike as soon as it began. These acts of violence and lawlessness placed an impenetrable barrier between the strikers and success. They ruined their cause by their own lawless deeds, and there can be no regret that they have failed and that the strike has been ended. It was, in fact, at an end three days ago, and since that time the railroads have been handling all the freight offered. It is ended now officially, so far as the switchmen's organization is concerned.

In this instance, as at Homestead, the militia has been called to enforce upon the attention of the labor organizations that property rights must be respected in this country, and that every man who desires to work, no matter whether he belongs to the union or prefers to remain outside the union, is entitled to the protection of the law while he exercises his right to work where he pleases, for whom he pleases, at what wages he pleases, and as many hours as he pleases.

SHOULD BE RETAINED.

It would be a cause for deep regret if Professor Meier, the efficient leader of the City band, is permitted to leave Duluth, because he is offered better inducements elsewhere. Under his direction Duluth now has a band of which the city can justly feel proud, and it would be a great misfortune if his services to the public in this respect should be lost.

Directors of bands have not, however, received in Duluth in past years the encouragement to which they are entitled, and no one can blame Professor Meier because he has taken under consideration a good offer from another city, where the prospects in his profession are much brighter. He would prefer to remain in Duluth, but greater financial inducements would, of course, take him elsewhere.

The Herald trusts that some of our public-spirited citizens will come to the rescue and make such arrangements that the present excellent leader of the City band will remain and be in a position to bring the band to a still greater degree of proficiency.

The Northern Pacific is credited with a scheme to shorten its line between Duluth and Puget Sound to the extent of 250 miles. This move is caused by the rapid advance of the Great Northern into the Northern Pacific's territory. It will likewise be compelled ere long to put on a line of boats between Duluth and Buffalo to meet Mr. Hill's competition.

The Little Falls Herald considers that the fact that "Judge Searle has concluded to hold on to the judgeship, is evidence that the judge is not as confident of his election as his supporters are." And it might have added that his supporters are not very confident. Some of them have already given up the fight and concede Maj. Baldwin's election.

Gen. Weaver, the People's party candidate for president, asserts that he is going to carry Colorado, Nevada, California, Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho and Wyoming. It was very kind on his part not to include Minnesota in his little list, but there is plenty of time yet to claim it.

President Harrison will not take the stump because he thinks it would be improper for the president to make popular appeals for votes. President Harrison always knows the right thing to do and he seldom makes an error of judgment.

Official notice has been given of the appointment of Hon. Thomas Wilson as general counsel of the Omaha road. This means no doubt that Judge Wilson has permanently retired from politics.

The Educational Endowment association, of Minneapolis, is now in the hands of a receiver and its affairs are to be wound up. One by one the "fake" insurance companies go to the wall.

Abuses for Correction.

Building and Realty Record: The supervising architect of the new government building at Duluth has drawn down upon his head unfavorable criticism. The Architect and Builder says that the selection of stone from Indiana, when the Lake Superior article is noted for its beautiful color and texture, is but an added bill of expense without good reason. The claim that the crushing strength of the latter was inferior to the former, is not sufficient excuse. It is broadly hinted in the article, that this may be a key to a little problem. It is often rumored that the government pays extravagantly for all public buildings.

The Widows' Dance.

Among the numerous excellent specialties presented by "The Hustler" company at the Temple Saturday evening, the widows' dance is likely to interest a good many playgoers. It is in the nature of refined grotesque and is a very Frenchy London importation. Six pretty young women in widow's weeds come demurely forward and with eyes cast down and hands folded in front sing a dolorous song. At the end of the stanza they begin to rush backward and forward in unison to "boom-ta-ra-ra" and try to kick the chandeliers down. There are six clouds of fluffy white and sombre black and now and then a well-rounded nether limb—for about a minute, and then the six pretty women suddenly resume their staid and modest demeanor and their solemn song, just as if nothing had happened.

"The Harvest Moon."

On Friday and Saturday, Sept. 1 and 2, the Lyceum will play "The Harvest Moon," one of the strongest dramas now before the public. Harry Booker, the well-known comedian, is directing the company and it is enjoying phenomenal success.

A Protest.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I protest against any clock for the High school tower that is to strike the quarter hours. I think I speak the sentiments of those who have lived within the sound of city clocks, when I say that striking the quarter hours is a nuisance. It mixes matters up until it destroys the benefit of the hour strike. I know the quarter hour is a different bell and tone, but I have lived beside them, and it spoils the good effect of the whole strike business. It is annoying. I would not object to a clock that made one strike for the half hour, but to more than that, I most emphatically protest, and I hope those in authority will consider this matter before it is too late.

A FINE SUGAR BOWL.

Many people have serious misgivings about venturing upon a purchase of silver or plated ware, because they entertain the idea that such an undertaking will involve them in lavish outlays of money. That is a notion which we are fully prepared to correct. The enormous production of silver within recent years, the improved appliances for the manufacture of the finest table ware and the great advances made by those who design and those who execute have brought within the reach of moderate means some of the handsomest products of modern enterprise, dexterity and skill. You can ask for no better proof of this than is afforded by the fact that we are selling sterling silver novelties of all kinds at prices which will simply paralyze you.

Lactated Food Gave Her Health.

From Spencerport, N. Y., Mrs. I. J. Woodmansee writes:

MISS WOODMANSEE

"My little girl was very sick last May with bowel trouble, and after trying several things the druggist advised me to use lactated food. I did so and she improved rapidly. She has been using the food since then, and she has kept well and strong. I shall always recommend it when I see a baby that is sick or fretful, for my experience has satisfied me that lactated food will make any child rosy, plump and well."

BRIDGING THE CANAL.

Harbormaster Miller Replies to Some of the Flimsy Objections.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I notice in this morning's Tribune a letter signed N. B. Thayer, on the question of bridging the canal, that contains some very absurd statements. I wonder if these people who talk against a bridge realize that a bridge is as essential to commerce as is a vessel. Do they not know that the bridging of the canal would bring into use twenty miles of splendid dockage? Does Mr. Thayer not realize of what benefit to vessel owners and vessels would be the bringing into immediate use of twenty miles of the most convenient dockage in our harbor.

In my talks with vessel captains I have yet to find one that did not admit that the bridging of the canal would be of more benefit to the commerce of the city than it would be an inconvenience. What right have vessel men on Lake Erie to stop the growth of this city of Duluth? Do they not know that the city of Duluth has done more to build up the lake marine than has any other port on the whole chain of lakes, if not all combined? Has it not brought into being a better class of vessels, of which we are now boasting? There is not a city on the continent that has been such an actual advantage and benefit to the United States flag as the city of Duluth in the past ten years, and today it is the most important city on the whole chain of lakes without regard to size.

But Mr. Thayer has a most serious point, in his own estimation, against the bridge. He says: "The real question is what would the effect of a bridge across the canal be upon our shipping industry in case of breakage or strike upon the part of the operators?" Does not the great Author of the universe bring into being and kill multitudes every day? Do we refuse to build railroads or ships because an accident might happen some time? Is business generally conducted on such ideas? Not much. I am between 60 and 70 years of age, but do I expect to live forever? Of course not. I feel the breaking up going on every day, but I don't stop on that account but keep on planning and thinking.

Yours, etc.,
J. W. MILLER.

The Fete Breton and the Children's Home.

It may not be generally known how much has been and is still being done by a few generous, opened-eyed and tender-hearted women of Duluth for those who are in the world under unfortunate conditions. Very few know how many children bright, sweet and innocent, yet homeless, friendless and motherless, have been taken, many of them from actual starvation and death and others from influences worse than either, and tenderly cared for by the Womans' and Children's Home. Within the last year alone they have housed, clothed and fed 129 children. Through their interest some of these have been adopted into good permanent homes. The amount of $1375.87 in cash has been paid out by the ladies for necessary supplies within the last year, in addition to the many benevolent contributions from butchers, grocers and individuals personally. Their coal has nearly all been given. Could those who have been so generous see all the good they have, perhaps unconsciously, being doing, their hearts would surely throb with a pleasure which they would long to taste again. If we could only realize these words of Him "who so loved the world": "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto me," we would think less of doing for self, but would find our real happiness in doing for others.

A mere handful of women thus far have taken up and been faithful to the work of the Children's Home. Still it has prospered and grown to such proportions that their present quarters are wholly inadequate for their needs. Larger and better accommodations seem an absolute and immediate necessity, for they cannot without pain turn away one of these little children from their friendly doors, yet a new building with an empty treasury cannot be thought of. An interested gentleman has offered the ladies $10,000 if they would raise $10,000 more. It is quite an undertaking for so few women to earn $10,000, but they have begun the effort. When Miss Eager offered to give her magnificent "Fete Breton" for their benefit, they felt that a door had been opened for them, and they feel sure that every one, of whatever sect or country, will avail themselves of the opportunity to see this brilliant and unique entertainment, and will feel a deeper enjoyment of it because it brings so much of good to "these little ones."

One delightful feature of it is that it is to be given in the pavilion, on the heights above the natural terrace worn along the tops of our granite bluffs by the primeval waters almost before the world was. Those ages of silence have passed away, but have left these everlasting hills with the stamp of their grandeur still upon them. It is a fitting place for so grand a festival. Upon their mottled slopes we shall see in this year 1892, the mimic array of the nations, each bringing to us whatever is most graceful and beautiful in song, dance and costume. Gay booths representing every nationality under the sun will add their picturesqueness to the scene. Without crossing continent or ocean we shall look in upon every land, peasant and courtier vieing with each other to make the quaint and fancy seem real.

In the year 1893, in a neighboring city, the world in very fact will be gathered together. Meanwhile, let us enjoy this feast prepared for us now with so much skill and artistic pains, and for so noble an object, and carry its memory there with us. We may be the happier remembering its bright scenes and the burdens we then helped to lift from innocent and unfortunate lives.

Solos in opera "Queen Esther" will be rendered exceptionally well.

SAT ON THE BOARD

Retrenchment and Reform is Demanded by Stock Exchange Members.

The Number of Directors is Increased From Nine to Nineteen.

They Must Attend Board Meetings or be Liable to Expulsion.

A meeting of the Duluth stock exchange was held yesterday afternoon and for a time the atmosphere was quite torrid. The same question came before the meeting which was the subject of discussion at another two or three weeks ago—the amendment of the constitution so as to increase the number of directors and also to compel their attendance at meetings. A full report of the meeting was given in The Herald at the time. It was then decided that there was a technical error in the call which might invalidate any action the exchange might take and the meeting was adjourned and called again yesterday.

The amendments offered provide for an increase in the number of directors from nine to nineteen and fix the date for the election of the other ten as Aug. 26, between the hours of 9:30 and 12:30 o'clock. Four are to hold office until May, 1893; three until May, 1894, and three until May, 1895. The clause providing for a penalty for non-attendance reads as follows: "Any member of the board of directors who, unless excused by the president, shall absent himself from three (3) consecutive regular meetings of the board of directors, may by a vote of a majority of the members present at any regular meeting thereafter (a quorum being present,) be declared no longer a member thereof."

The same arguments were advanced in favor of the adoption of these amendments as at the previous meeting. Many of the active members charge the present directors with being unfriendly to the exchange and by absenting themselves from directors' meetings hampering its work. For weeks during the summer no meeting of the directors was held for the reason that but three or four directors attended and no quorum could be secured. There is also a great deal of complaint at what is termed the extravagant manner of conducting the exchange. Upon the opening the exchange had about $12,000 on hand, and now there is only about $5000 left. The expenses of the exchange are running at about $700 per month, $400 per month being paid for rent.

There were present at the meeting 46 members out of a total membership of 129. The discussion over the amendments was long and interesting, Horace Williston defending the directors. When put to a vote the amendments were carried with 31 yeas and 15 nays. An election will therefore be held tomorrow morning.

SUPERIOR NEWS.

Four More Amalgamated Men are Bound Over.

The Amalgamated men arrested for attacking Jones and Gardner who were not given a hearing last Monday were brought up yesterday. They were Frank Pellou, John Wright, W. H. Randall and Joseph Gardner, and were charged by Andrew Gardner with assault with intent to do great bodily harm. Gardner, the complaining witness, was the first to testify. He told the story of the assault and identified several of the accused as his assailants. Cross-examination failed to weaken his testimony. The defense did not put any witnesses on the stand, saying that they preferred to prove their alibis in the circuit court. All four were bound over in $500 bonds to the circuit court. The bail was furnished by W. J. Leader and Fred Bishoff. The case will come up in the November term of the circuit court. The strikers expected J. D. Hickey, vice-president of the association, Tuesday, but he did not arrive owing to the serious illness of his wife. Mr. Shephard, of Milwaukee, was sent in his place and the strikers claim he brought a large fund with him to help them fight their cause.

The members of the council finance committee were in Duluth yesterday in search of W. J. Holmes, who purchased the city bonds. He put up a certified check for $1000, but nothing further has been heard from him and the committee could not find him. He was to pay the money on the entire amount of $360,000 of bonds, one-fifth in August and one-fifth each month thereafter until the entire amount had been paid for.

The present situation of affairs, therefore, is very discouraging to contractors, says the Leader. The $100,000 that may be obtained by selling bonds to the sinking fund will be used to pay for the cash contracts, leaving the contractors who are required to accept bonds for pay in the same situation that they now are—without cash and more than $100,000 in debt.

Work on the Dakota elevator at the East end has been delayed at least a month by the contractors. The several bidders for the work agreed among themselves that they would sign no contract until the full amount of money necessary to complete the job was on hand. The structure proposed will cost $120,000. The farmers' committee had subscribed only about $50,000. They promise, however, to subscribe the remainder at the first meeting in September.

The inventory of the Boyd sash and door factory has been completed. The assets are $26,000 and the liabilities $20,000. The building was mortgaged for its full value and what was collected from the stock and book accounts. The labor claims will be paid in full.

"Gathering of the Clans."

Prof. J. A. Walker, of Chicago, and J. F. Smith, of St. Paul, were in the city yesterday for the purpose of arousing interest in the "Gathering of the Clans" of which Prof. Walker is the originator. This was presented in St. Paul recently and created a great furore, indeed so favorably and enthusiastically was it received that Prof. Walker has been engaged to present "The Gathering of the Clans" at the Minneapolis exposition. Next year he will give it at the World's fair in Chicago. Prof. Walker will endeavor to present the same thing in Duluth in about two months from now.

A GREAT RECORD THIS.

Amount of Tonnage Moving Daily in Duluth's Harbor.

The number of vessels which have arrived in this port from the opening of navigation up to 8 o'clock this morning was 1228. Navigation opened on April 22, when the Castalia reached here. The lowest estimate places the daily arrival of tonnage at 15,000, while some very conservative quarters estimate it at 18,000 tons.

The number of departures during the same period was 1201, so that the inward and outward movement of tonnage in Duluth harbor has been 30,000 tons daily since April 22, last, or a total of 3,720,000 tons. This is considered a pretty good record for a port but twenty years old, or really only twelve years old.

TO CHARGE DOCKAGE.

Railroads Going to Exact Further Tolls Here.

The railroad lines terminating at Duluth are on the eve of turning an honest penny in order to show that there is no hard feeling and to get at least a little out of the lake traffic in which they have no part.

Much of the merchandise intended for Duluth and West Superior and their suburban connections is unloaded over the docks owned by the railway companies, and in the past there has been no toll exacted; but of late the business has assumed such proportions that the railways feel that they are entitled to something and will make an effort to get it.

A meeting of the committee to which the matter was referred was held Tuesday at the office of General Freight Agent Moore, of the Northern Pacific, at St. Paul, but nothing was decided upon and another meeting will be held later in the week.

Found His Daughter.

A. M. Westover, the gentleman who was in search of his little daughter succeeded in finding her yesterday, although there was not the slightest intention of secreting the child. Mr. Westover wishes The Herald to state that he was not assisted in the search by any clairvoyant. He returned to Maine, Otter Tail county, with his little girl yesterday evening. Mr. Westover was a locomotive engineer here in the early days.

Uniformed Club Organized.

A uniformed marching Republican club was organized last evening at the Republican club headquarters. A. Gearhart was elected president and T. W. Abell, W. H. Graves and Fred Cooley were appointed as a committee on organization and uniform. About twenty-five Republicans have joined. A glee club will also be organized. Meetings will be held every Wednesday.

Will Elect a President.

The Tilden Democratic club meets this evening at its headquarters, the Real Estate exchange rooms. A successor to Maj. Baldwin, who resigned the presidency, is to be chosen, and several names are mentioned, among them C. P. Maginnis, T. T. Hudson and others.

WAR IN DAHOMEY.

The French Squadron Bombarded Several Ports About the First of the Month.

Col. Dodds is Now Endeavoring to Drive the King Into a Corner.

Envoys From the Neighboring Tribes Have Offered Their Aid Against the Dahomeyans.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The French squadron off the Dahomey coast bombarded Whydah and other Dahomean ports about the beginning of the month, and the French troops then proceeded on their expedition to the interior under command of Col. Dodds, whose policy is to drive the king into a corner. With the first arrival of reinforcements Col. Dodds began to enlarge the circle of the outposts, while fortifying at the time the old positions. He opened two new roads, one from Porto Novo to Sakete, on the Adjara river, near the British frontier at Lagosa, the other binding Porto Novo to Dangbo, a place between the Queme and the Adjara near the spot where Capt. Oudard was killed in 1890.

It is said that envoys from the neighboring tribes have offered their co-operation against the Dohomeyans. Great enthusiasm prevails. Numerous desertions are taking place from the Dahomey army on account of hunger and fear. Col. Dodds has 3000 men, being a sufficient force to hold the different stations independently of the support of the ships anchored at Kotonou and Grand Popo. Kotonou and Porto Novo are now in a thorough state of defence and Grand Popo is occupied. The San, the Talisman and other ships are free to cruise about, and it is calculated that they will be able to maintain the blockade in a very effective manner.

Father Dorgerie, the missionary, who concluded the treaty with Behanzin in which the latter consented to recognize the French protectorate on the coast for the consideration of a subsidy of 20,000 francs per annum, has been interviewed at Nantes, where he resides. He drew a picture of Dahomey, the conquest of which he advocates, and represents it as a commercial paradise. It is a very rich country, he says, coveted by both the English and the Germans. In French hands, he considers it a veritable treasure. Thus, he remarked, Kotonou, which only contains two French commercial houses and a telegraphic station, produced in 1890, when owing to the war business was slack, a revenue of 350,000 francs.

Several companies of the foreign legation have been sent from Algeria to Senegal to replace the Senegal riflemen dispatched to Dahomey. The Senegal contingent consists of 400 formed into three companies. They are mostly veteran warriors, many of them being covered with scars received very likely in fighting against the French. These troops are quite distinct from the regular Tirraileurs of Senegal, who are completely fused with the French army. These latter form the main body of the Dahomey expedition.

HAUGEN RENOMINATED.

The Superior Man's Name Was Not Even Presented.

CUMBERLAND, Wis., Aug. 25.—Nils P. Haugen was renominated for congress by acclamation by the Republicans of the Tenth district yesterday afternoon. The convention was called to order by Samuel Cradford, chairman of the congressional committee. H. H. Burdick, of Polk, was made temporary chairman and Henry Anderson, of St. Croix, secretary. The following were appointed a committee on credentials: A. R. Hall, Bayfield; John Chinnock, St. Croix; John Colgaard, Douglas.

On motion of E. G. Mills a recess of one hour was taken to enable the committee to report. When the convention reassembled the temporary officers were made permanent. The report of the committee on credentials was adopted without opposition, there being no contests. Dr. D. W. Woodworth, of Pierce county, presented the name of Nils P. Haugen in a neat and appropriate speech, which was ably seconded by E. G. Mills, of Douglas.

A motion was immediately made by B. F. Millard, of Chippewa, that Mr. Haugen be nominated by acclamation. The motion was unanimously carried amid thunderous applause. Not a dissenting voice was heard. A committee of two was appointed to wait on Mr. Haugen and Jesse B. Thayer. Both appeared and were warmly greeted. Mr. Haugen made a short speech, thanking the delegates for the honor they had conferred upon him.

Mr. Thayer spoke briefly, warmly endorsing the action of the convention and expressing his entire good will and promise of hearty co-operation in the work of re-electing Mr. Haugen to his seat in congress.

CREATED EXCITEMENT.

The Long Lost Stewart Placers in Colorado Found.

JIMTON, Colo., Aug. 25.—The long lost Stewart placers have been found. A party of prospectors came into Spar City, the headquarters of Lime Creek district, yesterday and reported that nineteen miles to the southwest of the Lime Creek district, and at the head of Wilson Creek, they have found extensive gold placer beds, which are as rich as those found by Stewart and his partner, Kit Karson, shortly after the war, when they came through that country, but which they abandoned at the time on account of Indians.

The reports created the wildest excitement and by the afternoon twenty-five men were equipped and sent to the scene of the new discovery.

TO SHORTEN ITS LINE.

The Northern Pacific Route Between Duluth and Puget Sound.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—From the new town of Everett comes the report that the Northern Pacific road is on the eve of shortening its route between Duluth and Puget Sound at least 250 miles, so as to have the Great Northern on hip. Everett is the prospective metropolis of Puget Sound.

According to advices, the Everett & Monte Christo railroad, a short line in that vicinity, is to be extended in what is known as the Okanagon country, striking the main line of the Northern Pacific at Lewiston. Such connection would give the Northern Pacific the short cut to the Sound and make a difference of 250 miles between Duluth and the coast.

The backers of the enterprise are John D. Rockefelier, of the Standard Oil company, and others who are practically the owners of the Wisconsin Central and have large interests in the Northern Pacific which would indicate that the rumor is not wide of the mark, for the new line would tap one of the richest sections of the Northwest.

WAS IT ASIATIC CHOLERA?

Sudden Death of a Young Lady In Connecticut.

NORWICH, Conn., Aug. 25.—It is reported the disease from which Miss Frances Morgan, of this city, died Tuesday at the home of relatives in Griswold, was cholera. Three physicians attended her but were unable to save her. She had been well up to Monday afternoon. At 7 o'clock she was violently attacked and died at 10 o'clock the next morning.

Dr. Cassidy, of this city, who attended her, said yesterday that her illness was as genuine a case of Asiatic cholera as ever seen in this climate. Several other cases similar to but not as violent as that of Miss Morgan have occurred within two weeks in this region.

In each instance the disease operated very rapidly and the doctors had a hard struggle to save the patients. In two cases the disease proved fatal.

WILL MR. BLAINE SPEAK?

Not Likely to Take the Stump in Maine.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 25.—Senator Eugene Hale was seen yesterday on his way to Saco to make a speeech. Relative to Mr. Blaine speaking in the campaign, he said that if he is well enough he would make two or three speeches in Main, beginning two weeks from Monday. If not he will write a ringing letter to the voters of this state.

Senator Hale's statement about the letter to be written by Mr. Blaine corroborates information received by ex-Speaker Reed on Monday, but confided secretly to a few friends. Mr. Reed does not think Mr. Blaine will make even a single speech, and therein differs from Senator Hale.

FOUGHT SINGLE-HANDED.

A Band of Cattle Thieves Attacked by One Man.

GRAND JUNCTION, Col., Aug. 25.—H. C. Bucklin, an undertaker of this city, received yesterday the following telegraphic order from West Water, Utah, north of the Colorado line: "Send three coffins. We have run across the Brock gang." Three cheap coffins were sent as requested.

Brock's gang is a band of cattle thieves. A Rio Grande Western brakeman, who was at West Water yesterday, states that the shooting took place on the Utah side of the line. W. E. Davis came upon the men early in the morning. He was alone but shot with such good effect that three of the gang were killed and Brock himself shot through the head, though still alive when the train left.

A MARRIAGE SPOILED.

The Intended Bridegroom's Family Interfered and He Skipped.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 25.—Arthur Van Hise, a decorator in one of the potteries here, who was to have been married to Miss Ella Zehner, a beautiful girl of 17 years, has mysteriously disappeared. Miss Zehner is a china decorator and worked beside Van Hise for five years.

All preparations had been made for the wedding when at the last moment two sisters of Van Hise came and announced that his family had decided that the marriage was not a fitting one and had induced their brother to change his mind. Miss Zehner is now ill with nervousness.

BERLIN IS SCARED.

Serious Fears Are Felt That Cholera Has Broken Out in That City.

The Wife of a Merchant Has Died With Symptoms of Asiatic Cholera.

Great Terror at Hamburg and Many of the Victims Are Awaiting Burial.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—There are serious fears that the cholera has broken out in this city. The wife of a merchant named Landrock, living in No. 10 Golden strasse, died at midnight last night with symptoms of Asiatic cholera. The case is being investigated. At a conference of leading medical men of this city held yesterday, the opinion was unanimously expressed that an epidemic of cholera was unlikely. It was suggested, however, that everybody should take three drops of muriatic acid daily in a tumbler of water, and that great care should be taken to keep flies away from the food.

The authorities on the frontier have been admonished to redouble their precautions against the admission of persons or articles suspected of infection, and everywhere the local authorities are displaying the utmost vigilance.

TERROR AT HAMBURG.

Difficult to Get Men for the Work of Burial.

HAMBURG, Aug. 25.—One hundred and sixty-nine bodies of cholera victims are awaiting burial in this city. So great is the terror caused by the cholera that it is difficult to get men for the work of burial, and many assistants of undertakers have deserted their places of employment.

Business is prostrated and shipping is going to other ports. So serious is the panic that Russian immigrants now in the city find it difficult to procure food, as everybody tries to avoid them. At Altona the army surgeons have been ordered by their superiors to assist the doctors in caring for cholera victims.

HE WILL NOT STUMP.

President Harrison Thinks it Would be Improper.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—There is a division of opinion among the Republican campaign managers in the East regarding the proposed stumping tour of President Harrison in the Empire state. The scheme was proposed by Senator Hiscock and met favor at first, but it said President Harrison thinks it would be highly improper for him to make popular appeals for votes when an occupant of the White house.

The proposed reception at Madison Square Garden has not entirely been given up, but shrewder politicians think that it would be safer policy not to involve the president in any public demonstration. The president will go to New York at any rate, and while there will have a conference with Platt.

It is said that Platt is not unwilling but quite anxious to meet the president, and it is predicted, by men who know the trouble between them, in five minutes after such a meeting the misunderstanding will be removed and that Platt will thereafter take an active part in the campaign.

SHOT BY ACCIDENT.

A Private in a Company at Homestead Killed.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 25.—Jesse Benninghoff, a private in Company K, Sixteenth regiment, at Homestead, was accidentally shot and killed while in his tent yesterday by Private Smith, of the same company. Smith was cleaning a revolver in his tent when one of the cartridges went off. The bullet passed right through the next tent, in which a guardsman was sleeping, and pierced the canvass of Benninghoff's quarters.

The lad was standing cleaning a gun when the bullet struck him in the left side, passing through the liver, and lodged in the back. He died in a few minutes. He was 18 years old and came from Greenville.

Russian Aggression at the "Roof of the World."

SIMLA, Aug. 25.—The ameer of Afghanistan has sent to the government of India a copy of the report made by Col. Janoff, commander of the Russian forces in the Pamir country, on the recent fight between the Russians and Afghans at Somatash. Col. Janoff declares that the Afghans at first attacked the Russians, who only acted in self defense in firing upon them. The ameer, in his own account of the fight which was sent with Col. Janoff's report, says that the Russians surrounded the camp of the Afghans and were the aggressive ones. The ameer concludes his account with an appeal to the Indian government to aid him against the Russians.

TWO MINES SOLD.

Purchase by a Montreal Syndicate of Bald Mountain Property.

DEADWOOD, S. D., Aug. 25.—Thomas P. White has closed up a deal by purchasing the Tony and Harris mines for $35,000. He also bought the Boswell interest in the Boswell & McGovern property for $10,000. The mines are all located in the Bald mountain district.

White is acting for a Montreal, Can., syndicate, which has paid $250,000 for Bald mountain property within the last sixty days, and which property, valued at $100,000, is still under bond.

MORE LIGHT.

Who Is Able to Enlighten the People?—Not Prophets, But Making Us Seers.

This is an age when science is brought home to us. Instead of going on an expensive trip to New York or Philadelphia to have his eyes fitted with glasses of wonderous efficacy and power, one need only go to the Spalding where Dr. Matthez will renew his sight. And it will not be done by any surgical operations—medicine and surgery being outside of his specialty—but a pair of glasses so adroitly suited to one's natural vision, or so cunningly fashioned, to counteract any defect of sight that, "almost a new world is open for him."

The recommendations which this gentleman has received from the most expert and distinguished members of the medical profession, as well as from high functionaries of state, and men whose sight have been almost restored by him, places his reputation beyond cavil. An autograph volume, weighing perhaps fifty pounds, was shown to a reporter of this paper. This book is filled with the thanks and recommendations of distinguished men. There are names from New York to Texas, including those of governors of every state in the union. The medical fraternity of almost every city in the union have given him their high testimonial of his skill. One of these, a celebrated physician, says the difference between him and others is that "others pretend to do more than they can; you do more than you profess."

The reporter took a survey of and through his instruments in his office, D parlor floor at the Spalding and was astonished at the completeness, their beauty, and the ease with which defective vision could be remedied or obviated.

"I cannot cure diseases of the eye," said Dr. Matthez, "but can and do correct, by means of glasses properly adapted and adjusted, the greatest power of vision possible."

The equipment seems absolutely complete. There are instruments to test all manner of vision. Cards of every description adorn the walls, to see at what distance the man, woman or child can decipher all sorts of print. When the power of vision is once measured, or the nature of a defect is once determined, the fitting of glasses is a matter of course. An assortment is there from which all the eyes of Argus, if each had a separate and independent obliquity of vision, might be easily suited. Once determined upon, the glasses are ground and fitted to a frame especially made for each pair of eyes and to suit the physical peculiarities of each corresponding face, nose, etc. "The work is done by the finest skilled labor in the world," said the doctor, "and there are no errors. No glasses go to a patient until they are exactly fitted to the eyes."

Although possessed of the highest credentials, the doctor is on his "merit only." He feels that he can confidently rely upon his skill and states that his work is mechanical and done with all the accuracy of mechanics. When anyone calls and it is discovered that his eyes are diseased, he is referred to a physician. This gentleman has to do with the vision only, and when he once knows the weakness or defect in that, his glasses are brought into requisition and the defect counteracted.

As the reporter was about leaving the office one of our prominent merchants entered for adjustment of glasses. This gentleman brings light, if not to the blind, at least to all wo "see as through a glass darkly."

ORDER FOR HEARING AND NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR APPOINTMENT OF ADMINISTRATOR.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, } ss.
COUNTY OF ST. LOUIS. }

In probate court, special term, August 25th, 1892.

In the matter of the estate of Andrew Nilson, deceased:

On receiving and filing the petition of Cena McLeod, of the county of St. Louis representing, among other things, that Andrew Nilson, late of the county of St. Louis in the state of Minnesota, on the 4th day of March A. D. 1892, at the county of St. Louis died intestate, and being an inhabitant of this county at the time of his death, leaving goods, chattels, and estate within this county, and that said petitioner is a daughter of said deceased, and praying that administration of said estate be to her granted;

It is ordered, that said petition be heard before this court, on Monday the nineteenth day of September, A. D. 1892, at ten o'clock a. m., at the probate office, in Duluth in said county.

Ordered further, that notice thereof be given to the heirs of said deceased, and to all persons interested, by publishing this order on Thursday in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing, in the Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed and published at Duluth in said county.

Dated at Duluth the 25th day of August, A. D. 1892.

COUNCIL CHAMBER,
Duluth, Minn., Aug. 22, 1892.

Regular meeting.

Roll call: Aldermen present—Cox, Dingwall, Hugo, Helm, Kennedy, Long, Nelson, Sorensen, Thomas, Weiss, Wilson, Mr. President—12.

Absent—None.

On motion of Alderman Sorensen, the minutes of last meeting were approved.

Presentation of Petitions and Other Communications.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 22nd, 1892.

The Honorable the President and members of the Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:

On Saturday last some officers of the state militia from St. Paul, Minn., were in this city and for the mere purpose as I have been informed of assembling or inspecting the militia here, caused for a period of about half an hour a false riot alarm to be sounded from elevator D. The same created great excitement among our citizens as no one knew the reason therefor, and the police department was unable to give any information to constant inquiries made at headquarters.

When we remember the strained relations between capital and labor throughout the country, and how frequent strikes and riots are, and that only a short time ago the militia company here was actually called to the northern part of the county, and that only a few years ago blood was shed on our own streets, not only of laboring men but of an innocent boy, during a riot, it seems a shame and an outrage upon our citizens that such a false riot alarm should be sounded in so reckless and wanton a manner by outsiders caring nothing whatever for the peace of the city.

The police department have been instructed that in the future before paying any attention to a riot alarm sounded from elevator D that they shall inquire carefully as to the cause therefor. If the same is again falsely and wantonly sounded by that or any other elevator the police department and the fire department will be instructed to pay no attention whatever to any alarm of any kind sounded by such elevator; and I respectfully suggest to your honorable body that you pass an ordinance with severe penalties for the commission of such an act in the future.

Very respectfully,
C. D'AUTREMONT, JR.,
Mayor.

Referred to ordinance committee.

The Honorable the President and the Members of the Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:

Under and by virtue of the power in me vested I have appointed the following men to the police force of this city, subject to your approval, viz: Wm. Lynott, James Curran and Paul Blarky.

These men have been sworn in and acting as policemen for the past two or three months in order to see that they were thoroughly fit and competent before asking for their confirmation by your honorable body.

Very respectfully yours,
C. D'AUTREMONT, JR.,
Mayor.

Referred to the committee on public offices and officers.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 22, 1892.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the city of Duluth:

Gentlemen:

I wish to report to you that Fourth alley from Piedmont avenue west to Twenty-third avenue west is in a very unsanitary condition and can only be properly improved by being graded and a gutter placed on the upper side of said alley, and recommend that you order this improvement made at once.

W. G. GOFFE,
Health officer.

Referred to committee on drains and sewers.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 22, 1892.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the city of Duluth:

Gentlemen:

I would most respectfully call your attention to the fact that Second alley from Second to Fourth avenue west is in an unsanitary condition, and can only be properly improved by being graded and a sanitary sewer being put in said alley, and recommend that this improvement be made at once.

W. G. GOFFE,
Health officer.

Referred to committee on drains and sewers.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 22, 1892.

To the Honorable, the Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:

I wish to call your attention to the fact that stagnant and impure water is standing on lots 302 and 304, block 35, Second division of Duluth, which has become offensive and injurious to public health, and I would recommend that you take immediate steps towards the abatement of the same.

Office of the Board of Public Works, }
City of Duluth, Minn. Aug. 22, 1892. }

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:

The board of public works has had under consideration the resolution of the common council relative to the construction of a sanitary sewer in block 23, Third division, Duluth proper, and having investigated the proposed improvement, resectfully report:

1. That the contemplated improvement is necessary and proper.

2. That the improvement is not petitioned for by a majority of the owners to be assessed therefor.

3. That real estate can be found benefited to the extent of the damages, costs and expenses to be incurred in making the improvement.

4. That the estimated expense thereof is $1,885.50.

We transmit herewith a profile of said improvement and an order for your adoption if you desire the work done.

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:

At a meeting of the board of public works held Aug. 22, 1892, the acting city engineer submitted an estimate of work done on the contract of John Burns for the construction of a sanitary sewer in the alley between Second and Third streets, from Fourteenth avenue east to Eighteenth avenue east, amounting to $1,305.75. The estimate was approved and ordered sent to the common council.

Respectfully submitted,
T. W. ABELL,
Clerk Board of Public Works.

Referred to committee on drains and sewers.

Office of the Board of Public Works, }
City of Duluth, Minn., Aug. 22, 1892. }

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:

The board of public works has had under consideration the resolution of your honorable body, adopted Oct. 5, 1891, relative to the construction of a bridge across the ship canal on Minnesota Point at or near Lake avenue, and having investigated the proposed improvement, respectfully report:

1. That the contemplated improvement is necessary and proper.

2. That the improvement is not asked for by petition.

3. That real estate can be found benefited to the extent of the damages, costs and expenses incurred in making said improvement, but the board would recommend that two-thirds of the cost of said improvement be assessed against the property specially benefited, and the remainder paid for out of the general fund.

4. That the estimated expense thereof is $170[illegible].

We transmit herewith plan of a lift bridge designed by J. A. L. Waddell, consulting bridge engineer, which we would recommend as the best adapted to the locality, and the most suitable and economic structure as regards both construction and operation, together with an order for your adoption if you desire the construction of said bridge.

Yeas, 3. Nays, 0.

HENRY TRUELSEN,
President.

T. W. ABELL,
Clerk Board of Public Works.

Introduction and Consideration of Ordinances.

The following ordinance as amended was read the second time, and on motion of Alderman Helm was put upon its final passage and passed by the following vote:

Yeas, 12; nays, none.

By Alderman Helm:

An ordinance providing for the extension of gas and water mains in the city of Duluth.

The common council of the city of Duluth do ordain:

Section 1. That the Gas and Water company of the city of Duluth be and are hereby notified and required to extend their gas and water mains under and along the several streets and avenues of the city of Duluth, between the points hereinafter named, to wit:

In Sixteenth avenue east south from Superior street to Jefferson street 275 feet, the same to be in lieu of a former order for said mains on Jefferson street, from Fifteenth avenue east to Sixteenth avenue east.

In Superior street from Twenty-second avenue east to Twenty-sixth avenue east, thence south on Twenty-sixth avenue east to Branch street, thence east in Branch street one block to Twenty-seventh avenue east.

In Third street east from Seventeenth avenue east to Eighteenth avenue east.

Sec. 2. That said extensions be made without unreasonable delay, and in consideration of the making of the same the city of Duluth hereby agrees to pay to said Gas and Water company, in each and every year after said extensions are completed and the water turned on, the sum of fifty cents for each lineal foot of such extension on each of the streets aforesaid, said sum to be paid quarterly on the first days of January, April, July and October in each year, less any amounts received by said Gas and Water company, during such period, from the rental of hydrants and the sale of gas and water on the line of either of said extensions: Provided that said Gas and Water company at all times furnish the proper and necessary supply of gas and water required by the ordinance governing said company.

Sec. 3. This ordinance is granted on the express condition that the property owners or other persons interested, along the line of the several extensions enumerated above, indemnify, the city of Duluth, by a separate bond for each of said extensions, said bond to be approved by the common council of said city, and conditioned that the obligers named therein will pay to the city of Duluth an amount sufficient to indemnify said city for all liability it may incur to said Gas and Water company by reason of the making of such extensions.

Sec. 4. Upon the execution and approval of said bond, the common council of said city shall cause said Gas and Water company, to be notified after which it shall be the duty of said company without unreasonable delay, to commence the work of such extension for which said city may have been indemnified.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, approval and publication.

By Alderman Long:

An ordinance amending an ordinance entitled "An ordinance granting to the Duluth & Northeastern Railway and Terminal Company a right-of-way for railroad purposes over and across certain streets and highways in the city of Duluth, Minnesota," passed May 23, 1892.

Sec. 1. The common council of the city of Duluth do ordain: That an ordinance entitled "An ordinance granting to the Duluth & Northeastern Railway and Terminal Company a right-of-way for railroad purposes over and across certain streets and highways in the city of Duluth, Minnesota, passed May 23, 1892, be and the same is hereby amended as follows, to-wit:

That the seventh paragraph of section one of said ordinance be so amended as to read the "northerly half of Water street throughout its entire length through Endion division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof."

That the eighth paragraph of section one of said ordinance be so amended as to read "northerly half of Park street its entire length through Endion division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof."

That the ninth paragraph of said ordinance be so amended as to read "northerly half of Jefferson street its entire length through East Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof."

Sec. 2. That all parts of said ordinance in conflict with the amendments herein contained are hereby repealed.

Sec. 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Referred to ordinance committee.

An ordinance amending an ordinance entitled "An ordinance granting to the Duluth & Northeastern Railway and Terminal Company a right-of-way for railroad purposes over and across certain streets and highways in the city of Duluth, Minnesota," passed May 23, 1892.

Sec. 1. The common council of the city of Duluth do ordain:

That all words after the word "share" in the eleventh line of paragraph ten of said section one of said ordinance are hereby stricken out, and said tenth paragraph is hereby amended by inserting after said word "share," the following: "of a six per cent interest charge upon the actual cost of said railway construction, and also its pro rata share, upon a wheelage basis, of the actual cost of maintenance and operation of the railway construction thereon, including taxes, provided, that if the said Duluth & Northeastern Railway and Terminal Company, its successors or assigns, shall fail to construct and have ready for operation track or tracks on said portion of Railroad street as the necessities of any railroad desiring to use said Railroad street may require, within four months after notice that said trackage is required, then all rights granted hereunder to said portion of said Railroad street shall revert to the city of Duluth without further notice or action on the part of said city.

Provided further that in case the said Duluth & Northeastern and Terminal Railway Company shall construct said tracks as herein provided for, on said portion of said Railroad street, that other roads using said tracks so constructed shall have equal privileges thereon with any other road, but shall operate under the direction of the superintendent or yard master of the Duluth & Northeastern Railway and Terminal Company, provided, that all said roads shall have the right to cross said tracks at grade.

Said company shall signify its acceptance of this ordinance within 15 days after its passage.

This ordinance shall be in effect from and after its passage and publication.

In the matter of a report of the board of public works dated Aug. 22, 1892.

It is hereby ordered by the Common Council of the City of Duluth:

That the board of public works of the city of Duluth cause the following improvements to be made, to-wit:

That a sanitary sewer together with the necessary appurtenances be constructed through block 23, Third division of Duluth.

That said board cause said work to be let by contract as provided by law, and after said work shall be placed under contract said board shall proceed without delay to assess 75 per cent of the amount as nearly as it can ascertain the same which will be required to pay the costs and necessary expenses of such improvement, including ten (10) per cent upon the amount which shall be added to the assessment to defray necessary expenses of making survey, plans, specifications and superintendence upon the real estate, to be benefitted by said improvement, as near as may be to the benefit resulting thereto, as provided by law. It being the opinion of the council that real estate to be assessed for such improvement can be found benefitted to the extent of cost and expenses necessary to be incurred thereby. If the amount so assessed shall be insufficient to complete the work, then, after the completion of said work the board of public works is hereby ordered to make a final assessment in the same manner as hereinbefore described to pay for the same.

Hosiery and Corsets

AT RARE BARGAINS.

LADIES do you realize that when you buy of the retailer, you are paying three unnecessary profits? The manufacturer sells to the commission house, the latter to the jobber, and the jobber in turn sells to the retail merchant. You must pay the manufacturer a profit first, and then pay each of the subsequent handlers a profit, not infrequently paying two profits to the retailer. The is a responsible syndicate which sells direct to the consumer. By investing in manufacturers' samples and the stocks of insolvent manufacturers, in connection with our regular commission holdings, we are able to sell to the consumer direct at the commission price, which is but one remove from the manufacturer's.

We offer the following bargains in hosiery: Ladies' extra length, full regular made, fast black and seamless hose, very fine guage, (retailing everywhere at 50 cents) we will sell at 23 cents per pair in quantities of one-half dozen, or for $1.38.

This exceptional offer is made merely to introduce our name in your section. Send 15 cents additional and we will prepay express charges at special rates secured by us for the benefit of our patrons.

We are positively offering as a leader the cheapest corset for the money in the world,

The Jenness Tailor-Made Corset is made of heaviest drab jeans, with patent strips of gold. Made like a glove-fitting corset; boned with unbreakable stays. Has double busk and side steels. Is retailed everywhere at $1.50 and in remote sections at very much more. Our price is only 83 cents.

Send 15 cents additional to prepay express charges. Mention sizes desired in ordering hosiery or corsets. We will positively refund money if goods are not satisfactory and just as represented.

Orders must be accompanied by cash in either money-order, postal note, stamps or registered letters, addressed to the

WAS SMOTHERED.

Charles Sexton's Neck Was Not Broken as Was First Reported.

Fell Face Downward Into the Mud and His Horse Rolled Over on Him.

His Body is Brought to Duluth Accompanied by His Wife.

The body of Charles Sexton, killed yesterday near Merritt, was brought to this city today by Undertaker Crawford and was at once taken to Durkan's. It was shipped in a solid box of ice. His neck was not broken as announced yesterday, but the inquest conducted at Merritt by Dr. Dunham showed that the deceased was smothered to death by falling from his horse face downward in a pool of soft mud, the horse afterwards rolling on him.

He leaves a wife and one child about 2 years old, and was in quest of a nurse for his wife, who was momentarily expecting confinement, when the accident happened. Mrs. Sexton and child came down on the Iron Range train with the body. The place of interment has not yet been decided upon, and may be at Duluth, or near Windsor, Ont., his former home. He leaves his family in moderate circumstances. He was a hard-working, conscientious explorer, and was trusted implicitly by everyone who had any dealings with him. The effect of the shock on Mrs. Sexton may be very severe.

RUMORS OF WAR.

They Strengthened the Wheat Market in the Last Hour.

A dull market prevailed at the opening today with weakening prices. The principal demand early was for futures. Considerable track wheat changed hands at prices unchanged from yesterday. News generally in the day was bearish and this market eased off considerably in sympathy with other markets. Late news strengthened the market somewhat and there was a slight gain in prices. The session after noon was quite dull except just at the close, when December and track wheats had considerable activity. The market strengthened considerably in the last half hour on advices of Russian aggression in Afghanistan and rumors of war. The close was steady and irregular at ¼ to ½c advance on yesterday's figures. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 80¼c; August, 80¼c; September, 80c; December, 81¼c. No. 1 northern, cash 76¼c; August, 76¼c; September, 76½c; December, 78c. No. 2 northern, cash 71¼c. No. 3, 60c. Rejected, 50c. On track, No. 1 hard, 80½c; No. 1 northern, 78½c.

Car nspection today, 43. Receipts—Wheat, 28,402 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 13,924 bus. Cars on track, 35; last year, 49.

Outside Markets.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The close: Wheat: September. 75½@⅝c; October, 76⅝c; May, 83⅞c. Corn, September, 52⅛c; October, 52⅛c; May 53⅛c. Oats, September, 34⅜@½c; October, 34½c; May, 37½c. Pork, September, $10 55; October, $10.62½; January, $12.20. Lard, eptember, $7.65; October, $7.67½; January, $7.

MINERS BURIED

An Explosion Probably Causing Enormous Loss of Life has Occurred in Wales.

One Hundred and Forty-one Miners Have Been Entrapped in a Coal Pit.

Scenes at the Pit's Mouth by Women and Children Were Most Distressing.

The Work of Rescue Progressing, but it is Feared That All Have Perished.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—An explosion which, it is feared, may be attended by enormous loss of life, has occurred at Bridgend in the county of Glamorgan, Wales. One hundred and forty-one miners are entrapped in a coal pit, owing to an explosion which shattered the galleries by which they could have made their exit, and nothing is known of their fate. When the explosion took place a volume of coal dust arose from the mouth of the pit and this, along with the rumbling noise, gave notice to the inhabitants that something serious had occurred.

Women and children rushed to the mouth of the pit crying and waiting for the fathers, husbands and brothers below. The scenes at the pit's mouth were most distressing, and efforts were at once made to reach the entombed miners and ascertain the extent of the calamity. These efforts so far have proved unsuccessful, and the indications are that the explosion may have destroyed every life in the mine.

The managers have called on men from neighboring collieries to assist in the work of rescue and the most strenuous exertions are being made to open a way to the unfortunates below. In several instances women have gone frantic over the suspense, and some of them have insisted on taking part in the work. Many hundreds of spectators have assembled from all directions and work is at a standstill in the vicinity, so great and general is the anxiety to ascertain whether those in the mine are alive or not.

THE STRIKE NOT ENDED.

Rebellion in the Switchmen's Order Against Sweeney.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 26.—There is rebellion in the Switchmen's order against Grand Master Sweeney. His authority is denied and his mandates are unheeded. The men have found a new leader in the person of Vice Grand Master Barrett, of Chicago, and while Mr. Sweeney nurses his wounds in his hotel and says the strike is off the men say it is not and that they will win yet.

The result of the internal dissension was chiefly noticeable last night on the Lackawanna road. When the strike was declared off the Lackawanna men went to work, but when it was declared on again they quit and left the yards. So far as most of the other roads are concerned the men who went out have been compelled to stay out, their places having been filled. When the strike was declared off the Lackawanna men went to work and manned the engines but they remained only a short time. Last night the engines were idle and for a time this morning it was doubtful if they would be running today. The men have decided to go back to their old places and about 11 o'clock this morning they again went to work.

Mr. Barrett this morning declined to be interviewed but said that the strike was not off. He has appointed a committee to prepare him a statement of the exact condition of affairs here and this committee will report today. He said: "I intend to stay here until victory is won." Mr. Barrett's stay under this condition will likely be a protracted one. The roads are all doing full work and can be said to be in a normal condition.

The Manitoba Schools.

ROME, Aug. 26.—The congregation of the propaganda has requested the French government to protest to Great Britain against the closing of Catholic schools in Manitoba. The request is made on the ground of the rights guaranteed to the French Catholics of Canada when that country was annexed by Great Britain, the Roman Catholics of Manitoba being largely of French descent.

Several People Injured.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 26.—Pandemonium reigned in a crowded express train at Union station about 10 o'clock this morning. While the Pullman cars were being attached to the express on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago railway, control was lost of them and they rushed into a standing section of the train, throwing the passengers in all directions and smashing platforms and windows a great rate. A number of passengers were quite severely injured.

Hal Pointer Won.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 26.—It took six heats to decide the match between Hal Pointer and Direct. Yesterday each horse took two heats and at 1:30 this afternoon they paced a dead heat in 2:14¼. Hal Pointer won the next heat and the race in 2:11¼.

That Stolen Proof.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—Interviews have been held with the foreign editors of the two leading Catholic papers here regarding the Archbishop Ireland memorial question. They did not seem to give any credit to the story of the stolen proof, and say that Archbishop Ireland made a very good impression here.

DULUTH'S BRIEF FIELD.

Reply to the Minneapolis Charge of Discrimination.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—W. W. Billson, attorney for the board of trade, chamber of commerce and jobbers' union of Duluth, in the Minneapolis grain rate discriminating case, yesterday filed his brief with the interstate commerce commission, setting forth that city's side of the controversy.

Mr. Billson's argument is what was expected from the Duluth standpoint. He shows from the evidence adduced that Minneapolis is not unjustly treated. He submits that any order for the relief of the petitioners which they desire will derange the relative natural status of all other millers doing business in Wisconsin or Minnesota.

No charity can extend relief to Minneapolis, he says, without visiting misfortune and discrimination upon Milwaukee, Winona, La Crosse and a score of other milling points whose interests and prosperity are no less entitled to protection than those of Minneapolis millers. He makes out a very strong case in support of the existing rates and shows that they are not discriminating against Minneapolis but are justified by Duluth's geographical position.

MORLEY WAS RE-ELECTED.

Mr. Gladstone's Irish Secretary Victorious at the Polls.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Right Hon. John Morley, chief secretary for Ireland, has been re-elected at Newcastle-on-Tyne by 12,983 votes to 11,344 votes for Pandeli Ralli, candidate of the Conservatives and Liberal-Unionists.

In the general election when one Conservative and two Liberal candidates were in the field, Newcastle having two members, the vote was as follows: Alderman Hamond, Conservative, 13,823; John Morley, Liberal, 10,905; J. Craig, Liberal, 10,686. It will thus be seen that Mr. Morley narrowly escaped defeat in the general election.

The result of yesterday leaves Newcastle represented as before, by Hamond, Conservative, and Morley, Liberal, and saves Mr. Gladstone from the humiliation of having one of his cabinet officers rejected at the polls.

KILLED ALL THE GANG.

A Colorado Man Has Wiped Out the Brock Gang.

GRAND JUNCTION, Col., Aug. 26.—Passengers from the West yesterday brought additional particulars of the shooting of the Brock gang near West Water, Utah, Wednesday. The names of the men killed are Charles O. Brock, Charles A. Dusel and Wm. Miller. The story of Davis is that he discovered that some property had been stolen from his house and an unsuccessful attempt made to set the house on fire.

He suspected the Brock gang, and with a lad named Grant started to trace the stolen goods and demand their return or pay for the same. They finally brought up at the Brock cabin. They were met at the door by Dusel, who attacked Davis with a club, while Miller shot at him through the window. Davis killed Dusel and mortally wounded Miller.

He then started away from the place and met Brock. The result was a fight, in which Brock was killed. This is the Davis story. There is no person left to tell the story of the other side. Davis left West Water yesterday to surrender himself.

A Hotel Burned.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 25.—Specials from Asheville state that at midnight last night the Hotel Belmont at Sulphur Springs, five miles from Asheville, was burned. The guests escaped without injury though many lost personal property. The hotel cost over $100,000 and was owned by Northern capitalists.

The Tennessee Troubles.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 26.—Governor Buchanan, who has been confined to his bed by sickness for a week was able to go to the capitol last night. It is supposed that he will at once take up the matter of the mining troubles in East Tennessee. The trial of the rioters in Marion county will begin in a few days.

Sprinkling is Needed.

During the president torn up condition of Lake avenue, which will probably continue for a couple of months, public comfort and convenience would be considered if a copious sprinkling of St. Croix avenue was ordered. The street is now used for all the heavy travel and is frightfully dusty.

The Asiatic Cholera has Arrived in England on a Steamer From Hamburg

Minn Hist'l Society

The Bad News has Created Great Consternation and Excitement in London.

Many More Cases Reported in Russia and the Deaths on the Increase.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Asiatic cholera has arrived in England. The steamer Gemma from Hamburg has entered at Gravesend, bringing several cases of the plague. Two women on the steamer have died from the cholera and another victim, a man, is improving. The news has caused great consternation at Gravesend and excitement in London. The steamer Laura, which arrived at Lynn-Regis today from Hamburg, had two persons sick on board, suspected of cholera. The health officers of Lynn refused to allow the steamer to enter port and compelled it to put back to sea.

Yesterday, according to the official returns, there were 6322 new cases of cholera in Russia against 5670 on Wednesday. Yesterday there were 2997 deaths reported against 2743 for Wednesday. In St. Petersburg there were reported yesterday 103 new cases and 24 deaths.

The cholera continues to grow in virulence at Hamburg. Eight hundred cases were recorded yesterday, many of the victims having been seized but a few hours before they perished. The total number of deaths was 140.

Another Resignation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26.—Professor Henry Crew, of Lick observatory, has resigned. He will take the chair of physics at the Northwestern university. His is the third resignation from the Lick observatory within a few months.

Receiver Appointed.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—District Attorney George Graham was today appointed receiver of the Iron Hall for the state of Pennsylvania by Judge Bregy.

THE TRESTLE FELL.

Three Coal Dock Employes Injured This Morning.

About 11:45 o'clock this morning the city ambulance was called to the landing opposite the Northwestern Fuel company's dock No. 2, where three men had been injured by the fall of a trestle. The men were engaged in unloading the steamer J. E. Owen and were going from the boat with a car of coal. The accident happened on the new trestle, but was largely due to the carelessness of the men who allowed their car to become derailed by striking a piece of coal, just where two stringers of the trestle join, and the car crashed through the trestle to the coal piles underneath. John Rehnberg was severely bruised about the legs and right foot; Alex Johnson had his arm cut and was bruised about the body, while another man, a new comer, whose name has not yet been learned, was severely cut about the head. The two last were taken to St. Mary's hospital, while Rehnberg was taken to his home on Rice's Point. Dr. Boyer says none of the injuries will prove fatal or permanent.

AN IMPORTANT EVENT.

Arrival of the First Car of Ore to Be Celebrated.

The arrival of the first car of ore from the Mesaba range over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway will be an event of unusual significance and will not be allowed to pass unnoticed in Duluth. Maj. Baldwin has called a meeting of the chamber of commerce for 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and members of the stock exchange, jobbers' union and citizens generally are invited to attend.

The manufactuters are particularly impressed with the idea of celebrating the event and it is proposed to have a grand industrial parade in which all the manufactories of Duluth will participate.

SEPTEMBER JURORS.

Municipal Court Jury List for Next Month's Term.

The following jurors have been drawn for the September terms of the municipal court, commencing Sept. 6:

John Coventry, A. T. Crossley, Wm. Kennedy, Leonard Keller, C. A. Field, Chas. S. Eppling, H. R. Fish, F. L. Engberg, Robt. L. Ettinger, Chas. Manning, Jas. F. Dacey, John C. Crowley, Fred N. La Salle, Ray T. Lewis, James Cullyford, Wm. N. Prindle, Wm. Lynn, August Fleer, John Lowry, Alex. Fraser, D. K. Pearson, W. F. Gorrie, J. A. Cleveland, W. J. Carmichael.

Elected Directors.

Ten directors of the stock exchange were elected this morning in accordance with the resolution adopted last Wednesday. Those chosen were: One year term—A. C. Otis, Franklin Payne, Owen Fargusson, E. G. Swanstrom; two year term—W. E. Worden, R. A. Taussig, D. H. Stevenson; three year—P. B. Crosby, — Ammerman, B. G. Segog. Seventy-five votes were cast.

Improving the Boulevard.

The board of park commissioners are putting in considerable work on the boulevard in the vicinity of Miller's creek at the West end. Gutters have been put in, the road surfaced with gravel and very much improved. After this work is completed the entire crew will be moved to the East end in the vicinity of Chester creek where considerable work will be done.

THE ODD FELLOWS

The Handsome Home for Indigents Built by the Order at Worcester, Mass.

The Flourishing Condition of the Pythian Sisters' Order in the Western States.

New Law by the Knights of Honor in Relation to Paying Assessments.

The home for indigent Odd Fellows, Worcester, is a substantially built structure of brick and granite, situated on high ground. Near by is Dodge park, owned by the city, and in the rear is Odd Fellows' park, from which a fine view of the surrounding country may be had. The site is well chosen. The home consists of a main structure, 100 by 40 feet, and an L, 50 by 40 feet, separated by a fireproof wall. The building is three stories in height, with a steep roof and dormer windows, and has a massive central tower twenty feet square, with turrets at each corner. The capstone of the window of the second story front is a block of granite, upon which appears in raised letters the words "Odd Fellows' Home." High upon the tower are the three emblematic links of the order cut in granite. Granite steps lead up to a veranda 44 by 12 feet, from which double doors of quartered oak open into a tiled vestibule 8 by 17 feet. Over the entrance is a stained glass window in three divisions, bearing the emblems of the order, the three links, the beehive and dove, and the tent, emblematic of the subordinate, the Rebekah and the encampment degrees. There are in all about thirty chambers in the building, and there are ample bath and toilet rooms for men and women on each floor.

The lodges of Oregon have assets aggregating over $400,000.

The grand lodge of British Columbia instructed its representatives to the sovereign grand lodge to vote for the eighteen-year amendment.

The order of Odd Fellows was first introduced into New Hampshire on the 11th of September, 1843. The initial lodge, Granite, No. 1, was organized at Nashua.

There are 9 lodges in North Carolina that have but one past grand.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Flourishing Condition of the Pythian Sisters in the West—Helmet Glints.

The condition of the Pythian Sisters' order in Indiana may be seen from the following report read to the grand lodge: Number of temples Dec. 31, 1890, 32; instituted during the year, 20; active number of temples Dec. 31, 1891, 51. Membership Dec. 31, 1890, active, 2,102; honorary, 1,408; Dec. 31, 1891, active, 1,959; honorary, 1,282; total, 3,241. Cash assets Dec. 31, 1891, $1,046.26.

Scandia lodge, Boston, presented its retiring master of exchequer, Peter V. Ludy, with a handsome gold mounted cane, suitably engraved.

South Dakota has 31 lodges, with a membership of 1,450.

Alabama has 93 lodges, with a membership of 6,107.

Georgia made a gain of 7 new lodges in nine weeks.

Mrs. Andrew G. Anderson, wife of Knight Andrew G. Anderson, who lost his life in trying to save others from the late flood at Sioux City, was presented a lot in that city by Knight S. T. Davis.

Illinois has 59 divisions of the U. R. in seven regiments.

Efforts are being made by the K. of P.'s of Hot Springs, Ark., to have a Knights of Pythias sanitarium located at that city.

The wealthiest lodge in Ohio is Douglass, No. 21, of Cincinnati, their cash value being $23,592.36.

A grand temple of the Order of Pythian Sisters for Illinois was instituted by supreme chief, Mrs. Ida M. Weaver, at Decatur.

Myrtle Temple, No. 11, Pythian Sisters, at Tripoli, Ia., is among the flourishing temples in Iowa.

RED MEN.

Chiefs of the Great Council of Maine. Along the Trail.

At the recent session of the great council of Maine the following chiefs were elected and raised up: Great prophet, Walter S. Bailey; great sachem, A. L. Stephenson; great senior sagamore, W. E. St. John; great junior sagamore, O. A. Tuell; great sannap, H. G. Starr; great mishinawa, H. D. Maxwell; great guard of wigwam, H. B. Seal; great-guard of forest, Moses Tait: representative of G. C. of United States, W. S. Bailey.

The national Chieftains' league has had circulars printed explanatory of the objects and aims of the Chieftains' league, copies of which can be had upon application to the supreme recorder.

Pennsylvania pays one-fourth of the per capita tax received by the great council of the United States.

Oppomanyhook tribe, No. 302, of Bethlehem, Pa., claims to own the handsomest banner in the state.

Twenty of the 27 new tribes organized in Indiana the past fiscal Great sun have added 1,363 members to the order of that state.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

The New Law Does Not Affect Those Who Were Members Prior to July 1.

All members who joined the order prior to July 1 continue paying assessments at the same rate as heretofore. The new law does not affect any who were members prior to that date. If a member who was such prior to July 1 becomes suspended and is afterward reinstated he is restored to the same rate of assessment and will pay accordingly.

Grand Dictator T. W. Sherwood, of Louisiana, appears to be a worthy successor of the active men who have preceded him in that position. He is a worker.

Past Grand Dictator George W. Dowe, of Port Jervis, N. Y., has been appointed commander in chief of the uniformed rank.

Ohio has raised the per capita tax to $1.

MASONIC.

Proposed Congress in Chicago Next Year—Notes.

Nearly all the American grand lodges acting upon the matter of a fraternal congress at Chicago in 1893 are sending delegates.

The Indiana grand lodge indorsed the proposition to hold a Masonic congress in Chicago next year and appointed 6 delegates, including the grand master, to attend it.

In Kentucky "payment of dues to the time a member was suspended for nonpayment will remove his suspension and restore him to membership without any action by his lodge."

The grand Royal Arch chapter of West Virginia has become a constituent of the general grand Royal Arch chapter of the United States, which now includes all jurisdictions except Pennsylvania and Virginia.

In ninety-two years there have been 218,931 initiations into Freemasonry in the grand lodge of Scotland.

The Scottish Rite cathedral of Kansas City is said to be the finest between New York and San Francisco.

The grand lodge of Indian Territory, learning that a good and zealous brother had died leaving a mortgage of $145 on his farm, appropriated that sum out of the grand lodge funds to lift the mortgage.

In Nebraska a Mason nonaffiliated for ninety days has no rights whatever excepting only the right to petition for membership in a chartered lodge.

If it is worth while to be a Mason, it is worth while to live up to your obligations.

Excelsior consistory of Pennsylvania has taken $10,000 worth of stock in the new Camden Masonic home.

A brother in Shelby lodge, No. 38, of Indiana, was refused a dimit after his dues were all paid, and he appealed to the grand lodge, which ordered the lodge to issue the dimit.

In England a dispensation to wear Masonic clothing does not include the clothing of the R. A. It is considered very undesirable that Masonic clothing of an order other than the craft should be worn on public occasions, and permission is therefore never given.

A. O. U. W.

Echoes of the Supreme Lodge Session. Annuity for Bro. H. B. Hickox.

Evidently the citizens of Helena do not have a supreme lodge session often. One public spirited citizen invested about $1,500 in souvenirs for the members of the supreme lodge, who doubtless will cherish them as valuable mementos of the occasion. The social features of the supreme lodge were very marked, and more ladies were present than ever before.

The supreme lodge refused to confer the honor of past grand master workman on grand recorders and grand receivers who had served three years. The proposition to exclude coal miners and railroad men of extra hazardous occupations from membership was left optional with grand lodges.

Ontario calls but 1 assessment for July, out of which, with the surplus on hand, she pays 24 claims.

The brethren of Ontario are going to do a graceful thing—purchase an annuity for good old Bro. Henry B. Hickox, founder of the order in the province, that his remaining years may be comfortable and free from pecuniary annoyance.

The Select Knights is a fraternal beneficiary order, organized on the military plan, for the purpose of fraternity and benevolence.

Consumption, the great and dreaded destroyer of human life, carried off 403 members of the order last year.

The degree of honor in Nebraska is soon to be set apart as a separate beneficiary jurisdiction.

The membership in Missouri on the 1st day of July was somewhat smaller than it was on the 1st day of June, owing to the fact that there was an unusual number of suspensions.

American Legion of Honor.

The order holds in municipal bonds $300,000.

The order has invested in real estate $85,060.

The invested emergency fund is $609,537.66, held to guarantee benefits.

The amount of benefits paid is running up to the $21,000,000 mark.

One of the hustlers of the order who is admired for his sterling qualities is D. D. G. C. M. Adler.

Members are guaranteed it shall cost them no more than 18 assessments for the first two years.

As straws show which way the current is running, so the orders patterning after the A. L. of H. show the tendency of sentiment.

The supreme council has taken possession of their new building in Boston. The building is to be solely occupied by the officers of the A. L. of H. It is one of the handsomest edifices in the Hub.

Fraternal Miscellany.

The insurance in force in New York state of the B'nai B'rith is nearly $8,000,000.

The supreme council of the Order of United Fellowship has abolished the $1 registration fee.

Pennsylvania has over 600 camps of the Patriotic Order of Sons of America.

The expense of carrying $1,000 insurance in the National Provident union in 1891 for a person under thirty years of age was $7.35, and for a person forty-four years of age was $13.65.

The Empire Mutual Aid has a total insurance in this state of about $4,000,000.

Royal Arcanum.

The Royal Arcanum hall of Rochester is considered one of the finest in the state.

Brooklyn has 40 councils and about 10,000 members.

Grand Regent Wescott received as compensation for the past year $1,200.

The next session of the grand council of this state will be held at Niagara Falls.

The grand officers furnish bonds as follows: G. R., to the amount of $1,000; G. S., $5,000; G. T., $10,000.

Improved Order Heptasophs.

The I. O. H. seems to be following in the footsteps of its history of 1891, when they had six assessments to July 1, and only three assessments from July to January, a record equaled by no sister organization.

Bro. William F. Fuller, of Eden conclave, No. 60, of Baltimore, is the winner of the diamond emblem offered by Supreme Provost M. G. Cohen. The charm is now being made and will shortly be presented.

WANT HIGHER WAGES.

Operators on the Baltimore & Ohio Road Demand an Increase.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 26.—The telegraph operators employed by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in Baltimore, and who are members of division 17 of the Order of Railroad Telegraph Operators of the United States, have submitted a schedule to the company for an advance in wages.

The schedule asks for an increase from $50 per month to $65 for the operators employed in the general offices, and an increase of from $45 per month to $50 to the men in the block stations. It is stated that the company is willing to compromise on half they asked for, but the operators are not satisfied.

The new schedule is to go into effect on Sept. 1. It is claimed by the operators of division 17 that if they strike, a general strike of railroad operat rs will follow.

A SCANDAL AT ROME.

The Papal Funds Have Been Misappropriated.

ROME, Aug. 26.—Great excitement has been caused by the dismissal of Cardinal Ruggiero, prefect of financial affairs of the propaganda, and who has been looked upon by many as the probable successor of Pope Leo XIII. It is said that the pope himself ordered Ruggiero's dismissal, being convinced, as a result of inquiry, that Ruggiero and not Monsignor Folchi was the real mutinous party in connection with the mis-investments, to use a mild term, for which Monsignor Folchi was dismissed from the papal service about one year ago.

The dismissal of Folchi was brought about, it is said, by Cardinal Ruggiero. Folchi was vice chamberlain to the pope and had control of the papal funds. There is great excitement in financial circles, it being believed that a tremendous scandal is awaiting disclosure.

WHAT DID SHE MEAN?

Suspicious Remarks Made by Lizzie Borden.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—A special to the World from Fall River says that Miss Lizzie Borden was visited by her sister Emma yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Regan, the police matron, was present during the interview. When Lizzie saw her sister she waived her away, saying: "You gave me away, Emma, did you not?" and turned her back upon her sister.

"No, Lizzie, I only told Mr. Jennings what he ought to know for your defense," answered the girl. Lizzie turned and replied, in a voice embittered with suppressed passion: "That is false. You have given me away and I know it, but remember, I will not give in one inch; never, never, that is all I care to say to you."

With tears in her eyes and almost choking with sobs, Emma left her sister.

WAS A CASE OF MURDER.

Suspicions of Foul Play in the Supposed Railway Fatality at Crookston.

CROOKSTON, Minn., Aug. 26.—The body of a man was found dead beside the Northern Pacific track near Freeman Tuesday morning. It was first reported he was struck by a train, but later developments indicated that he was murdered.

The body was taken to East Grand Forks, where an inquest is being held. His name or residence is not yet known, but he is supposed to be some harvest hand.

Dan is Improving.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Ex-Collector Chas. Davis, who returned from Switzerland yesterday, said Col. Lamont was very much improved in health and was able to ride and drive, and the two gentlemen spent a great deal of time together seeing the sights. Col. Lamont will return to this country next month.

Destroyed by Fire.

MONTREAL, Aug. 26.—The Metropolitan rolling mills, nail, spike and horseshoe works, owned by Abbott & Co. were completely destroyed by fire last evening. The loss is estimated at $125,000, and is said to be fairly well covered by insurance.

Fifteen People Drowned.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—A despatch from Calcutta says that the Anchor line steamer Anglia, bound from Calcutta to London, capsized in the Hooghly river on the way to the sea, and of forty-seven persons on board fifteen were drowned.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Admitted the Facts.

Newspaper editors have to be very careful in opening their columns for statements. But aware that the Dr. Miles Medical Co. are responsible, we make room for the following testimonial from R. McDougall, Auburn, Ind., who for two years noticed a stoppage or skipping of the pulse, his left side got so tender he could not lie on it, his heart fluttered, he was alarmed, went to different doctors, found no relief, but one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure cured him. The elegant book, "New and Startling Facts," free at all druggists. It tells all about Heart and Nervous Diseases, and many wonderful cures.

Found After Many Years.

A Well Known Duluth Citizen Finds the Object of His Search.

Mr. John A. Olson, 1004 Garfield avenue, Duluth, says: "For a number of years I have been troubled with a complication of difficulties which is not easy for me to describe. I would have severe pains in my stomach, side and back, could not rest at night and would get up in the morning feeling worn out and unfit for the duties of the day. My appitite was poor and what I did eat seemed to make me feel worse. I lost in flesh and became weak, nervous and despondent.

"The doctors failed to give me any relief and patent medicines done me no good. After reading the statements of some persons who had been treated by Dr. Speer & Co., I called at their office in the New York block, West Superior. They located my trouble and described my feelings better than I could do it myself. I commenced their treatment and in less than three weeks my disagreable symptoms have left me. The pains are gone, I eat and sleep well, am gaining in flesh and strength. The nervous and despondent feelings have disappeared and I feel like a new man in every respect. I feel very grateful for the benefit I have received and can not too highly recommend Dr. Speer & Co. for what they have done for me."

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it? To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for family uses. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furbish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

HIS OWN HISTORY

Candidate Ewing, of Michigan, Gives an Account of His Life and Doings.

The People's Party Nominee for Governor is a Farmer With Enterprising Ideas.

Three Remarkable Summers When it Was Almost as Cold as in Winter.

John W. Ewing, of Grand Ledge, Mich., the People's party nominee for governor in that state, was born in New York, and gives the following account of himself:

"I am forty-five years old and am a farmer. I reside on the farm upon which I started when a young man, and to which I have added and improved as the years have rolled by. I am one of those silo or ensilage cranks, having used one for four years, and would not winter stock without it. I believe in being in the front rank in my avocation as well as in other things. My former political affiliations were with the Republican party. I voted for Peter Cooper and have been with the reform element since that time. I have been elected supervisor of Oneida township, Eaton county, for ten years continuously, and have been the chairman of the board of supervisors for the last two years.

"I represented Eaton county before the state board of equalization in 1891. I have held other minor offices, justice of the peace, etc., in my township, and have been one of the directors of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company of Barry and Eaton counties for fifteen years. I have made one canvass for the legislature on the reform ticket and one for judge of probate against a large Republican majority and came out ahead of my ticket in both instances, although beaten."

Mr. Ewing might have added that he is a widower with five children and is comfortably well off in the goods of the world.

Three Remarkable Summers.

There have been three summers in the United States in which there was scarcely a month in which the temperature would not have been more appropriate to winter than to "the season when voluptuous nature surrenders her treasures to the wanton hand of man." The most notable of these inappropriate summers was in 1816, in which year January and February were warm and springlike. March was cold and stormy. Vegetation had gotten well along in April when real winter set in. Snow and sleet fell on seventeen different days in May. In June there was either frost or snow every night but three. The snow was five inches deep for several days in succession in the interior of New York and from ten inches to three feet in Vermont and Maine. July was cold and frosty; ice formed as thick as window panes in every one of the New England states. August was still worse; ice formed nearly an inch in thickness and killed nearly every green thing in the United States.

In the spring of 1817 corn, which had been kept over from the crop of 1815, sold for from five to ten dollars a bushel, the buyers purchasing for seed. On May 10, 1839, snow fell to the depth of a foot in Jamestown, Va., and was piled up in huge drifts in most of the northern states. There was snow in many parts of Iowa and Illinois on May 11, 1878, and again as late as May 23, 1882.

A Bad Place for Piano Players.

Piano playing, especially by beginners, is not regarded as being at all amusing, or even bearable by every one, and in some places "practicing" is not permitted if the windows be left open. Such conduct is penal in Ems, Germany, where the municipality has issued a decree forbidding any one to "play the piano in a room with open windows" under penalty of a heavy fine. "In a health resort," states the decree, "it is especially necessary not to annoy one's neighbors."

LITERARY LUMINARIES.

Mrs. Humphry Ward's new novel will not be finished for two years.

It is announced that Zola is collecting material for a new novel which will have to do with the pilgrimages to Lourdes.

Walter Besant, the English novelist, was intended by his parents for a career in the church, but he drifted naturally into literary work.

Mrs. Isabel Mallon is judged to be the best paid writer of her sex in this country. Her Bab letters are printed in eighty newspapers each week. She is a Baltimore woman, a widow, still young, and her home is now in New York.

Francois Coppee, who has been called the French Tennyson, is unmarried and leads a quiet life of study in a quaint old house in the Latin quarter of Paris. He works very slowly, producing comparatively little in the course of a year.

Too Much.

He had wealth that was unlimited,
But there never was a strife
Among the girls to capture him,
For he ate pie with his knife.
—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A Rapid Growth.

She—Do you notice how rapidly the city is growing?

He—Yes, indeed. I owe twice as many people as I did a year ago.—Brooklyn Life.

THE JEWEL CASKET.

Small pearls are recovering a lost popularity.

A carnation of colored enamel is a chat elaine pin.

Colored pearls are very fashionable, but they must be large.

Liquor sets of ruby glass with gilt filigree mountings are new.

Perforated silver boxes are for everything but cigars and cigarettes.

Chaffing fruit dishes of silver mounted on tripod shaped legs richly chased are elegant in design.

A new smoking set is of highly polished silver, perfectly simple in form and with a raised silver edge.

There is a fancy for large semiprecious stones, such as fine colored topazes and aquamarines as pendants.

Feathers and aigrets for the hair are worn more than ever for full dress and are mounted on gold hairpins.

A calendar and card counters shaped like an egg with a gilt head breaking through the top seems to be a favorite design.

Hoop earrings, alternate diamonds and sapphires or emeralds, keep their hold with people who like considerable accent in dress.

The silver sleeve buttons of summer show a tendency toward plaids of enamel. Scotch plaids in all things are showing new signs of conquest.

A new watch chatelaine pin is a griffin or other mediæval bird with wings outspread as in brass candlesticks. It holds a sword with a jeweled head.

Collar and cuff boxes of silver are in pretty new designs. These have round polished bodies and chased borders. Within they are lined with colored silks.

Bottles for salt have come to be indispensable, or so regarded. They are glass with metal tops. There is scarcely any limit to the luxury expended on these.

An old treatment is revived in jeweled designs set in amethysts and turquoise. A necklace seen was a fine gold thread with pendants of amethysts inclosing tiny spriglike designs.

There has been a disposition to introduce flowers as chatelaine pins, but with poor success. The conventionalized flower-de-luce is popular, but bowknots and twisted gold wires prevail.

The V shaped gown has led to the introduction of a new gold necklace. This is a network of gold, each of the outer intersections having a tiny round bead pendant. It is three cornered, the point falling into the opening of the gown. The network lies against the neck and the effect is charming.—Jewelers' Circular.

DOCTORS' SIGNS.

The first thing that strikes the eye on a prescription is a sign like a big R with a long tail. This stands for the word "recipe," and means, being addressed to the dispenser, "take thou;" that is, "provide thyself with the articles which follow."

When the drugs have been ordered and the water sufficient to dissolve them—generally a considerable quantity—there is seen a large M with a line drawn through it. This stands for "Misce ut fiat mistura," or, in other language, "Mix these ingredients so that they may form a mixture."

Next the instructions as to how the patient is to take the medicine are given. They may run thus, "S. c. m. II. 4 h." This, being interpreted, signifies, Sumat, let him—i. e., the patient—take, cochlearia duo, two large or tablespoonfuls—f stands for quartis and h. for horis—together, every four hours.

Sometimes may be seen "Ft. hst. p. r. n. s." "Ft." means that "hst," or haustus, a draft, may be formed. "P. r. n." imply Pro re nata, as the occasion may be born: in simpler words, when required. "S." is sumendus, i.e., to be taken.

A draft ordered to be taken at bedtime would be prescribed "h. s. s." The first two letters mean hora somni, or at the hour of sleep. The second s. is sumendus again.

Physicians use many idioms. For instance, "ex lacte" means in milk. "Ex aqua sumenda," to be taken in water. "Tusse urgente" (ablative absolute), when the cough is troublesome. "Mistura ad tussim" is a mixture for a cough.—Boston Herald.

ELECTRIC SPARKS.

A patent has been issued for a lock which can be operated by a magnetized key.

The first electric light was the invention of Stalte and Petrie in 1846, but scores of men have since made improvements and adapted it to popular use.

Tests recently made at Cornell university show aluminium has no very marked influence upon the magnetic conductivity of cast iron, but slightly decreases its permeability.

As compared with gas illumination the advantages of electricity on health is the result of two things—in the first place the electric light does not draw on the oxygen, and in the second place it gives off no noxious gases.

Milan is said to be the best lighted city on the Continent. Milan has two large central stations equipped with American machinery. The wires, instead of being carried along the streets on poles, are suspended from brackets placed under the eaves of the houses.

During the jubilee at Buda-Pesth on the twenty-fifth anniversary of the crowning of King Franz Josef I a bank of incandescent lamps, representing the monarch's initials, arranged on a scaffold 100 feet wide and 65 feet high, which was mounted on a high building, was visible for 2½ miles.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

Miss Elizabeth Boyce is the only young woman who takes the Columbia college B. A. degree this year.

"The system is radically faulty and ineffective." That is what a New York school commissioner has to say of the scheme of public education in that city.

Dr. Edward Eggleston, the novelist, has just been appointed an associate professor at Columbia college and will begin next fall a series of lectures upon colonial life and literature.

The Manual Training school at Cambridge, Mass., has already been compelled to demand additional space in order to make its accommodations adequate, although it has been established only a short time.

In Kentucky the public school teachers are not paid a fixed salary, but receive so much for each pupil. The plan has one good effect, that of stimulating teachers to secure scholars and thus extend the benefits of education, but some have been found making false returns.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH

Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Aug. 26.—Slight changes have taken place in the weather since yesterday. An area of high barometer still remains over the lake region and the upper Mississippi valley, and an area of low is over the extreme northwest.

Rain has been general through the Northwest and light showers have fallen along the lower lakes, the heaviest reported at 1:40 inch at Swift Current, N. W. T.

The temperature has risen about ten degrees over Nebrask and Dakota and fallen the same at Buffalo, over the rest of the country there has been slight changes.

The highest point reached by the thermometer here yesterday was 76°, the lowest last night was 60°.

DULUTH, Aug. 26.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Fair, possibly followed by showers tonight or tomorrow; slightly warmer today, slight changes tomorrow. Light easterly wind shifting to south and west.

BRIDGING THE CANAL.

The question of bridging the ship canal is now uppermost in the minds of the citizens of Duluth. It is the main subject of public discussion at the present time. The newspapers are being flooded with the views of the supporters and opponents of the idea. The latter appear to be very limited in numbers. The Herald cannot see why there should be any opposition whatever to the proposed bridge on the part of any citizen of Duluth. It is of vast importance that some mode of communication shall be established between the mainland and the point. It is useless to talk of constructing a tunnel beneath the canal. The city cannot afford to bear such a heavy expense. It would saddle upon the city a heavy debt which should not be incurred at this stage in its history

A bridge would not be a serious obstacle to navigation. It would not be any obstacle, in fact, except from the point of view which most vessel owners adopt, that any bridge over a navigable water is an obstacle to navigation. The board of engineers, at the hearing in Detroit last April on this question, said that "the dangers and difficulties to shipping which would result from the bridge proposed have been overestimated by its opponents," and that "any bridge over a waterway is a menace to navigation, but the propositions of the city of Duluth, if carried into effect, would reduce them to a minimum in this case." Yet the board reported that it was not advisable to authorize the construction of the bridge, owing to "their disinclination to establish a dangerous precedent." It was, in fact, not because the bridge would be an obstacle to navigation, but because the board did not want to establish a precedent, that resulted in the adverse report. The question of obstruction to navigation may therefore be safely dismissed from consideration.

The only other point is this: Has the city power to construct the bridge without obtaining permission from the war department? The Herald believes that it has full power to do as it pleases in this respect, and that the federal officials have no right or authority to interfere. The canal is not a natural waterway. It is an artificial waterway. It was constructed by the citizens of Duluth. The streets and avenues upon Minnesota Point were in existence for twenty years before the canal was cut and they have never been vacated, nor has any portion of the plat been vacated. The city of Duluth has the same right to the use of the avenues across the canal that it has always had. It owns not only the avenue of which the bridge would be a part, but it owns the lots fronting upon that avenue, some of which are under the water in the canal. Title to the canal and these lots was offered by the city to the war department, and the department refused to accept it. The title still remains vested in the city. It has not parted with any portion of its title.

The chief of engineers has reported that in the absence of direct legislation by congress the control of a waterway lying wholly within a state was vested solely and absolutely in the legislature of that state. The legislature of Minnesota has granted authority to the city of Duluth to construct a bridge that will not be an unnecessary or unreasonable obstruction to navigation. When the bridge is built the war department can decide whether it is an unreasonable obstruction. If it decided that it was and ordered its removal, how would it enforce the order? Would it, as the Chicago Herald said in the case of an order for removal of a bridge across the Chicago river, bring a detachment of federal troops and batter it down? This is not likely.

The Herald therefore holds that the city has an absolutely clear legal right to build the bridge, and that when once built it will be permitted to remain there. Its necessity is conceded. It has been shown that it would not be a serious obstacle to navigation. It is certain that the city has a legal right to construct it. Why then should not the common council order its construction at once?

THE SATURDAY HERALD.

The appearance of the Saturday edition of The Herald is always awaited with interest. Last Saturday's issue was one of unsurpassed merit in this section of the country, and tomorrow's edition promises to be even more interesting and instructive.

One bright characteristic of the Saturday Herald is the variety of its features. There is something to please all classes of people. These features are not reprints of articles which have seen duty in Eastern papers a week previous. That style of matter may do for the Sunday papers, but it will not do for The Herald. Consequently the features which appear in this paper are original. Some are prepared by well known writers for a syndicate of leading journals, of which The Herald is a member, and are published simultaneously by all the members of the syndicate. In fact, The Herald publishes them in advance of most of the other papers, as they are issued on Sunday. The Bill Nye letter is an instance.

There are always other features of more local interest prepared by The Herald staff, while all the latest news of the day, both local and telegraphic, is published in complete form. Don't fail to read tomorrow's issue.

A YEAR OF PROGRESS.

The marine business of Duluth is growing fast. The Herald yesterday published a few figures which should be emphasized. Since the opening of navigation 1228 vessels have arrived at this point and 1201 have departed. The total daily tonnage is placed by a conservative estimate at 30,000. This is an immense business and its magnitude grows greater when the age of this port is taken into consideration.

It also indicates in an emphatic manner the growth of business in other directions in Duluth. There cannot be an increase in our marine business without a correspondingly great increase in all lines, because it is the other lines of business that create the marine business. These figures again demonstrate that this is the greatest business year in Duluth's history.

At the same time the city has been gaining rapidly in population. Go in any section of the city and its suburbs and you will see new dwellings or business houses rising on every hand. Another noteworthy feature of our progress is the number of new hotels that are projected this year. This is evidence of the increase in the floating population, in the numbers of visitors to the city. Within a stone's throw of The Herald office, work has been almost completed on a new hotel. A hundred feet away, preparations are being made for the erection of another fine hotel, while one or two more are in contemplation and will probably be erected at an early date.

And if any more evidence be needed of the building boom that is progressing, look at the scores of new business blocks in process of erection and the foundations that are being laid for other massive structures.

THIS IS SIGNIFICANT.

The Republican congressional committee met at St. Cloud on Tuesday and re-elected Charles S. Benson, of St. Cloud, as chairman. Out of the twenty counties, only nine were represented, which does not indicate that Judge Searle's candidacy is stirring up any notable enthusiasm.

Among the counties not represented were St. Louis, Wadena, Crow Wing, Hubbard, Carlton, Itasca, Beltrami, Lake, Cook and Cass. The northern counties in the district do not enthuse very much over Judge Searle. Maj. Baldwin suits them better.

A correspondent of the Superior Call wants to know how an alderman who has no occupation, is without a bank account, has no property and serves on the board without pay is able to wear first-class clothes, live well and make a good appearance generally, and the Call confesses that it is puzzled to answer. What an innocent lot of people must reside across the bay!

The Republicans will open the state campaign at Minneapolis tonight. There will be a rousing meeting, without doubt, and much enthusiasm will be manifested at the appearance of the next governor, Hon. Knute Nelson, who is booked to deliver an address. There will also be speeches by Gen. George A. Sheridan and other eloquent Republican orators.

Col. W. C. Plummer, the "silver-tongued orator of North Dakota," has renounced the Republican party and will work for the fusion ticket in that state. It appears the colonel failed to get as good an office as he considered he deserved, and this is why he has left his old party. He was evidently a Republican for office only.

According to a dispatch today from Canton, in this state, the day of miracles has not passed away. A lame man prayed before "a supernatural figure" in a church window and threw away his crutches and went on his way entirely well. In the absence of confirmatory evidence, the story must be regarded with doubt.

Maj. Baldwin will open the congressional campaign with a speech at St. Cloud tomorrow night. The major intends to make a vigorous campaign and will get an enthusiastic reception in all parts of the district.

The suggestion has been offered that "the Chinese be taught in the Sunday school by men." But how many Chinamen would go to Sunday school if the "pletty Melican" girls were not there to impart instruction?

The union switchmen at Buffalo are very anxious now to get back into their old positions. Suppose the non-union men say that they shall not be allowed to work? It is a poor rule that does not work both ways.

Editor Dana, of the New York Sun, can count on the support of Alabama Republicans in his fight against the force bill. The state went Democratic with the aid of the negro vote.

The Herald was more than usually interesting to the members of the city council last evening. It contained the names of the grand jurors for the September term of court.

Every business man in Duluth who can possibly spare the time should attend the reciprocity convention at Grand Forks. It will be a very important gathering.

There are no forty-bushel-to-the-acre wheat fields this year, but nevertheless the threshing machines are humming a merry tune.

Grand Master Sweeney was struck by a striker who knew how to strike effectively.

THE NEXT CONGRESSMAN.

All Thinking Men Will Support Maj. Baldwin.

Little Falls Democrat: M. R. Baldwin, of Duluth, the candidate for congress named by the Democratic convention at Brainerd, Tuesday, is in every way worthy the support of all true Democrats. He should be supported by all the thinking men, and those who have the interest of the people at heart. He is the unanimous choice of the Democrats of this district and we believe will be elected.

Identified as he has been for the past six years with all the business and commercial interests of Duluth, he will receive the united support of St. Louis county. He served during the war of the rebellion, was twice wounded and was confined for several months in Andersonville prison. For five years he has been president of the chamber of commerce at Duluth, a position which he holds. He is an able man and if elected will be able to do much for the new Sixth district, which is fast taking position as the first in point of commerce and natural resources.

No one can truthfully say one word against him either as a man or in his business relations. He is backed by none of the great railway corporations nor trust or monopoly. He will make a thorough canvas of the district and the result will be votes enough to make him the congressman from the Sixth district the ensuing two years.

A Popular League.

Wheaton Gazette: It is amusing to read in a Democratic paper that Knute Nelson is a Democrat in everything but name, and perhaps in its next issue the same paper will say that Nelson is in league with the rings and railroads. As a matter of fact, Knute Nelson is in league with the people, and no one else, and knowledge of this is what causes our Democratic friends so much uneasiness.

A FINE SUGAR BOWL.

Many people have serious misgivings about venturing upon a purchase of silver or plated ware, because they entertain the idea that such an undertaking will involve them in lavish outlays of money. That is a notion which we are fully prepared to correct. The enormous production of silver within recent years, the improved appliances for the manufacture of the finest table ware and the great advances made by those who design and those who execute have brought within the reach of moderate means some of the handsomest products of modern enterprise, dexterity and skill. You can ask for no better proof of this than is afforded by the fact that we are selling sterling silver novelties of all kinds at prices which will simply paralyze you.

MOTHERS SOUND ITS PRAISES.

Physicians Advise the General Use of the Purest and Best of Foods for Little Folks.

Ignorance on the part of the parents has caused the death of more infants in Minnesota towns this summer than all other causes combined. Said a local physician yesterday:

"Many a household might have been saved the sorrow of a lost child if the little one had only been properly fed, if the parents had followed the advice of those who know best about such things and heeded the experience of many of their neighbors.

"Lactated food given, instead of the poor substances that have caused such fatal indigestion as has prevailed, would have saved many young lives."

ELEANOR.

The beautiful child of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Broderick, of Penacook, N. H., owes her life to this food. Mrs. Broderick writes:

"Our baby commenced using lactated food when she was about two months old. Before then we had a hard time with her every night. She suffered terribly with griping pains that were the result of indigestion, and we could do nothing to ease her. Her bowels were in a terrible state and she seemed to be fading away.

"Fortunately I heard of lactated food. I weaned the baby and tried it, and I know that it saved Eleanor's life. If mothers want to keep their children free from pain and build up a sound foundation to form the coming man or woman, they should feed the little ones on lactated food. We have used a dollar's worth of this food every month since we commenced, and she loves the sight of a food-can so much that the only way we could get her quiet for a picture was to give her a can to hold."

Lactated food is no secret whatever. It is so good and pure that even the most cautious physicians, like the eminent Drs. Agnew and Guernsey, have always advised its use.

The safe plan for this month and for the summer months to come is to feed infants upon lactated food. It will keep them well and strong.

CITIZENS AROUSED.

West Duluthians Dissatisfied With the Inspection of Street Work.

A movement was started yesterday afternoon in U. S. G. Sharp & Co.'s office that promises to show up considerable chicanery in West Duluth. A number of prominent business men and manufacturers met about 3 o'clock and formed a citizens' committee that will make it their duty to look after all street contracts and contractors in the village and see that work is done strictly in accordance with the specifications. The slipshod manner in which much of the street work is alleged to have been done and the fact that repairs on practically new work are already being made, form the grounds the citizens have for complaint, and all such work will hereafter be more thoroughly inspected. Another meeting will be held Monday evening in Dr. A. Forin's office, at which all taxpayers who are interested in the welfare of the town are invited to attend.

A Striking Protest.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I must and do protest against the use of any bells whatever in the new High school tower, either for striking the hours or the quarters or the halves or anything else. We've had strikes enough now, and if these bells are allowed to strike, then the carpenters and aldermen, and chimneysweeps and the rest of the workingmen will inaugurate a "sympathy strike" and there we are.

Furthermore, I do protest against setting a clock in that tower for the results would be terrible and demoralizing throughout the whole social atmosphere of the city. With the everlasting ding dong of the bells striking the hours and quarters, and the illuminated dial of the clock staring people in the face, there would be very great danger that the citizens of the Zenith City would form the pernicious and demoralizing habit of being on time. We unsalted inhabitants of this adamantine burg take great pride in being late—at church—at the theater, concerts or any public or private gathering, and boast as our greatest accomplishment that we can be later, more irregular and unpunctual than anyone else on the face of the earth.

Shall we run the risk of destroying, almost at one fell stroke, our cherished pride and reputation? No, I say. No clock for us! Away with it!

LABOR'S HOLIDAY

Arrangements Being Made for a Celebration on a Magnificent Scale.

Mayor d'Autremont Will Issue a Proclamation Recommending General Observance.

Police Department Will Participate and Possibly the Fire Department.

The celebration of Labor day, Sept. 5, will be made general by proclamation by Mayor d'Autremont, who will recommend the suspension of business and observance of the day. The Trades and Labor assembly met last evening and considered matters connected with the celebration. The committee for music was authorized to employ all the bands in the city if it was considered necessary.

Nearly all the labor unions in the city, whether belonging to the assembly or not, will participate, but a few will not. A committee last evening waited on the Bricklayers' union, then in session, and endeavored to get them to join, but they declined. The employes of Fitger's brewery were invited to join in the parade. The printed program for Labor day will be in the form of a souvenir and each organization of the assembly will prepare a short sketch of its growth and progress. The police department will take part in the parade and the mayor will endeavor to have the fire department turn out as well. The Building Trades' unions have signified their intention of co-operating. Attorney Keyes will be the orator of the day and Mayor d'Autremont will deliver an address of welcome.

The various unions made reports of their condition and matters which all unions should know. The coopers reported that the strike is still on and the employers do not show any signs of yielding. The plumbers strike is resulting favorably to the workmen, according to the union. The delegate reporting said that nearly all non-union plumbers have left the city and thought that if there was a plumbing inspector the rest would soon go. The Retail Clerks' union, according to one of its delegates present, is sadly in need of some energetic members. The majority of them seem to have no interest. The bakers' union asked that stores and restaurants using non-union bread be boycotted and the delegates in the assembly were directed to inform their organizations.

Delegates from the different unions made favorable reports on the action of their organization on the matter of raising $500 to be used toward defraying W. W. Erwin's expenses in defending the Homestead strikers. The Broommakers' union, of Denver, recommended that a union be organized here. The New York Cigarmakers' union asked that the cigars manufactured by factory 1063 of the Twelfth district in New York, be boycotted.

WAS AN ACCIDENT.

Harry Voight, of La Crosse, Drowned at Pike Lake.

Harry Voight, 11 years old, was drowned at Pike Lake Wednesday afternooh, in sight of his mother and another lady. The boy was playing on the edge of the little dock near the station and fell off in twelve feet of water. His mother and the other lady saw the accident and reached the dock just in time to see the boy's hands disappear beneath the waters. Help was soon at hand, but thinking the boy had come to the surface beneath the dock planking, willing hands soon ripped the boards up, but no boy was to be seen. A large fish hook was then attached to a pole and after a few minutes the body was brought to the surface, but all efforts at restoring life failed.

The body was taken to La Crosse, where his parents, who are quite prominent people, reside. The sad affair put an effectual damper on the enjoyment of many of the campers who immediately broke camp and returned to their several homes. James Redmond, of this city, was also a witness of the accident from a distance, and reached the spot as soon as possible and rendered all assistance in his power. The boy was the oldest child in a little family of four children.

FULL POWER TO BUILD.

Harbormaster Miller Confident the City Can Bridge the Canal.

"I want to go on record as asserting that the city of Duluth has full power to build a bridge across the ship canal," said Harbormaster Miller this morning. "It is an artificial waterway entirely within the jurisdiction of the state of Minnesota, which has granted permission to build the bridge, and the federal government has nothing whatever to do with it. It refused to accept title to the canal and it has none now. The canal will take care of itself. No one need worry on that point. It was dredged to a depth of fourteen feet, and it has dredged itself to a depth of twenty-two feet. If the government will not keep the piers in repair, the city can do it, but it will be strange if the federal authorities do not keep their own property in repair. But if the city be compelled to keep the piers in repair the expense would not be heavy, while it would be very small in comparison with the benefits derived by the whole city from the construction of the bridge.

"Duluth must not be the second city at the head of Lake Superior. It must be the first, and the utilization of Minnesota Point for railroad and dockage purposes will make the chief city here. Minnesota Point cannot be utilized until the canal is bridged. The talk about the building of the bridge in opposition to the war department's wishes acting as an obstacle to securing more appropriations for the harbor is made by those who do not know what they are talking about. Duluth harbor would be in the same position so far as appropriations are concerned, even if the canal were closed up entirely."

CHEFS DINE.

Banquet of Epicurean College No. 15, of Duluth.

Thurston's private dining room was the scene of a decidedly novel but very pleasing banquet last evening. Covers were laid for sixteen people and there was just that number present. The Epicurean college No. 15, just organized in Duluth, gave a complimentary banquet to Grand Epicurean Professor W. H. Phillips, who is the head and chief organizer of the association throughout the United States. The Epicurean colleges only embrace the first class cooks or chefs of the country. The college here has twenty-seven members. The committee on arrangements consisted of L. Courtney, of the West Superior hotel, and George McKay and Charles Heablin, of hotel St, Louis. There were three invited guests. The menu was short but very elaborate and was as follows:

Consomme Dauphine.
Planked Whitefish—Maitre d'Hotel.
Haute Sauterne. Potatoes Parisienne.
Fillet of Grouse—Sauce Peregeux.
Poutet Canet. Pates a la Macedoine.
Roman Punch.
Filet of Beef with Mushrooms.
Potatoes au Gratin.
Lettuce en Mayonaise.
Edam Cheese. Water Crackers.
Cafe. Cigars.

Grand Epicurean Professor W. H. Phillips, besides being the head of the association and honored guest of the evening, is the publisher of "The Chef," the only journal devoted exclusively to the cooks of the world. The objects and aims of the Epicurian colleges are to elevate the standard of the members in their important art and for a number of beneficial and social purposes. The officers of local college No. 15 are as follows: Alvoid Courtney, high chief; Arthur McGowan, assistant high chief; Wm. O'Keefe, treasurer; George McKay, financial secretary; Fred Brandon, corresponding secretary; D. Morrison, head kitchener; B. S. Lappin, second kitchener; Daniel Collins, captain of watch; Emil Compain, chief of watch.

SUPERIOR NEWS.

Lehigh Valley Transportation Company Property Being Improved.

Capt. C. S. Barker's dredge and sand pumps are busy filling the Lehigh Valley Transportation company's dock property on the west side of Tower slip at Superior. This property is 300 feet wide where it begins at First street and 600 feet wide where it ends next to the Yougiogheny's property and is 700 feet in length. Capt. Barker says that the Lehigh Valley Transportation company owns the property, but that the Lehigh Valley railroad, now owned by the Philadelphia & Reading, is paying for the work. Recently the Philadelphia & Reading joined hands with James J. Hill in a fast line of through lake steamers, and it is thought this dock will be improved for the use of the new line—for landing passengers, as it would be impracticable to land and take on passengers and personal freight at the flour shed docks where the Northern Steamship company's boats now tie up.

The sisters of St. Francis' hospital are negotiating for a site upon which to erect a hospital at the West End to cost not less than $50,000. Final arrangements will be completed within two weeks.

The suit begun against the Gamewell Police and Patrol company will not affect the plant being placed in Superior, according to a letter received by their agent, who is now in that city.

The Wisconsin board of World's fair commissioners met yesterday afternoon and evening at the West Superior hotel. No business of importance was done in the afternoon except routine work.

NOT THE ONLY ONE.

Others Besides Alderman Long Did Talk on "Legality" at Detroit.

Alderman Long made the statement at last Monday evening's council meeting that he was the only one who maintained at the Detroit hearing that the city had the legal right to build the bridge, and read from the board of public works' report to prove his statement. The same report contains these words from Secretary Thompson used by him in his opening argument, and which show that the "legal right" was not overlooked by everyone but Alderman Long:

"I desire, gentlemen, first of all to recall to your minds the fact that the city of Duluth was first platted on the ground occupied by this canal; that the plat has never been vacated and hence the streets and lots are legally in existence as they were twenty or thirty years ago and for nearly twenty years before the construction of this canal; that the city of Duluth owned the real estate bordering on the avenue, that it legally owns this avenue now as it did before the canal was cut and that under an act of our legislature we have a right to put a bridge across the canal, although the right is limited in the legislative act so that we have no right to put a bridge there which will constitute an obstruction to navigation, or which will in the least narrow down this channel which is 250 feet in width. * * * * We believe that we have full legal right to construct this bridge, but we are so anxious that it shall be so constructed as not to hinder navigation, that we practically have waived our legal right and gone to the government and asked permission to build a bridge. * * * I ask you once more to remember that we own the property, we own the street, we have authority from the legislature. I believe we have undoubted authority to build this bridge without asking permission of the government, but we have laid that aside and come before you believing that they who ask equity must do equity. * * * I believe, I say, that our legal right to construct this bridge is absolutely clear and unquestionable."

City Attorney Smith also brought up the same question of ownership of the property which was cut out, but said that the question of legality was not what was to be considered.

Dick Cullen Disappears.

St. Paul papers report that Richard Cullen, who went to St. Paul from West Superior some time ago for medical treatment, has disappeared. He was last seen on Saturday, and having plenty of money with him, it is feared that he has met with foul play. Cullen is about 35 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches in height, weighs 190 pounds and wears a dark brown moustache. It is not very likely, however, that Dick has met with foul play, but will turn up all right.

MURDERER HUNG

James R. Morton Paid the Extreme Penalty of the Law at Camden, N. J., Today.

The Crime for Which He Was Hanged Was One of Great Brutality.

Crazed by the Desire for Money He Killed an Aged Colored Woman.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 26.—James R. Morton was hanged here at 10:35 this morning for the murder of Mrs. Lydia Ann Wyatt, an aged colored woman. About 8 o'clock last night the three daughters of Morton called on their condemned father. They remained with him until nearly midnight and bade their father an affecting farewell. After they had gone and a few moments spent in devotions, Morton threw himself upon the hammock. It was not a great while before he was wrapped in slumber. All through the night he slept well. He arose at 6 o'clock this morning refreshed by his sleep. He exhibited strong nerve from the time he arose and at 8 o'clock one of the prison officials told the United Press reporter that he did not believe any man was ever nervier than was Morton then. He ate heartily.

HISTORY OF THE CRIME.

The Brutal Murder for Which Morton Paid the Penalty.

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 26.—The crime for which James R. Morton this morning paid the penalty was one of the most brutal in the history of the country. It way the result of deliberate planning of a mind crazed by the desire for money. In this it was not dissimilar to the crime for which the deathly penalty was last paid in this county—the murder of Thomas Armstrong by John Hunter, who hanged in 1879.

Morton was, until a few months before his crime, a special officer in the lower section of the city and was looked upon as an intelligent colored man. He lived at 1142 South Sixth street with two daughters, his wife being dead. Some time in April, Mrs. Lydia Ann Wyatt, a 73-year-old colored woman, who was separated from her husband, went to live at his house. She owned a property which she sold in May for $800.

In her visits to the lawyers in arranging the sale of the property she was accompanied by Morton, who took a great interest in her welfare. So great was this interest impressed upon her that on May 6 she made a will, leaving Morton one-half of her estate and a lawyer the other half, the two heirs to act as her executors. Three days after this, Monday, May 29, the murder occurred. Between 9 and 10 o'clock that day Morton met the old woman as she came down stairs from her room. Snatching from her hand a heavy rosewood cane which her age compelled her to use in walking, he felled her to the floor.

In his confession made just after his arrest he declared that the old woman and he had had a quarrel, and that it was in a moment of passion that he struck her. At the post mortem examination her skull was found to have been fractured and no less than a dozen wounds were found on her body, most of them on the head. As soon as the old woman was dead he took $325 from a bag she carried and left the house.

He offered a colored undertaker $75 if he would bury her at once. This aroused suspicion and he was placed under arrest. It then developed that Morton on April 25 attempted to get a Philadelphia medical student to purchase a live woman subject, 73 years old. Morton's trial took place June 2. He pleaded not guilty, but just as the first juror entered the box he withdrew this and pleaded guilty. After two days' advising, the court unanimously found him guilty of murder in the first degree. He was sentenced to be hanged July 29, but through the intervention of Father Kelley he was granted a reprieve until today.

BIDWELL HAS ACCEPTED.

Letter of Acceptance by the Prohibition Candidate.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 26.—The letter of acceptance of Gen. John Bidwell, of California, nominee of the Prohibition party for president of the United States, has been given out for publication. The letter is long and discusses the principles of the party as enunciated in the Cincinnati platform.

BIDWELL. CRANFILL.

Gen. Bidwell says that the danger of monopolistic tendencies menacing the government is not so great as that of the destructive results sure to come from the liquor traffic. It is the constant menace of labor, which creates the wealth of the nation, and the traffic is now sapping and impoverishing the very founddation of the national fabric. Passing to the question of woman's suffrage he urges immediate emancipation of women. On the question of finance he says the position of the party that the money should be gold, silver and paper, issued only by the government, is fair and broad.

On the question of labor he says: "In order to relieve the labor of the country of its abnormal and often congested condition there should be the earliest possible revision and restriction of the immigration and naturalization laws of the United States. The discord between capital and labor cannot safely be allowed to continue. No matter what the cause, it is imperative to remove it. If it is necessary to have organizations as a defense against capital or competing labor, such organizations should be authorized and regulated by law."

On the tariff he says: "We must concede that all nations have the right to levy tariffs. As Americans we are in favor of protection. The tariff proposed by the demands and that of the Republican party differ only in degree; both are sufficiently high to be termed protection."

Governor Eagle Dying.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 26.—A telegram received from Mrs. Eagle states that her husband, Governor James P. Eagle, is lying at death's door at Richmond, Ky. It is believed he cannot recover. Governor Eagle has been ill for several weeks and lately went to Richmond, hoping that a change of climate would benefit him.

Stave Factory Burned.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 26.—The large stave factory and cooperage works of the Geyer-Adams company of this city was entirely destroyed by fire early this morning. The loss is estimated at $25,000. Origin of the fire unknown.

AN AWFUL SHOCK

Three Powder Magazines in Texas Were Blown up and Created Great Destruction.

Cattle Were Killed and Terribly Mangled and Many Houses Were Badly Damaged.

A Bolt of Lightning Struck One Magazine and Caused the Bad Explosion.

GAINESVILLE, Tex. Aug. 26.—Three powder magazines belonging one each to the Dupont, Rand & Nally and Hazard Powder companies, blew up here yesterday afternoon. There were about 600 kegs of powder in the magazines. Lightning had been darting through the skies all forenoon, and at 1 o'clock a bolt struck one magazine which exploded at once, wiping the two others from the face of the earth. The concussion was terrific, the earth trembled, and men, women and children rushed to the street.

The shock broke thousands of windows and in some instances ruined houses a mile distant. The explosion was heard at Whilesboro, fifteen miles distant. Cattle grazing near the magazines were killed and terribly mangled.

Every house within a mile of the magazines was badly damaged and in many of them the inmates were thrown on the floor and seriously injured. Half a dozen persons received dangerous wounds from broken glass and falling timbers. The total lass will amount to about $15,000.

GEN. STEVENSON'S PROGRAM.

Will Open His Engagements With a Speech Tomorrow.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 26.—Gen. Stevenson is in the best of health after his trip to New York. His program, so far as announced to him by the national committee and including a few engagements made by himself, is as follows: Next Saturday he will address a mass-meeting in this city.

Aug. 30, he will speak at Sedalia, Mo.; Sept. 1, at Vincennes, Ind.; Sept. 2, at Herndon, Ky., Mr. Stevenson's birthplace; Sept. 7, at Indianapolis; Sept. 8, at Marion, Ind.; Sept. 9, at Clay City, and Brazil, Ind.; Sept. 10, at Green Castle and Terre Haute, Ind.; Sept. 12, at Asheville. He will then make five speeches in North Carolina. In October he will deliver an address at Hamilton, Ohio, the home of ex-Governor Campbell. He will open his campaign in Illinois in October, and will make five speeches.

A SERIOUS SHORTAGE.

Treasurer Helfrich, of Ogden, is a Defaulter for $15,000.

OGDEN, Utah, Aug. 26.—The people of Ogden are greatly exercised over a report that City Treasurer Helfrich is a defaulter to the amount of $15,000. A city warrant for $4000 was presented yesterday at the Citizens' bank, where Mr. Helfrich keeps the city funds and where he is also a city bank clerk, and the warrant was dishonored and the statement made that there were no funds. It is said that Helfrich has acknowledged the shortage and will surrender himself to his bondsmen.

FASHION DECREES

Pointers for Ladies Who Desire to Display the Most Fashionable Ideas.

The Russian Colors Promise to be the Popular Tints for Early Autumn.

Height of Fashion in Paris is Dark Blue Used With Emerald Green.

Many modish white wool gowns display sleeves of green velvet, that being the only bit of color in the toilet.

Russian colors promise to be the popular tints for early autumn, and they are emeralds, a dull blue, a deep red, and black.

Velvet sleeves have come into favor again, and oddly enough are seen in tea gowns and dressy home toilets of delicately tinted lawn. The sleeves are cut in fancifully flowing shapes.

The height of fashion in Paris is dark blue used in combination with emerald green; so we may be prepared for the appearance of this somewhat incongruous combination in autumn fabrics.

Some of the newest gowns designed for women who are weary of the monotony of sheath skirts have deep Spanish flounces added to the bell shaped skirts, which are not lined, and are made without a petticoat.

Delicately figured bengaline silks are among the dainty novelties for the coming season. For church, visiting, reception and high teas bengaline is the favorite material, and it supplants cloth and even crepon in popularity.

The accordion plaited blouse is a new and popular factor in the field. There is no lining except in the little round yoke, from which the plaited fullness falls longer than the waist line, and is caught up beneath a folded belt finished with a rosette on one side.

Striking among the novelties for country wear are the toilets of pure white, from the tip of the snowy parasol to the shoes of white linen or ooze leather, which are worn with white silk stockings and peep out from the lace edged ruffles of white surah petticoats.

The distinguishing mark of a real Parisian toilet is a touch of black, deftly added. A favorite method of its arrangement with slight women is to make a belt with loops of ribbon hanging about the waist, which gives a pleasing fullness to the slight figure and is suggestive of Venetian slashings.—New York Sun.

MODES OF BURIAL.

During the time of the old Roman empire the dead bodies of all except suicides were burned.

The Greeks sometimes buried their dead in the ground, but more generally cremated them in imitation of the Romans.

The Mohammedans always, whether in their own country or in one of adoption, bury without coffin or casket of any kind.

The primitive Russians place a certificate of character in the dead person's hands, which is to be given to St. Peter at the gates of heaven.

The natives of Australia tie the hands of their dead together and pull out their nails; this is for fear that the corpse may scratch its way out of the grave and become a vampire.

In India up till within the last few years the wife, either according to her wishes or otherwise, was cremated on the same funeral pyre that converted her dead husband's remains into ashes.

When a child dies in Greenland the natives bury a live dog with it, the dog to be used by the child as a guide to the other world. When questioned in regard to this peculiar superstition they will only answer, "A dog can find his way anywhere."—Atlanta Constitution.

Still Worth Living.

When the surgeon gently told the girl that her foot must be amputated it seemed as if her heart would burst with grief. After the first tumultuous outburst she grew calmer, but there was visible in her eyes a look of settled despair that told of greater sorrow than could a flood of tears. The surgeon lingered by her side, trying with deft touch here and there to assuage the physical pain and with words of cheer to mitigate the mental anguish.

"Doctor."

The man of medicine bent over her pillow attentively.

"Then I must wear a cork foot?" the girl faltered.

The surgeon bowed in silent assent.

"And walk with a cane?"

"I'm afraid so."

She shuddered, and burying her face in the pillows wept afresh. In sympathy the surgeon could not forbear to rest his hand soothingly upon the hot head of his tearful patient.

"Never mind," he whispered encouragingly. "A cork foot is not so bad."

Presently her sobs ceased and she turned her face to the light with a suggestion of hope.

"Can I dance with a cork foot?" she asked eagerly. "Only say I can dance with it. Oh, I so love to dance. Don't break my heart by saying that I cannot dance."

She looked anxiously into his kindly face. She saw there the crushing denial that sympathetic lips would not utter. Heartsick she moaned miserably.

"Poor girl!"

The surgeon sighed and blew his nose ostentatiously.

"Doctor."

The girl was sitting upright in bed and staring wildly at him.

"Can I"——

She grasped his hand convulsively.

——"sit on a cork foot?"

And when the surgeon after a time replied in the affirmative a sweet contentment invested her countenance.

"Thank heaven!" she devoutly murmured. "Life is still worth living."—Detroit Tribune.

His Match.

In the class of Mr. Webb, the famous Cambridge "coach," there happened to be a man of the name of Coyle, and it used to be the delight of Mr. Webb to make puns on his name. One morning he came in to lecture with a special twinkle in his eye, and walking straight over to the blackboard drew a circle upon it. In that circle he drew a smaller one, and again a smaller circle in that, and so on, finally finishing up with a dot in the center of the smallest circle. It at once became apparent to all that this was intended for a coil of rope, and amused eyes were turned upon Mr. Coyle when the question was put:

"Can you tell me what I have drawn, Mr. Coyle?" But the amusement was immediately turned upon the lecturer when the unexpected reply was given:

"I think, sir, it is a spider's web."

Mr. Webb heartily joined in the laugh which followed.—Tit-Bits.

"That's all right, doc," replied the patient. "We're all street corner doctors—fakirs, you know. But when we get sick ourselves we call in der regular purfesh."—Buffalo Express.

Hosiery and Corsets
AT RARE BARGAINS.

LADIES do you realize that when you buy of the retailer, you are paying three unnecessary profits? The manufacturer sells to the commission house, the latter to the jobber, and the jobber in turn sells to the retail merchant. You must pay the manufacturer a profit first, and then pay each of the subsequent handlers a profit, not infrequently paying two profits to the retailer. The is a responsible syndicate which sells direct to the consumer. By investing in manufacturers' samples and the stocks of insolvent manufacturers, in connection with our regular commission holdings, we are able to sell to the consumer direct at the commission price, which is but one remove from the manufacturer's.

We offer the following bargains in hosiery: Ladies' extra length, full regular made, fast black and seamless hose, very fine gnage, (retailing everywhere at 50 cents) we will sell at 23 cents per pair in quantities of one-half dozen, or for $1.38.

This exceptional offer is made merely to introduce our name in your section. Send 15 cents additional and we will prepay express charges at special rates secured by us for the benefit of our patrons.

We are positively offering as a leader the cheapest corset for the money in the world,

The Jenness Tailor-Made Corset is made of heaviest drab jeans, with patent strips of gold. Made like a glove-fitting corset; boned with unbreakable stays. Has double busk and side steels. Is retailed everywhere at $1.50 and in remote sections at very much more. Our price is only 83 cents.

Send 15 cents additional to prepay express charges. Mention sizes desired in ordering hosiery or corsets. We will positively refund money if goods are not satisfactory and just as represented.

Orders must be accompanied by cash in either money-order, postal note, stamps or registered letters, addressed to the

THE GREAT FIGHT

Generals Who Will Direct the Plan of Campaign in the Political Battle.

Where the Democratic Leaders Have Established Their Headquarters in New York.

The Orders Will be Issued From a Brownstone Mansion on Fifth Avenue.

With the election of Don M. Dickinson as chairman of the campaign committee and the choice of Colonel Smalley, of Vermont, as secretary of the national committee the Democratic organization was perfected recently at New York and began within twenty-four hours the active work of the campaign. The committee has chosen to go for its headquarters below the center of political activity, but not so far away from it as the Republican committee went when it hired a Fifth avenue mansion within five minutes' walk of Central park.

The Democratic headquarters when the committee leased it was not a very inviting place excepting in its external appearance. The house had been shut up so long that the odor in it was almost nauseating, and it required no slight expenditure to get the building into such condition as would secure comfort for the committee. Now the committee is almost splendidly housed. The interior suggests an aristocratic club rather than the conventional working place for those who manage a national campaign. The floors have been handsomely carpeted and berugged; the upholstery is luxurious, though not gorgeous, and the committee has acted on the idea that there is no good reason why its hard work should not be tempered with some of the comforts of life.

Mr. Harrity, the chairman of the committee, has been allotted a room upon the second story, and here, ever since the committee took possession of the house, he has spent such time as was possible. His business in Pennsylvania has called him frequently to Harrisburg and Philadelphia, and his family is at Long Branch, which is only two hours distant from the headquarters, and there Mr. Harrity has spent some time.

When in the city he usually gets to headquarters by 10 o'clock in the morning, and although that is an early hour for politicians Mr. Harrity does not have to wait long before callers come. William C. Whitney is usually one of the first to reach headquarters. He comes strolling in, easy, courteous, with no suggestion in his manner that he is really relied upon to carry the brunt of the campaign so far as New York state is concerned. He comes seemingly more as a chance caller. There is no nervousness, no hurry, no bustle in his step or speech, and the atmosphere which Mr. Whitney brings with him is a rather unusual one to perceive in a great campaign headquarters. He has taken a great fancy to Mr. Harrity, and in some respects these two men greatly resemble each other. Each of them has that polish which only comes from long familiarity with club life in the larger cities and with association with men of affairs. Harrity is quite as affable, soft spoken, undemonstrative and charming in his personal intercourse as Mr. Whitney is.

These two men are in close consultation every day and sometimes all day. Whitney's acquaintance with New York politicians and his knowledge of the mysteries of New York politics are probably greater than those possessed by any other man in his party, excepting possibly ex-Mayor Grace. As he believes that the crucial point of the canvass is in New York city and Brooklyn, it is quite natural that Chairman Harrity should give him practically such power in treating the emergencies of the situation, so far as New York city is concerned, as heretofore the chairman of the national committee has kept to himself.

It is no small sacrifice either for Mr. Whitney or for Mr. Harrity to spend these heated days in that brownstone mansion on Fifth avenue. Mr. Harrity expected a vacation time; Mr. Whitney has always taken one, spending August and September in Newport and the season of tinted foliage in Lenox. This he will forego this season. His play spells will be confined to a brief trip on Saturday and Sunday to his place in Newport during the hot weather and to Lenox when the fall comes.

Ex-Secretary Dickinson, who is to be the executive manager of the campaign, a sort of chief of staff, has been assigned very comfortable quarters, and within two days after his election as chairman of the campaign committee revealed that energy and astuteness which have brought him into so great political prominence. He met all his associates on the committee immediately, for several nights holding conferences in his room which were extended until the dawn came. Having obtained in this way the information he desired, Mr. Dickinson almost intuitively laid out a plan of campaign. He will not concern himself so much about New York state, for the battle there is directly in the charge of Mr. Whitney. But Mr. Dickinson's plan provides for such organization in Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Nebraska as will, he believes, give the Democracy a fair fighting chance in those states.

Dickinson as a campaign manager is unlike any other person who has ever assumed the responsibilities which he has undertaken in a national campaign, at least in New York city. His manner is as demonstrative, excitable and nervous as Mr. Whitney's is quiet, suave and self contained. Colonel Smalley, one of his associates, said of him that if Dickinson were a cavalry commander he would be as demonstrative and exuberant as Kilpatrick or Sheridan was. He suggests to the New York politicians nervous energy in a greater degree than any man with whom they are acquainted. His industry is marvelous, yet it seems not to weary him, and he can easily tire out any one of those who are associated with him on the campaign committee. He does things intuitively, impulsively, whereas Whitney and Harrity are cautious and give much thought to any matter presented to them before they reach a final decision.

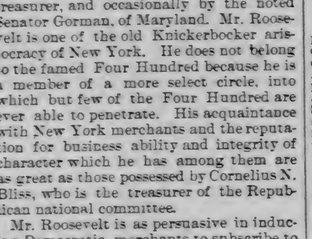
The committee is visited daily by Mr. Robert P. Roosevelt, who has been elected treasurer, and occasionally by the noted Senator Gorman, of Maryland. Mr. Roosevelt is one of the old Knickerbocker aristocracy of New York. He does not belong to the famed Four Hundred because he is a member of a more select circle, into which but few of the Four Hundred are ever able to penetrate. His acquaintance with New York merchants and the reputation for business ability and integrity of character which he has among them are as great as those possessed by Cornelius N. Bliss, who is the treasurer of the Republican national committee.

Mr. Roosevelt is as persuasive in inducing Democratic merchants to subscribe to a campaign fund as Mr. Bliss is with Republican merchants. He is an uncle of Theodore Roosevelt, perhaps the most prominent and promising Republican of his years in New York. Young Roosevelt is now one of the federal civil service commissioners. He was a candidate for mayor of New York before he was thirty years of age, and is as ardent a Republican as his uncle is a Democrat. It is quite possible that Treasurer Roosevelt will be the Democratic candidate for mayor of New York this fall.

To him is committed the financial responsibility of the campaign. He is expected not only to raise the funds that are needed, but to see that the accounts are thoroughly kept and that there is no waste or extravagance. In the consultations in which he shares Mr. Roosevelt has not much to say about the conduct of the campaign, for he is not a practical politician. But as to ways and means his judgment is regarded as almost infallible, and upon it the committee will in the main rely during the canvass.

The most jovial, fun loving member of the committee is Bradley B. Smalley, of Vermont, who has been chosen secretary. Mr. Whitney regards him as a very astute politician, notwithstanding his fondness for a practical joke and his irresistible impulse to indulge in wit. It is like a ray of sunlight when Mr. Smalley enters headquarters in the morning. He glances over his correspondence with lightninglike rapidity, and can clear a desk loaded down with mail more quickly than any man who has ever held the post of secretary excepting ex-Senator Dorsey, who was secretary of the Republican committee in 1880.

Mr. Smalley is in charge of the bureau of correspondence, although a subordinate relieves him of much of the detail work necessary to conduct it. This bureau has the two upper floors of the brownstone mansion and even then is somewhat cramped for room. The amount of printed matter which will be sent out will be, it is expected, greater than has ever been issued by any national committee, and a corps of clerks in the basement room will be occupied day and night in the work of mailing. The printing and disseminating of this matter, Treasurer Roosevelt believes, will be the heaviest item of expense that the committee will have to meet.



ROOSEVELT. DICKINSON.

Another member of the committee who is expected to spend considerable time at campaign headquarters is Lieutenant Governor Sheehan, of New York. Mr. Sheehan, though a very young man, has developed if not great political genius, at least greater political energy than any man who has recently come forward in Democratic politics in New York. He is regarded as the next friend of Governor Hill in the national committee, but he has so far given more attention to the state campaign than to the work of the national committee. Having been recently elected chairman of the state campaign committee, Mr. Sheehan told Chairman Harrity and Mr. Whitney that he thought he could do better service in that capacity than by giving much time to the national campaign. He is, however, a frequent visitor at headquarters, and will carry on his work in perfect harmony with the national committee.

Another of the lieutenants with whom Mr. Harrity will be associated is Senator Calvin S. Brice, who four years ago was in charge of the national campaign. He would have been this year had he not peremptorily refused. Senator Brice, though a younger man in political effort than any of his associates, is regarded as a very shrewd adviser. When he is in town he spends much of his time at headquarters, and he has told the committee that after the campaign is well under way he will be there constantly excepting when the interests of the campaign require his presence in Ohio.

Mr. Brice is expected to very greatly aid Treasurer Roosevelt in raising campaign funds, and he has already organized in the Manhattan club, which is the club home of all the leading Democrats of New York, a campaign committee which is expected to solicit subscriptions not only from club members, but from every Democrat in New York.

These men will constitute the body which will carry on the brunt of the campaign, and such Republican politicians as Senator Platt and General Clarkson, who have been familiar with many national campaigns, say that, take it all in all, it is the ablest body of Democratic campaigners the party has had except possibly in 1876.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of five hundred thirty and 44-100 dollars ($530.44) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Fannie L. Mitchell to James H. Porter bearing date the 31st day of October, A. D. 1890, said mortgage being given to secure part of the purchase money on the below described premises, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of November, A. D. 1890, at 4:20 o'clock p. m., in book 68 of mortgages, on page 105; which said mortgage was on the 13th day of December, 1890, duly assigned and transferred by said James H. Porter to Docktor R. McKinley, by written assignment, which was on the 17th day of December, 1890, duly recorded in said office of register of deeds for said county of St. Louis, in book 73 of mortgages page 287; which said mortgage and assignment was on the 27th day of April, 1891, duly assigned and transferred by said Docktor R Mckinley, to A. M. Swingle by written assignment, which was on the 27th day of April, 1891, duly recorded in said office of register of deeds for said county of St. Louis, in book 73 of mortgages, page 426; and which mortgage and assignment was on the 2nd day of December, 1891, duly assigned and transferred by said A. M. Swingle to C. E. Evens and John Grandy by written assignment, which was on 3rd day of December, 1891, duly recorded in said office of the register of deeds for said county of St. Louis, in book 74 of mortgages, page 632; and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz.: Lots fifteen (15) and sixteen (16) in block number seventy-nine (79) of the Portland division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, in St. Louis county, and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and twenty-five dollars, attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth in said county and state, on Saturday, the 17th day of September, A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated August 5, A. D. 1892.

C. E. EVENS and JOHN GRANDY, Assignees of Mortgagee.

ERIC L. WINJE, Attorney for Assignees of Mortgagee.

SHERIFF'S EXECUTION SALE.

Under and by virtue of an execution issued out of and under the seal of the district court of the state of Minnesota, in and for the Eleventh Judicial District, and county of St. Louis, on the 13th day of August, 1892, upon a judgment rendered and docketed in said court and county in an action therein, wherein William C. Sargent was plaintiff and Alonzo J. Whiteman and Julia N. Whiteman defendants, in favor of said plaintiff and against said defendants for the sum of five thousand two hundred one and 90-100 ($5201.90) dollars, which said execution has to me, as sheriff of said St. Louis county, been duly directed and delivered, I have levied upon and will sell at public auction, to the highest cash bidder, at the front door of the court house in the city of Duluth, in said county of St. Louis, on Monday, the 3rd day of October, 1892, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, all the right, title and interest that the above-named judgment debtors had in and to the real estate hereinafter described, on the 12th day of August, 1892, that being the date of the rendition of said judgment, the description of the property being as follows, to-wit:

The undivided half of the east one-half of the southwest one-quarter (e½ of sw¼) of section nine (9), township forty-nine (49) north, range fifteen (15) west.

All of lot three (3), the easterly ten (10) feet of lot two (2) and the westerly eleven (11) feet of lot four (4), all lying and being in Taussig's rearrangement of the south half of block forty-five (45) of Harrison's division of Duluth, now called East Endion division, according to the recorded plat thereof.

The undivided one-half of the east one-half of the southwest one-quarter (e½ of sw¼) of section nine (9), township forty-nine (49) north, range fifteen (15) west; fractional lots one (1) and two (2), in block numbered forty-nine (49), Harrison's division, according to the recorded plat thereof.

Lots five (5), six (6), seven (7) and eight (8) in block numbered forty-four (44); lots five (5), six (6) seven (7) and eight (8) in block numbered sixty-nine (69) in East Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, and lots seven (7) and eight (8) in bock numbered one hundred and sixty (160), West Duluth, Fifth division, according to the recorded plat thereof.

All of the above described lands being situated and lying in St. Louis county, state of Minnesota.

Dated Duluth, Minn., August 18th, 1892.

CHANGE IN GRADES

Grain Inspector Clausen Talks of a Probable Slight Change in Wheat Grades.

Hard and Flinty Wheat Below Regular Northern Grades to be Graded Northern.

The Market Was Extremely Dull Today and Prices Dropped Off a Fraction.

Chief Grain Inspector Clausen was in the city today and discussed the crop prospects. There will not be as heavy a crop as last year, in his opinion, although he did not feel disposed to give any estimate of the number of bushels expected, and it will hardly be of as uniformly good quality. The new wheat is expected to furnish excellent milling wheat, although not as plump and heavy as some of the wheat of last year. It is probably that wheat which is hard and flinty and one pound lighter than the limit of No. 1 northern and No. 2 northern will be admitted to those respective grades under the rules to be established for grading the crop of 1892, on account of the excellent milling qualities of this wheat.

Personal accounts by members of the Duluth board of trade on the advanced conditions of the harvest and the prevalence of excellent weather to complete it are very encouraging. All grains under favorable conditions will be out of the way in eight or ten days. The receipts of wheat at this port during the past few days have been smaller than those for the corresponding dates last year, while the shipments have been very light since Monday.

The market here today ruled very quiet in the forenoon, with slight demand for December and fair demand for September wheat during the early hours of the session. Cables reported that the foreign demand was weak and prices were lower. It was estimated that the next wheat visible would show an increase of 4,000,000 bushels. The whole session was dull, cash and track wheats being very quiet. The close was steady and from ¼@⅜c lower than yesterday: Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 80c; August, 80c; September, 79¾c; December, 80½c. No. 1 northern, cash, 76c; August, 76c; September, 76¼c; December, 77¼c. No. 2 northern, cash, 71c. No. 3, 60c. Rejected, 50c. On track—No. 1 hard, 80c; No. 1 northern 78c.

Car inspection today, 28. Receipts—Wheat, 23,939 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 514 bus. Cars on track 40; last year, 183.

Outside Markets.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—The close: Wheat, September, 75¼c; October, 75⅞c; May, 83⅜c. Corn, September, 51⅛c; October, 51¼@⅜c; May, 52¾c. Oats, September, 34⅜c; October, 34⅜c; May, 37⅜c. Pork, September, $10.42½; October, $10.52½; January, $12.22½. Lard, September, $7.70; October, $7.72½; January, $6.95.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 26.—Wheat: August closed at 72⅜c; September opened at 72c and closed at 71⅞c; December opened at 74¾c and closed at 74¾c. On track—No. 1 hard, 79½c; No. 1 northern, 78c; No. 2 northern, 65@69c.

The beautiful booths which will add so much to the attractiveness of the Fete Breton in fact without which there could be no fete, are being built by our townsmen, the well-known contractors and builders Quigley & Barnett, and Miss Eager who knows, better than any one else, just what she wants and how she wants it is superintending their erection just as she has every detail of this mammoth affair. The unusual interest taken by all the participants in this entertainment is due largely to the fact that every one connected with it feels that there is a responsibility resting upon his or herself, from Mrs. Simonds, the president, and Miss Eager, the director, down to the merest toddler of 4 years in the Chinese dances, each and all are alike important to the successful carrying out of this great undertaking.

ELECTED MAGINNIS.

He is Chosen President of the Tilden Club.

The Tilden Democratic club met last evening in the headquarters in the Burrows block. The election of a president was the only business which came up. After taking eiget or nine ballots C. P. Maginnis was elected. A number of votes were cast for Alfred Jaques although he announced after the first ballot that he was not a candidate and did not want any votes cast for him. George F. Chester also had quite a following. Mr. Maginnis expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him for he deemed it an honor. He presented the necessity for more thorough organization and believed that more subordinate clubs should be organized.

PERSONAL.

C. M. Hill, the Saginaw lumberman, is in the city.

Ordinance Number 3.

AN ORDINANCE

To Secure the Quiet, Orderly and Proper Use and Enjoyment of the Parks and Parkways of the City of Duluth.

The board of park commissioners of the city of Duluth do ordain, as follows:

Sec. 1. No person or persons shall cut, break or in any way injure or deface any of the buildings, fences or other structure or construction or improvement, upon or within any or either of the parks or parkways, under the control or management of the board of park commissioners of the city of Duluth, or any of the roads or roadways constructed upon or across such parks.

Sec. 2. No person shall tie or fasten any animal to any fence, building, railing, tree, shrub or plant in or upon any park or parkway.

Sec. 3. No person shall post, paste, paint or affix any placard, bill, notice or sign upon any structure or thing within any park, or upon any of the fences or enclosures thereof; nor upon any part of a parkway under the control of said board.

Sec. 4. No person shall distribute any circulars, cards or other printed or written matter in any park or on any parkway.

Sec. 5. No cart, dray, wagon, truck or other vehicle carrying goods, merchandise, building material, manure, dirt, rubbish or refuse, or used for carrying goods, merchandise, building material, manure, soil or other article, shall be allowed to pass along for any distance or pass over or enter upon any of the drives or carriage roads of any park, or upon any part of any parkway except at the point of crossing or intersection with a public highway or thoroughfare.

Sec. 6. No cattle, horses, mules, swine, sheep, goats or fowls shall be turned into or allowed to run at large in or upon any park or parkway; and the tying and securing by means of a rope or otherwise, of any such animal for grazing purposes, or suffering any such animal to graze, whether attended by drivers or watchers, or not, shall also be deemed running at large, within the meaning of this section.

Sec. 7. No person shall throw or cast any stone or any other missile within any park or parkway.

Sec. 8. No person shall bathe or fish in, or send, drive or ride any animal into the waters of any park; nor shall any person disturb any fish, fowl or animal kept therein, or throw or place any article or thing into the waters or upon the grounds thereof.

Sec. 9. No person shall bathe or swim in the waters adjoining any parkway and under the control of the board, except as expressly authorized by the board; nor shall any person fish therein except as so authorized.

Sec. 10. No threatening, profane, abusive, insulting or indecent language, conduct or behavior, nor any act tending to a breach of the public peace shall be allowed in or upon any park or parkway; nor shall anyone play at games of chance, drink intoxicating liquor, or be drunk, or do any indecent or improper act therein.

Sec. 11. Any drunken or disorderly person, and any person doing any act injurious to the park or parkway in which he then is, or who is in the act of violating any rule, regulation or ordinance of the board of park commissioners, may be removed from such park or parkway by the guard or keeper thereof, or by the superintendent of parks or any employe of the board, or by the park or city police.

Sec. 12. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance, shall be punished by a fine of not less than five dollars ($5.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100) or in default of payment thereof shall be imprisoned for a term of not less that five (5) days nor more than three (3) months.

Sec. 13. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, and publication.

SWEPT BY FIRE.

The Theater Portion of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York Burned.

Fire This Morning Destroyed the Magnificent Theater With Its Valuable Contents.

A Strong Wind Carried Flames to the Casino, But They Were Extinguished.

Five-Story Brick Building in New York Burned and Several People Injured.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The theater end of the Metropolitan opera house building, at Broadway and Fortieth street, was completly gutted by fire, which started at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The fire raged fiercely for an hour and only by the greatest efforts was prevented from entering the Broadway end of the building. The draught in the building from all sides was terrible, giving the flames a fearful impetus. The flames speedily swept through the great auditorium and in a few minutes little was left of it except the iron work.

The fire caught the richly adorned circle of boxes and they were at once a flaming furnace. The fire from the floor came up to meet the circle of boxes and the flames then swept onward to the roof and through it. The roof was rapidly consumed, the great beams falling inward. The iron work of the seats in the auditorium soon gave away and the whole mass tumbled into the fiery furnace. The flames raged for an hour or so in the building, and when they had somewhat abated it was found they had done a vast amount of damage.

At 10:30 o'clock the fire was under control. There was a scene of desolation then presented in the interior of the famous building, the equal of which has seldom been seen at a fire in this city. There was a great gaping hole in the roof and the whole interior was gutted. The stage was destroyed and the rooms adjoining were burned. The walls of the building are blackened and somewhat injured.

The work done by the fireman was excellent. They poured great streams of water on to the fire and prevented it from enveloping the part of the structure facing on Broadway. On the Seventh avenue side the wall is standing unsupported, five stories high, and appears solid. An inner wall on the Thirty-ninth street side has fallen. The building is owned by a stock company and is believed to be fully insured. The damage is placed at about $300,000. The whole building is valued at more than $2,000,000.

During the past six weeks the opera house has been almost entirely renovated for the coming season of German and Italian opera, which it was planned to make more brilliant under the management of Mr. Abbey than any preceding one. Thousands of dollars have been expended upon the renovation both by the stockholders and Mr. Abbey. Neither Mr. Abbey nor his partners are in town. The Broadway front of the building is not injured. At one time big embers from the burning building were carried by the strong wind to the roof of the Casino and of the Gedney house and ignited them, but the flames were speedily extinguished without any particular damage.

ANOTHER BAD BLAZE.

A Five Story Building Gutted and Several People Injured.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—A disastrous fire occurred in the large five story brick building Nos. 120, 122, 124 and 128 Wooster street, which extends through to Nos. 120 and 122 Prince street. Over 100 persons were in the building when the fire broke out, and many were injured in escaping. Many are missing but the number of dead cannot be learned yet. The fire originated in the basement of the building occupied by the United States Frame and Picture company and spread with alarming rapidity.

The inmates fled from all available exits but many were injured in their efforts to escape. Of the injured the following are reported: Wm. Sperry, address unknown, back, head and shoulders burned; Mary E. Hanley, 83 Catherine street, seriously burned; will die. Mary Guinzoo, 219 Thompson street, body burned; Fireman Thompson, engine No. 12, frightful injuries by falling wall; Fireman Langwasser, engine No. 53, injuries by falling wall.

The injured were removed to St. Vincent's hospital. The loss to the building and stock is roughly estimated at $150,000, divided among the following tenants: United States Frame and Picture company; Belt Butler & Co., wools and raw furs; M. Bloomstock, hats and caps; W. J. Kelly, publisher, and R. H. Wagner & Co., paper box manufacturers.

Shortly before midday, when the fire was pretty well under control, about a dozen firemen were sept up the fire escape of No. 122 to direct the stream. When they had reached the third story the front wall began to bulge, and before they could escape they were hurled into the street. About six were carried down with the wall. Four were buried under the debris. Morris Stack, of engine No. 27, was buried under a pile of brick and it took his companions five minutes to dig him out.

Augusta Eagesser, who lives at 118 Spring street, plunged from a window into the street. Her body was badly bruised and her face was burned and also her arms were badly scorched. It is now thought that all the rest of the employes got out in safety.

Fire in Georgia.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 27.—A destructive fire commenced at 3 o'clock this morning and consumed several business buildings, including that of the Augusta Chronicle. The total loss is about $300,000, generally covered by insurance. The Chronicle's morning edition was worked off while the building was in flames.

Thousands Homeless.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 27.—The town of Mosier, on the river Pripets, about 146 miles from Minsk, has been destroyed by fire. Mosier has a population of about 5000, nearly all of whom have been made homeless and the misery among them is described as appalling.

ATTEMPTED TRAIN WRECKING.

Narrow Escape of an Express on the Fort Wayne Road.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 27.—A dastardly attempt was made to wreck the New York and Chicago express on the Fort Wayne road near Enon Valley last night, and two men are now in the Allegheny lockup on suspicion of having been concerned in the crime. It is said that a man named Adams had discovered the obstructions and was in the act of removing them when he was shot by the thieves who were in hiding. He was shot in the forehead but is still living.

The train left this city on time and about 11 o'clock when near Enon Valley, the engineer discovered an obstruction on the track and succeeded in checking the train in time to avert a serious accident. A search in the vicinity was made and two suspicious looking men were found. They were placed on board and are now in the Allegheny lockup awaiting an investigation.

CHOLERA IN ENGLAND.

Two More Cases of the Scourge are Reported.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The third person afflicted with Asiatic cholera brought to Gravesend on the steamer Gemma, which arrived Thursday from Hamburg, is dead. There are no signs of the disease spreading, and the hospital authorities at Gravesend believe that they have taken effective measures to prevent the cholera from spreading. The clothing and bedding in use by the cholera patients have been destroyed and the quarters where they cared for have been fumigated.

At the port of Leith near Edinburgh, which has extensive shipping communication with Hamburg and other ports on and near the North sea, a man and woman were taken sick last evening and developed symptoms of Asiatic cholera.

DEATHS IN BERLIN.

The Disease is of a Very Virulent Type.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—There is now no doubt that Asiatic cholera is in Berlin. Three deaths are reported from what is undeniably Asiatic cholera of a virulent type. A lady while traveling from Hamburg was seized with cholera and taken to the Mobait hospital. While the authorities are enforcing the most rigid sanitary precautions, they profess to be satisfied that the cholera will make no serious progress in Berlin.

There is no great panic among the people and a general disposition to obey the sanitary regulations. The trains at the Russian frontier where access is permitted are most carefully inspected, and all persons from the districts in which cholera has been prevalent are debarred from entering Germany. Travelers from St. Petersburg represent that there is no panic in that city, and that the inhabitants are generally satisfied that the cholera has done its worst. The approach of the frost is anxiously awaited, as it is likely to put a stop to the further spread of the pestilence.

A DUEL WITH GLOVES.

Two West Point Cadets Settle an Affair of Honor.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 27.—A duel was fought with gloves between two cadets yesterday. The result was that the aggrieved youth who issued the challenge, contrary to the poetic justice usually dealt out in a novel, was vanquished by his opponent.

The fighters were F. G. Lawton, of Mississippi, and Boughton F. Allen, of Brooklyn. Lawton won in five rounds.

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo., Aug. 27.—[Special to The Herald.]—Tommy Evans has whipped Tommy Lee in ten rounds at Salt Lake. T. H. REESE.

Was Not His Fault.

W. J. Holmes, the broker who purchased the Superior city bonds and who was alleged by the papers over there to have forfeited his contract, explained to a Herald reporter today that the true cause of delay was the failure of the city to draw up the papers. He was prepared to do his part as soon as he received them, but as a matter of fact did not get them until Aug. 20. The bonds will be taken up at once if there is no question as to their legality.

IS A CRUEL HOAX.

No Truth Whatever in the Story of the Wreck of the Yacht Wapiti.

Henry W. Sibley, the New York Capitalist, and Friends Are Safe in Montreal.

The False Report Was Started by a Discharged Cook to Get Revenge.

MONTREAL, Aug. 27.—H. W. Sibley, the New York capitalist, and a party composed of his wife, son and daughter, Mrs. M. B. Pond and Miss F. W. Durbin, of Rochester, N. Y., are at the Windsor hotel in Montreal and not at the bottom of the Georgian bay, as falsely reported. Mr. Sibley declares that he and his party are the victims of a cruel hoax, which he intends to investigate to the fullest extent. The yacht Wapiti, after an extremely pleasant trip, reached Collingwood, Ont., where she was left in charge of the crew. The party came on to Montreal, reaching here last night.

They were greatly astonished this morning when they read in the papers a sensational story of the yacht foundering in a gale yesterday off Collingwood harbor, and have been busy telegraphing their friends, assuring them of the party's safety. Asked as to how the story could have originated, Mr. Sibley said that he could only attribute it to a malicious desire on the part of the yacht's cook, Geo. Sherman, to play a cruel hoax on the party. He also severely censured the lady telegraph operator at Collingwood for allowing the cook's message, so palpably false, to pass through the office.

"My yacht," said Mr. Sibley, "is lying in front of the telegraph office in plain sight, and the operator must have known that there was no truth in the telegram sent to Saginaw, which has given rise to the reports of the loss of the yacht and her occupants. However, I am leaving for Collingwood this evening, and I propose to make it hot for both the cook and the operator."

From Collingwood Mr. Sibley will cruise on the Wapiti through the great lakes into Lake Superior. Immediately upon reading the account of the loss of the yacht Mr. Sibley telegraphed his mother, aged 80, who resides at Rochester, that the whole story was false, and that he and his companions were safe. He feared the shock might kill her. She, too, had read the story, but replied to his telegram congratulating him on his safety.

The story of the supposed disaster was read with considerable interest in Duluth, as Mr. Sibley has many friends here. He is a member of the firm of Sibley & Bearinger, of Saginaw, extensive lumber dealers and owners of large tracts of land in Michigan. Mr. Bearinger was in Duluth recently. James Eldridge of Saginaw is the captain of the yacht, and his wife and son are at present visiting in West Duluth. A Collingwood dispatch says that the report originated through a message sent in revenge by the cook of the yacht who was discharged there.

LAKE FREIGHT MATTERS.

Freights are Largely Dependent Upon the Grain Movement.

Lake freights are showing the effects of a reduction in the iron ore movement, which had been so very heavy previous to Aug. 1. The demand for grain tonnage in Chicago has been about equal to that of July, and at Duluth during the past week 3 cents has been paid on several cargoes to Buffalo, but the iron shippers are in a position to refuse "wild" tonnage, excepting at reduced rates, and they have taken advantage of the situation to put rates down.

Docks at Lake Erie ports, says the Marine Review, are more crowded than they have been in any previous year excepting 1890, and although vessels are not delayed on this account, it is an obstacle to the movement of unsold ore, even at reduced rates. The suspension of coal shipments on account of the Buffalo strike and crowded docks on Lake Superior is also having a serious effect on the market. It is not probable that there will be a movement of new grain any earlier than last year, and in the meantime it is about certain that the freight market will remain in its present depressed condition.

Iron ore freights are $1 from the head of Lake Superior and 70 cents from Escanaba with Marquette nominal at 95 cents. Although it is true that most of the Bessemer mines have sold about as much ore as they can produce, and that the amount of unsold ore of any kind brought down so far is not very large, it is also true that the ore not covered by season contracts with vessels has been crowded into shipments during the first half of the season. The mines have reduced stock piles to very small proportions, and freights are accordingly largely dependent on the grain movement. Duluth brokers are of the opinion that there will be little doing in Northwestern wheat before Sept. 20.

A Wholesale Forger.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Capt. Francis Saunders, a member of the Lyre club and a former officer of the British army, has been arrested on a West Indian steamer at Liverpool on the charge of having forged the name of the earl of Londesborough to a check for £3700. It is believed that the total of the forgeries perpetrated by Saunders will amount to £200,000. The earl of Londesborough is married to a daughter of the duke of Beaufort.

THE TARIFF TAXES

Able Speech, From a Democratic Standpoint, of Adlai E. Stevenson at Bloomington, Ill.

He Opened the Campaign at His Home by Addressing a Big Meeting Today.

The Tariff Question, he Declared, is the All-Important Issue of the Campaign.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 27.—This, the home of Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic candidate for vice-president, was the scene of a great political gathering today. It was the opening of the campaign by Mr. Stevenson and was attended by people from all portions of this section of the state. The mass meeting was a great success in point of numbers, and Mr. Stevenson delivered an able speech from a Democratic standpoint. After alluding to the responsibility resting upon the people in this campaign and the importance of an intelligent and conscientious exercise of the privilege of designating those who are to be entrusted with high office, Mr. Stevenson compared the administration of Mr. Cleveland with the present one. He asserted that the Republican administration has been extravagant and that "the reckless expenditure of money appropriations, which no public necessity demanded, merits the condemnation of the people."

The tariff, he declared, is the all important issue of the campaign, and upon this question he said: "The position of the two leading politcal parties upon that question cannot be misunderstood. The Republican party, as illustrated by its recent enactment of the McKinley law, stands for a high protective—in other words, a prohibitory tariff. The Democratic party, as emphasized by its utterances and its acts, is the advocate of tariff reform. The issue is squarely presented. Upon one side are the advocates of a high protective or prohibitory policy—a policy that enriches a few at the expense of the many. On the other the advocates of such reduction of tariff duties as will give to our manufacturers the benefit of cheap raw material, and lessen to the consumer the cost of the necessaries of life.

"The decade and a half extending from the passage of the low tariff law of 1846 to the beginning of our civil war, has been truly called the golden period of our history. The cost of the necessaries of life had reached the minimum, and at no time in our history was it easier for the wage-earner to support his family. The farmer, the mechanic, the day laborer alike realized the benefit of low taxation. A benefit why? Simply for the reason that it lessened the cost of food, of clothing, of every article that conduced to his comfort. Our manufactories did not languish. The fires did not go out in our furnaces. The wheels and spindles were not idle in our great hives of industry. The demand for labor was not lessened, nor was its value depreciated.

"The average tariff tax at the beginning of the civil war in 1861 was but nineteen per cent. To purchase munitions of war, to arm and equip soldiers and meet all of the expenses incident to the great struggle, required large sums of money. Tariff taxes were largely increased. The Morrill tariff bill was passed. Our government was in the throes of war, struggling for its existence, and but little heed was given by the people to the fact that duties under the new tariff taw were not only highly protective to manufacturers but burdensome to the people. But this was not all. By subsequent increase by successive Republican congress the average rate of duties reached forty-seven per cent. This was the average rate of tariff taxes when the McKinley bill became the law."

Mr. Stevenson then referred to the internal revenue system of taxation which was also devised, under which in a single year $127,000,000 were collected from manufacturers alone. This was the very essence of justice, for the reason that the manufacturers had in many instances grown enormously rich, because of the high tariff which protected them against competition. In a single year the aggregate of internal revenue taxes paid into the treasury exceeded $300,000,000. Mr. Stevenson continued:

"With the war closed, a Republican congress relieved the manufacturers from this taxation, and added to their profits and to the burdens of the people by increased duties. I grant the necessity of repealing these internal war taxes when the exigencies of war no longer demanded their continuance. But why did not the Republican congress repeal the war taxes—tariff taxes—which bore so heavily upon the farmer, upon the mechanic, upon the laborer, upon the great mass ot our people? Why was not the war tax reduced upon the necessaries of life? Why wholly remove the tax upon corporations and allow it to remain upon the tools of the mechanic, the implements of the farmer, upon the food and clothing of the poor. Why remove from the manufacturer the tax of less than 5 per cent and leave him the power to tax the consumer 47, 60, 80 per cent upon hats, upon shoes, upon blankets, upon clothing?"

But, pointed out Mr. Stevenson, this is not all. The protected classes demanded yet higher duties, and then came the Morrill tariff and finally the passage of the McKinley law, which by its prohibitory features gave its beneficiaries a partial monopoly, and enabled them in fact to levy an additional tax upon the consumer, to the extent that the duty had been increased. Was this legislation demanded by the people? Was it in their interest? Was it not class legislation of the most odious character—such legislation as enriches the few at the expense of the many? It is worse than idle to speak of its benefits to the American farmer, while to the mechanic and laborer protection has proved a delusion and a snare. Recent events connected with the most highly protected establishments of this country sadly attest the fact that a high protective tariff affords no protection to those who earn their bread by daily toil. It was never intended to benefit them. Long enough has the wage earner been deluded by the cry that high tariff means high wages. Tariffs have no effects upon wages, except to diminish their purchasing power. The higher the tariff the less the purchasing power of the wages. Wages are governed by the great law of supply and demand. If the claim of the protectionist is well founded, why have not wages increased, as tariffs have increased? Why constant reduction of wages in the most highly protected establishments in the land?

Heretofore, the persistent claim of the protectionist has been that tariff taxes are not paid by the consumer. This claim is now abandoned. The advocates of the McKinley law concede the tax upon sugar to have been paid by the consumer. Else, why take so much credit to themselves for removing it? Is there not danger that the consumer may inquire, "if removing the tariff tax upon sugar lessens its cost, why would not the same blessed result follow a reduction of tariff taxes upon all of the other necessaries of life?" Our present tariff laws need careful revision. Their glaring inconsistencies should be corrected. It is to the interest of manufacturer and consumer alike that in the main raw material be admitted free of duty. Working the raw material into the finished product would give employment to our skilled workmen. The reduction of tariff taxes to the minimum upon the necessaries of life is important to all of our people; it would prove of inestimable value to the millions who earn their bread by daily toil. The Democratic party wages no warfare on any business interest. It favors no legislation hostile to the true interests of any business enterprise. We believe that the burdens of taxation should be equally distributed. We oppose all legislation that enriches the few by taxing the many. The contest upon which we have now entered is of deep significance to the American people. Shall high tariff, continually increasing with the demands of the protected classes, be the settled policy of our government, or shall there be relief to the people from the burdens of unjust taxation?

In concluding, Mr. Stevenson briefly alluded to the force bill and urged the repeal of the obnoxious provisions of the compulsory school law of Illinois.

DULUTH SOCIETY.

Social Matters Are Quiet and the City is Filled With Tourists.

Production of "The Magic Fountain" a Play Written by Miss Rena Smith.

The Breton Fete Will Take up the Attention of Society the Coming Week.

Social matters have been very quiet in Duluth during the week. The continuance of hot weather has driven many people out of town, either on the lakes or into the woods. The streets have been lively and the hotels thronged with crowds of tourists. The Breton fete is occupying a large share of social attention. The most refreshing event of the week, if not of the season, was the presentation of Miss Smith's play, the "Magic Fountain," which is described at length elsewhere.

"THE MAGIC FOUNTAIN."

A Play Written Entirely by a Young Duluth Lady Privately Produced.

Those of Duluth society people, both young and old, who were fortunate enough to be present at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Smith, in the East End, Thursday afternoon, were treated to a surprise as pleasant and lasting as it was entirely novel. The attraction proved to be the first and only presentation of "The Magic Fountain," a two-act play, largely musical, entirely written and composed, staged and handled by the young authoress, Miss Rena Smith, 15 years old, perhaps better known among her large circle of young and old society friends as "Brownie." The cast of characters, and every one of them was elegantly costumed, was as follows:

Aimee, great queen of all fairyland.....Blanche Howe
Ariel, the queen's messenger.....Emma Waugh
Alti, queen of the band of mischief fairies.....Lulu Bowen
Ponce de Leon, a Spanish nobleman.....Rena Smith
Ykamweta, an Indian boy.....Harry Stevens
Fairy Bright, Fairy Claire, Fairy Vera, Fairy Zula, Queen Alti's attendants: Gertrude Waugh, Susie Bailey, Vera White, Junista Williams
Pages.....Carson Smith, Fred Elston

Musicians:
Mrs. Elston.....and.....Miss Fitzgerald

The spacious parlors of the Smith residence were completely given over to the young people and the stage settings, which were heightened by a number of loaned accessories from the Lyceum and Temple stages, were very fine. The first act showed a forest dell in the center of which was the the magic fountain of sleep, backed by mountains and a heavy forest. The second act showed the interior of Queen Alti's grotto, with the fountain of youth in the foreground, the grotto being tastefully draped and ornamented with rich flowers. It may be interesting to note in this connection that the fountains were real affairs and in response to the commands of the respective queens threw out showers of real water. In this time of stage realisms the young playwright insisted that all her stage effects should be real ones, regardless of expense.

The plot of the play, which is very ingenious, in brief is as follows: The great Queen Aimee, of all fairyland, had notified her various subjects that they might expect a visit from a mortal who was in quest of the fountain of youth. Over 200 years elapse and the queen's messenger brings news that the mortal is on his way to drink of the fountain which has the magic property of renewing perpetually the youth of the person fortunate enough to quaff of its crystal flow. The fairies under Queen Alti are thrown into consternation at this notice, because it is understood if a mortal drinks of the fairy fountain that all its virtues depart from it, unless the supreme queen, Aimee, renews its qualities by some magic spell which she alone has the power to work. Queen Alti and her attendants determine to hoodwink the mortal, who is none other than Ponce de Leon, a very old man, and make him drink of the fountain of sleep instead. The approach of Ponce de Leon is heralded, by a very pretty adaptation from the Bogie Man, sung by the fairies, the refrain being, "Hush, hush, hush, here comes the Spanish man," and the fairies vanish. Queen Alti points out the fountain of sleep to Ponce de Leon and he drinks of it only to fall into a deep sleep, in which state he is discovered by the great and good fairy, Queen Amee, who wakens him and learns of the deception which has been practiced. Summoning the mischief loving Queen Alti to her presence she commands her to show the mortal the location of the real fountain of youth. She does so and Ponce de Leon drinks of its waters and immediately becomes a young and beautiful man. Queen Alti is punished for her mischief by being changed into a mortal, but she is a lovely woman and falls in love with Ponce de Leon and marries him and so the play ends happily for all concerned.

The young participants, including Ariel, who is only about 4 years old, were thoroughly up in their parts and the unique performance was one of the most pleasant social events of the season. The work of the young authoress shows much more than ordinary ability in such matters and the plot, which is quite intricate at times, is developed with the skill of a playwright of mature years. It is understood that an effort will be made to have the play produced in the High school assembly hall if possible. It was a purely social surprise to the delighted audience.

Final Assessment

For Grading Second Alley.

Office of the Board of Public Works,
City of Duluth, Minn., Aug. 18, 1892.

Notice is hereby given that a contract has been completed for grading the alley between First street and Second street in the city of Duluth, Minnesota, from Eighteenth avenue west to Twenty-eighth avenue west; that the board of public works of said city will meet at their office in the city hall, in said city, on Monday, the 29th day of August, A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m., to make an assessment of the sum of twelve thousand five hundred and forty-eight ($12,548) dollars and fifty-four (54) cents upon the real estate benefitted by such grading, for the purpose of raising money to in full defray the expense thereof.

The following lands situated in said city, viz: Blocks, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79 and 80 in Duluth Proper, Second division, are deemed benefitted by said grading and will be so assessed unless cause is shown why any of them should not be so assessed.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Robert C. Smith (a single man) mortgagor, to Alexander Macrae, mortgagee, bearing date the 2nd day of November, A. D. 1891, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on the 18th day of November, A. D. 1891, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 98 of mortgages, on page 149; such default consisting in the non-payment of the semi-annual installment of interest due upon said mortgage on the 1st day of May, A. D. 1892, amounting to the sum of forty ($40) dollars, the payment of which was secured by said mortgage; and whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due, and is actually due, at the date of this notice, upon said mortgage, the sum of forty and 99-100 dollars interest upon said mortgage debt, and fifty dollars attorney's fees stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure thereof; and whereas on the 5th day of November, A. D. 1891, said mortgage was duly assigned by said Alexander Macrae to A. J. Eastabrooks by an instrument, bearing date on said day, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds for St. Louis county, Minn., on the 18th day of November, A. D. 1891, at 4 o'clock p. m., in book 74 of mortgages, on page 622; and whereas, no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, which has become operative by reason of the default above mentioned, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit:

Lot one hundred sixty-eight (168), in block nine (9), Duluth proper, Third division, according to the recorded plat thereof; which said premises, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the taxes (if any) on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, by the sheriff of said St. Louis county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 4th day of October A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated August 20, A. D., 1892.

A. J. EASTABROOKS,
Assignee of Mortgage.

FRANCIS W. SULLIVAN,
Attorney for assignee.

DANA WILL BE SHOCKED.

It is to be feared that the Hon. Charles A. Dana, of New York, will not be well pleased with the speech delivered at Bloomington, Ill., this afternoon, by the Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic candidate for the vice-presidency. Editor Dana has eaten crow over the nomination of Mr. Cleveland with a feeling of nausea somewhat lessened by the thought that his friend Adlai graced the tail of the ticket. In Adlai E. Stevenson he recognized a genuine Democrat, about whom no trace of mugwumpism lingered, a Democrat who believed in "turning the rascals out" and who less than eight years ago made a notable record by swinging his keen-edged blade and decapitating many thousand Republican postmasters to make place for "the boys."

To Adlai E. Stevenson has Editor Dana pinned his faith. He was the only ray of brightness in the murky clouds which lowered around the Sun. It is likely that Mr. Dana even expected that Mr. Stevenson would give but a tacit adherence to the free trade platform adopted at Chicago and refrain from endorsing the mugwump ideas of "the stuffed prophet" at Buzzard's Bay. Mr. Dana had himself sounded the tocsin of war. "Down with the force bill" was the rallying cry upon which he aimed to lead the Democratic hosts to victory, and for these many weeks he has had his ear turned in the direction of Bloomington waiting to hear an echo from the ex-official headsman of the postoffice department.

But alas for Editor Dana's cherished hopes! His fair idol has fallen. Mr. Stevenson has spoken. Adlai has addressed the people, and what is the result? "The tariff," he said, "is the all-important issue of the campaign." Protection, he asserted, is a delusion and a snare, and for an hour he declaimed against the alleged iniquities of the protective system which Dr. Dana views only to admire, while in less than a minute he dismissed the force bill—which in Mr. Dana's opinion is the great and only issue of the campaign—and passed on to touch on state issues. We fear that in thus proclaiming his ideas, Mr Stevenson has lost the earnest support of Dr. Dana Any man who will be so lost to appreciation of the all importance of the force bill as to make it a subsidiary issue to the tariff question cannot receive any aid or comfort from the editor of the New York Sun.

THE CHOLERA'S SPREAD.

The Asiatic cholera has reached England. Slowly but surely it has traversed the continent of Europe, and now awaits passage across the ocean to America. So far it has not gained headway in England. It has been confined to a few cases at Gravesend, which were brought from Hamburg, and the greatest care has been exercised in the carrying out of measures to prevent the disease from spreading. It is hoped that these measures will be successful, but cholera is a very insidious disease and it has proven in the past almost impossible to stamp it out.

There is no reason why the people living in America should be alarmed or scared over the probability of the cholera reaching our shores, but there is every reason why the federal government and the health authorities of the different states should adopt all the measures at their command to guard against its arrival. Steps have already been taken at all the ports on the Atlantic coast to examine all arriving vessels, but the danger does not exist solely at the Atlantic ports. The disease may reach us by way of Canada, where the inspection may not be so rigid. There is a big tide of immigration this year, and a considerable portion of it is coming to the West through Canada to the Soo, to Port Huron and to Detroit. Quarantine stations should be promptly established at each of those points. Every avenue by which the dread disease might sneak into this country should be guarded.

The precautionary measures should not be limited to the inspection on the coast and along the international boundary. Despite all the vigilance thus exercised it is possible that the disease may be brought into our midst, and it therefore behooves every state board of health and the health authorities in every city in the land to be on the alert. The health laws should be rigidly enforced. The cities should be thoroughly cleansed. All nuisances and dirt in the streets, in the alleys and in the backyards should be removed at once. The Duluth board of health has an important duty to perform in attending to these precautionary and preventive measures. Good sanitation will make the cholera comparatively harmless. The advice has also been given by several journals that families should enforce these precautions: Good sanitary conditions, pure water, avoidance of alcoholic and malt drinks, avoidance of wilted and decayed fruits and vegetables, avoidance of much meat, and care to secure abundant sleep and freedom from mental or physical depression. With these precautions we can almost bid defiance to the terrible scourge.

IT NEEDS REVISION.

The Winona Republican claims that it "has a much larger circulation than any other paper published in Minnesota outside the cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis." This notice has been standing at the head of the Republican's editorial columns for several years, and probably it was correct when it was originally placed there.

But times have changed. Duluth and its suburbs have been growing rapidly in the past few years, and The Herald has been growing as fast in circulation, with the result that the Republican's statement now needs revision. The Duluth Evening Herald has a bona fide daily circulation of 6000 copies. It is prepared to substantiate this assertion by convincing proofs.

The Herald is satisfied that the Republican has not a circulation of that size, and it trusts therefore that it will amend its claim so as to read "outside the cities of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth."

The Verndale Journal says that the People's Press is "the advocate of the People's party in Duluth," and has come out for Judge Searle. This is an error. The People's Press is a little weekly paper published here, which does not represent the People's party in any manner whatever. It was also repudiated several weeks ago by the Trades and Labor assembly, the representative body of organized labor in Duluth, and its support of Judge Searle is not liable to make many friends for him in labor circles.

Canada will not back down, according to a Montreal dispatch, but will pay the retaliatory tolls at the Sault canal during the balance of the season. That is the vessel owners, and not the government, will pay them. It may therefore be necessary for President Harrison to give our neighbors a stronger dose of retaliation.

The New York Sun says that the Democrats of New York are "uniting against the Harrison force bill." It is pleasing to learn that the Democrats of the Empire state are united on something. It is also pleasing to know that they do not intend to submit to negro domination in New York.

The Morris Tribune thinks "there are too many political agriculturists engaged in running the People's party for that party ever to receive the hearty support of the actual tillers of the soil." The farmers will vote for Knute Nelson in preference to a political trickster like Donnelly.

The Chicago Mail still insists that the World's fair must not be closed on Sunday. The Mail has been making a gallant fight against the narrow-minded views of those who want the fair closed, in opposition to the wishes of the majority of the people, and it deserves success.

The Northwestern Miller reports that at least two of the railroads are secretly giving a 5 cent rate on flour from Minneapolis to Duluth. This is unjust to millers at other points, which should be given a proportionate rate.

"What the Democratic party most needs," says the Washington Post, "is an able-bodied silent partner." Well, David B. Hill seems to be filling that role very successfully at present. He isn't saying a word.

St. Paul has lost all its old-time enterprise. The city council has declined to appropriate any money to illuminate the streets during the state fair. The probable reason is that the city treasury is nearly empty.

Somehow or other no one has yet polled a passenger train on presidential preferences. Are all the fools dead?

South Carolina is now growing tea, but it does not expect to be able to open up trade relations with Kentucky.

The cranberry crop is reported to be short. This raises sad misgivings about Thanksgiving day.

So far there is no report from any city that the ward strikers have gone out.

The Episcopal ladies will give a social next Wednesday evening at Mrs. A. E. Rosenbush's residence on Third avenue west.

Furnished rooms for rent on Third avenue west. Apply at the Grand Central Drug store.

In the communication in last Monday's Herald Mr. McDonnell, of this place, is made to appear in an unfavorable light. It states that he agreed to do macadamized work for 93 cents and then raised his price to $1. The facts are as follows: The residents desired that the paving be changed from Nicholson to macadamized work, to which the contractor agreed and said he would do it for the same money. The contract says the contractor shall have 93 cents for cedar block and $1 for Nicholson, and Mr. Balstad in his communication confused the two.

Messrs. Plough and Brown, of the St. Paul & Duluth railroad, accompanied by a party of ladies, visited West Duluth yesterday.

The West Duluth band recently organized with O. H. Hagenes, manager and Mr. Arnold musical director made its initial appearance on the street last evening and agreeably surprised the citizens with some really first class music. The band numbers but fifteen pieces at present, but every effort is being made to induce players to locate here, and the boys are sanguine of making it one of the best bands at the head of the lakes.

A FINE SUGAR BOWL.

Many people have serious misgivings about venturing upon a purchase of silver or plated ware, because they entertain the idea that such an undertaking will involve them in lavish outlays of money. That is a notion which we are fully prepared to correct. The enormous production of silver within recent years, the improved appliances for the manufacture of the finest table ware and the great advances made by those who design and those who execute have brought within the reach of moderate means some of the handsomest products of modern enterprise, dexterity and skill. You can ask for no better proof of this than is afforded by the fact that we are selling sterling silver novelties of all kinds at prices which will simply paralyze you.

ANDREW JACKSON,

Wholesale, Retail and Manufacturing

JEWELER,

106 West Superior Street, Duluth.

SEEN AND HEARD.

Everybody in Duluth knows W. T. Bailey and a great number of people are familiar with his political assertion that he "would vote for a yaller dog if it was on the Republican ticket." Bailey travels around a good deal, owns a No. 1 trotter, tells a good story and is a practical joker of rare merit, but his usual jolly face wore a deep set frown the other day when he stepped off a train at the Union depot. I said unto him, "Friend Bailey, why this look of sadness?" For a moment the big lumberman gazed at me in silence, and then he ejaculated: "Blank McKinley and his bill!" I sought further information as to this outburst of feeling, and Bailey said "if the government would only suspend the operation of the McKinley bill for thirty-six hours I could make my everlasting fortune and build a 10-story building for every newspaper in the city! Do you know they are selling (whenever they can find a purchaser) the very best oats up at Winnigeg for 16 cents a bushel, and potatoes are rotting on their hands at 10, 12 and 14 cents. Just stop that McKinley bill for a little while, say a day and a half, and I'll run enough of both commodities over the line into the United States so that I can crowd Duluth prices down, and get a handsome rake-off besides!"

I didn't know what these articles were selling for in Duluth, but on inquiry I found that the best grades of oats were bringing 34 and 36 cents a bushel, while potatoes sold readily at 40 cents. This fact called to mind an incident in the early 70's which happened at Moorhead, and which serves to illustrate how "times has changed."

* * *

Somewhere about 1873 or 1874 there was an enormous crop of potatoes raised in the Red River valley in the vicinity of Moorhead and Fargo, and there was absolutely no market for them. A young man named Rogers, educated and refined but a typical Easterner and full of Yankee pluck, heard that there was a scarcity of potatoes at Fort Garry or Winnipeg. Rogers hadn't a cent, but here was an opportunity, so he "struck" a couple of railroad men for a cash loan and he "stood off" a lumber yard for enough lumber to build three flat boats. In about a week Rogers had his boats ready, and he bought up all the potatoes he could get at prices ranging from 8 to 10 cents a bushel, paying cash for some and getting the others "on tick." A crowd of the early Moorhead settlers gathered on the bank as Rogers, looking like a tramp in attire, with the aid of his three hired men pushed his flat boat flotilla away from the bank and starting northward was soon lost to view around the bend in the river.

Everybody confidently expected that Rogers, his crew, flat boats and cargo would go to everlasting "kingdom come" on the Goose rapids, and nothing was heard of the venture until some nine or ten days afterward. I remember the evening well, and the hoarse whistle of the steamer Dakota was heard and the heterogeneous population of Moorhead rushed to the bank to see the steamer arrive. Slowly she stemmed the swift current around the bend and edged up toward the usual landing, and as she swung "bow on" towards shore, a cry went up from fully a hundred throats "There's Rogers!" and sure enough, it was their former townsman, but oh! how changed! He was standing in the front rank of the cabin passengers on the forward deck, clothed elegantly, his head surmounted with a spotless white plug hat, a summer or fall overcoat thrown over one arm, from which dangled a cane, while the other hand manipulated a cigar. In response to the recognition of the crowd Rogers waved his (cigar) hand, and in a few moments was among us. He had passed the rapids successfully, reached Fort Garry or Winnipeg, and trudged up town with a sackful of potatoes on his back. He called on Dr. Schultz, Archbishop Tache and all the notables, and while they were not specially glad to see him, they were very eager to purchase his potatoes at prices ranging from $1.25 to $1.75 per bushel. He sold out all he had the day of his arrival and then made contracts for the delivery of several thousand bushels more. (I think it was 18,000 bushels.) He broke up his flat boats, or sold them as they were for much more than the lumber had cost him, and returned to Moorhead in quest of more potatoes to fill his contracts. His first step was to pay all his bills, and his second to get all the potatoes he could get hold of. He made two similar trips with some fleets of flat boats and disappeared Eastward with something like $14,000 as the result of his potato ventures. Several others tried the same scheme afterward, but Rogers had the first three cargoes in Winnipeg and made the most money. The others did well, but nothing like Rogers.

I hear that three young men on East First street had a strange roomer the other night. There is a double bed and a single folding bed in the room and they were all occupied. During the night the man in the single bed heard some one come in the room, undress and go to bed in the double couch all in the dark, but thinking it was one of the usual roomers there he paid no attention to the matter. In the morning when the regular occupants of the double bed woke up they found a third party (a total stranger) in bed with them and sound asleep. They woke him up and demanded an explanation. He was really as much astonished as they were, but finally admitted that he might have been a little "full" the night before and mistaken the house and room.

I don't want to give his name away, but I hear that a young but well-known clerk in the St. Paul & Duluth freight office is going through a very arduous course of training for the somewhat difficult freak calling of a glass-eater. He is doing quite well already and can make a first-class meal out of old lamp chimneys, beer bottles (empty), and the switchmen begin to complain that their lantern globes are disappearing very fast lately. If he survives his training he may appear in the Pavilion.

Good rooms and first-class board can be had at the Hotel Cheltenham, 210 and 212 West Second street.

IT WILL BE LEGAL.

Davis, Kellogg & Severance Will Report Favorably to the City on the Bridge.

Their Opinion Will be Filed Next Monday Previous to the Council Meeting.

The Improvement Will Probably be Now Ordered Without Further Delay.

Davis, Kellogg & Severance, of St. Paul, will file their written opinion on the question of the right of the city of Duluth to construct a bridge over the canal regardless of the failure of the national government to give its approval, on Monday next in time to present at the council meeting in the evening. The opinion will be entirely favorable and will be satisfactory to the city in every particular.

Aldermen Kennedy and Thomas saw Senator Davis when they were down and were placed in possession of all necessary information. The opinion will come from the firm, but will really be from Senator Davis. With this and the one already given by City Attorney Smith, the aldermen will hardly ask anything further. It is therefore to be expected that the improvement will be ordered and the board directed to advertise for bids. There is some objection to the method of assessing the cost of the bridge which has been proposed—two-thirds to be paid by the property on the point and the other one-third out of the general fund, but it is not very serious. Some people are inclined to be skeptical as to the practicability of the lift bridge, but the designer, J. A. L. Waddell will put up a bond guaranteeing it to be all that is represented.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

A Program for Four Weeks of Good Racing.

The Great Northwestern Circuit managers are out with a program for four weeks of good racing for the horsemen for the autumn season. They offer liberal inducements to enter in the big stakes and purses, as only 5 per cent entry fee will be charged through the circuit. The purses amount to $25,000, and the dates and managers are as follows:

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 30-31, Sept. 1-2. Entries close Aug. 22. 11 p. m. Geo. W. Taylor, secretary.

Hamline, state fair, Sept. 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. Entries close Aug. 20, noon. W. F. Cross, secretary.

Rochester, Sept. 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16. Entries close Sept. 5, 11 p. m. C. Van Campen, secretary.

Duluth, Sept. 20, 21, 22 and 23. Entries close Sept. 5, 11 p. m. E. F. Jones, secretary, Chamber of Commerce building, Duluth.

The Minneapolis Journal says there is a big field of horses at the Minnehaha track. They are there preparing for the fall circuits. Most of them will start at La Crosse and continue through to Duluth. Lon and John Hawkins are still out with their strings, and J. D. Martin and the Loomis brothers are in search of the big purses outside. Frank Loomis has had a merry class to contend with wherever he has started Nellie Mason or Phœbe Wilkes. The latter mare be drove a half in 1:03, at the Rochester meeting, and Nellie Mason made the winner of the 2:19 trot go better than 2:17 to beat her. Loomis has the fleet mares entered at the Hampden park meeting at Springfield, Mass., next week and they will come near being posted among the winners. Spear has a number of entries in the big meeting at the Washington park track, Chicago. The entries are large and the performers are the best of the season, if George gets near enough to the winner to save his entry fee he will be a right smart young fellow.

SUPERIOR NEWS.

Delegates Favorable to Buchanan for Congress Will be Elected.

The Democratic ward caucuses were held in Superior last evening and passed off very quietly. The county convention met at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and elected delegates to the state and congressional conventions. Douglas county will probably endorse Dan Buchanan, of Superior, formerly of Chippewa Falls, for the congressional nomination. David Dobie is the only other candidate mentioned, but he does not want the nomination and is not out for it. If he should get it, however, he would probably make the run. Some of the wards elected Dobie delegations last evening and two or three counties in the district have instructed for him.

West Superior's board of trade is not as successful as it was anticipated that it would be and there is now talk of establishing one at the East End. There is considerable doubt expressed, however, about the advisability of this, for if it cannot be worked successfully at the West End, it hardly can at the East End. A. A. Freeman, of the Freeman Milling company, recently wanted to purchase 2000 bushels of wheat and was obliged to come to Duluth. Option dealing seems to constitute the entire business of the present board.

A 38-calibre revolver was found yesterday at the Steel plant near where the trouble between strikers and steel workers occurred Saturday night. It is supposed to be the gun from which the five shots, or some of them, were fired during the affray. Although nothing certain is known with reference to the revolver, it is regarded as at least a clue which may lead to important evidence. It is stated that prior to Saturday night revolvers were borrowed by several of the strikers.

West Superior foot ball club will play a six-side contest with the Duluth boys at Spirit Lake Labor day if the weather will permit.

W. J. Holmes, the West Duluth broker who purchased the Superior bonds, has notified the city authorities that the money for the purchase of the city special improvement bonds is ready and that nothing now remains except the examination of the bonds by competent authority and their favorable judgment thereon. He declares that the responsibility for delay rests with the city.

FORCED TO THE WALL.

An English Firm Hit Hard by the McKinley Law.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—A meeting has been summoned of the shareholders in the company of Salt & Sons, owners of the famous factories at Saltaire on the river Aire, about three miles from Bradford. Saltaire is known as the model village, the late Sir Titus Salt having established these homes for his operatives, with surroundings according to most improved and progressive plans.

The business of the company of late became so depressed that it is seriously proposed to wind it up. The company is a limited one and was formed in 1881 with a capital of £1,250,000 to conduct the business of the late Sir Titus Salt. The late losses of the company are attributed to the McKinley bill which has deprived the company of a considerable market in America. The assets of the concern are valued upwards of £250,000 sterling beyond liabilities. The trade liabilities are about £200,000.

The firm formerly manufactured altogether until recent years plush goods. Since the McKinley law went into operation the business has been reduced to a tenth of its former magnitude. The concern once employed 4,000 operatives, and visitors from all parts of the world were pointed with pride to the model town of Sir Titus Salt. The news of the condition of the company has caused a widespread sensation in trade circles.

SCANDAL IN DES MOINES.

An Old Man and His Niece are Under Suspicion.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 28.—A sensational secret church trial is in progress at the Grace Methodist church.

Mr. Shaer, a venerable-looking man with snow-white hair and beard, evidently about 70 years of age, had always been looked upon as a devout Christian. His wife died quite suddenly about six months ago and shortly afterward, in about two or three months, he married his niece, a Miss Mendenhall, about 22 years of age, who has been making her home with Mr. Shaer.

Not long afterwards a child was born to them and then the trouble began, which culminated in the church trial. Mr. Shaer is said to have been very neglectful of his wife for some time previous to her death.

Capturing the Rioters.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 27.—Over 100 prisoners arrested yesterday and last night at Oliver Springs were handed in at Camp Carnes, Coal Creek yesterday. Many of them were recognized as fellows who captured the Chilhowie Light infantry of this city and robbed them of everything that they had. They will be tried for conspiracy and highway robbery. The next raid will be on Jellico.

A Milwaukee Pioneer Dead.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 27.—Philip Altpeter, a well known maltster of this city, died here last night at the age of 73 years. Mr. Altpeter came to this city in 1840, and was widely known throughout the state.

Cloquet Board of Trade.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the secretary of state for the organization of a board of trade in Cloquet. The signers include all the leading business men of the village, and, as the articles state, the organization is for the advancement of the commercial manufacturing, mercantile and agricultural interests of the place. The officers are: President, H. B. Allen; vice president, Peter Phalon; secretary, J. S. Mills; board of directors, Alpheus Woodward, George W. Turner, M. L. Sullivan, B. J. Summerfield and A. Gowan.

One Foot Torn Off.

A 9-year-old son of O. Heglund met with a severe accident in the Howe Lumber company's mill at Tower, where his father is employed. He and another boy were amusing themselves by riding on the endless chain which dumps the refuse of the mill into the fire hole, when his foot caught and he was dragged toward the chute. On being extricated from his perilous position it was found that one foot was entirely torn off and the other badly lacerated. His leg was also broken above the knee and his hip badly torn.

Gov. Campbell Not Coming.

Ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, is not coming to Duluth as announced by the St. Paul papers for several days past. He goes from St. Paul to Wyoming, to be absent about two weeks. Some members of the party will upon their return visit the Buckeye mine and Governor Campbell may possibly come then.

Haverly at the Lyceum.

Haverly's minstrels will play at the Lyceum theater and will open the second season of that theater. The Lyceum has also put the paper on the boards for Margaret Mather. The Temple, however, has not given up hope of playing her.

You Are Invited.

The Pulaski brass band will give a picnic tomorrow, Sunday, afternoon at Braeutigam's garden. Take regular Duluth & Iron range trains from Union station, Lake avenue or Endion depot.

Commissioner Ouchterloney and her private secretary, Adjutant Sommer, will be at the Salvation army, 28 East Superior street, next Tuesday evening. The commissioner pioneered the work of the Salvation army in Sweden and retained her command for nearly nine years. She is at present visiting the union with her secretary, who is a splendid soloist and accompanies herself on guitar. Admission fee 10 cents.

Two Savings Banks and Loan Associations in Buffalo Found to be Insolvent.

Several Savings and Building Societies That Have Been Doing an Illegal Business.

Profits Were Anticipated by Twelve Years and Books Filled With False Entries.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 27.—A sensation, second only to that caused by the failure of the National Savings bank, was caused by the announcement that State Bank Examiner Whitton had found two banks and loan associations practically insolvent and that many others are in an unsafe condition. The associations reported as insolvent are the Third Ward Loan association and the Erie County Permanent Savings and Loan association.

Examiner Whitton has been giving his attention to the savings, building and loan associations since the books of the National bank were straightened out. Up to the present time he has examined six of these societies, among them being two known as dime associations, where dues are paid in at the rate of ten cents a week on each share, and which is known as the permanent plan.

"These associations," Mr. Whitton says, "have been doing an illegal business. Their system is merely making false entries on somebody's books. They have been dividing and paying money representing a premium which could only be earned so much per annum during the life of a loan. The loan usually ran from ten to twelve years. Profits were declared the very night money was sold. They were anticipating profits by twelve years. There are probably eighty of these 'permanent dime associations' and I shall not be surprised to find most of them in pretty bad shape."

Mr. Whitton is awaiting the action of the banking department in regard to these two associations, and is continuing his examination of other concerns doing business in a similar way.

Sealing Prohibited.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—A cablegram to the Herald from Valparaiso says the Chilean government asks that publicity be given to the prohibition of sealing in the Strait of Magellan, the Chiloe islands and Juan Fernandez in order to prevent sealers from fitting out in New London for the coming season. Notice will soon be issued by Argentina of similar restriction of sealing.

HUNT FOR COPPER.

Testpit Being Sunk on the Lake Shore Four Miles From Two Harbors.

Duluth Parties Behind the Scheme and Trying to Locate A Vein of Copper.

Samples of Good Hard Ore Have Been Received From the Western Vermilion.

For nearly three weeks past a party of miners have been engaged in sinking a test pit on the shore of Lake Superior about eighty rods east of the mouth of Stewart river and four miles from Two Harbors, says the Vermilion Iron Journal. They are in the employ of Duluth parties, and are trying to locate a vein of copper. The shaft was down about twenty feet the first of this week, and the indications then the most prominent yet encountered.

It was several feet below the lake surface, but no water had found its way in. The rock taken out showed tracings of the mineral, some of which was taken for assay. The parties interested are evidently satisfied with the indications, as the miners when they went to work were told they would be there but a week. The location is near the south-east corner of 29-53-10.

THE WESTERN VERMILION.

Samples of Good Hard Ore Received From There.

Referring to a recent letter received by Snively & Craig, of this city, from an explorer employed to examine the alleged iron finds on the Western Vermilion range, in which he claimed to have found very poor iron indications and pronounced the land valuable for agricultural purposes, but not for ore, the Vermilion Iron Journal says:

"The Journal has been shown some very good samples of iron ore from these townships and a number of reliable iron men who have visited properties in that country have also attested to the merits of the numerous finds. A large number of gentlemen from West Superior and Minneapolis are located in towns 61-17, 61-18, 61-19, 61-20 and the towns south of these. We have now in our possession several specimens of good hard ore from section 23, 60-23 taken from the claim of Treffle Beland which has been pronounced excellent by all who have examined the same. What the motives of the 'explorer' who wrote Messrs. Snively & Craig, for making such assertions are, we are not prepared to say, but will stick to it that there is iron ore on these lands until it has been otherwise proven."

WILL BE SIX STORIES.

Windsor Hotel to be Greatly Enlarged Next Year.

It is now given out that the Henderson block, in which The Herald office is located, will be completed next year, but not as originally intended. It will be finished for hotel purposes and will be leased by James Sullivan, the present lessee of the Windsor hotel, The building will rise six stories above the basement on Superior street and seven stories on Michigan street. Its ground size will be 85 by 115 feet and it will be built of stone and iron throughout and thoroughly fire-proof. The lower floor will be devoted to offices, including the hotel office, and the five upper stories to parlors and sleeping rooms. There will be 300 rooms in the new Windsor. All the modern improvements such as passenger elevators, a complete system of gas and electric lighting and wiring will be incorporated. Work on the new building will commence May 1, 1893, and it will be completed by Nov. 1, of the same year.

A party of Boston capitalists recently offered Mr. Henderson $150,000 in cash for the site, and he briefly informed them that "the Windsor hotel corner is not for sale."

TWO DULUTH ATTRACTIONS.

Visitors Never Miss Planked Whitefish and the Boulevard.

Pioneer Press: "Superior whitefish," slowly repeated a Duluth gentleman as he glanced over the bill of fare at the Merchants the other day, preparatory to giving his order. "You haven't the dish we have in Duluth," said the gentleman as he turned to a St. Paul friend. "Our greatest dish at Duluth is a planked whitefish. Yes, sir! A plank whitefish, and Duluth is the only place I ever saw it served. I would rather have it than any other fish served on the table, and whenever we want to show any special attention to distinguished guests a plank whitefish is ordered. It is the principal dish of the dinner. The cook secures a large fresh fish and bakes it on a plank an inch and a half in thickness. It is served on this plank, and the flavor of that fish is something that will appeal to the appetite of the greatest epicurean in the country.

"After enjoying this dish the visitor is then shown our boulevard back of the city, which has an elevation of 500 feet above the lake. This is a natural driveway, and, as we think, was once the shore of the lake. It has been improved and we consider it the finest drive in this part of the country. These are the two things the visitor to the Zenith city never misses—the plank whitefish and the boulevard."

"NAIAD QUEEN."

Grand Fairy Spectacle to Be Given at West Superior.

The Grand Opera house at West Superior will be occupied by McKnight's grand fairy spectacle "Naiad Queen" all next week commencing Monday night. Over 400 people will appear in magnificent costumes. The music is all bright, and of a catchy and popular character. The scenery and decorations of the opera are magnificent and beggar description. All the opera house scenery has been removed and men are now placing in the special scenery of the "Naiad Queen" Four rainbow calcium lights will be thrown from the balcony on to the many beautiful scenes. A grand matinee will be given on Saturday.

THE FETE BRETON.

A Transformation Now Going at the Pavilion.

The great Fete Breton opens Monday evening and a transformation is now going on at the Pavilion which will change its bare walls and homely appearance into a fairy land of kaleideoscopic beauty. The booths are being erected under the personal supervision of Miss Eager. The calcium lights which will be used are furnished by a Chicago house and are very expensive. The handsome court costumes for the gentlemen in the French court dance have arrived from New York city, and in point of beauty they will only be excelled by the exquisite dresses of the ladies who will appear in the Empire costume of Josephine's reign.

A FIVE-CENT RATE.

It is Being Made on Flour From Minneapolis to Duluth.

Northwestern Miller: There seems to be no longer any question about a rate of 5 cents being made on flour from Minneapolis to Duluth. The two principal roads running to Duluth try to keep up the appearance of charging 7½ cents per 100 pounds, but there are a great many people other than the shippers who know that this is a myth. It is a question if certain favored firms, at least, have not always had the lower rate.

The roads have an object in keeping from the general public the knowledge that Minneapolis firms are getting a 5-cent rate to Duluth. Certain of them do not want to know that it exists. The Milwaukee road, for instance, if compelled to recognize the fact that a 5-cent rate is made, would have all the points on its lines between here and Chicago clamoring for a proportionate reduction in rates to Milwaukee and Chicago, to place them on a parity with Minneapolis. As long as these points are kept in the dark about the 5-cent rate, the road has no trouble with them.

Annual Meeting.

The twelfth annual meeting of the Minnesota Woman Suffrage association will be held at Hastings, September 6, 7 and 8, beginning with a session at 3 p. m. on Tuesday, September 6.

All local societies are requested to send three delegates. Where there is no local W. S. A., any person who subscribes to the constitution and pays a membership fee of one dollar into the state treasury, will receive a membership ticket, which will serve as credentials for any annual meeting or other convention of the Minnesota W. S. A. within one year from its date.

Good speakers and singers will be present. Important questions will be discussed, and men and women who love justice and are interested in whatever concerns the welfare of their country are invited to come and take part in the meeting.

Magnificent costumes and elaborate stage effects in "Queen Esther" at the Temple, Tuesday.

There will be a dearth of out-door and parlor entertainments in Duluth next week, everything in all grades of nice society will center in the one fascinating spot, the Breton Fete. To go once, is to go again and again. It is impossible to take in all its features, comprehend and understand them at once seeing, but the more you witness this beautiful kaleidescopic picture the more you want to. The calcium light which comes from Chicago is furnished by the Calcium Light company of that city and will be thrown upon the beautiful dances in changing colors by an operator sent specially by the company.

Don't fail to see "Queen Esther" at the Temple next Tuesday.

A MEDICINE MAN.

Mixing the Potion That Produced Sleep with the One for an Appetite.

Although in perfect health, James Mund, of eastern New York, is always taking medicine. The 10th of last month he brought home two small bottles. "What ails you now!" laughed his wife, who had for years told him he needed no medicine, the physician agreeing with her. "That," he said, pointing to one bottle, "is appetite medicine." And she knew he ate more than any other man in the neighborhood. "That," he said, pointing to the other bottle, "is sleep medicine." And she knew he slept soundly from bedtime until she awoke him in the morning. "I hope you may soon recover," she said.

At night, having taken his medicine, he went early to bed. "Now for a good sleep," said he.

About midnight he called to his wife, who was fast asleep.

"Mary! Oh, Mary!"

"W-what is it, dear?" said she.

"I've made a mistake," he moaned, "the greatest mistake of my life. Instead of the sleep medicine I took the appetite medicine, and I just can't stand it; I'm hungry as a bear."

She did not scold as she prepared beefsteak and coffee.

In the morning, after taking his medicine, he sat down at the table to await breakfast. "I'll eat you out of house and home now, Mary," said he.

When breakfast was ready she asked, "Tea or coffee, James?"

But he did not answer. He did not look up. He was sound asleep. She did not awaken him, perceiving that this time he had taken the sleep medicine for the appetite medicine.

With staring eyes he sprang from the chair about noon, and laughing when he saw his wife smiling, he threw both bottles as far as he could into a five acre field of clover.—Youth's Companion.

Not In the Soup.

They had a half dozen or more kinds of soup at the hotel, and the guest, an experienced hotel food sampler, looked over the menu.

"Bring me some chicken soup," he said to the waiter.

It was brought and he sent it away after tasting it.

"Bring me beef soup," he commanded.

It was brought, tasted and sent away, and so on with all of them.

"Bring me some water soup," he requested finally.

"What kind of soup is that, sir?" asked the startled waiter.

"It's the kind I want," explained the guest, "if it is made as the others are. There's no chicken in your chicken soup, no beef in your beef soup, no vegetables in your vegetable soup, no beans in your bean soup, and, on the same principle, I suppose there's no water in your water soup. Do you understand?"

A few moments later the landlord came in and heard a few incongruous remarks on the subject of soups and their constituent elements.—Detroit Free Press.

The Game in Boston.

Little Beacon Hill (during a lull in the game)—It is pleasing to contemplate, Waldo, when one has "sevened," to use the vernacular, that games of chance by means of the die, similar to those we now employ, were one of the most popular pastimes of the ancient Egyptians, dating from the time of Amenophis III, B. C. 1443. So make your cast. I have you "fated," to relapse into vulgarism once more.—Truth.

The Strongest Man.

A Matter of Wonder.

"I see by that sign," said the man in the chair to the barber, "that you hone razors for private use."

"Yes, sir. Have you some that want honing?"

"No; but I was wondering why you didn't hone the razors you use on your customers."—Brooklyn Life.

Making an Application.

Housekeeper—No, no, no! I don't want anything. This is the tenth time I've had to say this this morning.

A PATHETIC SCENE.

Rescue of Nineteen Miners Who Were Imprisoned in a Welsh Coal Pit.

Joyous Cries Mingled With Tears When Their Friends Found Them Still Alive.

Soon After Came Sadder Scenes When a Dozen Dead Bodies Were Found.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—All through the night the explorers in the Parkslip coal mine at Aberkenfig labored for the rescue of the imprisoned miners. Crowds of men, women and children remained about the pit's mouth, eager and sleepless, waiting for the news of the fate of the loved ones below. Women with babes at their breast, refused to go home when urged, and while the little ones slept in the mother's arms the mothers watched and waited. During the night there was nothing to raise the hopes of the watchers.

The explorers were driven more than once to give up their work. They were met by suffocating gas, which made it nearly impossible to breathe and some of them narrowly escaped asphyxiation. Still the thought of the anxious ones above and of those who might be living below, stimulated their energies and prevented their courage from sinking. Stupendous falls in the mine increased the difficulty of the work and retarded progress.

As the night wore on and daylight began to dawn without anything from below, the courage of the watchers went away. It was noticed, however, that not one of the wives and mothers sought rest. They watched on and on beyond the dawn and at length about 10 o'clock in the morning their patience was rewarded by a joyous shout from below. Nineteen miners had been found alive and were brought to the surface. The men were in a weak and exhausted condition but conscious.

The scene that ensued was most pathetic. Joyous cries mingled with tears as women and children, fathers, sons and brothers recognized the members of their families. Friends of those who had been saved fell on their knees and offered up prayers of thanks, while others prayed between hope and fear that their dear ones too might be saved. There was an evident revival of courage after this episode.

Then, soon after, came sadder scenes and about a dozen bodies were brought to the surface. These were the remains of men who had evidently not been killed by the gas explosion. It was evident that after the explosion they had made a rush for the crank shaft and had been overtaken and suffocated by the deadly gases. The work is still in progress.

Col. Breckeiridge Renominated For Congress From Kentucky.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 27.—Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge has been officially declared the Democratic nominee for congress from the Ashland district, no candidate having appeared against him up to last night. Mr. Breckenridge was born in Baltimore in 1837, was graduated at Center college, Danville, Ky., in 1855; entered the Confederate army as a captain in 1861; became colonel of the North Kentucky cavalry; commanded the Kentucky cavalry brigade when it surrendered; was an editor for two years; afterwards professor of equity jurisprudence in Cumberland university, Tennessee, and in 1884 was elected as a Democrat, without opposition, to the United States house of representatives from Kentucky. He was re-elected each term since that time.

FOUR CHILDREN KILLED.

Three by a Rattlesnake's Bite and One by Drowning.

ATHENS, Ga., Aug. 27.—A story has reached here from Madison county telling of the sad death of the four children of a family named Wilson in the short time of forty minutes, three of them from the bite of a rattlesnake and the other by drowning.

The sad affair occurred a few days ago. Mrs. Wilson went to a spring near the house for water, taking the baby with her. Later two of the children were found dead and the third one dying. The little fellow, however, was able to talk and said they had poked their fingers through a crack in the floor and a hen under the house had bitten them.

Mrs. Wilson hurried back to the spring and there found that her little baby had crawled into the spring and been drowned. When the mother returned to the house she found the little boy also dead. Some time later the father returned. Search was made and a huge rattlesnake was found under the house and killed.

THE TEXAS COMMISSION.

Will Not Interfere With Roads Which Enjoined Them.

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 27.—The papers in the federal injunction suit granted by Judge McCormick at Dallas on Monday were formally served on Chairman Reagan and the other railway commissioners yesterday afternoon.

Chairman Reagan stated that in obeying the injunction the commissioners would not further interfere with the four roads concerned in procuring the injunction. The commission will go on as formerly, making rates for the roads not included in the injunction.

SERIOUS RIOTS IN FRANCE.

French Miners Attack the Houses of Arrivals From Belgium.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—A riot occurred at Lievien, a mining town in the department of Pas de Calais. The French miners have for some time been irritated at the importation of miners from Belgium.

Yesterday the Frenchmen attacked the houses where the Belgians lived and smashed the windows. The troops had to be called upon to stop the riots. The Belgians, it is believed, will go back to their country for fear of renewed violence.

ON FIRE IN MID-OCEAN.

The Steamer Empress of Japan Had a Narrow Escape.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 27.—The Canadian Pacific steamer Empress of Japan arrived Thursday evening from Hong Kong. When 800 miles from Yokohama fire broke out in her hold and for some time the ship was in great danger. The ship put about and steamed at full speed for Hakodate, the nearest point.

Holes were cut in the bulkhead and water and steam were forced in. Upon opening the hold at Hakodate the electric light wires were found to be fused and about ten tons of tea and sugar were burned. The danger at one time was considered so serious that the ship's boats were lowered, watered and provisioned all ready to leave the ship.

Washington Nominations.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 27.—J. R. Mundy was nominated for congress; H. J. Snylevy for governor; H. C. Wilson for lieutenant governor, and E. K. Hanna and H. W. Brinker for the supreme bench by the Democratic convention yesterday. John McReavy, of Mason county, was named for secretary of state; Samuel Bass, of Whatcom county, for auditor, and L. S. Starr, of Douglas, attorney general.

FREE TO THE PUBLIC.

The Generous Offer Made by the Physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute.

Fully Appreciated and Met With Enthusiasm by the People of Duluth—Patients satisfied.

It used to be said to strangers in New York inquiring the way to Plymouth church: "Cross the ferry Sunday and follow the crowd; you can't miss it." Similar advice would not be inapplicable to the offices in Duluth of the Copeland Medical institute.

The physicians of the Copeland Medical institute stated to the public—giving their reasons for doing so—that they would examine, prescribe for, treat and furnish two weeks' medicine free of charge to all who apply at their office before Sept. 1.

That they are fulfilling their promises to the very letter is more than proven by the number of patients which every day and evening fill their spacious offices—rooms 312, 313 and 314 Lyceum building, and the happy, satisfied expression of each one in leaving after having consulted the examining physician.

Medicines and Treatment Free for Two Weeks to all Who Apply at Their Offices Before September 1.

The physicians of the Copeland Medical Institute will positively examine, prescribe for, treat and supply with two week' medicine. all persons who apply to them at their offices before Sept. 1.

Making no charge whatever. No money will be accepted for any kind of service by the physician, and no agreement to take money at any time will be made during August.

This offer is extended to only one of the same family, and only to those who can apply to the office for treatment.

A CHRONIC CASE.

A Gentleman Who Was Completely Discouraged Finds Speedy Relief.

"If Doctors Copeland, Hunt and Drenning can succeed in every case as they did in mine they are wonders. That is all I have to say." The speaker, Mr. William Anderson, has been with Mr. G. C. Aldrich, the wholesale fruit dealer, No. 286 East Sixth street, this city, for a numbers of years. "I have been going to doctors for some time," he continued. "The doctors were all in private practice and they did not seem to understand my case.

My nose was continually stopping up, and my head felt heavy and bad. I had pain across the bridge of my nose, my eyes were watery and always worse in damp weather; one side of my nose got so stuffed up that I never breathed through it at all, secretions would gather in the back part and I would be compelled to go through the disgusting habit of before I could eat anything; it was sometimes so bad as to make me sick at my stomach; my throat was dry and parched in the morning. I had been treated for a stomach trouble for some time, but could get no relief and it grew steadily worse. The trouble, I learned from Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning, was due to a catarrhal condition of the stomach that had extended there from the nose and throat and prevented the proper digestion of food. My appetite was poor and I had a disagreeable pain in the stomach that gave me great annoyance; my sleep was only partial, and would raise in the morning weak and went about the duties of the day in a nervous, irritable manner, as though everything was a burden to me. I heard of the great success of Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning, and concluded to visit the institute. After an interview with the doctor, who examined me closely, I was convinced that he understood my case, and I at once put myself under treatment and I am very glad I did so, for my improvement began with the first treatment, and now, after having been treated but a short time, I am myself again and rid of a trouble that had existed for years, and baffled the efforts of more than one general practitioner. Words are inadequate to express my gratification for the treatment I received at the Copeland Medical Institute.—St. Paul Dispatch.

WM. ANDERSON, No. 286 EAST SIXTH ST.

I DID NOT REST WELL

WORDS THAT BURN.

"I cannot recommend Drs. Copeland, Hunt and Drenning too highly," said Mr. John Hammes, the government contractor at Fort Snelling. It will pay you to read what he says. Mr. John Hammes, one of the substantial citizens of St. Paul, a man well known and whose integrity no man dares question, said: "About two years ago I began feeling badly, and my trouble gradually grew worse as the months went by. I became alarmed about my condition, and consulted the leading doctors in this city about my case, and was treated by them. I had

TERRIBLE PAINS IN MY CHEST;

I had a racking cough; I lost greatly in flesh, twenty-three pounds in one month; I had night sweats that completely exhausted me, and my stomach was so disarranged that I could not eat, which made me weak and worn out. I was told that I had quick consumption and that nothing more could be done for me. As I said before, my trouble had been coming on slowly for about two years, and nothing that I could do checked its progress. You can imagine now why I am grateful to Doctors Copeland, Hunt and Drenning, and why I cannot say too much in their praise when I tell you that in one month after I began their treatments I was a well man and as

SOUND AS A NUT.

I have not been so well in years. The doctor told me at once about my case, and told me correctly, too. I had paid out a large amount of money for doctors' bills, and what was the worse part of it, I got no relief. Doctors Copeland, Hunt and Drenning cured me in one month, and I only paid them $10. I cannot speak too highly of the doctors. I cannot do too much for them. I owe them a debt of gratitude I never expect to be able to repay. If any one doubts the truth of this statement they are respectfully referred to Mr. John Hammes. He lives at the corner of West Seventh and Stewart avenue. He is a government contractor at Fort Snelling and well and favorably known.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Miss Marion Flagler, of Lockport, N. Y., is visiting her cousin Mrs. J. L. Foote.

George Dennison, who has been United Press operator here for some time, leaves tomorrow for Denver, where he will be resident correspondent of the United Press.

Miss Dora Stewart went to St. Paul this afternoon to spend a couple of weeks visiting friends.

Max Lowenthal, advance agent of "The Harvest Moon," is in the city.

THEY ASK DAMAGES

Owners of the Steamer Rust Libel the Lake Superior Elevator Company.

They Want to Recover $1501.17 For Damages Caused by a Falling Trestle.

The Company is Alleged to Have Been Aware of Its Insecure Condition.

L. S. Sullivan, S. C. Schenck, H. C. Thacher, T. J. Southard, William Robertson and George H. Bynam, all of Toledo, O., owners of the steamer D. W. Rust and the schooners C. C. Barnes and W. H. Rounds have filed a libel suit in the admiralty court here complaining against the Lake Superior Elevator company and asking damages to the amount of $1501.17.

The damages asked for were caused by the falling of the trestle work or gallery between elevators B and D on May 19 last. The libelants allege that their boats tied up to the elevator dock on May 18 but the company refused to load them until the next day on account of stormy weather. At 9 o'clock the next morning the trestle fell and carried away the smoke stack of the Rust, stoved in her cabin and hatches breaking her rail and cutting lines and ropes. They further allege that the company knew of the insecure condition of the trestle when the boats were directed to tie up at the dock. For these damages and for the delay occasioned $1,276 70 is asked.

A further sum of $117.32 for the schooner C. C. Barnes and $107.15 for the schooner W. H. Rounds is asked on account of extra wages and expenses occasioned by reason of the delay necessitated in repairing the Rust.

THE SPECIAL TERM.

Fifteen Actions on the Calendar Are Disposed Of.

The special term calendar today contained fifteen actions. The disposition, as far as proceeded with up to 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, were as follows: Owen Fargusson vs. Duluth Improvement company et al, ordered that defendants have one week in which to propose specific amendments to the plaintiff's proposed case; Duluth Loan & Land company vs. Simon Kendall et al, and the American Exchange Bank vs. M. Fink and Joseph Lloyd, continued; Alexander Kinghorn vs. Abraham Bailey, order issued allowing the defendant to inspect certain papers and documents; Jannie Heffern vs. Timothy Heffern, decree of divorce granted and the custody of the two children, Delorah, 12 years, and John, 10 years, given to the plaintiff on the ground of desertion.

It was ordered that that the bail of Alev. Solans, one of the Soudan rioters be fixed at $25. The case of the Hurd company vs. W. C. White, et al was settled. In the case of the West Duluth Industrial and Improvement company vs. P. McDonald et al, the order to show cause was dismissed. In Lizzie Bowers vs. Sarah Schuler, a motion to strike out was overruled. Randi Olstad is suing Erick Olstad for absolute divore on the grounds of cruelty and inhuman treatment. There are no children.

SAME OLD STORY.

The Usual Crowd of Offenders In Court This Morning.

John Isaacs, M. McCarthy, William Taylor and John Rodgers, four drunks, gutturally gasped "guilty" in response to Judge Winje's query in the municipal court this morning, and as a reward for telling the truth the judge gave them each the choice of paying $12 or spending ten days in Sharvy's dungeon on the heights. William Sullivan, who came over from Superior and started in to "clean out" the town, but fell foul of Officer McLean at the first break was fined $5 and costs on the conplaint of Walter Howard for assault in the third degree. Archibald McDougall, a plumber, thought he saw Officer Moen trying to cast sheep's eyes at his girl, and commenced abusing the officer. The officer, who was in citizen's clothes at the time, stood the abuse until patience ceased to be a virtue and then ran the belligerent man of solder and sanitary plumbing in. He paid a fine of $5 and costs for using abusive language. It was a rather unusual session in that every prisoner pleaded guilty although it took a long dialogue in the Scandinavian tongue between the judge and Isaacs before his plea could be found out.

A Good Marine Business.

During the forty-eight hours up to 8 o'clock this morning there were nineteen vessels in port here, and the departures numbered the same. The estimated total tonnage of these vessels was 54,000 tons—a pretty good business in forty-eight hours for a port of Duluth's size.

TO RETAIN PROF. MEIER.

A Fund Started to Keep the Leader of the City Band.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There is not a citizen of Duluth who does not feel that it would be little short of a calamity to lose Professor Meier, the leader of our city band. Professor Meier's home is in Duluth, and his heart also, but the offer received from Buffalo is so much better than he has been able to do here thus far, that he cannot consistently refuse to accept unless something is done to increase his earnings here.

I believe that all the thousands of our citizens who have listened with delight to the music of our band under his leadership at the Pavilion during the past summer, will gladly contribute to a fund for that purpose. Mr. Meier has said to me that if $1000 should be raised he will not only stay in Duluth but will put $500 of that amount into the necessary expense of increasing the membership and therefore the efficiency of the band.

It ought to be a simple matter to raise more than that, and it could be done in two days if our daily papers would receive subscriptions which the people would send in. Simply to start the ball rolling I hereby agree to pay $10 to such a fund and will make it $25, if necessary, rather than see Professor Meier go away. Now, if every one will contribute promptly according to his means we can have $1000 for Professor Meier and $1000 for the band beside.

BAY VIEW HEIGHTS.

Activity and Attractiveness Go Hand in Hand There.

The development on Bay View Heights at West Duluth needs to be watched every day if one intends to keep track of it. A Herald representative visited the lovely suburb yesterday and found a number of fine houses in process of construction. The air is clear and pure, the view simply superb and the evolution of a lovely suburb from a wilderness to metropolitanism is going on at a rapid rate. Bay View Heights has all the advantages of city life with none of its drawbacks—good schools, good streets, good scenery and good neighbors. The incline railroad runs trains every few minutes and a visit out there is sure to be a pleasant one.

Are They Alike?

Did you ever stop to think that a great many of us have two different eyes, that the sight of each varies? If you do not believe this, just try it. Select newspaper print or type in The Herald of uniform size. Close first one eye and then the other—you may have a surprise in store for yourself. Then look at a distant object, such as a sign of letters across the street, or at a greater distance. Closing the eyes separately will soon reveal the fact of similar vision or inequality. Should there exist a difference you ought to look into the matter towards a means of correction. This illustration applies to persons who have never worn glasses. If you do wear them, and you care to determine whether or not they suit your eyes or the sight exactly, follow the same direction, first with the glasses off the face and then with them on. Many, no doubt, are wearing glasses totally unsuited to their wants of sight. A little common sense and judgment on this point of tests will be of great value. Dr. Matthez, at the Spalding, has examined the eyes for the adjustment of glasses of thousands and thousands of patients, and his life-time experience in the one and only pursuit naturally qualifies him most thoroughly in that department. His visit to Duluth this time is attended with the same success which always distinguishes his visits—crowded office daily. You cannot afford to lose such an opportunity. See him at once. He will examine your sight, determine upon it, which is done without cost. Office, room "D," parlor floor, at the Spalding,

The coming town on the range is now being platted and the sale of lots in this promising place will take place in about two week, and visitors to the site speak most enthusiastically of the beauty of the location. There could be no more beautiful one, so far as natural situation, with the fine lay of the land, pretty lakes, etc., and as for a place of business, the fact that it is centrally located as to the Mesaba Mountain, Virginia, Ohio, Lone Jack, Wyoming and other rich properties, nearly all of which are to be worked at once, show that there could not be another so fine a location on the whole range. Investors seeking a good investment or parties seeking a location can find no better place than Virginia.

WHEAT ON THE ADVANCE.

Some New Wheat Arrived Today and Graded High.

The wheat market was dull and advancing in the early hours today with a fair amount of trading in spot and December wheats. Six cars of new wheat were received here this morning and graded No. 1 hard for one car and No. 1 northern for five cars. This is considered an excellent showing. The wheat came from Casselton and Wahpeton, N. D., and some of the No. 1 northern sold on track at 76½. The market, owing to a rumor that England would prohibit importations of Russian wheat, ruled steady and advancing to the close which was ½c higher than yesterday. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 80½c; August, 80½c; September, 80c; December, 81c. No. 1 northern, cash 76½c; August, 76½c; September, 76½c; December, 77¾c. No. 2 northern, cash 71½c. No. 3, 61c. Rejected, 51c. On track, No. 1 hard, 80½c; No. 1 northern, 78½c.

Receipts — Wheat, 37,391 bus; flax, 847 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 84,643 bus. Cars ontrack, 36; last year, 112. It is expected that the stock of wheat in store here will show a decrease of 200,000 bus for the week.

Outside Markets.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—The close: Wheat: September, 75⅝c. Corn, September, 50¾c; October, 51@⅛c; May 52⅞c. Oats, September, 34½c; October, 34⅝c; May, 37⅝c. Pork, September, $10.50; October, $10.57½; January, $12.35. Lard, October, $7.72½; January, $6.97½.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 27.—Wheat: August closed at 73c; September opened at 71⅞c and closed at 72½c; December opened at 74⅝c, and closed at 75¼c. On track—No. 1 hard, 79½c; No. 1 northern, 78c; No. 2 northern, 68 @72c.

Children's and Boy's Clothing Department!

Do you know that what a boy wears is part of his education nowadays? By that, we mean that the advancement of art in Clothing for juveniles has been of such a high order that their ideas of form, color, taste or design are materially influenced by their apparel. It is a noticeable fact that the well-dressed boy is he whose organ of self-respect is best developed.

"That's all very well" some of you may say; but I have a family of six boys and I cannot afford to dress them as well as my neighbor who has only one. Dear Sir or Madam, look through our Boys' and Children's department. Let us quote you a few prices, and you will cease to entertain any such fallacy.

Besides, the term WELL DRESSED does not simply imply an extravagant outlay of money, our Lower Priced grades of Boys' attire are CUT AND MADE as carefully as the finer ones. We have nothing, nor do we propose to have anything that cannot be recommended for wear, beauty and honesty. It would not be consistent with the enviable reputation we've won on Boys' and Children's Clothing, and our rule to receive back any article that does not prove just as represented, has given us the confidence of the people.

Just now our energies are devoted to our Boys' School Outfits, and parents studying their best interests will bring their boys to us next week.

BOTH CLAIM THEM

Temple and Lyceum Have Contracts With Margaret Mather and Haverly's Minstrels.

At Which House These Attractions Will Play is a Matter of Much Doubt.

Next Week Will be a Busy One Theatrically—Both Houses to be Open.

The competition between the Temple and the Lyceum theaters is interesting to watch just at present, and bids fair to become even more so. Margaret Mather and Haverly's minstrels are causing all the trouble. These two attractions are being booked by M. B. Leavitt, the theatrical manager, and he made contracts with the Lyceum some time ago. About ten days ago the Temple received word that these had been cancelled and contracts were forwarded to Manager Condon. The Lyceum, however, does not propose to recognize these cancellations and will probably resort to legal proceedings if Leavitt attempts to play them at the other house. Manager Miller would allow the cancellations if it was because of a change of route, but as they intend to go into the opposition house on the very same dates he does not feel like doing it. Meanwhile the public will watch the developments with some interest.

The only performance this week will be that of "The Hustler" at the Temple this evening. On Tuesday "Queen Esther," the amateur opera will be given at that theater, and on Friday and Saturday evenings "Skipped by the Light of the Moon." The Lyceum will play "The Harvest Moon" on Friday and Saturday evenings. Haverly's minstrels will come in on Thursday, but at which theater is still buried in doubt, probably at the Lyceum.

"THE HUSTLER."

This Bright Musical Farce at the Temple Tonight.

Modern musical farce will have an inning at the Opera house tonight, the attraction being "The Hustler," which will be pleasantly recalled as one of the crack laughing shows of last season and which now comes back to us crowded with new songs, new music, newly arranged dances, and with a libretto written right up to date. The piece is said to be in happy touch with the foibles and wit of the hour from the rise to the final fall of the curtain.

"The Hustler" deals with the fantastic financial exploits of "Con" McFadden, a gentleman who is in a chronic state of bankruptcy, but who rejoices in the soubriquet of "the hustler." The character is modelled after the late John T. Raymond's impersonation of Col. Mulberry Sellers, and is played most effectively by that rollicking Hibernian, John Kernell, who has been termed a comedy in himself. Harry Watson, one of the very greatest of German dialect comedians, has a congenial role, Anheuser Busch, who is made the frequent victim of McFadden's airy, fairy schemes for raising lucre. Sadie Kirby is seen in the well-drawn part of Carrie Onn; George Marion, an eccentric character actor and Italian specialist, appears as Count Cheesy Spagetti; Annie Black assumes most charmingly a role satirizing the modern society belle; John Gilroy, an unctuous and agile little comedian, plays the part of a "tuf" office boy; and Leonard Somers presents a clean cut portraiture of the typical London swell. The grace, beauty and chic of the performance is furnished by a bevy of soubrettes comprising Julia Taylor, Mamie Mayo, Clara Belle, Agnes Daly, Lillie Raymond, Agnes Howard and Vesta Stevens.

"QUEEN ESTHER."

The Beautiful Opera to be Produced by Amateurs.

"Queen Esther," the beautiful opera, will be produced at the Temple Tuesday evening for the benefit of the Pro-Cathedral fund. The presentation of this opera will bring together the finest array of amateur musical talent ever seen in the city, and "Queen Esther" offers ample opportunity for the display of individual voices. With the story every one is familiar, or at least ought to be, for it is one of the most familiar things in the Bible. The plot of the opera opens at the point where Haman asks permission of King Ahasuerus to destroy the Jews. The costuming will be rich and elaborate and the stage effects will be brilliant. Every arrangement has been made for a production on a grand scale. The cast is as follows:

King Ahasuerus	Arthur W. Lahey
Haman	T. L. Lammers
Mordecai	Fred Reynolds
Serish	P. Paterson
Harbonah	Frank Porter
Hegai	Ernest Hannigan
Herald	C. W. Thompson, C. A. Mandelert
Guard	Harry H. Welke
Queen Esther	Miss Margaret McDonald
Zerish	Miss Fannie Calverly
Prophetess	Miss Anna Farrell
Mordecai's Sister	Miss Rebecca McKenzie
Maids of Honor	Miss Nellie Geriet, Miss Annie Carroll, Miss Julia Donovan
Zerish's Attendants	Miss McGinnis, Miss McKay
Haman's Child	France Parsons
King's Pages	Master John Shannon, Master Frank Dacey
Queen's Pages	Bertha Campbell, Nellie Elliott
Chorus of Children, Jewish Persians, etc.

HAVERLY'S MINSTRELS.

They Will Appear in Duluth Next Thursday.

Haverly's minstrels will be seen in this city next Thursday but at what theater is one of the things still undetermined owing to the present "war." They will probably go to the Lyceum, however. The announcement that Haverly's Mastodon minstrels were booked has always been greeted with enthusiasm by theater goers, and when the engagement has closed it was with the satisfaction of a knowledge that the company had fulfilled all that they had advertised and to the perfect satisfaction of the large crowds that had nightly filled the house.

This minstrel organization is what its name indicates, a combination of minstrelsy, real music enlivened by negro absurdities, wit and humor; it is, in fact, the genuine article; it is the same galaxy of black-face favorites which have toured the United States and Europe, the same remarkable company that delighted packed houses at Haverly's own theater, the Casino, in Chicago, for twenty-eight consecutive weeks. It would be hard to select any one man as especially worthy of mention in this combination of talent; it is even hard to say which of the features is most pleasing, so we will advise our readers to "go see the show" and make their own selections. The following gentlemen are in the circle: Billy Rice, E. M. Hall, E. M. Kayne, Charles Sully, Harry Constantine, A. M. Thatcher, Arthur Yule, Delmore and Wilson, Fred Baudell, George Evans and some thirty others of merit. Among the specialists are Bogert and O'Brien, the great musical comedians; "Kissell," the marvelous military musket manipulator.

"THE HARVEST MOON."

This Beautiful Drama at the Lyceum Friday and Saturday.

The beautiful drama "The Harvest Moon" which has enjoyed a brilliant success in the East, will be given at the Lyceum next Friday and Saturday evenings. Harry Booker, the well known comedian, is directing the company. M. H. Egan, dramatic critic of the New York World, writes of "The Harvest Moon:"

The story is clearly and beautifully told while the plot is so deep and complicated, and in the end so novel and reasonable that the attention of the audience is enlisted from start to finish. A startling and wholesome moral drama is a novelty, as plays too often unfortunately written only for that end, have the fatal defect of stupidity, but in "The Harvest Moon" the sublime spectacle of a mother's love and devotion, a son's sterling honesty and adherence to truth, coupled with the fatal effects of trusting entirely to ocular proof, the appearance of things, and circumstantial evidence, are depicted with such force that it reminds us of one of Dr. Talmage's sermons, which when read or heard produces an impression not soon forgotten. No one remembering a mother's love and devotion can forget "The Harvest Moon," which like generous wine will grow mellower and more valuable by age. It reminds us of "East Lynne" with the exception in favor of the "Moon," that it does not deal with woman's sin and frailty. "The Harvest Moon" depicts life as it is, appealing to the noblest passions of the human heart, and must retain its hold on the public, and especially the fairer portion of it for years to come."

A FUNNY SHOW.

"Skipped By the Light of the Moon" at the Temple.

It is safe to say that the amusement goers of this city will receive with much satisfaction the announcement that the famous laughter producing farcical comedy, "Skipped By the Light of the Moon" will be presented at the Temple next Friday and Saturday evenings, by Fowler and Washington's original company of comedians. This play is so well known throughout the country that it is almost needless to comment on it. It has long held its place as being one of the most amusing of stage creations, and with two comedians so full of vitality and humor as Charley Hagan and Budd Ross at the head of the cast almost any kind of play with almost any kind of support would be sure to take; but with this unique combined satire, burlesque and farce, a whole company of clever people, it becomes simply irresistible. "Skipped" is not only "very, very funny," but partakes of the nature of a surprise party. People who were used to settle down decorously after two or three laughs at the average comedy, are constantly surprised into roar after roar of merriment by new bursts of bright humor or burlesque, until they begin to grasp hysterically and look appealingly to the stage for protection against the steady bombardment of fun. The play is simply one of the maddest, wildest farcial inventions ever seen on the stage, and in making people laugh fulfils its whole mission.

Margaret Mather.

The Minneapolis Journal says of Margaret Mather's appearance in that city in "The Egyptian" in which play she will be seen here:

"Miss Mather's acting rose to a height a Minneapolis audience has seldom seen it attain, and was at its best in the dungeon scene of the third act, when as Esmeralda the gipsy girl, she loathing spurns the monk who has been pursuing her with an unholy love. This is undoubtedly the climax of the play and both the star and Lawrence Cautley as the monk here distinguished themselves by their powerful impersonation of their roles. Mr. Cautley's make-up is perfect and his identity is completely sunken in the character of Claude Frollo. The piece is mounted in a superb manner."

Dramatic Gossip.

Lillian Russell is again in New York. She must have gained more than thirty pounds while abroad.

Four male and four female dancers have been added to Margaret Mather's company for the gypsy dances in "Esmeralda."

The soubrette role which Miss Louise Willard will play in "The Pulse of New York" calls for ten changes of costume.

"Miss Helyett" will begin its second season next week at Milwaukee. Mrs. Leslie Carter will continue in the title role.

Mme. Janauscheck's season will begin next Monday at Kansas City. "Meg Merrilies," "Macbeth" and "Deborah" are in her repertory.

When Rose Coghlan appears at the New York Star theater this fall she will produce "The Checque Book" for the first time in that city.

Marie Wainwright's repertoire for this season is very large. In February she will produce Clyde Fitch's new American comedy drama for the first time.

Katie Emmett's new Irish play "Killarney," will be done for the first time on any stage at the New York Star theater next Monday.

Emma Juch will soon leave for Europe to be absent for three years. She will first be heard in London, where she will sing in oratorio and concert as well as opera.

Nat Goodwin has released Arthur Lewis and his wife (Zeffie Tilbury) from their engagement with him, owing to their dissatisfaction with the parts assigned them in "A Gilded Fool."

Fay Templeton, who was engaged for Hoyt's "Trip to Chinatown," is said to have decided to go to Europe. Sadie Martinot is mentioned as likely to take her place in the company as the widow.

Manager Charles Frohman has created a great deal of excitement among professionals by his announcement that hereafter no courtesies will be extended to actors by him on the occasion of first night performances.

The women who will dally with Shakespeare during the season are Minna Gale, Julia Marlowe, Hortense Rhea, Helena Modjeska, Marie Prescott and Francesca Janauschek.

Carmencita has received several invitations to dance for private parties in Boston, but by the terms of her contract with Messrs. F. F. Proctor & Co., of the Grand Opera house, of Boston, she will not appear elsewhere than at their theater during the season.

Four well-known pugilists will star this season and endeavor to elevate the stage, probably with an upper cut.

In speaking of Minnie Seligman's marriage to Bob Cutting, the papers which detail her career unanimously steer clear of the fact that she played a snap engagement in "The Suspect" with Harry Lee.

Col. Henry Mapleson has engaged Phillips-Tomes for tenor, Arthur Seaton, late of the D'Oyley Carte Opera company, for baritone, and Mlle. Sophia Shiffman for contralto. Sig. Tomasi, who has for seven years been the conductor of the Emma Abbot Opera company, will be the conductor.

When Sidney Rosenfield presented "Diana" to the Manola-Mason company, and had read the work to them, "Jack" Mason said: "Sidney, it's great! How are you going to class it?" "Oh," the author answered, after a moment's thought, "call it a dramatic license in one act, perpetrated by Sidney Rosenfield." "But," "Jack" said, "how about Edwards? The word 'dramatic' don't cover the music." "Well, then, call it a dramatic license in one act, perpetrated by Sidney Rosenfield and apologized for with music by Julian Edwards." This was thought to be so good that it may go on the playbill.

The American Political System.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It was declared to be the opinion of the United States senate in 1829 that, "Extensive religious combinations to effect a political object are always dangerous." There exists at the present time in this country the most extensive religious combination the world ever saw, and it exists for no other purpose than to effect a political object. We are evidently entering a serious crisis in our national life. By careful study of the principles which underlie our American political system, every citizen should seek to understand what is involved in the political success of this intensely un-American and most dangerous movement.

In the development of the American idea of government many futile attempts were made to formulate a complete assertion of the principle involved. Of this class is the resolution adopted by the New York provincial congress, June 24, 1775, as follows: "Resolved, that neither the parliament of Great Britain nor any other earthly legislature or tribunal ought or can of right interfere or interpose in any wise howsoever in the religious and ecclesiastical concerns of the colonies." This was too general to give protection to each individual in the colonies against any interference in his religious concerns by the government of his own colony.

The Virginia declaration of rights, adopted June 12, 1776, is more to the point. In the constitution of nearly all the states, similar assertions have been adopted. Section 16 reads as follows: "That religion or the duty which we owe to our Creator, and the manner of discharging it, can be directed only by reason and conviction, and not by force or violence; and therefore all men are equally entitled to the free exercise of religion, according to the dictates of conscience; and that it is the mutual duty of all to practice Christian forbearance, love, and charity towards each other."

In the discussion of this resolution, Madison said: "The free exercise of religion, according to the dictates of conscience, is something which every man may demand as a right, not something for which he must ask as a privilege." We can more fully realize the force of these "self-evident truths" when we unselfishly assert the other man's right to believe and worship as he chooses, or not to worship at all if he chooses. Freedom to do a thing necessarily implies equal freedom not to do it. It is the selfish assertion and reiteration of our own rights that leads us to forget the rights of others and try to force them to conform to our way.

The words of Christ, (Matt. 7:12,) "Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them, for this is the law and the prophets," were his explanation to his followers, of what constitutes proper obedience to the law. "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." As Christ's legal opinion this rule is binding upon all Christians, unequivocally requiring them to accord to others in all things, the same right and privileges they would wish accorded to themselves. It does more than this.

It exposes the character of those who claim the name Christian, but have so little regard for this fundamental law of Christian conduct, that they seek to enforce upon others hollow formalities of their own lifeless, if not obsolutely hypocritical, profession. The law of Christianity is the the law of love, "For love worketh no ill to his neighbor." And that the principle of freedom of conscience for every man, as embodied in the Declaration of Independence and guaranteed by our constitution, is in harmony with it, is a "self evident truth." These principles should be maintained by Christians and all others. "By their fruits ye shall know them."

Experiment in Natural History Worth Trying—Making Japanese Lanterns Out of Toads.

[Copyright, 1892, by Edgar W. Nye.]

BUCK SHOALS, N. C., August.

Quite a number of people have written me recently regarding a green goods episode which was made public in July by a St. Louis paper, and which involved the name of Mr. P. A. Owenby, of this state. It seems that the following announcement caught Mr. Owenby's eye some time ago. It was printed in a well known paper and evidently in good faith. No paper could have printed such an advertisement otherwise, it seems to me:

C. G. MONEY—$100 for $10, or $50 for $5. Pkgs. in $100 and $50 lots. Good agents wanted for rare goods. Parties 4 cents.

Mr. Owenby wrote for some of the C. G. money with a pure heart, and hoping to relieve the distress of some man who needed $10 so badly that he was willing to give $100 for it. Knowing how close money matters are at times on Wall street and what a high rate of interest parties on the Stock exchange are willing to pay for short loans on personal security, Mr. Owenby no doubt would have been perfectly justified in stepping in and relieving distress in that way.

But the letter written by Mr. Owenby, of this state, was received by officers of the law, as I understand it, and Mr. Owenby's motives were impugned. He did not know this till one day in July, when he happened to be looking over his motives and saw something peculiar about them.

Soon after he read in the St. Louis paper that his letter had been printed, and that the public had been left to surmise that Mr. Owenby wished to take advantage of the financial depression and get an exorbitant rate of interest on his ten dollars.

Strangers have impugned Mr. Owenby's motives, and he does not know what to do for it. As a resident of this state I am glad to come forward with a simple explanation regarding the matter and insert here a letter he sent to The Citizen, of Asheville, showing how it happened. Those who know Mr. Owenby here in North Carolina say that if he had received the money he would have relieved distress with it; but the parties to whom he wrote were arrested by the police and treated shamefully.

Mr. Owenby's letter fell into the officers' hands among others, and was printed. He wishes this plain statement made to show that his motives were in good order when he wrote the letter:

Yes, I wrote just as the St. Louis Globe-Democrat had it, but not for the purpose they supposed. Several weeks ago Mrs. Owenby read the ad. I inclose, and we had up a bet as to what it was; to decide it of course we wrote on to them.

When I found they had counterfeit money I determined to get a sample and all the proof necessary and turn them over to the proper authorities.

They premeditated trouble by my boldness in sending a billhead of my business, and had not sent the sample they promised. Then I was certain of their fraudulent business, and wrote them the letter referred to in the St. Louis papers.

I was too late, as others had worked up their case and arrested them in a day or two after this letter reached them.

I did not want their goods, but should have liked the amount Uncle Sam would have given me had I not been too late in bringing them to justice. P. A. OWENBY.

I hope this will silence every criticism regarding Mr. Owenby, for he says that these men "premeditated trouble and did not send him the goods." I feel certain that had Mr. Owenby received the goods he would have gone on and arrested the parties at once, paying his traveling expenses of course out of the money so received.

But these men who advertise to give $100 for $10 do not do as they agree. At least that is my experience. I have answered two or three of their ads., intending to go on to New York and arrest them as soon as I got the money from them, so that I would not have to make the journey at my own expense, but I have yet to deal with one of them who could be regarded as a man of integrity.

Swindles are common everywhere, and I find that I get along very poorly in the sleuth business. My purse was taken in New York one day on the street, but the fiend in human form was richly punished for his wickedness. All that the purse contained was a postoffice money order that I had tried for six weeks to get the money on, but being a stranger in New York, and the cashier at the postoffice being also a stranger in the city, the men who knew me and came there to identify me were strangers to the cashier, as we moved in a different set and were both very little known in trade circles, his friends being men who were trying to live on their salaries in the postoffice department, and mine consisting of a widow lady in moderate circumstances who let me a small hall bedroom at the time. So the thief got the worst of it. If he got the money on the order it was more than I could do.

Quite a fraud has been unearthed in St. Paul in the past summer by the timely report of a Scandinavian, who wrote the following letter to the mayor and thus brought the parties to justice. It is a curiosity to those who have made a study of the Scandinavian dialect:

DEAR SIR—I am vondering if you have any naledges of that satse svindling is going on on Savent St., and I vill now taly you voth it is. Thar is som dad bit that have gat a colored man in a kedge, and sho hem for mony. Sharge 15 cents for admission and than trI to mak people blive the have caugth hem in arisona, as a vilid man.

I do not blive in such a robery from por people, that dont now of any bater and to go in thar and pay fifteen cent for to se a negro that is as tam as the rast. Do you blive it is rigth to lat tham do so. I like sport bout I like to se it in a far play. Your Fraind for Aver.

Very few people here would pay fifteen cents to see a negro "that is as tam as the rast."

Politics is active here. Much talk is heard regarding the late congress. Here in North Carolina and elsewhere the opinion prevails that congress has had too many men in it who have been so busy watching the "home paper" that they have had no time to devote to legislation, and thus they claim indolence and timidity have been the chief characteristics of the session.

In 1879 Gabe Bouck, of Wisconsin, was seen pacing up and down the foyer, or whatever it is called, which surrounds the desk where the primary department of congress sits. He was a member of the house, and seemed to have stepped out into the entry to swear a little over the arrears of pensions bill, which was evidently about to pass. "A set of d——d cowards—contemptible, d——d cowards!" he was heard to ejaculate ever and anon.

"But why don't you stop it?" said an ex-member who came in just then.

"Stop it!" he replied. "How can I stop it when I'm one of the d——d cowards myself?".

Congress, however, is hardly to blame, for it is too large a body to act wisely or well. Just as our presidential conventions are lately, and if we continue at the same rate, the great national fight hereafter will not be to see who will be elected president, but what town will have the convention.

Those who have not read the open letter written this summer by Andrew D. White, a Republican, to Patrick A. Collins, a Democrat, of Boston, ought to get it and read it. Do we hold presidential conventions for the purpose of nominating the best man or for the purpose of farming out the lemonade privileges to a herd of yaps and yahoos who can yell down the wisest sentiments, and applaud and expectorate and delay the convention, and then go back to the asylums again to wait for another convention?

Four or five pure minded men, with no political principles, should get together and talk this matter over. I could get away during the month of October. Prior to that I shall be busy here on the place.

Alabama has just had a very heated fight over the governorship, and the following, printed during the campaign in the Birmingham Age-Herald, shows that a man in Alabama without a lineage has no business to run for governor:

ACTIVITY, MONROE COUNTY, Ala.

I am a Jones man, but having heard our noble governor was the issue of a German railroad engineer and an Italian fruit woman of Charleston, and being unable to answer such an argument, weak as it is, for God knows such an issue could be as honorable as any other, provided it was legitimate, I write you to give me the facts in the case.

So please give as full and complete a sketch of Governor Jones up to his thirtieth year as possible, stating antecedent of both his father and his mother in full, who they were and where they came from. Some say they came from the mountains of Tennessee. I am going to try to make some votes in here where the Alliance, however, is very strong. One-half a column of Governor J.'s genealogy would make hundreds of votes. Yours for the belt,

SUBSCRIBER.

How Governor Jones ran in Activity I have not yet heard, but if "Subscriber" got in a half column of genealogy no doubt hundreds of votes were made there.

We should try this fall to keep politics pure. I believe we can. The disagreeable things were said before, when the same candidates were before the people for their suffrages. Pleasant little items of a personal character have been printed and now we are ready to enter into the campaign and each strive to make the wavering voter understand matters regarding the tariff, which we do not understand ourselves.

Need I add that I believe there will be a pure ballot in the south? Should there be fraud in my neighborhood, especially fraud that will cut down our vote, I will write a piece for the paper about it.

South Carolina has a law which I understand requires the voter to present his registration ticket at the polls, and that is his identification. That is his letter of introduction, his right to exercise the right of franchise, and there can be no going behind it.

Several years ago a large circus exhibited in Charleston, it is said, and notice was quietly given out by word of mouth that registration tickets would be taken at the door for admission to the show. Five thousand registration tickets were taken in one day and turned in by the circus at reduced rates to the party making the arrangement. On election day they were voted by the party in some unobstrusive way, possibly in a tautological manner, but I mention it only to show that this is a reasonable and low priced method of obtaining an expression of the public wish.

I will add also that, though I have not given the name of the party interested in this incident, it is only fair to say that it is a misfortune to any party to have votes that can be bought so low down.

☞There is still time to send several good circuses into South Carolina before the 1st of November.

* * * * * *

Lately we have been looking into natural history here as a relief from politics. Evenings we experiment with the insect life. I do not refer to the terrapin du chambre sometimes allowed to run the mediocre hotels, but have been told recently by a friend who is thoroughly trustworthy that for real fun there is nothing of a refined character that approaches the delights of feeding a toad with lightning bugs.

Try it.

The toad will swallow anything you give him, as every one knows, but few have had the enterprise to try this experiment. He does not kill the insect by swallowing it, and as he is transparent he lights up like a Japanese lantern. Before the firefly is smothered the sight on a dark evening is one long to be remembered. You can read the toad's inmost thoughts.

Do not turn away, dear reader, with a look of unbelief, for what I have written here is worthy of a trial if you have never tried it. The way the tears of grateful warmth come to the eyes of the toad when the lightning bug begins to illuminate his third stomach is enough to repay you for racing through the dewy forest after fireflies, accompanied by no one perhaps but a grown up girl who is afraid of the dark.

Try it, gentle reader. When a toad lights up his spare room it looks mighty hospitable in there.

A Well Known Duluth Citizen Finds the Object of His Search.

Mr. John A. Olson, 1004 Garfield avenue, Duluth, says: "For a number of years I have been troubled with a complication of difficulties which is not easy for me to describe. I would have severe pains in my stomach, side and back, could not rest at night and would get up in the morning feeling worn out and unfit for the duties of the day. My appitite was poor and what I did eat seemed to make me feel worse. I lost in flesh and became weak, nervous and despondent.

"The doctors failed to give me any relief and patent medicines done me no good. After reading the statements of some persons who had been treated by Dr. Speer & Co., I called at their office in the New York block, West Superior. They located my trouble and described my feelings better than I could do it myself. I commenced their treatment and in less than three weeks my disagreable symptoms have left me. The pains are gone, I eat and sleep well, am gaining in flesh and strength. The nervous and despondent feelings have disappeared and I feel like a new man in every respect. I feel very grateful for the benefit I have received and can not too highly recommend Dr. Speer & Co. for what they have done for me."

Many Bright and Interesting Articles Promised in the September Magazines.

"Why Young Men Defer Marriage" is the subject of an interesting article on this truth-asserting topic, by John Lambert Payne, in the September Ladies' Home Journal. Mr. Payne's paper is statistical and treats this momentous matter from every standpoint. The domestic problem concerning the relations existing "Between Mistress and Maid" is intelligently discussed by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Mrs. Lyman Abbott, Helen S. Conant and Christine Terhune Herrick, as is "Getting Home from the Country," by Helen Jay. The wife of the famous dramatist, Alexandre Dumas, is the subject of a sketch, with portrait, by Lucy Hamilton Hooper, and Laura Grover Smith gives a description of a unique firm of women lawyers in Milwaukee. Maude Haywood contributes a special illustrated paper on "The Chicago Society of Decorative Art," and Walter H. Barrett writes comprehensively of "Women and Life Insurance." The editor speaks some timely words about the restlessness of the American man and its effect upon women, and Foster Coates tells of "Women in Journalism." The fiction of the number includes the continuation of Miss Magruder's delightful story, "A Live Ember," a clever short story entitled "A Fair Fee," by Cornelia Rathbone, illustrated by Frank O. Small, and a "Princess's Wolf Hunt," by the Marquise de Fontenoy. A carefully prepared paper by Isabella M. Aitken upon "The Care of the Hands," will be found valuable to women, as will Miss Parloa's "All About the House." The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage writes of "Art in the Old World," and Mrs. Lyman Abbott discusses many topics intelligently and well. Robert J. Burdette writes refreshingly of "Home, Sweet Home," and Mrs. Mallon gives "Hints to Elderly Women." The always interesting departments by competent editors conclude a number which is more than usually attractive, and one that cannot fail to please its hundreds of thousands of readers. The Ladies' Home Journal is published by the Curtis Publishing company, of Philadelphia for 10 cents a number and $1 per year.

It may not be known to everyone that Mrs. Benjamin Harrison is one of the best American flower painters. Since she has occupied her position of lady of the White House, however, her public duties have largely prevented the exercise of her artistic genius; but in that period she has found leisure to paint one of the loveliest representations of flower life that ever came from an artist's brush—a magnificent group of orchids on a porcelain panel. With that broad and kindly spirit which has marked her career, she has presented this single production of her scant leisure to the public, and Demorest's Magazine has the honor of being the medium through which the painting is offered to the mothers, wives and daughters of America, to whom it is lovingly dedicated. There is no taint of politics in it; it is simply the tribute of a good woman's love for the women of her nation, superbly expressed in color and form—the foremost woman of the republic cementing, by means of her art, her sisterhood with all others of her sex in the land. Mrs. Harrison's painting has been reproduced in the highest style of art, of the same size as the original (11½ by 15 inches), and is an absolutely perfect counterpart, in every particular, to the faintest tint of color, and even to the peculiar texture of the porcelain. With each copy of Demorest's Magazine for October, one of these wonderful reproductions of "A White House Orchid," painted by the president's wife in the White House, from an orchid grown in the White House, is to be presented free.

The Herald has received from the publishers, "True Blue" Republican Campaign Songs and "Red Hot" Democratic Campaign Songs—two books, each containing a collection of new songs arranged for male quartet clubs, with music and words complete, and just what is wanted for the presidential campaign of 1892. Nothing is more effective than stirring and appropriate songs for campaign purposes, and they are furnished in great variety in "True Blue" and "Red Hot." Sold by music and newsdealers generally, or upon receipt of 10 cents each copies will be mailed to any address by the S. Brainard's Sons Co., Chicago, Ill.

Professor J. J. McCook, of Wesleyan university, has made a thorough study of the causes and extent among people of the several nationalities of the venal voters in Connecticut, and the proportion of purchasable citizens is alarming. He will publish his investigation of the subject in the September Forum.

"The Accident to the Cygnus" is a very striking story in the Argonaut of Aug. 22. It is a sketch of life in the twentieth century, and tells of the collision in the clouds of two air-ships, rushing through space at a rate of 500 miles an hour, the one bound from Europe to Brazil and the other from Chicago to the capital of the Central African states. The rescue of the disabled Cygnus, with her hundreds of passengers, by a war ship is told with vivid realism.

The most forcible appeal that has yet been made in behalf of Mrs. Maybrick will appear in the North American Review for September under the title "An Open Letter to Her Majesty, the Queen." It is written by Gail Hamilton, and makes public for the first time other previous petitions of great weight.

The latest number of the fine edition of Jane Austen's works which Roberts Brothers are rapidly bringing to completion is "Emma," in two volumes. Jane Austen did good work for her day and generation. Her novels were written in protest against the high flown, sentimental romances of Mrs. Ann Radcliff and her followers, and she was the first of the early novelists to make original and interesting tales out of the familiar and every day events in the lives of commonplace people. Her works are always readable, but especially so when presented in so attractive a dress as this new edition wears. Two volumes, $1.25 per vol.; Boston, Roberts Brothers.

The Hon. Chauncey F. Black, of Pennsylvania, has written for the September Forum, a frank review of the trouble at Homestead, in which he makes an effort to point out a remedy for such conflicts. He proposes the incorporation of labor organizations on the same plan and plane with organizations of capital.

There is a story of the studio in the Argonaut of Aug. 22 that is founded on a grim, almost ghastly idea—a painter's wife, who has posed as the model for his most noted pictures, dies, and as he is mourning by her bedside, the beauty of the death tints catches his artist's eye and he begins to paint her. From this striking situation the tale leads to a very dramatic conclusion.

An article by the Hon. W. L. Wilson, which is to appear in the North American Review for September, will attract attention, as much from the official prominence of Congressman Wilson at the Chicago convention as from the theme, which is "The Tariff Plank at Chicago."

The September Popular Science Monthly opens with the concluding part of Dr. Andrew D. White's paper on "Geography," in his warfare of science series. The disbelief of the mediæval theologians that men could live on the opposite side of the globe is the chief subject of this chapter. Dr. Charles C. Abbott contributes an illustrated article testifying to the skill of "The Delaware Indian as an Artist," and puts in evidence figures of carved gorgets, masks and various other objects. The number contains also one of Prof. Huxley's trenchant papers, on "The Decline of Bibliolatry," in which the conviction is expressed that a merely nominal belief in the Bible is rapidly displacing the old practical belief. Prof. J. S. Kingsley describes "The Marine Biological Laboratory," at Woods Holl, giving pictures of its building and of the interiors of some of its work-rooms. Under the title "Infectious Diseases: Causation and Immunity," Dr. G. M. Sternberg, U. S. A., tells what has been learned in this field up to date. Prof. Joseph Jastrow presents a "Further Study of Involuntary Movements," supplementing an earlier paper on this subject. The article is accompanid by thirteen tracings of the movements described. The trouble at the Carnegie mills gives timeliness to Conrad Reno's reply to Edward Atkinson, on "The Wage Contract and Personal Liberty." Mr. Reno advocates compulsory arbitration through a state tribunal as the remedy for labor disputes. There is an interesting account of "Mica and the Mica Mines," by C. Hanford Henderson. Some very strange occurrences are described in William A. Eddy's paper on "Incalculable Accidents." Jules Rochard writes on "Tobacco and the Tobacco Habit;" M. Charles Henry on "Odors and the Sense of Smell;" and Frederik A. Fernald describes recent "Changes in Chemical and Geographical Words," that have been made in the interest of simplicity and uniformity. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Fifty cents a number, $5 a year.

Among the books for summer reading recently issued by the United States Book company, is "That Dakota Girl," by Stella Gilman. The pony that always figures in stories of Western life is introduced in the initial chapter, and has its share to do with the love-making and various subordinate incidents. But the reader looks in vain for the genuine local coloring that is to be expected from the title: the free sweep of the prairie wind, the wonderful sublimity of the sky, the broad expanse of plain—in short, all that is conjured up to the true lover of the prairie and hinted at by such words as boundless and illimitable. As to the rest, the story will furnish pleasant reading for the lover of light literature, and the moral tone of the book is unexceptionable. Cloth, $1.25.

"The Homestead Strike" will receive in the September number of the North American Review the ample attention which that periodical always gives to important events. It is to be discussed from three points of view: The congressional view, by Congressman W. C. Oates, chairman of the investigating committee; the constitutional view, by the Hon. George Ticknor Curtis; and the Knights of Labor's view, by T. V. Powderly.

There will appear in the September Forum two "Studies in Immigration"—one of the Scandinavians in the Northwest, by Professor Kendric C. Babcock, of the University of Minnesota, who is writing a history of the Scandinavian settlement in his state; and the other about "The Mine Laborers in Pennsylvania," by Henry Rood, who has made a special study of the social and civil life of these people from Southern Europe.

"The Stone, Bronze and Iron Ages." A popular treatise on Early Archæology. By John Hunter-Duvar. London: Swan Sonnenschein & Co. New York: Macmillan & Co. 1892. $1.25. Many of the always interesting facts relating to our knowledge of the peoples of the stone, bronze and iron ages are here presented in an attractive manner within the compass of a single volume. It is, of course, not by any means an exhaustive treatise, but is a popular presentation of the main facts, such as every well informed reader ought to be familiar with and is well worth the reading. It is illustrated by figures of a large number of interesting implements and relics of these stages in the history of early civilization.

In the North American Review for September Amelie Rives will discuss the degree of frankness that should be exercised in the moral training of children, the title of the article being "Innocence versus Ignorance."

GIRLS OF AMERICA.

Mrs. Frank Leslie Writes About the American Girl and About Other Types.

The Leading Traits of the Fair Maidens of Various Lands Are Contrasted.

The American Girl Said to be a Una With a Fire Tipped Wand.

WHO can help being fond of young girls? I don't mean in the way young men are fond of them, but as an observer of human nature and of Vanity Fair may well be. There is a certain freshness and sweetness and evanescence abont them like the charm of flowers, butterflies and birds, and besides this a graciousness and attractiveness like that one feels in all frisky, confiding, fond young creatures like kittens and lambs and suchlike helpless, frolicsome and trustful creatures.

For myself I am devoted to girls wherever I may be, and I have been, I believe, in most parts of the habitable globe. Everywhere I have found girls, and everywhere there have been many traits of identity and some of difference. All were nice, and I do not know that if I would I could tell which I like the best.

Our own girls certainly have the most character; also, as a rule, they have the most beauty. But the question is, Are not they, so far at least as the great cities go—are not they more young women of the world than girls pur et simple? There has been a great deal said both at home and abroad upon this subject, but it is one that is always coming up again, and we should not blink the discussion of it.

Is the American girl not enough a girl, or is she too much of a girl?

It is certainly true that the American girl accepts, in fact assumes, responsibilities that no other girl in the world would dream of doing, and the consequence is that she sometimes appears lacking in that modest humility and timid appeal to her elders which is one of the charms of certain other girls; foreigners, in fact, are apt to mistake her calm self assertion for boldness and want of self respect, and acting upon this mistake they sometimes meet with rebuffs so startling that they rush into another mistake and set down the American girl as a shrewd, a sharp tongued and sharp tempered vixen, and please themselves by saying that no man in his senses would ever venture to marry her.

In fact, the American grape is for him a sour grape.

And yet how could we wish this freedom of action and speech or this capacity for self defense and aggressive warfare less, when we consider that these very traits are the foundation of American character, and that these very girls are to become the mothers of the men of the future?

An American girl fought through two years of the Revolution and gained among her associates a reputation most honorable to her modesty as a woman, although no one suspected her sex to the last. Grace Darling was an American girl, and more than one or two others have emulated her noble courage under similar circumstances. American girls have taken their fathers' places in command of ships, in the conduct of flight from Indians, in the saving of burning houses; in fact, I doubt not with a little research one could find an American girl in nearly every position of trust or of command which a man of her age and physical ability could fill. Shall we, then, desire to see her watered down to the level of the shrinking and blushing ingenue which is the French ideal of girlhood?

But on the other hand, the girls who are called to fight in the ranks, or to "man" lifeboats, or rescue their helpless mothers from Indians, or to save burning buildings, are a very small proportion of the whole, and this very courage and ability are apt in private life to make a restless and uncontrolled and perhaps assuming character. Our Grace Darlings in city society are very apt to get the name of being "fast" or "mannish" or "loud," just because they have such an amount of surplus energy and force of character. Besides this our girls have another splendid quality which is apt to lead foreigners to make mistakes about them. They are not afraid of men, because they feel themselves perfectly competent to control any circumstances in which they may be placed and to meet any attack that may be made. They are Unas who meet the lion with perfect tranquillity, because they know they can lead him whither they will. The lion's instinct generally leads him to the same conviction, but in case he is stupid and don't see it the American Una is quite capable of converting her lily stalk into a wand of white hot steel and giving Master Lion a lesson he does not soon forget. There is I suppose no girl in the world so perfectly capable of taking care of herself and doing it well as the American girl. In her womanly virtue she is next to the Irish girl, who, as is well known, is the most virtuous of her sex, and in judgment, coolness and knowledge of the world she is by far her superior.

In fact, I think we may honestly claim that the failings of our American girls are simply what the French call "the faults of their virtues;" that is, the somewhat troublesome excess of unemployed strength.

Daisy Miller has passed into a proverb. But is she a type? I never have forgiven Mr. James for some traits in his portraiture, and yet there is a great deal of truth in the innocent audacity, the fearless criticism and the simple carelessness of public opinion that stamp his heroine, and one cannot but feel a certain tenderness for the poor child, although one is so provoked at her, or rather at her author.

But fascinating as every one allows the American girl to be, her English cousins are dangerous rivals. The stately growth and clear complexion, the calm eyes and baby mouths, the well developed figures and honest simplicity of manner are in the eyes of many men more attractive than the independent vivacity of the American. Two types of maidenhood are not unlike the natural scenery amid which they have been perfected; the fragrant breath of western prairies, the graceful freedom of virgin forests, the sparkling rush of mighty rivers and the fearless beauty of airy waterfalls seem to have tempered the clay and infused the blood of the American girl, while her passive English cousin reminds one of stately parks and well ordered gardens, lawns of velvet and meads knee deep in clover where placid kine browse as if they were posing for Sir Edwin Landseer's brush.

In sauntering around England—and one can see neither a country nor its people except in sauntering—the predominant idea one receives is of long and patient culture. Every foot of arable ground has been turned over and over through a thousand years of husbandry; the grass is not so much grass as the elaboration of man's energies and the chemist's skill; the trees that shaded Elizabeth and the second Charles have been preserved and cared for to the last days of Victoria; everything, in fact, bears the mark of man's zealous improvement of natural advantages, and the girls are no exception to the rule.

Those of the upper class—that is to say, those of the landed gentry—whose fathers and mothers and ancestors for hundreds of years have been cultivated as assiduously as the grass, and the corn lands, and the trees, and show the effect of cultivation just as blood horses and Devon cows show it; the clear skins, the bright eyes and clean cut features and shapely limbs show breeding long and careful; and the conventional ideas, the narrow range of thought, the value of precedent and the importance of precedence, all show breeding too. They show the training of the mind in long established formulas and the molding of manners to long established traditions, so that the English baby is born artificial, and as a rule grows up in the same condition.

Of course there are exceptions to this rule, even among young girls, but these variants as a rule are neither understood nor admired in their own meridian; what is spontaneous independence of thought in an American girl is set down as suspicious eccentricity in an English girl, and in fact the latter never can possess that charm of unconsciousness which marks the vagaries of our own lassies; there are too many warning voices upraised, there is too much Saturday Reviewing for the English girl to step one foot outside the beaten track without knowing it, while our own girls follow their impulses very much as the wind does and generally come to as little harm.

But each type of girl has her charm, and we would not if we could change either for the other. There is charm in diversity and harmony in contrast.

Crossing the channel or the narrow seas, we come upon more girls and thoroughly new types, and yet are not prepared to set them in a place of inferiority.

The French girl is in a condition of slow transition; the jeune fille of the last century spent her infancy in the house of her foster mother, and her girlhood in a convent, whence she was summoned at sixteen or seventeen years old to be presented to her affianced husband. Perhaps she liked him and perhaps she did not; nobody inquired and nobody cared; the alliance was arranged by the parents on both sides, and the jeune fille at least acquiesced without choice or opinion.

In those days there was no such thing as a French girl, for she was repressed almost out of existence, and only began to live, and generally not very wisely, after her marriage. But the slow, sure tooth of Time has eaten away very much of tradition in France and done more than the many revolutions in setting the young women free. Liberty, that is to say the French idea of liberty, is in the air, and the women breathe it, as well as fathers and brothers. Women, even young girls, begin to realize that they are individuals and possess souls and minds as well as bodies, and the knowledge emboldens them to think, to speak and to act as once they never would have dreamed of doing.

Convents are a good deal out of fashion nowadays, and Adele ventures to form the opinion that Gustave is more to her than Adolphe, even though the former be a bon parti and the latter not. The jeune fille has looked over the fence at least, and the look is often preparatory to leaping, but the process of emancipation is sometimes a timid and hesitating one, and the French girl of our own day will never acquire the freedom of the American maiden, nor is it desirable that she should, for she cannot in one or in two generations be trained to use it with discretion. Liberty of speech and action must be based upon deep convictions of right and wrong: there must be a moral law to replace the loss of conventionality and tradition before it is safe to throw them aside, and perhaps in no country outside of America can a child be born into that atmosphere of self government and self protection that gives her peculiar nature to the American girl.

But turning for a moment to another great division of Christendom, let us glance at the German girl, who differs materially from each of those already mentioned. Of course we all know that the Teutonic damsel is trained to housewifery from her cradle; that even fraulein of high degree are forced to go through a course of pickling and preserving, of confectionery and cake making; are taught to look after the house linen and watch the movements of the servants with a diligence unknown to most housekeepers. But this utilitarianism is not to me the predominant trait of the German girl—I mean the daughters of the nobility, what we would call the society girls of Germany; the most salient point in the characters of such as I have met has been their pride.

We speak of Spanish pride, of English hauteur and of Russian arrogance, but to my mind not one of them equals the all pervading, all dominating and perfectly spontaneous pride of a German girl in her sixteen quarterings of nobility, and her firm conviction that no merit, no education, no natural gifts or acquired advantages can in any way fit a person not "well born" to stand upon an equality with herself, or above all to aspire to her hand. To make a mesalliance is in the mind of the German fraulein a little worse than to join the Mormons and become a thirteenth wife would be for an American, and so far as the former has strength and individuality of mind they show themselves in draping around her fair white shoulders the mantle of heraldic honor, which is to her the most valuable of all human possessions.

But the subject grows upon one so vividly that it becomes a hopeless task to exhaust its ramifications, and it must be dropped unfinished with only this one word in which I am sure every keen student of mankind will join:

Long life to the girl, pur et simple, for she is the just opened bud of the fairest flower in all this fair world.

Paris Fashions.

The new fall toilets bid fair to be the prettiest and most elegant of any that have ever been seen, both in color and make. The prevailing colors for early autumn will partake of the coloring in nature, and be russet, faded reds and purples, with warm browns and soft yellows. The new fall woolens are seen in those colors and in mixtures and also changeable effects. There is a pretty serge with the warp of pale blue, like the autumn sky, and a rich yellow, like the poplar leaves, for the woof and the tones blend and mingle so that in one light it is blue, in another yellow, and all together a delicate green. Trimmed as this was, with four narrow silk pinked ruffles around the bottom and a draped corsage of silk bearing the same shades, and with wrinkled sleeves bordered by three of the tiniest ruffles, it was most beautiful.

I saw one exquisite costume for the promenade made of faded leaf cashmere which was sublime. Around the bottom of the rather long skirt were two self, plain hemmed ruffles, headed by a rose plaiting pinked on both edges. There was a short wrap of the same material, with a ruffle five inches deep of cashmere embroidered in exactly the same shade and headed by a pinked out rose plaiting; the front laid in a plait, with long tabs, and the back gathered into a short Watteau plait. Plaits and pinking and much accordion plaiting will be seen on all the fall costumes.

Another beautiful dress for a young lady was of lilac and gray striped surah; the skirt was quite plain, with lace drapery across the bust and down the left side. I saw this same design in several other colors and materials.

A Character to Please Thackeray.

Thackeray was never so happy in his style as when engaged in describing some odd character. There passed away by the death in London recently of Sir Charles Cox a man whom the great novelist would have delighted to portray. Sir Charles was a man whose unusual stature and excessive thinness would have made him noticeable in any circumstances, and these physical eccentricities were accentuated by his singular attire. He wore invariably a dress coat of antique cut, gray trousers, open buff waistcoat, high Gladstonian collar and an immense neckcloth. His hat was of a style of several generations ago. Sir Charles was a constant perambulator of the streets and a noted attendant at weddings.

A system of telephonic communication between the office and each room in the house will, it is said, be put into a new hotel in New York.

Small Belt Lacing.

For small belts we have seen everything tried for lacing and all designs studied up for hooks that could be thought of till one day a workman at a bench lathe, having some violin strings to spare, used one that comes next to the heaviest on this instrument, and has never been troubled since, says the Boston Journal of Commerce.

Aged Grandmother Would Have Starved But for the Same Nourishment.

Lactated food has been in such demand this summer that some of the drug stores have been almost unable to get enough of it.

With all the hue and cry in some cities, occasioned by the discovery of adulterations in milk, the advice has generally been given by physicians for mothers to feed their little ones as much as possible upon lactated food.

As some one has aptly put it, lactated food is as "natural" as hunger. It is the most perfect substitute known for mother's milk. It is prepared with exacting care under the supervision of Professor Boynton, of Vermont university, and is recommended by the physicians of all schools as the best possible diet for infants and invalids.

The newspapers have had a great deal to say on the subject recently, and the following instructive statement of Mrs. Amy J. Philbrick, of Beverly, Mass., appears among many more unsolicited testimonials of its kind:

"When my baby was four months old she seemed to need something more substantial than natural food, and I gave her lactated food for the last five months. She is just a lovely babe, has had perfect health all through dog days and all that wretched damp weather we had just before dog days. No threatening of bowel trouble or the slightest sign of anything wrong. She has cut four teeth and two more are nearly through. We don't ask for anything better.

"It was for my mother, 73 years old, and down with a worn-out stomach and general debility, for whom I got the first package; she believes she should have starved to death without it. Many a day she has lived on the gruel made from it, her stomach refusing any ordinary food.

"I have bought altogether six dollar boxes, one 25 cent box and one hospital size."

BRUTAL MURDER.

La Prairie Was the Scene of a Murder in Cold Blood on Saturday Night.

John McCaffrey Shot Down Without Provocation by Tom Lewis, the Dive Keeper.

Marshal Elmsley Arrested Lewis, Who Pulled His Revolver Again and Made His Escape.

A Posse Was Organized and is Now in Hot Pursuit of the Murderer.

John McCaffrey was murdered in cold blood at La Prairie, Saturday evening about 9 o'clock, by the notorious dive keeper, thug and libertine, Tom Dalton, alias Lewis, by which latter name he is best known, and the murderer is still at large in the woods, with over $800 in cash and armed with three or four revolvers. The facts are as follows, and have been learned from eyewitnesses of the tragedy. Lewis, the murderer, is the proprietor of two bagnios and dance houses, one at Grand Rapids and the other at La Prairie.

Saturday afternoon he had some words with some of his women at the Grand Rapids place, regarding their attentions to some men, and started to get full. About supper time he fired several shots at two or three citizens who happened to get within range, but fortunately without hitting anyone. The authorities there made no attempt to arrest him and after terrorizing the people for a few hours he drove over to La Prairie and on to the sidewalk in front of Hugh McGuire's saloon. He dismounted and went inside, saw McGuire, with whom he had an old grudge, pulled out his revolver and fired, but failed to hit McGuire, who fled out of the back door with Lewis in hot pursuit, but McGuire was soon lost to view.

Lewis then returned through the saloon, stood on the sidewalk a few seconds and then dashed across the street, where he saw John McCaffrey standing on the other side on the raised sidewalk. Lewis crossed over and stood in the street and commenced abusing McCaffrey, who simply said: "What's the matter with you, Tom; haven't I always used you like a gentleman?" To this Lewis replied: "Yes, d——n you, but you had to." He then said: "McCaffrey, let's fight this thing out right now," to which McCaffrey said: "All right; get some one to search you, because you are armed and I am not, and I want a fair show."

McCaffrey had no intention of fighting and was evidently looking for some loophole of escape from his angry tormentor. Lewis then took off his coat, laid it down on the edge of the sidewalk and jumped up on the walk with his revolver in his hand and kicked McCaffrey once, the force of the blow sending McCaffrey down to the street level where he fell and as he was falling Lewis took deliberate aim and fired at him, the bullet entering the back of the head and coming out near the front top of the skull. McCaffrey fell face down in the sand and never uttered a word although he lived for nearly an hour after the shooting.

Marshal Elmsley then stepped up and arrested Lewis for the murder, but neglected to take his gun away from him and marched him down the street away from the crowd which had gathered around the body of Lewis' victim. As soon as they had turned a corner out of sight of the crowd and were nearing the lock-up, Lewis said to the marshal: "Look here, Elmsley; I don't want to kill you, but I am going to get out of this scrape if possible; I am armed and you aint, so you had better skip out of here," and suiting his actions to his words he fired his revolver over the marshal's head. That official "skipped" around the corner, and the murderer fled to his La Prairie bagnio where the girls say he came in about 9:15, opened the safe and took out all the money there was in it, the amount being estimated at $800, and sticking three or four additional revolvers in his pockets he said "Look out for things until you hear from me again," and was soon lost to sight in the woods near by.

The marshal spent some time in organizing a posse to hunt for the murderer and it was a couple of hours before any decisive move was made. The search for Lewis has been prosecuted since, but without avail as far as has been learned. Lewis, or Dalton, bears a very bard name and shot two men last winter, neither of them fatally, but as they both disappeared shortly after they came out of the hospital and as Lewis was seen talking to them, the general opinion is that Lewis bought them off and sent them away so they would not appear against him. Lewis' dance houses are run night and day and keep a great many of the lumbermen in the village, and for that reason he is looked upon as a man of great influence, if not a desirable citizen. Duluth officers are on the outlook for the murderer who is as well known here as his inoffensive victim.

McCAFFREY AND CORBETT.

The Two Pugilists Nearly Came to Blows Today.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—James J. Corbett, the California pugilist, and Dominick McCaffrey, who is now acting as boxing instructor in the Manhattan Athletic club, nearly came to blows this morning at the Madison square garden, where Corbett is giving exhibitions today. McCaffrey came to the garden to accept an offer that has appeared in several papers by which Corbett was to stop McCaffrey in four rounds on Sept. 12 at the Manhattan Athletic club. At the garden today McCaffrey was accompanied by Capt. Nan Schaick, of the Manhattan club, who said he would give the $2000 purse and bet $5000 that Corbett could not stop McCaffrey within four rounds.

Corbett denied that he had made any such offer, whereupon McCaffrey exclaimed: "Why, it has been in all the papers," at the same time tapping Corbett on the arm with a folded newspaper that he was carrying. "Don't you touch me," cried Corbett excitedly. "Keep that paper off me," and with that he moved his chair on which he sat facing the back close up to McCaffrey. "Does it hurt, Jim?" asked Dominick sarcastically. At that Corbett made a move as though to draw back his fist for a blow, but his better judgment prevailed and he remarked: "Don't try to monkey with me or I'll chuck you out of that window." "Oh, I guess I can protect myself," replied McCaffrey.

Then Corbett demanded to know if McCaffrey had stated that the Californian had bested McCaffrey only by a scratch when they met in Brooklyn three years ago. McCaffrey would not answer directly and Corbett, who was very hot and nervous, called him a coward. Corbett finally offered to box McCaffrey four rounds before the club giving the largest purse. He would bet the amount of the purse that he could knock Dominick out.

He argued that by this arrangement McCaffrey had only to stay the four rounds to get all the money, but if he (Corbett) proved the better man he wanted the decision to go on record. McCaffrey answered that he only wanted to accept his original proposition.

HARRISON IN NEW YORK.

Will Announce His Program For the Campaign.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—It is announced at the Republican headquarters today that President Harrison will be in New York Wednesday night. The president upon his arrival here, it is said, will probably announce his program for the coming campaign. It is believed that he will not remain in town over a few days.

He will stay for the most time at the residence of Whitelaw Reid, at Ophir farm. It is thought probable that his and Mr. Reid's letters of acceptance will be written there.

FOUND LIFE USELESS.

An Aged Couple Committed Suicide Together.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—John Obermeyer, a barber, and his wife Margaret committed suicide together in their home at 8035 First avenue this morning by taking chloroform. They were each 68 years old and had been married 48 years. They came here from Hamburg many years ago.

They left letters in one of which it was stated that on account of old age, the loss of friends and no work they had found life useless. They leave three children. Two are in Germany.

BURNED IN A CHURCH.

Three Worshippers Knocked Down in a Panic Caused by Fire.

FORESTVILLE, Mich., Aug. 29.—Three worshippers in the Roman Catholic church here yesterday were badly burned by a fire that completely destroyed the edifice. They are: Tillie Gustin, fatally; Wm. Grant, seriously; Mrs. Jane Armstrong, seriously.

The three were kneeling at the altar at the time the fire started in the basement beneath them, and in the panic that ensued were knocked down, trampled on and burned. They were rescued with difficulty. No cause is known for the blaze as there was no fire of any kind in the building and had not been for weeks. The loss on the structure is $3,500; partially insured.

The Borden Trial.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 29.—In the Borden trial today Miss Alice M. Russell has created a sensation by testifying that immediately after the discovery of the murder Miss Lizzie told her that her alleged visit to the barn was to procure a piece of iron or tin with which to fix a window. This contradicts subsequent statements of Miss Lizzie that she went there for lead sinkers.

Double Tragedy.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 29.—George Foss, a chop house cook, killed himself and Laura Day, his mistress, this morning in a quarrel over the possession of a gold watch. He fired three bullets into the girl.

TO EVADE TOLLS

A Canadian Scheme to Avoid Payment of Tolls Through the Sault Canal.

Shipping in Canadian Bottoms From Duluth to Port Huron for Transhipment.

The Treasury Department Has Given Notice That it Will Not be Allowed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The Canadians, with a view of evading the twenty-cent tolls to be imposed in accordance with the terms of the president's proclamation on and after Sept. 1. on wheat shipped through St. Mary's canal, are proposing to evade the requirements of the proclamation by shipping in Canadian bottoms from Duluth to Port Huron to be transhipped from that point by the Grand Trunk line through Canada.

This matter being brought to the attention of the treasury department Assistant Secretary Spaulding today sent the following explicit telegram to the solicitor of the Grand Trunk Railroad company:

Hon. E. W. Meddaugh, Detroit, Mich.: Neither Manitoba nor domestic wheat can be carried in Canadian bottoms from Duluth to Port Huron as it would be in violation of our coasting laws, but if carried in American bottoms it is not subject to tolls. If carried through the canal from Duluth to Sarnia for consumption in or export from Canada via Montreal or any other port it would be.

(Signed) O. L. SPAULDING.

FIFTY YEARS HENCE.

Then the Socialist Laborites Expect to Elect a President.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—At the national convention of the Socialist Labor party yesterday candidates for president and vice president of the United states were nominated. Representatives were present from New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Connecticut. David Taylor, of Boston, was chairman and Harry Glynn, of New York, secretary.

Symon Wing, of Boston, a tailor, was unanimously nominated for president, and Charles H. Natchett, a carpenter, of Brooklyn, for vice president. The Socialist Labor party will make a big effort to elect its nominees. Leaders said today that they expect poll 100,000 votes this year and elect their own president fifty years hence.

A Heavy Failure.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Redfern, Alexander & Co., merchants and bankers, of London, Australia and New Zealand, have failed with liabilities amounting to £250,000.

THE COGIN DIVORCE CASE.

Mrs. Cogin Denies Her Husband's Statements and Charges Cruelty.

In the divorce case of R. D. Cogin vs. Ellen L. Cogin, the defendant has filed her answer denying that she has ever been untrue to her marriage vows. She alleges in her answer that on the 14th day of July, 1892, the plaintiff drew a revolver on the defendant and threatened her life and otherwise cruelly treated her.

She asks that the plaintiff's requests be denied and that she be allowed a dissolution of the marriage bonds and a reasonable alimony. Tear, Davies & Bureau are her attorneys. The case will come up in regular term.

Did Not Materialize.

The meeting called for Saturday afternoon to arrange for a celebration of the arrival of the first car of ore over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway did not materialize. The idea is to be carried out nevertheless and another meeting will be called in a few days and at a time when it will be convenient for all business organizations to attend. The proposition finds favor with business men generally and especially the manufacturers. The latter will join in an industrial parade and will arrange some handsome floats.

Will Run to Houghton.

Edward Smith, of the Smith-Fee company, left Saturday evening for Chicago, where he has gone to get a steamer which his company will put on Lake Superior. It will be a propellor of about the size and capacity of the Cambria. It will run to Houghton, Mich., via Two Harbors and Ashland and on the return will take in Isle Royale. It will run to the World's fair next year.

A Narrow Escape.

Willie Armstrong, a 5-year-old son of Deputy Sheriff Harry Armstrong, fell in the river at Fond du Lac yesterday and his father, dressed in a bran new suit of clothes, plunged in after him. Both were finally rescued by some of the parties said to have been implicated in the recent robbery of a sand bank at New Duluth. The deputy's new pants had shrunk to the dimensions of knee breeches by the time he reached home.

Wants Big Damages.

Alexander McKillop has commenced an action in the district court against the Duluth Street Railway company to recover damages to the amount of $30,500. He alleges that on Feb. 4 of this year he was thrown off his wagon by reason of the wheels striking the street railway tracks and was stunned. When he had partially recovered he walked toward the track for the purpose of taking a car, but again became unconscious and fell across the track. A car was coming by and ran over him, inflicting injuries which necessitated the amputation of his left leg. He asks $10,000 for his injuries and $20,500 for his permanent disabilities.

BRITISH CABINET.

Interesting Points About the Men Who Are to Aid the Grand Old Man.

For Various Reasons Americans Are Interested in the Triumph of the Liberals.

The Most Prominent Members of the Cabinet Which Contains Twenty-two Men.

At no time since the treaty of Ghent have Americans taken so much interest in British politics as now, and the list of the new cabinet named by Mr. Gladstone is studied almost as eagerly as that of a newly inaugurated president. The Behring sea difficulties and the recent complications with Canada, the questions of tariff and reciprocity make British politics of commercial importance to the United States, but as there are more Irishmen in America than in any other country, and nearly as many as in all the rest of the world, the Irish question far outweighs any other with citizens of the Union.

For this reason the Right Hon. John Morley, chief secretary of Ireland, has a place of interest above that indicated by his rank in the cabinet. He is the oldest son of a plain commoner and business man, Jonathan Morley, and was born in Lancashire in 1838. He edited in succession The Fortnightly Review, Pall Mall Gazette and Macmillan's Magazine and is the author of several works. In 1883 he was elected to parliament for Newcastle-upon-Tyne and is the nearest to a Radical or democrat of any man in the cabinet. He held the same place by appointment of Mr. Gladstone in 1886, but that government was defeated in its attempt to liberalize the Irish administration.

Earl Rosebery, foreign secretary, who ranks next to Mr. Gladstone so far as there is rank in a body which is made up at the discretion of the premier, was born May 7, 1847. His father having died in 1858, he succeeded his grandfather when the latter died, in 1868. He was educated at Cambridge, but left before graduation on account of what the English politely call a "misunderstanding," as the college authorities objected to his love for fast horses. Baron Herschell, lord chancellor, comes next in dignity, but in present importance he is ranked by Sir William Vernon Harcourt, chancellor of the exchequer.

This gentleman was long known to the literary world as "Historicus" in the London Times and as the slashing critic of The Saturday Review. He was born in 1827 and it was he who first named Mr. Gladstone the "Grand Old Man." The home secretary is plain Herbert H. Asquith, born in Yorkshire in 1852 and first chosen to parliament in 1886 as member for East Fife. He is an object of special interest to Gail Hamilton and all who have joined her in appealing for the pardon of Mrs. Maybrick, the American woman convicted of poisoning her English husband. In his hands virtually rests the pardoning power, as with rare exceptions her majesty pardons only on his recommendation.

The Marquis of Ripon, secretary of state for the Colonies, and therefore of importance in Canadian affairs, was born in London in 1827, when his father, first Earl of Ripon, was premier. His "front name" is George Frederick Samuel Robinson, and to it is a string of titles nineteen inches long in type of this size. Sir George Otto Trevelyan, secretary for Scotland, is a son of Macaulay's sister and a man of some literary reputation. Earl Spencer, first lord of the admiralty, is fifty-seven years old, has been in public life ever since he left school, is very familiar with Irish affairs and very liberal in his views thereon.

Lord Kimberley, secretary of state for India, was born in 1826, born a Wodehouse, of one of the oldest noble families in England, and has been prominent in British politics for forty years. The Right Honorable Henry Campbell-Bannerman is a comparatively new man, though he has held office before, as the RIPON. ROSEBERY. SPENCER. TREVELYAN. HARCOURT.

"Right Honorable" indicates. He is secretary of state for war, as they phrase it. Sir Charles Russell, attorney general, was born in 1832, was made queen's counsel in 1872, entered parliament for Dundalk in 1880 and was knighted in 1885. These are only the most prominent members of the cabinet, which contains twenty-two members.

THE MILLER'S DAUGHTER.

The lady with suspenders,
She is to me so fair, so fair,
That I would be the sailor hat
She wears upon her hair,
And her shy eyes so jealously
I'd guard that scarce the sun should see.

And I would be the surcingle
About her dainty, dainty waist,
And with my buckle bite the hand
Presumptuously placed Around her litheness, and I would
Make my vocation understood.

And I would be her shirt waist,
And all day long to fall and rise
Upon her balmy bosom, with
Her laughter and her sighs,
And my soft yoke should lie so light
It scarce should go unworn at night.

And, chiefest, the suspenders
I urgently desire to be,
Which from her sloping shoulders
Depend so gallusly,
And I would hug each shoulder blade
Of this most most admirable maid.

An Idyl of Peace.

"Attention, Company F! Hep! hep! Right foot, left foot, hep! hep!"

The stentorian voice and loud clash of arms at midnight awakened everybody on the third floor of the big hotel, and guests, bellboys and chambermaids ran shrieking into the corridors.

"What's up! Where are the soldiers?"

"Are the troops ordered out?"

"What's the row, anyway?"

"Forward now! Present arms! Charge bayonets! Fire!"

Heads ducked, and a foreign voice called out over a transom: "Vat eez 't? Zee enemee has come? Ha!"

"'Boom ta-ra-ra boom de-ay!' Company F! Halt! Left! right! Hep! hep! Advance on the left wing. Ground arms! Hep! hep!"

Everybody gazed at a closed door on the other side of which the military commands were thundered. As the noise increased so did the excitement, and soon the landlord, accompanied by his force of clerks, appeared on the scene.

"Rub-a-dub, rub-a-dub," went a drum that sounded like a clarion of war, and as the landlord reached the door from which the sound proceeded he was greeted by the din of an advancing army.

"Charge! Wheel! S'lute your commanding officer, Company F."

"Hello, there, Company F. Who are you? How did you get in?" called the landlord angrily. "This ain't no United States armory. Let me in there!"

"Right foot, left foot, both feet—march!" commanded the voice, as the door was flung open, disclosing a small man wrapped in a quilt, carrying a very wide awake infant and a toy drum.

The crowd gave just one look, and then fell over each other in their hurry to disperse, while the little man was explaining mildly:

"I've been tryin to amuse the baby."—Detroit Free Press.

Quite Possible.

A physician had as presiding genius in his culinary department a negro woman of a social disposition, but of a somewhat irascible temper. One night a youthful admirer, who was accustomed to make frequent evening calls upon the ebony Maria in her kitchen, prolonged his visit to a tiresome length. After Maria had worn out every topic of conversation of which she was mistress she essayed to give him a delicate hint as to her mental and physical weariness by a prodigious yawn.

Through some miscalculation as to the stretching capacity of her mouth, however, she dislocated her jaw in the process.

The doctor was hastily summoned from above stairs by the distracted young man, who stood diffidently in the background while Maria's jaw was put into working order again.

The first use she made of her recovered power of speech was to turn wrathfully upon the trembling visitor and say in a tone of withering scorn:

"P'raps de nex' time yo' goes a-callin an stays an stays till de lady gapes an suffocates her jaws, yo'll tak' it fer a hint dat it's 'bout time to be a-gwine home!"—Youth's Companion.

Not Much Acquainted with Him.

"Your husband," said the caller sympathizingly, "was a man of excellent qualities."

"Yes," sighed the widow; "he was a good man. Everybody says so. I wasn't much acquainted with him myself. He belonged to six lodges."—Texas Siftings.

A Fair Distribution.

"That hired man of yours is a hard worker. Here it is his lunch hour and he is still mowing the lawn," said Browne, who was visiting Bronson the other day.

"Yes; John usually mows the lawn during lunch hour, and lunches the rest of the time."—Harper's Bazar.

Found After Many Years.

A Well Known Duluth Citizen Finds the Object of His Search.

Mr. John A. Olson, 1004 Garfield avenue, Duluth, says: "For a number of years I have been troubled with a complication of difficulties which is not easy for me to describe. I would have severe pains in my stomach, side and back, could not rest at night and would get up in the morning feeling worn out and unfit for the duties of the day. My appitite was poor and what I did eat seemed to make me feel worse. I lost in flesh and became weak, nervous and despondent.

"The doctors failed to give me any relief and patent medicines done me no good. After reading the statements of some persons who had been treated by Dr. Speer & Co., I called at their office in the New York block, West Superior. They located my trouble and described my feelings better than I could do it myself. I commenced their treatment and in less than three weeks my disagreable symptoms have left me. The pains are gone, I eat and sleep well, am gaining in flesh and strength. The nervous and despondent feelings have disappeared and I feel like a new man in every respect. I feel very grateful for the benefit I have received and can not too highly recommend Dr. Speer & Co. for what they have done for me."

GOV. J.P. BUCHANAN

The Governor of Tennessee Who Lately Has Had Some Rather Lively Experiences.

Long a Picturesque Character, Has Suddenly Become a Man of National Reputation.

An Easy Going Statesman, Fond of a Cigar and Enjoys a Good Joke.

Governor John P. Buchanan, of Tennessee, long a picturesque character, has suddenly become a man of national interest. Having repudiated the action of the Democratic state convention and announced himself as an independent candidate for governor, he had secured the indorsement of the Farmers' Alliance and seemed in a fair way to stir things up, when the miners' civil war broke out in east Tennessee under circumstances which, to say the least, add nothing to the governor's prestige.

GOVERNOR JOHN P. BUCHANAN.

When first nominated for governor in 1890 he was described as one of the most affable and agreeable of men. He owns a fine farm near Murfreesboro, where he has his own race tracks and gives much attention to the rein and saddle. He is described as an easy going statesman who is fond of a cigar and who enjoys a good joke. He was born in Williamson county, Tenn., Oct. 24, 1847, gained a common school education and at the age of sixteen ran off and joined the Confederate army. After many years' service as a very active Democrat and holding some minor offices he joined the farmers' movement and soon became president of the State Farmers and Laborers' union. This caused his nomination in 1890, but when the recent Democratic state convention met he declared that he had not received fair treatment, withdrew his name and announced himself as an independent candidate. There had already been trouble with the miners and he tried to induce the legislature to withdraw the convicts from the mines. That body refused.

HERE'S THE HALF DOLLAR.

Description of the World's Fair Souvenir Coin.

The souvenir half dollars which are to commemorate the Columbian exposition of 1893 will soon be out and are sharply criticised in advance. On the face is a head of Columbus, and this is the chief point of criticism, for it is modeled after the alleged portrait by Lotto, the correctness of which is challenged. In fact, it looks more like the face of a monk or recluse scholar than that of a navigator.

On the reverse side is a cameo of the Administration building at Chicago. This is not only good, but there is no question as to its authenticity. Mr. C. F. Gunther, of Chicago, has a portrait of Columbus painted by Sir Antonio Moro, which he wanted Director General Davis to adopt, claiming it to be the only authentic picture of the great navigator. The other was recommended by the director of the mint at Philadelphia. It is still barely possible that the design may be changed. If not, the people can console themselves as Artemus Ward did the Canadians who objected to his "wax statoot" of Sir Edmund Head—thus: "It looks like Sir Edmund Head or enny other man—that's the beauty of the statoot."

BOTH SIDES OF THE COIN.

A Journalist in the Field.

Joel P. Heatwole, whom the Republicans of the Third Minnesota district have nominated for congress, is a newspaper man, an Indiana man and a German by parentage—three good points in a state like Minnesota, where the citizen of foreign birth or parentage is generally a "good candidate." Heatwole was born in Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 28, 1856, gained an academic education quite early in life and at nineteen he became principal of the Millersburg high school. He was, however, by nature a politician and an editor, and soon became active in both characters. He edited in turn the Millersburg Enterprise, the Middleburg Record and the Goshen Times, and was for four years secretary of the Northern Indiana Editorial association. In 1882 he removed to Minnesota and continued his career as an editor and active local politician. His home is in Northfield.

Coins of Exceptional Value.

Where the operation involves so little trouble, it is perhaps advisable for a person to glance at the dates on the silver dollars and half dollars which may come into his possession, as many of them are valuable to numismatists. The silver dollars of 1794, 1838, 1839, 1851 and 1853 are worth twenty-five dollars each, while that of 1858 is valued at fifteen dollars. Silver half dollars of 1796 and 1797 are worth twenty-five dollars each.

FAMOUS WRITERS.

Gray published his "Elegy" at thirty-four. It is said to have occupied his time for seven years.

G. P. R. James began novel writing at seventeen, with a series of stories called a "String of Pearls."

Mrs. Hemans wrote poetry as soon as she could write at all and published her first volume at fourteen.

Rousseau wrote the "Emile" at fifty, after sending five of his own children to the foundling asylum.

Macaulay was forty-seven when he began the brilliant fragment known as the "History of England."

At the age of forty-one Milton issued the "Paradise Lost," which had been in preparation for twenty years.

The "Marco Bozzaris," the poem by which Halleck is best known, appeared when he was thirty-seven.

Mrs. Somerville was fifty-one when her "Mechanism of the Heavens" appeared from the Cambridge press.

Jules Verne was thirty-five before he turned his attention to scientific fiction in "Five Weeks in a Balloon."

John is said to have written the Gospels which bear his name at sixty and the Book of Revelations at ninety-five.

"London Assurance," the first play of Dion Boucicault, was put on the stage when the author was nineteen.

The "History of the Reformation in Scotland," by John Knox, was published when the author was seventy-nine.

Dryden wrote "Heroic Stanzas on the Death of Oliver Cromwell" at twenty-seven; the famous "Fables" at sixty-nine.

Cooper wrote to relieve the misery of ever impending insanity, and was fifty-three when the "Task" came from the press.

The "History of Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain" came out when Prescott was forty-one, his "Conquest of Mexico" at forty-seven.

The first volume of the Waverly series appeared when Scott was forty-three. He published his first book, "Ballads," at twenty-five.

Irving's "Knickerbocker's History of New York" was written when the author was twenty-six, his "Life of Washington" at seventy-two.

Robert Burton published the "Anatomy of Melancholy" at forty-five. It was written to relieve the strain of a mind bordering on insanity.

Humboldt fipished his giant work, the "Cosmos," at eighty-two. His first book on natural history appeared when the author was twenty-one.

Goethe published his "Die Leiden des Jungen Werther" at twenty-five, the "Wilhelm Meister" at forty-six and the "Faust" at fifty-six.

The first volume of poems by Alfred Tennyson came out when he was twenty-four. He was forty-one when "In Memoriam" came from the press.

Defoe was fifty-eight when he began his "Robinson Crusoe." His literary career began at twenty, and his best political works were written before the "Crusoe."

Gibbon began the "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" at thirty-nine and finished it in twelve years. The work of preparation was really the labor of a lifetime.

Alfieri wrote "Cleopatra," his first tragedy, at twenty-six. It was undertaken to relieve the tedium of a self imposed confinement to cure himself of a passion for an unworthy woman.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

CROWN AND SCEPTER.

The king of Roumania wears a black high hat and a mottled beard.

Pope Leo possesses the invaluable gift in statesmen of never forgetting a face.

King Humbert of Italy has inherited none of his father's qualities, and instead of wine he drinks water.

It is said that the sultan of Johore observes the tenets of Mohammedanism so strictly that his only beverage is pineapple juice.

The new imperial crown of Queen Victoria has its entire surface completely covered with jewels, several of which are famous in history.

The shah of Persia is engaged in writing a pamphlet in which his majesty attempts to reply to various foreign critics of his rule. As is well known, the shah is an excellent scholar.

The queen of Holland and her mother, the queen regent, met with a most enthusiastic reception on their tour through the northern provinces of Holland, where no royal person had been for about twenty years.

Said Mohammed Rashin, the ruling khan of Khiva and the most powerful Asiatic vassal of the czar, has announced his intention of revisiting Russia. The khan on his last visit induced a beautiful Moscow Jewess to marry him, but such was the splendor of his wedding celebration that he became bankrupt and his new wife left him.

FIGS AND THISTLES.

Love needs no law. Being loyal in heart it is loyal in hand.

It is hard to remember the good qualities of those who forget us.

God has never yet made a man who could please all his neighbors.

The days are never long enough for the man who loves his work.

One secret of living long is to learn how to live one day at a time.

To want to be good is the surest prophecy that we shall be good.

We never find out how bright the light is until we have been for awhile in the dark.

A man with a good backbone will often win more battles than one who has a bigger head.

One reason why some people never do much good is because they are not willing to do a little at a time.—Ram's Horn.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH

Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., Aug. 29.—A trough of low barometer extends from Lake Superior south over Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas, surrounded on all sides by an area of high pressure. Within the limits of this low rain has fallen, mostly in the shape of light showers although they have been heavy in some sections, the heaviest in inches were Yankton .80, St. Paul .48, and Denver .36.

The temperature has fallen over the extreme Northwest and in the Red River valley, the fall at Moorhead in the past twenty-four hours was 18° to 48°, this morning. Over the eastern part of the country there has been a slight rise.

The reports from the Canadian stations are all missing this morning, as are those from the northern part of Minnesota, but last night's reports from that section indicated fair weather by tomorrow. It is probable that light showers will prevail in this section today, followed by fair tomorrow and cooler. The temperature for the past two days has been 18° higher than the average for this time of year and the probabilities are for a return to the normal conditions.

The highest temperature yesterday was 83°, the lowest last night 64°, and the rainfall up to noon today was .18 inch.

DULUTH, Aug. 29.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Showers, followed by clearing tonight and fair tomorrow; cooler today; slight changes tomorrow; fresh northerly wind becoming light.

B. H. BRONSON,
Local Forecast Official.

WASHINGTON Aug. 29.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Showers, followed by fair Tuesday night; conditions favorable for frost tonight in extreme northern portion; winds northerly. For Minnesota: Fair, preceded by showers today in southern portion; cooler in southern portion; conditions favorable for frost tonight; northerly winds.

A GRAND RECEPTION.

Maj. Baldwin attended the great Democratic rally at St. Cloud on Saturday night and received a magnificent reception from the people of Stearns county. He made an able and witty address, and a report of the meeting says that he captivated his audience and won its affection. This is gall and wormwood to the News, and it hastens to criticize the major's remarks on the tariff question, with the idea of alienating some of the Republicans of St. Louis county who have decided to vote for him, believing that the interests of the city and county in which they live are of far greater importance than the tariff issue or the silver question.

The Herald cares not what the major's views are on the tariff question. There will be a Democratic majority in the next house without doubt, because it is an impossibility that the present large majority should be wiped out entirely, and consequently there will be a Democratic majority on any tariff measure without Maj. Baldwin's vote. Being a supporter of the dominant party in the house he will be able to obtain much more for the Sixth district, in the way of appropriations for necessary improvements, than would Judge Searle. He is also acquainted with the needs of the district, and especially those of Duluth. Judge Searle is not. He says that he will endeavor to post himself on these questions, but how much better it is to elect a man who is already well acquainted with what we require and can discuss intelligently and with ability the questions in which we are particularly interested.

There is no doubt that is the opinion entertained by a very large majority of the people of this county, and the major will receive their votes. There is no doubt about St. Louis county. It will prove true to itself and give a good majority for Maj. Baldwin. Consequently the major was right when he said to the people at St. Cloud: "I realize that here in old Stearns my political battle must be fought, but I have no fear." Judge Searle has been claiming that he is so popular at home that he will cut down the usual Democratic majority in Stearns county to small proportions. If that be true, it is the only part of the district where he is so popular, and consequently that is the place where Maj. Baldwin must fight his battle.

But the Democrats of Stearns county will not vote for Judge Searle. On the contrary they promise that they will give to Maj. Baldwin the largest vote ever polled by a Democrat in that county. If they do, as there is every reason to believe, nothing can prevent Maj. Baldwin's election. And that is what makes the News so bitter.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

The reports of the commercial agencies for the past week show a continuance of the prosperous conditions which have marked the present year. Both Dun's and Bradstreet's reports are of a very gratifying character, and Henry Clews, of New York, notes a good advance in prices on the stock market and continuing favorable indications. The commercial and industrial interests, he points out, are now enjoying a very fair share of prosperity. Business is not only on a larger scale than ever before, as demonstrated by clearing house returns and railroad earnings; but it is also in exceptionally sound condition. This statement being confirmed by the small number, as well as the character, of business failures. Agricultural interests are also in good shape; as, in spite of smaller yields of wheat, corn, cotton and other products, we shall, with last season's surplus, have sufficient and to spare.

The railroads are not likely, in Mr. Clews' opinion, to suffer from any insufficiency of freight for some time to come. Judging by the small additions to mileage during the last few years, and the increase of traffic and population, there is more likely to be a scarcity of facilities than of tonnage. Another factor to be considered is that many of our roads are yearly growing less dependent upon a few staple crops for traffic. The multiplication of industries; the growth of passenger traffic, and even the development of new crops, as, for instance, the carrying East of California fruits, all tend to stability of earning power and consequently to the value of railroad stocks. These facts are particularly true of lines in the East and Northwest; while they apply in a lesser degree to some of the Southern and trans-continental lines. The Chicago exposition promises to be a source of great profit to all the principal roads entering that city, provided managers abstain from reckless competition.

Two events happened during the week under review which, Mr. Clews claims, very materially strengthened the market, viz., the Texas railroad decision and the collapse of the Buffalo strike. Judge McCormick's decision that the state has not the power to prevent railroads from earning reasonable profits is one of the most important and far-reaching decisions of the day. It will undoubtedly be confirmed by the supreme court of the United States. Of its absolute justice he thinks there can be no question; besides which it will be a lasting and necessary rebuke to the communistic tendencies of legislation in several of the Western and Southwestern states. The chief beneficiaries will be the states themselves; for capital, which had left these sections severely alone for the last few years, will again flow in those directions with its reviving tendencies. The effect of this decision was shown in the advance of the Southwestern group of stocks, which will of course benefit directly by the decision. Instead of doing business at a loss, with prolonged bankruptcy constantly fronting them, there is now a prospect of interest being earned, and even a fair dividend on such of the lines as are not handicapped with over capitalization. The defeat of the switchmen's strike materially simplifies labor troubles for railroad managers; the refusal of the engineers and other railroad organizations to participate in a sympathetic strike having considerable significance. The strikers have thus learned an unwilling lesson; that while they may have the right to strike at will, they must also recognize the equal right of employers to fill their places with others without molestation.

SWELL THE FUND.

There is considerable interest being taken in the movement to retain Conductor Meier, of the City band, in Duluth, but it is necessary that something definite be done at once or Mr. Meier will be compelled to accept the offer that he has received from Buffalo. The Herald has already expressed the opinion that it would be a misfortune if the services of Mr. Meier should be lost by the city. The citizens generally take a pride in the City band, which now ranks among the best bands in the state. It has been brought to its present efficiency by the earnest work of Conductor Meier.

Secretary Thompson, in a communication to The Herald on Saturday, urged that a subscription fund be started immediately to retain Mr. Meier's services and, to start the ball rolling, offered to subscribe $10 or more. The Herald will donate an equal mount, and Alderman Weiss has also put down his name for $10, while Stryker, Manley & Buck give $25. The Herald will be glad to receive any further subscriptions that may be offered and will acknowledge their receipt from day to day. There should be no difficulty in raising at least $1000. The fund now stands as follows:

S. A. Thompson	$10 00
The Evening Herald	10 00
A. C. Weiss	10 00
Stryker, Manley & Buck	25 00

WORLD'S FAIR SOUVENIRS.

Much apprehension has existed in the minds of many persons lest they should not be able to procure single specimens of the World's fair souvenir half dollar, except by paying exorbitant prices to speculators. The exposition could not sell except in quantities and the solution of the problem seemed difficult. Hon. Thos. B. Ryan has solved it in a highly satisfactory manner. He has deposited with the treasurer of the exposition $5,000, and the same number of half dollars, as soon as minted, are to be delivered to the Jenning's Trust Co. Any stockholder of the exposition, on exhibition of his stock certificate and payment of the value, at the rate of one dollar for each, can receive one or more coins. These will be delivered in the order of the original application as filed. Duluthians who desire to get some of these souvenirs should make their applications at once.

Many of the country papers are refusing to advertise the state fair this year without being paid regular advertising rates. This is the proper stand to take. The management expends thousands of dollars every year in advertising in the St. Paul papers, but not a cent outside, yet advertising in the country papers would be the best investment in the interests of the fair.

The necessity of establishing a quarantine station at the Sault canal should be impressed upon the authorities at Washington. Every precaution to guard against the introduction of cholera should be taken, and there is danger that it may gain an entrance at the Sault, unless quarantine regulations are enforced there.

Reports from New York say that the feeling between the Hill and Cleveland Democrats has become very bitter. Not even common civility exists between them. If this be true, Harrison will have an easy victory in the Empire state.

A dispatch states that Lottie Collins of Tara-ra-Boom-de-ay fame has sailed from Southampton for America. And yet people wonder at the increase of crime.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Hustler."

"The Hustler" drew a great house at the Lyceum Saturday evening, one of the largest ever seen there. The show is almost entirely specialties and all of them are clever. John Kernell as McFadden, "the hustler," is bright, quick and witty and takes well. Harry Watson as Anheuser Busch divides the honors with Kernell, and Gus Mills in his impersonation of Mrs. Danta is excellent. The dancing was good, the "widow's dance" being the catchy one of the evening.

"Queen Esther."

"Queen Esther" will be produced at the Temple tomorrow evening by the best local talent ever appearing in a performance in Duluth. The opera has been rehearsed for weeks. Yesterday afternoon the first stage rehearsal was given in the Temple and everything went off with a smoothness that was gratifying. The costumes will be especially elaborate and the stage effects will be something astonishing.

"The Naiad Queen."

Arthur C. McKnight's beautiful fairy opera "Naiad Queen" will be presented at the West Superior Grand opera house tonight for the first time and will continue through the week. It will be the most gorgeous and delightful entertainment ever given under local auspices. Hundreds of children and young people have been drilled daily under professional direction. In all over 400 people will appear attired in beautiful costumes. The opera abounds in pleasant medlies and the scenery and costumes will be elaborate and beautiful.

Haverly's Minstrels.

Haverly's minstrels will appear at the Lyceum on Thursday evening. Since the first appearance of this immense minstrel organization early last season, throughout the Eastern cities, where throngs of delighted auditors nightly attested their appreciation by applauding every feature of the long and pleasing program to the echo, the patronage has been without a break. The company includes a number of old time favorites like Billy Rice, Harry Constantine and others.

A Speckled Beauty.

The Port Arthur Sentinel has a story of a fine brook trout captured in Six Mile creek near that town by Mrs. O'Conner, wife of Charles O'Conner, cashier of the Land and River Improvement company, of West Superior. Its length was exactly 25 inches and 8 barley corns, while its weight was 5 pounds, 2 ounces, 8 drachms, 2 scruples, 16 grains, apothecaries' weight. Mrs. O'Conner shipped the trout to her husband.

An Assured Success.

The Duluth Driving Park association, says the Minneapolis Journal, will be one of the permanent fixtures in the Northwestern circuit now. Its track is going to be one of the best in the West, and the meeting billed for the third week in September promises to be a grand success, as a number of special features will be added to attract attendance. Horsemen will be well cared for and every convenience at the track for their comfort is being prepared. Entries for Duluth and Rochester close on Monday evening, Sept. 5.

A FINE SUGAR BOWL.

Many people have serious misgivings about venturing upon a purchase of silver or plated ware, because they entertain the idea that such an undertaking will involve them in lavish outlays of money. That is a notion which we are fully prepared to correct. The enormous production of silver within recent years, the improved appliances for the manufacture of the finest table ware and the great advances made by those who design and those who execute have brought within the reach of moderate means some of the handsomest products of modern enterprise, dexterity and skill. You can ask for no better proof of this than is afforded by the fact that we are selling sterling silver novelties of all kinds at prices which will simply paralyze you.

THE GRAIN GRADES.

The Changes Proposed by State Inspector Clausen.

The Herald published an interview with Chief Grain Inspector Clausen a few days ago, in which he suggested some slight changes in wheat grades which may be made this year. Mr. Clausen has now addressed the following letter on this subject to the railroad and warehouse commission:

The present crop of wheat is of a somewhat peculiar character in that the conditions which have tended to injure it and decrease its value in one direction have also benefitted it and increased its value in another. The extremely hot weather and the general atmospheric conditions prevailing at the critical period of its growth prevented its development into well-filled heads, and the rounding out into plump full berries, thus materially decreasing the yield per acre and the weight per measured bushel. At the same time the conditions mentioned above, while productive of unsatisfactory results in this direction, were, on the other hand, instrumental in producing a berry containing, in a very large degree, that desirable element known as "gluten," which has in the past characterized Northwestern wheat and given it such a high and world wide reputation.

If the quality of the present crop of wheat is of a high standard for flour making purposes, it would seem that this fact should go a long way toward offsetting its defect in weight per bushel, particularly as it is held in our rules that "weight alone shall not determine the grade."

I am forced to the conclusion that unless some modification is made in the existing rules. it will be a difficult matter to inspect and classify the present crop under present rules, and at the same time do substantial justice to wheat growers and shippers in the hard wheat belt.

Our established rules fix the minimum standard of weight per bushel for each grade as follows: No. 1 hard not less than 58 pounds per measured bushel; No. 1 northern, not less than 57 pounds; No. 2 northern, not less than 56 pounds; No. 3 wheat not less than 54 pounds. It is not necessary to explain that with the exception of the No. 1 hard grade, it was laid down and is a matter of practice that the other grades could carry an admixture of soft, starchy wheat varying from 50 per cent in No. 1 northern down to exclusively soft wheat in the lower grades. The question to determine then is whether the hard, flinty Scotch Fife and Blue Stem wheats of the present crop, rich in gluten, shall be lowered in grade because they do not meet the standard weight required, or whether such modifications shall be made in the rules to cover this temporary condition above outlined.

After a proper consideration of all the conditions bearing upon the situation, I feel constrained to recommend to your honorable board that after and following the rule laid down for grading No. 3 wheat, the following note be inserted, viz.: "Hard, flinty wheat containing no appreciable mixture of soft wheat may be admitted into the grades of 1 northern, 2 northern and No. 3 wheat, provided the test weight of the same is not more than one pound less than the minimum test weight required by the existing rules for grades; and, provided further, that such wheat is in all other respects qualified for admission into said grades."

It will be seen that the above proposed modification in no way abridges the force of the existing rules, or alters their language, but merely provides for a temporary condition. I will say to your honorable board that in my opinion the present rules for grading corn, oats, rye, barley and flax are sufficiently comprehensive to meet all possible contingencies and conditions of the present crop, and I have therefore no changes in this respect to recommend.

LOOKING FOR A MURDERER.

Joseph Rondeau Thought to be On the Mesaba.

Louis LaPrairie has been deputized by Sheriff McLaughlin, of Pine county to arrest Jos. Rondeau on sight. Rondeau is wanted for the murder of Henry LaPrairie, the father of Louis. Rondeau married the sister of Louis, and, with his wife, was living at Sturgeon Lake, where the father also lived.

There had been serious domestic trouble on account of Rondeau's constantly dissipated habits, and the latter taking umbrage at the frequent admonitions of his father-in-law, shot him down in cold blood, some time in the fore part of July. Since that time Rondeau has been at large, and it does not appear that McLaughlin has made any special endeavor to bring him to justice.

Louis thinks the murderer is somewhere on the Mesaba range, and is making a determined effort to locate and arrest him.

Concessions to Naval and Grand Army Veterans.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad will grant most liberal concessions in the way of stop-over privileges on the tickets sold for the reunion of the naval veterans at Baltimore, September 15th to 19th, and for the Grand Army encampment at Washington, commencing Sept. 20th. Tickets will be sold at the offices of the company and at offices of the principal railroad companies of the west, from Sept. 13th to 20th inclusive, at very low rates, and will be valid for return journey until Oct. 10th. Both going and returning tickets will be good to stop off at all stations between Cumberland and Baltimore, a region rendered familiar to all veterans by the constant warfare along the Potomac. The signature of purchaser to tickets will not be required, nor will it be necessary to have them stamped to make them valid for return journey.

For more detailed information as to time of trains, rates, and sleeping car accommodations apply to L. S. Allen, assistant general passenger agent, The Rookery, Chicago, or O. P. McCarty, assistant general passenger agent, Cincinnati, Ohio.

DULUTH'S DEFENSE.

Secretary Thompson Completes His Brief in the Rate Discrimination Case.

The Fallacies of the Minneapolis Argument Shown Up in an Able Manner.

Insists That Minneapolis Must Accept Her Geographical Location and Consequences.

Secretary Thompson, representing the chamber of commerce as intervenor in the rate discrimination case brought by Minneapolis against various Northwestern railroads, has prepared his brief for submission to the interstate commerce commission. It is a splendid argument and Mr. Pillsbury's testimony especially is handled in a manner which will probably make that wily gentleman scratch his head somewhat. The opening statement gives briefly the substance of the argument. There is a little sarcasm in it, but Secretary Thompson says that in reading interstate commerce commission reports he finds that the grave and reverend commissioners sometimes descend to sarcasm themselves. The statement is as follows:

The intervenor is a corporation representing the commercial interests of the city of Duluth. On behalf of the flour milling, grain purchasing and general interests of that city which will be unfavorably, unjustly and unlawfully affected if the prayer of the complainant be granted, intervention has been made and this argument is filed. It is not intended to discuss herein, except incidentally, the intrinsic reasonableness or unreasonableness of rates on wheat to Minneapolis or on flour from Minneapolis to Duluth. These are questions which must be decided by the commission upon the evidence and arguments submitted by railway men who are experts thereon. But it is claimed, and will be shown, that the relative rates complained of do not constitute an unjust discrimination against Minneapolis nor an undue and unlawful preference in favor of Duluth; that the complaint and the argument thereon are based in essential particulars upon false and faulty premises, and the conclusions drawn therefrom are therefore necessarily wrong; that the evidence of complainant's witnesses that the milling industry of Minneapolis has been fostered and built up under conditions which the act to regulate commerce was enacted to destroy; that no evidence has been submitted proving or tending to prove that said milling industry has actually been injured by the rates complained of, that a decision can properly be asked for only on facts existing and proven, and not on opinions as to possible future results; that in so far as the difficulties, under which it is alleged the milling industry of Minneapolis is laboring, actually exist, they are due to causes other than the rates complained of and not within the power of the commission to change; that even if these alleged difficulties are due to the existing rates, these rates being relatively just and reasonable, the effect thereof, however disastrous, constitutes no ground for an order making changes therein; that the prayer of the petitioner is disingenuous, and that what is really sought and asked therein is not the removal of an unjust discrimination against Minneapolis, but the renewal of a former unjust discrimination in favor of that city and against Duluth; that the granting of the prayer of the complainant would be unjust and contrary to public policy, in that it would deprive the wheat producers and shippers of the Northwest of the benefit of competing markets; would increase the cost of flour to Eastern consumers, and would neutralize the natural advantages of Duluth, to the benefit and enjoyment of which that city is of right entitled; wherefore the complaint should be dismissed and the prayer of the complainant denied."

The closing point in which Secretary Thompson makes is one of the strongest in his argument and hits the nail on the head exactly. He says: "As a matter of fact Minneapolis and Duluth are not the points exclusively interested. The real parties respondent in interest are the interior towns of the Northwest, to which might properly be added in this case the consumers in the East. The testimony produced, the cases cited and the arguments made on behalf of defendants and intervenors justify the request that this honorable commission will say to Duluth as was said to Eau Claire in the case of the Eau Claire board of trade vs. Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad Company et al. 'Each community is entitled to the benefits arising from its location and natutal conditions;' to the producers and shippers of grain and the Eastern consumers of flour. 'The object of the law is to preserve to the public the benefits of competition;' and to the complainant herein, as was said to Lincoln in Lincoln Board of Trade vs. Missouri Pacific Railway company (2 I. C. C. Rep. 155) 'Minneapolis must accept its geographical situation and the consequences.'"

SUPERIOR NEWS.

Democrats of Douglas County Endorse Buchanan for Congress.

Daniel Buchanan, of Superior, will probably be the Democratic nominee for congress in the Tenth congressional district in Wisconsin. The county convention of Douglas county was held Saturday and Buchanan was endorsed. It was a close vote, however, and David Dobie's strength was fully as strong as Buchanan's, in fact had he been a candidate he would have been endorsed.

A complete set of material for the Belt Line & Terminal railroad including steel rails, frogs, ties, switches and fish plates is on the ground. The Duluth & Winnipeg will make a connection between the Northern Pacific and the Omaha tracks and the Belt Line people will lay the iron to the St. Louis river. The Belt Line people will build no stations, but the Duluth & Winnipeg will erect station houses and whatever buildings may be necessary.

Engineer Banks has laid out the improvements proposed for Allouez bay. The center channel or basin will be 1000 feet in width. The first improvement will be the Duluth & Winnipeg ore dock now nearly completed. East of this in the order named will be the Duluth & Winnipeg coal and merchandise docks; the Belt Line coal docks and merchant sheds and the Red Wing & Southern docks and warehouses.

The Leader says that there is no hitch about lots or anything else connected with the location of the Todd mill at the East end and claims that it is a settled fact. The plans have been drawn and bids received. The mill will be of 3000 barrels capacity.

J. W. Newcomb, formerly of Duluth but lately chief inspector of the board of trade, has resigned. Mr. Newcomb will take charge of the Chaffie elevators in North Dakota during the fall and early winter. He says Superior has a fine opportunity to become a grain center, but has some drawbacks. He named these to a Superior reporter as follows:

"First—The inspection is not right. The state of Minnesota pushes her inferior grades off on you and in return takes $1.60 per 1000 bushels from all wheat received. Second—The exorbitant terminal charges are enough to discourage mills at this point. They are too high—way up out of sight. These must be regulated. Third—More commission men are needed; someone to buy the product when it reaches this point."

BALDWIN AT ST. CLOUD.

He Made a Fine Impression and Got an Excellent Reception.

Maj. Baldwin met with a hearty reception at St. Cloud on Saturday night. A telegram to the Globe gives the following account of his speech: Maj. Baldwin, like Capt. Harries, the candidate in the First district, is an old soldier, and during the war was a member of the famous old Iron brigade, and has a military record of which he has a right to feel proud, but Maj. Baldwin, while he makes no pretences to flowery words and the tricks of the orator, is a forcible and able speaker, and in a few minutes gracefully placed his claims before the audience.

He began with a bright witticism regarding Judge Searle's recent visit to Duluth, saying that the judge had been so enamored of the Zenith city, and his investments in iron so satisfactory, that he proposes to remove to Duluth if elected to congress and is successful in getting the proper kind of a tariff on iron. "I can make no such promise," said Maj. Baldwin with a smile. "I can think of nothing that the brave Democrats of old Stearns can do for me that would lead me to make any such promise. But, my friends, if you desire to keep the judge as a neighbor, don't elect him to congress."

The gallant major, in his own peculiar, dry way, at this time created no end of laughter by pulling from his pocket a People's party paper, published in Duluth, and reading the People's party ticket. At the head of its column, this ticket, headed by James B. Weaver and Ignatius Donnelly carried the name of D. B. Searle for congress. "I cannot do this either," said Maj. Baldwin. "In another part of this paper is the People's party platform, not one of whose principles my opponent endorses. I have never held office," continued Maj. Baldwin, "never aspired to office, but my Democracy no man can question. It was tried by four years' service in the Union army and by years of service in the cause of the party. I will not discuss the tariff question at this time more than to say that the benefits of a protective tariff are for the few—its oppression for the many.

"I realize that here in old Stearns my political battle must be fought, but I have no fear. Democrats are always loyal. Under the leadership of Grover Cleveland and Daniel W. Lawler no one need fear that any Democrat will waver. We do not need to labor to keep Democrats in line, because they are always loyal. Our labors are rather with those who have been with the opposition. The member of the Democratic party only has to say that I am a Grover Cleveland Democrat and, yes, I am also a Daniel W. Lawler Democrat, and I can say with him that I am no man's man and wear no man's collar. If elected, I will faithfully and zealously work for the best interests of every part of this district."

Scarlet fever has secured a foothold at this place in the Hetrick and Lavalle families and about twenty-five children, so far as known, have been exposed. The board of health have taken the matter in hand and yesterday ordered the Sunday schools to be closed and have prepared a list of persons exposed that will be carefully watched until further danger is passed. It may be necessary to defer opening the schools at this place next week, but that point has not been settled as yet.

WAS NOT CHOLERA.

The Recent Deaths in England From Supposed Cholera Were Due to Cholerine.

Another Case at Dundee Has Caused Great Excitement Among the People There.

Prohibition of the Entry of Pauper Aliens Demanded by an English Paper.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—In an interview today Dr. Whitcomb, who inspected the steamer Gemma, which arrived there from Hamburg Thursday last, and three of whose passengers subsequently died from what was said to be Asiatic cholera, emphatically denies that the disease was the dreaded Eastern scourge. He attended all three of the victims in the hospital, and says that they died from cholerine.

It is now declared that the sickness on the steamer Laura was due to acute diarrhœa and not to cholera. The Laura is the vessel that arrived at Lynn on Friday last with two suspicious cases of sickness on board. The health officials would allow none of the passengers to land, but ordered the Laura to put to sea. Notwithstanding the denials made of the presence of cholera in England, the residents of Gravesend were thrown into a state of excitement today by the arrival there of two emigrant steamers, one of which was from Hamburg, while the other, as was subsequently learned, was bound for Hamburg.

The steamer from Hamburg was the Portia. As her forty passengers were found to be free of infection, all the immigrants were allowed to land at Tilbury, opposite Gravesend. The Evening News has reopened the agitation against the entry of pauper aliens. It demands that the government issue an order to prevent the entry of imports or immigrants from cholera infected ports. It adds that several of the immigrants from the steamer Portia have now gone to the east end of London, where they will probably develop the cholera in the next few days and become centers from which death will spread throughout the city.

PRECAUTIONS AT NEW YORK.

Passengers and Baggage Are to Be Disinfected.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The following was issued today by Health Office Jenkins: Quarantine regulations affecting vessels from cholera infected ports and those bearing passengers from infected localities. All vessels from cholera infected ports, or carrying steerage passengers from infected localities, will be subjected to quarantine or detention from two to five days.

Passengers and their baggage will be transferred to Hoffman Island, where they will receive a bath while baggage and clothing are disinfected by steam. Immediately after such transfer steerage and cargo will be disinfected. The passengers will then be returned to the vessel which in the absence of any development of suspicious cases will be allowed to proceed to her docks.

This regulation is in accordance with a telegram sent to the secretary of the treasury requesting that the same regulation at the port of departure be enforced under the direction of the United States consul. If the health officer is satisfied upon investigation that such regulations have been carried out at such ports, in regard to emigrants, the above regulations will be modified.

The above regulations will entail on this department an enormous amount of labor, but by the co-operation of the steamship companies it will be accomplished.

A SUSPICIOUS CASE.

A Patient in New York With Symptoms of Cholera.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Anton Potzel, an Austrian, who arrived here from Hamburg two weeks ago, was taken to Bellevue hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from an ailment some of the symptoms of which resemble those of Asiatic cholera. He was isolated in the old typhus tent, although the hospital physicians were unable to determine whether he had genuine cholera or not, but they thought it better to take this course.

It was the general impression among them that he was suffering from cholera morbus. To be on the safe side, however, he was isolated and will be kept so until the nature of his affliction is accurately known.

Anton Patzet, who was found on the street last evening and taken to Bellevue hospital suffering from what at first was supposed to be symptoms of Asiatic cholera, is much better this morning and the physicians have diagnosed the case as simply one of cholera morbus.

ADVICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Germany Taking Precautions Against the Cholera.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—In accordance with the announced policy of the kaiser to let the public know all about the progress and extent of the cholera visitation, official placards have been posted throughout the city announcing that Asiatic cholera exists here and containing exhaustive advice to the public on the subject of sanitary arrangements. The authorities are everywhere enjoining the strictest obedience to sanitary regulations.

Immigration Suspended.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The steamship companies at Glasgow have telegraphed to their European agents to suspend for the present the acceptance of any immigrants by the Glasgow lines for American and other destinations abroad. Considerable apprehension already exists in Glasgow in regard to the Russian and other immigrants who have recently arrived there to take passage.

Detained on Board.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—A saloon passenger of the Cunard steamer Cephalonia, which arrived here from Liverpool yesterday, a lady who moves in the upper circles of Boston society, was taken ill on the day of the steamer's arrival and is detained on board as a precautionary measure against cholera.

A Case at Dundee.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Chief Engineer Walker of the steamer Germa, which arrived at Middlesborough from Hamburg yesterday died of cholera today at Dundee. The news has created a tremendous sensation.

One Death in Berlin.

BERLIN, Aug 29.—A woman by the name of Frodner, who arrived from Hamburg Friday last, died of Asiatic cholera at the Nesbit hospital.

Thirteen Cases at Bremen.

BREMEN, Aug. 29.—Thirteen cholera patients have been admitted to the hospital here. Five were stated to have Asiatic cholera. One died.

In Paris Also.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Professor Peters, the head physician of the hospitals, asserts that there have been cases of Asiatic cholera in Paris. Twenty persons suffering from disease of a cholera or cholerine character were admitted to the hospitals yesterday.

DEATH ON THE ROAD.

A Soo Train Wrecked by a Bridge Falling.

ELBOW LAKE, Minn., Aug. 29.—The westbound passenger train on the Soo line, consisting of three coaches and one horse car, was wrecked about eight miles east of this place Saturday evening, by the giving away of a bridge crossing the Pomme de Terre river. The engine and horse car passed over safely, but the coaches went down, the rear coach going to the bottom of the river and the others piling on top.

The list of dead is as follows: Ed Smith, of Dunbar, Wis., a laborer; Mike Crockett, of DePere, Wis., a laborer; Jim Laurie, of Syracuse, N. Y., a laborer; Gustaf Bergquist, a brother-in-law of Nels Rose, of Hoffman, Minn.; two unknown laborers whose bodies floated down the river and have not yet been recovered.

The more seriously wounded are as follows: John McMillan, road overseer, internal injuries, recovery very doubtful. Carl Peterson, of Watertown, Minn., large scalp wound. Dennis Horton, of Menominee, Mich., internally injured. Charles E. Larson, of Watertown, Minn., badly bruised. John Thompson, of Boardman, Wis., internally injured. Seymour Bugbee, of Manistee, Mich., head badly cut and internally injured; cannot recover. A. C. Belica, of Elbow Lake, cut above eyes. George Gelsell, of Charleston, S. C., both shoulders, foot and jaw injured, recovery doubtful. Matt Kelly, of Ashland, Wis., bad cuts in neck, shoulders and face. D. F. Vale, of St. Paul, upper lip nearly severed. George Haywood, of Elk River, Minn., legs badly hurt.

CONTROL HAS CHANGED.

Jay Gould's Holdings in Elevated Roads Gobbled Up.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The World this morning says that it was reported last night that the Elkins-Widener-Yerkes syndicate has gobbled up the Jay Gould holdings in the Manhattan Elevated Railway company, and that the triumvirate will demand three seats in the company's directorate; also that the control of this city's elevated railroads will pass into the hands of the syndicate which will immediately make preparations to extend the lines beyond the Harlem and improve the down-town service.

MUTINY ON A VESSEL.

The Master of a Brig Pacing the Deck With a Hatchet.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 29.—The Picayune's Key West correspondent says: A pilot boat just arrived last night, reports the American brig Mary C. Mariner from Jamaica to New York off the bar. Speaking to her, the master of the brig requested assistance of a revenue cutter to suppress mutiny which broke out Saturday night. The master of the brig was badly wounded and paced the deck with a hatchet in his pocket. The revenue steamer McLaire left today for the brig. No further particulars have yet been obtained.

SMALL TORNADO AT FARGO.

It Has Lodged Much Wheat in That Vicinity.

FARGO, N. D., Aug. 29.—Rain has been falling here for twenty-four hours and as yet there are no indications of a cessation. Farmers are alarmed at the situation, for grain that is uncut will be badly damaged. A miniature tornado that accompanied the storm when it commenced, about 10 o'clock last night, lodged much wheat.

Three Men Drowned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—A collision in Frisco bay yesterday resulted in the drowning of three men. The ship Alameda, from Philadelphia, after a voyage of 233 days was being towed in when she collided with the local schooner, Maid of Orleans, Captain Chas. Trainer, the negro cook, and a sailor of the schooner were swept off by the ship's boom and drowned.

Governor Eagle Dying.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 29.—A message received from Richmond, Ky., last night stated that Governor Eagle, of Arkansas, was much worse and it was feared he was dying. Dr. Stucky, of Louisville, left at once for Richmond.

The People of Mars.

With Mars at its present proximity to the earth, all the world is wondering if that interesting planet is inhabited, and if so, what sort of a race it supports. Some say that it is clearly an inhabitable planet, while others make the broad claim that it has no atmosphere and has reached the period of refrigeration. The latter may be the case; but if Mars is really inhabited it hasn't a people equal to ours, a country like this nor a railroad like the St. Paul & Duluth railroad, which is known far and wide as the Duluth Short Line. The latter has become firmly established as the best line to take when you are going from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Duluth, West Superior, Stillwater or Taylor's Falls, as it has a smooth road bed, runs fast trains on handy schedules, uses the best equipment with new sleepers and has fine terminals. Always take the Duluth Short Line, which is the scenic route and the practical route, popular with all. For information apply to ticket agents or George W. Bull, General Passenger Agent, or W. A. Russell, Asst. G. P. A., St. Paul, Minn.

FATAL COLLISION.

A Disastrous Accident on the Railway Near Brussels in Belgium This Morning.

A First-Class Carriage of an Express Train Was Crushed to Pieces.

Three Passengers Were Killed, One Being the Orange Free States Consul General.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 29.—A disastrous accident occurred about 9 o'clock this morning on the railway near Brussels. The express train from Ostend to Brussels was near Dieghem and Schaerben, the latter place properly a suburb of Brussels, when the accommodation train from Brussels to Antwerp came along. The express train was most severely damaged. A first class carriage of the express was crushed to pieces and a number of those in the carriage were killed or injured.

The passengers in this carriage were mostly persons of good position and distinction. Three of them were killed, A. Jeslein, consul general at Brussels for the Orange Free States, being among them, and it is feared that several of the injured will die. King Leopold, of Belgium, was on the next train from Ostend following that which was struck.

TROUBLE IN BUENOS AYRES.

Radicals Stir up Considerable Excitement at a Meeting.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—A special cablegram to the Herald from its Buenos Ayres correspondent says that city is in a wild state of excitement. Meetings were held yesterday in honor of President-elect Saenz Pena. There were some 3,000 Radicals present. They interrupted the meeting by shouting for Alemade and Cigoyen.

There were several collisions, the police attempting to disperse the Radicals, and riotous demonstrations ensued. The radicals slowly retreated, but made another stand at Plaza San Martin. The whole city is stirred up, and troops will probably be called out to preserve order.

KILLED AT A DANCE.

Three Men Shot and Stabbed in Louisiana.

HAUGHTON, La., Aug. 29.—Three men were killed at Allen Bros.' mill Saturday night in a fight at a dance, Maurice Miller and Bob and John Carter. Miller was on the floor with Ida Pilkinton, when Bob Carter came up and started a quarrel, whereupon Miller knocked him down. Then John fired three shots at Miller, all taking effect. Miller seized John, then Bob cut Miller in the back. Miller drew his knife and went to work on both.

The fight lasted about five minutes, at the end of which Bob and John Carter were both dead. Miller walked across the room and sat down, made and smoked a cigarette. He was taken to the home of Mr. Pilkinton, where he died yesterday. When he was undressed twenty-four knife wounds and three bullet wounds were found.

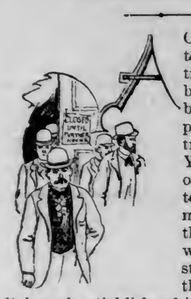
ON GREAT STRIKES

A Review of the Contests Which Have Occurred Between Capital and Labor.

Spartacus Was the Most Famous Striker of Ancient Times Who is Mentioned.

Notable Struggles for Supremacy in England and America—Luddites and Chartists.



A COMPLETE history of labor troubles would be a very big book, and to most people an extremely dull one. Yet there is no other subject better fitted for dramatic effects, and the only reason we do not see the strike oftener on the stage is that it is such a ticklish subject for the playwright to handle.

The strike is quite a modern affair. In the olden time the workmen were actually or virtually slaves. A strike was an insurrection, and insurrection meant death certainly and torture probably. Nevertheless, though they had no strikes, they got up some very respectable imitations, as for instance that of Spartacus.

With a motley army of gladiators and slaves he held the Romans at bay for two years, defeated four consular armies and only failed of final success because of the intractable nature of his troops. The French revolution first took active form in a strike. When the workmen in paper manufactories in Paris struck, early in 1789, a wealthy capitalist told them they could live as well as they deserved on fifteen cents a day. Thereupon they mobbed his works and burned them, and the example was contagious.

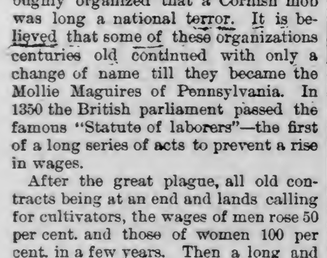
Labor movements in England are usually dated from Wat Tyler's rebellion. The movements of Jack Straw, John Ball and Jack Cade are also counted "labor troubles." During all the ages of despotism it was the custom to send such agitators and conspirators as were not executed to labor in the mines, and fugitives often went there for concealment. They continued their planning and plotting under ground, and the result was that the miners were first and most thoroughly organized of all laborers.

Thus did Gustavus Vasa organize the miners of Sweden who helped restore him to power. In England the miners of Cornwall were so early and so thoroughly organized that a Cornish mob was long a national terror. It is believed that some of these organizations centuries old continued with only a change of name till they became the Mollie Maguires of Pennsylvania. In 1350 the British parliament passed the famous "Statute of laborers"—the first of a long series of acts to prevent a rise in wages.

After the great plague, all old contracts being at an end and lands calling for cultivators, the wages of men rose 50 per cent. and those of women 100 per cent. in a few years. Then a long and in the end terrible struggle began. The first rage of laborers seems to have been directed against machinery, and the first sawmill set up in England was torn down by the whip sawyers. This movement against machines went to such lengths after the Napoleonic wars that it amounted to a rebellion, and 80,000 "Luddites" were in ranks at one time.

A half witted lad named Ludd, who had been teased by some boys, pursued them into a shop, where they took refuge behind a lace mill. In his rage he broke the machine to pieces, so the proprietor, in order to fill his contracts, had to reemploy the women who had been displaced by the new invention. Thereupon the other women of the lace district gathered in mobs and smashed the rest of the lace mills, the men followed it up on all machinery which had displaced their labor, and the once famous "Luddite war" was begun. One fact must be acknowledged—all the advance laborers have secured has been the result of their combining and resisting. It is humiliating, but it is a fact.

In 1834 the great strike of the London tailors occurred, but they were beaten. The next strike, in the Staffordshire potteries, was won by the men after a desperate struggle. The great Preston strike of 1853 attracted the attention of the world. Forty-nine cotton and other mills were closed, and before the strike ended 14,972 paupers were added to the list. The men were defeated.



THE DEATH OF SPARTACUS.

During all these years parliament was investigating and legislating, and the beneficent "factory acts" and colliery laws were passed. Women and boys under fourteen were no longer allowed to be put in the mines. Child labor was abolished in many trades and greatly limited in others. Wages rose slowly but steadily for twenty years, and the percentage of pauperism declined one-half.

Thomas Cooper, known as the "Last of the Chartists," died July last. In early life he was a prisoner in Stafford jail two years for advocating "The Charter," yet for the last twenty years of his life he had enjoyed far more privileges than he asked for at the start. At the time of the queen's jubilee it was estimated by the most conservative British statisticians that the common people were 30 per cent. better fed, 40 per cent. better clothed, 50 per cent. better housed and 250 per cent. better educated than when Victoria was crowned.

Still there were strikes—of 40,000 colliers in 1867, of 60,000 Welsh laborers in 1873, of 50,000 Welsh miners in 1875, of 80,000 Lancashire spinners in 1876, of all the shipbuilders' workmen on the Clyde in 1877, and of 120,000 cotton spinners in 1878. In the spring of 1879 the famous strike of the Durham coal miners began, which was settled by arbitration. Without going into details of the hundreds of minor strikes it is sufficient to state the two important facts—the ratio of strikes in which the laborers succeeded has greatly increased while the hours of labor in the organized industries have been slightly diminished. Against this, as some workmen think, should be set the fact that by improved machinery the power of women to supplant men in manufacturing has enormously increased.

While the great Lancashire strike still lingered the attention of the world was suddenly called to the United States, where for about one month there raged the most extended and destructive labor war of this age. As the panic of 1873 caused all other panics to be forgotten or ignored, so the railroad riots of 1877 left all previous labor troubles in insignificance. For this cause doubtless the statement has crept into works meant to be historic that there were no strikes or labor troubles of consequence "before the war."

There were some even before the Revolution. After the Indians were finally subdued wages rose so rapidly that there was a loud call for legal interference. In New York they were 2½ times as high as in England, and in Massachusetts higher still. The shipbuilders of that colony formed the first trades union in America, and the colonial legislature promptly came down upon them with a statute regulating wages. It was forbidden in Newburyport to pay higher daily wages than to—carpenters, 5s. 4d. ($1.28); calkers, 6s. ($1.44); day laborers, 4s. (96 cents); masons, 6s. ($1.44).

The laborers invented many ways to evade the law. Of course the trades unions were also political clubs, and there is a Boston tradition that the proposition to throw that famous tea overboard was first adopted at a meeting of ship carpenters.

THOMAS COOPER.

In 1803 the first recorded strike in the United States occurred—that of the sailors in New York city. The organizer was promptly sent to jail, and the men begged pardon and returned to their ships. In 1829 a laborers' party elected one Ebenezer Ford to the New York legislature. A motion to expel him as an "agrarian" was brought forward, but defeated. In 1836 there was a strike of tailors, whereupon twenty-one of them were arrested and fined $100 each. Then the long agitation for the ten hour day began, and on the 10th of April, 1840, it was established in the navy yards by proclamation of President Van Buren.

In 1847 strikes first began to be recognized as fixed facts. There were many that year and the strikers were not often prosecuted. The ten hour day had become quite general by 1860. After the war the great labor agitation began on a systematic plan, and the panic of 1873 soon showed how thoroughly labor was organized. In a few weeks after Jay Cooke's failure every rolling mill from Pittsburg to Cairo was idle, and in the Mahoning valley the situation was much like that of civil war. In 1874 strikes were the rule and continuous labor the exception in large sections of the country.

There was a slow improvement in the labor situation till in 1877 the Baltimore and Ohio railroad ordered a 10 per cent. reduction of wages to take effect on July 16. That was the signal for an explosion. As one man the railroad men revolted, and like a prairie fire the line of conflict ran over the country. In one week every city between the Hudson and Mississippi was in commotion. In another many of them were sprinkled with blood and a few scarred by fire. There was hard fighting at Baltimore, Pittsburg, Cleveland and Chicago.

For ten days many cities and towns were completely isolated so far as trade was concerned. The workmen virtually took possession of the railroads in many places. An investigating committee reported the total losses at about 400 lives and $100,000,000. All previous strikes were ignored, nor has there since been any year to at all compare with 1877. The strikes of this year are but small affairs in comparison. Workingmen have learned how to secure their rights peacefully. And let us hope that capitalists have also learned their lesson of humanity and moderation.

Calino entered a cafe and sat down near a customer whom he civilly requested, "After you, with the paper, if you please."

Three-quarters of an hour later the reader had only got to the bottom of the first page. Calino, growing impatient, was about to renew his application, when he noticed that the gentleman was bereft of one of his organs of sight.

A Miraculous Escape.

Several gentlemen were sitting around the hotel fire telling stories of hairbreadth escapes, some of which partook of the marvelous, and after hearing them all take a turn the quiet man spoke as follows:

"Once, in the early seventies, I was hauling a load of freight to San Angelo, Tex., and I remember that I stopped one evening to camp in a deep ravine, just after I had crossed the Colorado river.

"I was driving a 'trail wagon' and was using eight mules, and just as I had unhitched my team I heard a roaring noise, and looking up I saw a 'waterspout' coming down the ravine and about the time I looked it broke, filling the ravine with a raging torrent, about ten feet deep, which came rushing toward me in a solid wall of angry, 'brick colored' water. I hurried to hitch up my team, and succeeded in doing so, and in fact got them turned around and started down the ravine at a sweeping gallop, and might have outrun the 'waterspout,' but the front axle of my forward wagon broke, and while I was trying to cut the horses loose the flood overtook me.

"I expected to be drowned of course, but, strange to say, as the water struck my hindermost wagon it subsided as if by magic.

"I thought at first that I had been saved by direct providential interposition, but such was not the case, gentlemen. I was hauling out supplies for a new insurance agency at Angelo, and my hindermost wagon was loaded with blotting paper."—Detroit Free Press.

CARLTON COLLEGE.

More Room is Urgently Needed by the Seat of Learning at Northfield.

An Addition to be Built to Williams Hall to Accommodate the Students.

John Coit Spooner Who is the Republican Candidate for Governor of Wisconsin.

To many newspaper readers Northfield, Rice county, Minn., is known chiefly as the place where the Younger boys and their band made their last raid, where they were so heroically opposed and whence they were hunted to capture and consigned to prison for life. The city has, however, far higher claims to consideration—for its banks, business and fine buildings, and still more as the location of Carlton college.

Annexed to and a part of this college are the Goodsell observatory and Williams hall, the latter the gift of Dr. Edward H. Williams, of Philadelphia, and built in 1880. It was then supposed that this would be ample for the scientific school, but the number of students has rapidly increased, as the present tendency of education is toward science rather than the classics, and an addition to Williams hall is now agreed upon.

The growth of the college is shown by the fact that, though there is room in the chemical laboratory for but forty students, at least 100 must be provided for in 1892-3. The museum is also so crowded that a much larger hall will be required for the splendid collection of the state's minerals, fossils and animals. The addition to Williams hall will provide for these, as well as for the departments of biology and physics.

A Candidate for High Office.

Ex-Senator John Coit Spooner, now the Republican candidate for governor of Wisconsin, is an Indiana man, and his father, Judge Philip L. Spooner, was once an eminent legal authority in that state. The son was born at Lawrenceburg, Ind., Jan. 6, 1843, and went to Madison, Wis., with the family in 1859. He was graduated from the State university there in 1864 and at once entered the army, in which he remained till July, 1866, when he was mustered out as brevet major.

HON. JOHN C. SPOONER.

He was admitted to the bar in 1867, and after serving some time as assistant in the attorney general's office located in practice at Hudson. In 1872 he was elected to the state legislature, and in 1885 became United States senator for the term ending in 1891. As the Democrats carried the state in 1890 he was not re-elected, and is now pitted against Governor Peck for chief executive of the state. He has been an enthusiastic supporter of the State university and a member of the board of regents.

Wrote "The American Commonwealth."

Professor James Bryce, who has been honored by Premier Gladstone with the appointment of chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, and who is well known throughout the United States through his wonderful book, "The American Commonwealth," was born at Belfast on May 10, 1838, and was graduated at Trinity college, Oxford, in 1862, with high honor. He was a practicing barrister for several years, was in 1870 made regius professor of civil law at Oxford and in 1880 was sent to parliament as a Liberalist from the Tower Hamlets. In 1885 he was chosen from South Aberdeen, and when Gladstone came into power Mr. Bryce was made under secretary of state for foreign affairs. He has always been a consistent and earnest advocate of home rule.

A Recuperative "Napoleon of Finance."

Even Ferdinand Ward's meteoric career as a "Napoleon of Finance" was overshadowed by that of Henry S. Ives, who, still a very young man, has, it is declared, made another million of dollars. His failure a few years ago was one of the most disastrous on record; it was the collapse of a financial soap bubble. Ives was arrested and tried. The jury disagreed and he was released on bail, and then the indictments against him were quashed, and now he is again a rich man.

THE DETECTIVE'S MISTAKE.

He Found That a Married Man Couldn't Be One Successfully.

He was considered one of the best in his line. The case that required the most intelligent, persistent and careful work was the one that was usually assigned to him. He had been at work on one for three or four weeks, and at last had secured what he considered "clinching evidence." It was a bribery case, and his work had been to entrap the would be briber. He had done it. He had secured a single ten dollar note of the bribe money, but that was enough. The envelope containing the money had been opened in the presence of three persons, and each had put his mark on the bill so that it could be identified.

Naturally he was jubilant. People will be when they think they have won a great victory, and he had all the evidence he wanted in his pocket—an inside pocket at that. The bird was practically caught and he went home exulting.

Now mark what can happen to a man who has victory practically won but is careless. He thought of going to headquarters and depositing his evidence in a vault, but it was a long distance, and then it would be better anyway to go to the chief in the morning and announce that he had bagged the game. So he took it home.

Once or twice he thought he was followed, but when he reached home he scouted the idea, turned in and slept soundly. Robbery did not occur to him, even in his dreams.

In the morning—well, in the morning the money was gone. He almost fainted when he discovered the loss, and rushed into the dining room, crying: "I've been robbed! I've been robbed!"

"Nonsense," replied his wife. "What is missing?"

"A ten dollar bill."

"I took it," she said calmly. "I wanted to pay the butcher, and I didn't want to wake you. But I didn't touch the money in your pocketbook. I just took that loose ten dollar bill that was in your inside pocket. I'll get you another if you need it, but I thought that was one you had put aside for me."

He didn't try to explain. He didn't even answer, but he hunted up a broad, smooth sheet of water and for an hour stood looking out over it muttering to himself. At last he seemed to have made up his mind. He hastily wrote a note to the chief, took it to headquarters and left it. A minute later he was lost in the crowd on the street.

The note read:

"Please put me back on patrol duty. Several years ago I made a serious blunder that makes me unfit for detective work. I married."—Detroit Free Press.

A Long Man.

A.—Fancy, X. is so fat that he has not seen his feet for the last ten years.

B.—Nothing extraordinary in that. I know a student who is so tall that he has to climb on a ladder to take off his hat.

C.—That's nothing at all. I have a cousin whose legs are so long that when he catches cold in his feet on the 1st of January he does not begin sneezing till the 24th or 25th of the same month.—Courrier du Midi.

Both Go Together.

Mrs. Bangupp—Marie, I wish you would take my diamond ring to a jeweler's and have it cleaned.

Marie—Yes'm.

Mrs. Bangupp—By the way, you might as well take my lorgnette, too, and have it polished. One is of no use without the other.—Life.

Interesting.

"I gathered those leaves at Newport last autumn," said Ethel, showing her callection of leaves to young Saphead.

"Really! How interesting! Just think, perhaps some of our best families have walked on those leaves!" said Saphead.—Harper's Bazar.

On the Beach.

"I wonder if that man who just plunged into the surf isn't musical?" said Ethel.

"I don't know. Why?" said Maud.

"He had regular piano legs," answered Ethel softly.—Truth.

One Way to Save.

Plug—Do you want to know how to save five dollars?

Slug—You bet I do.

Plug—Send me ten and I'll give half of it back to you in five minutes.—Detroit Free Press.

Too Bad.

"Well, if that ain't mean!" exclaimed the prisoner. "Every one o' the stories in this paper they've gimme to read is 'to be continued.' An me to be hung next week."—Tit-Bits.

Last Words at Parting.

He—Now, Emma, you must promise to love me till I come back.

She—Yes, love; but don't be long.—Zeitgeist.

"And so he is a real baron? What is he baron of?"

"Ideas, I think."—Yankee Blade.

No Danger Then.

Dashaway—Mr. Cleverton said that when you were out with him last night the clumsy waiter spilled ice cream all over your gown.

Miss Summit—Yes, he did. It made me wish I had gone out with you.—Truth.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage, duly executed and delivered by William Schupp and Emily K. Schupp, mortgagors, both of the city of Duluth, county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, to Charles H. Graves and Walter Van Brunt, of the same place, mortgagees, which said mortgage bears date the 7th day of February, 1888, and was duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 5th day of May, 1888, at 9 o'clock a. m., in book 22 of mortgages, at page 104;

And, whereas, said mortgage was given to secure the payment of one note due and payable five (5) years after date, with interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, said note being for the sum of twenty-two hundred dollars ($2200.00), and said interest being further secured by ten (10) interest coupons bearing the same date, each for the sum of eighty-eight dollars ($88.00), and payable respectively one in six (6), one in twelve (12), one in eighteen (18), one in twenty-four (24), one in thirty (30), one in thirty-six (36), one in forty-two (42), one in forty-eight (48), one in fifty-four (54), and one in sixty (60) months after date;

And, whereas, default has been made in the payment of two (2) interest coupon notes secured by said mortgage, each for the sum of eighty-eight dollars ($88.00), and each bearing date the said seventh day of February, 1888, and due and payable respectively one in forty-two (42) and the other in forty-eight (48) months after date;

And, whereas, said default has continued for more than the space of thirty (30) days in the case of each of said notes.

And, whereas, said mortgage contains a provision that the said William Schupp and Emily K. Schupp do covenant and agree to and with the said parties of the second part, to-wit, said Charles H. Graves and Walter VanBrunt, their heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, to pay the said interest notes together with the other sums of money specified in said mortgage.

And, whereas, the said mortgage contains a further covenant and agreement by and between the parties thereto, that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants herein contained on the part of the said William Schupp and Emily K. Schupp, his wife, to be kept and performed, and such default should continue for the space of thirty (30) days, that then and from thenceforth it shall be lawful for the said parties of the second part, to-wit, the said Charles H. Graves and the said Walter VanBrunt, their heirs or assigns, to consider the whole sum secured by said mortgage as immediately due and payable, and to proceed to enforce the payment thereof in like manner as if the same had become due and payable by the terms of the note secured by said mortgage.

And, whereas, the assignee of said mortgage has elected to consider as aforesaid the whole sum secured by said mortgage to be due and payable and so to proceed to enforce the payment thereof.

And, whereas, the said mortgage was on the 22nd day of April, A. D. 1890, duly assigned by the said Charles H. Graves and the said Walter VanBrunt to Julia E. Smith, who is now the holder and owner thereof and of the notes secured thereby.

And, whereas, said assignment was on the 21st day of May, A. D. 1890, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and the state of Minnesota, in book 32 of mortgages on page 256.

And, whereas, there is claimed to be due and is actually due on said mortgage the sum of two thousand three hundred and eighty-five dollars and ninety-seven cents ($2,385.97).

And, whereas, no action at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, to-wit: Lot numbered fifteen (15), in block numbered forty-two (42), in the Endion division of Duluth, in St. Louis county, Minnesota, according to the recorded plat of said Endion division on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for said St. Louis county, Minnesota, will, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay the amount due by terms of said mortgage, and the fifty dollars ($50) attorney's fee, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis county, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, county and state aforesaid, on the 10th day of September, 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., July 25th, A. D. 1892.

NOTICE

Of Application for an Order Confirming Assessment for the Improvement of Kentucky Avenue.

Office of the Board of Public Works, City of Duluth, Minn., August 23, 1892.

Notice is hereby given that the board of public works of the city of Duluth, St. Louis county, state of Minnesota, has completed its assessment roll amounting to the sum of fifteen thousand three hundred and ninety (15,390) dollars and ninety-nine (99) cents upon the real estate to be benefited by grading and otherwise improving Kentucky avenue, in said city, from Superior street to London road, and constructing a storm sewer therein from Superior street to Lake Superior, in proportion to the benefits, for the purpose of raising money to in part defray the expense thereof; and that the board of public works of said city of Duluth will, on the 3rd day of September, A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, make application to the district court in and for St. Louis county, Minnesota, at a special term of said court to be held at the court house in said city of Duluth, at said time, for an order of said court confirming said assessment roll, at which time and place parties interested in said assessment may appear and make objections to the same; all objections should be made in writing.

Said assessment affects all pieces or parcels of land situated in said city and mentioned or referred to in the following descriptions, viz:

Lots 1, 2, 3 and 4, in block 29, Endion division; all of blocks 50, 45, 36, 30, 20, the southerly half of block 15, the westerly half of blocks 21, 29, 37, 44 and 47, Harrison's division of Duluth.

THE BIG DULUTH.

THE CANAL BRIDGE

Frank B. Kellogg, of St. Paul, is Here Today to Give An Opinion.

He Has Not Yet Drawn One Up, But it Will be Favorable to the City.

J. A. L. Waddell is Here to Confer With the Council and Furnish Information.

Frank B. Kellogg, of the law firm of Davis, Kellogg & Severance, of St. Paul, is in the city today to prepare an opinion on the right of the city to bridge the canal without government approval. He has been looking up some records in connection with the matter this morning and this afternoon conferred with the aldermen. After this conference he will prepare a written opinion to be submitted at this evening's meeting. A Herald reporter saw Mr. Kellogg, but he preferred to say nothing very much before the meeting. He did say, however, that he thought the city can build the bridge.

There is no doubt but that the opinion will be favorable. It is therefore reasonably certain that the aldermen will order the construction of the bridge and bids will then be immediately asked for.

J. A. L. Waddell, the engineer who is the designer of the "lift" bridge, is also in the city, having been telegraphed for. He is here to further explain his plans and give the council information necessary. Mr. Waddell has submitted a plan for a "lift" bridge over Halsted street in Chicago. He is required by the specification to raise the bridge six feet every second while the one in Duluth is to raise one foot each second.

SEVEN PLEADED GUILTY.

Relics of a Departed Sunday Appear in the Municipal Court.

It was a rainy morning outside, but in Judge Winje's court this morning it was cheerful at times. The audience was large, too, and Court Officer Gillon smiled a self satisfied smile as seven soaked swillers sadly simpered "guilty." The parties were Peter Duff, an old timer; Patrick Shannon, released from imprisonment yesterday; Patrick McManim, Fred Jacobson, Peter Anderson and William and Albert Erikson. They got a uniform dose of $10 or ten days. Some one ran up against J. M. Rhodes, who is a real quiet sort of fellow, when they let him alone, and got knocked out in the first round. Rhodes pleaded not guilty of assault and the case will be tried Wednesday at 10 o'clock; bail of $25 being furnished. J. D. Reekie complained that three little boys—Mort Haller, Charles and William Tullock—had stolen three doors and 300 feet of lumber from him, and they were brought into court. Their case will be heard Thursday 2 o'clock, and their parents will either give a joint bond of $50 or cash bail of $25 for their appearance at that time.

Harry Haskins complained against William Zuck for torturing a horse. Zuck demanded a jury, put up $25 bail and his case will be tried Friday at 2 o'clock. Another of Haskins' cases was a complaint against Stella Sheliska, who sold a package of cigarettes to Alfred Ringstred, an 8-year-old boy. Stella admitted the sale, but was not aware of the law. She put up $25 bail for her appearance at an examination to be had Friday at 2 o'clock. Annie Huber has a warrant out for the arrest of William Johnson on the charge of abusing a boy and the case will come up later in the day.

ADVANCED ONE CENT.

The Wheat Market Was Fairly Active and Higher Today.

The wheat market ruled fairly active and firmly advancing during the early hours of today's session. The best demand was for September and spot wheats at an advance of ½c to 1c over Saturday's close. The firm opening was due mainly to strong English cables and reports of general rains and cold weather in the Dakotas and Western Minnesota, which will delay harvesting and threshing for several days. The increase in the visible report has been fully discounted. New wheat is coming here in large quantities and grades well. Twenty cars were received today. Trading in cash was fair to the close with more buyers than sellers. No news of importance was received late in the session, but prices eased from ½c to 1c owing to a disposition to dump wheat when prices reached the outside figures. The close was steady at ½c to 1c higher than Saturday as follows:

No. 1 hard, cash 81, Aug., 81c; Sept., 80¼c; December, 81½c. No. 1 northern, cash, 77c; August, 77c; September, 77¼c; December, 78½c. No. 2 northern, cash, 72c. No. 3, 61½c. Rejected, 51½c. On track, No. 1 hard, 81c; No. 1 northern, 79¼c; No. 1 northern (new), 77c.

Car inspection today, 52. Receipts, wheat, 34,294 bus. Shipments, wheat, 30,150 bus. Cars on track, 100; last year, 187.

RAILROAD NOTES.

Happenings on the Lines and in the Depot and Yards.

Night express No. 6 on the St. Paul & Duluth road last night did not leave until a little after 1 o'clock this morning, about two hours late. The delay was caused by the sleeper "Stillwater" being run off the track at Rice's Point, while being switched. The switchman's lamp went out suddenly and he could not give the engineer a signal to stop. No damage except the delay.

The coach supply sheds for the Union depot coach yards is about finished. It is 20x100 feet. In a few days all passenger trains will be made up in the depot yards.

The new baggageroom at the Union depot went into use this morning for the first time. Trunks are now received at the big doorway on the Michigan street front and sent down to the track level on a slide. This will do away with a great deal of inconvenience to passengers passing through the gates.

Superintendent White, of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern, is in the city.

Superintendent Greene, of the Union depot, has appointed William Bates as depot master. "Billy" is an old railroad passenger man and is polite, attentive and courteous to all. The appointment carries with it a general supervision of the Union depot employes and is generally satisfactory.

Engines on the Northwestern line are being fitted out with a soft chime whistle, which will do away with much of the ear-cracking screeching of the former style of toots.

Two new locomotives, Nos. 6 and 7, arrived here this morning for the Duluth & Winnipeg railway. They are powerful machines.

CARRIED UP HIGHER.

Hibbing et al. vs. Bearinger Case Goes to the United States Court.

The case commenced a short time ago in the district court by Frank Hibbing and A. J. Trimble against Isaac Bearinger, the Saginaw lumberman, has been transferred by the defendant to the United States circuit court. The complaint alleges that the plaintiffs made an oral agreement with the defendant for a lease to the w½ of nw¼ of section 22, 58-20, subject to the approval of S. B. Hill, of Duluth. They were to explore the land, and if iron was found were to have a lease for twenty years at 30 cents royalty. Shortly afterward they drew up a lease satisfactory to Hill and he sent it to Bearinger, but the latter refused to execute. In the meantime the plaintiffs did some prospecting. They want the defendant to be compelled to execute the lease and also to pay them $5000 damages by reason of his failure to make it when he agreed to.

The Deadly Frying Pan.

This familiar kitchen utensil has to answer for much of the dyspepsia common among Americans. To the digestion of the hunter, the soldier or the cowboy, who spend their lives in the open air, fried meat is not perhaps a foe, but the professional or business man of the city should shun half-cooked or overdone food as an abomination. Time was when the way station lunch counter with its specimens of pre-historic cookery was all that stood between the traveler and starvation. Now, on the Burlington route at least, the tourist can bid defiance to dyspepsia and indigestion so far as they arise from ill-cooked food or forced haste in eating. Peerless dining cars are attached to through trains, on which the best in the market is served by skilled cooks, with ample time to eat. For tickets over this route, apply to your local agent, or to W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

AN ORDINANCE

Providing for the Extension of Gas and Water Mains in the City of Duluth.

The common council of the city of Duluth do ordain:

Section 1. That the Gas and Water company of the city of Duluth be and are hereby notified and required to extend their gas and water mains under and along the several streets and avenues of the city of Duluth, between the points hereinafter named, to wit:

In Sixteenth avenue east south from Superior street to Jefferson street, and thence west on Jefferson street 275 feet, the same to be in lieu of a former order for said mains on Jefferson street, from Fifteenth avenue east to Sixteenth avenue east.

In Superior street from Twenty-second avenue east to Twenty-sixth avenue east, thence south on Twenty-sixth avenue east to Branch street, thence east in Branch street one block to Twenty-seventh avenue east.

In Third street east from Seventeenth avenue east to Eighteenth avenue east.

Sec. 2. That said extensions be made without unreasonable delay, and in consideration of the making of the same the city of Duluth hereby agrees to pay to said Gas and Water company, in each and every year after said extensions are completed and the water turned on, the sum of fifty cents for each lineal foot of such extension on each of the streets aforesaid, said sum to be paid quarterly on the first days of January, April, July and October in each year, less any amounts received by said Gas and Water company, during such period, from the rental of hydrants and the sale of gas and water on the line of either of said extensions: Provided that said Gas and Water company at all times furnish the proper and necessary supply of gas and water required by the ordinance governing said company.

Sec. 3. This ordinance is granted on the express condition that the property owners or other persons interested, along the line of the several extensions enumerated above, indemnify, the city of Duluth, by a separate bond for each of said extensions, said bond to be approved by the common council of said city, and conditioned that the obligers named therein will pay to the city of Duluth an amount sufficient to indemnify said city for all liability it may incur to said Gas and Water company by reason of the making of such extensions.

Sec. 4. Upon the execution and approval of said bond, the common council of said city shall cause said Gas and Water company, to be notified after which it shall be the duty of said company without unreasonable delay, to commence the work of such extension for which said city may have been indemnified.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, approval and publication.

Passed Aug. 22d, 1892.

T. W. HUGO, President of the Common Council.
